Bates and Mass. Aggies in Scoreless Tie BOTH TEAMS EXHIBIT UNEXPECTED STRENGTH ON DEFENSE

Bates Loses Chance to Tally in First Quarter—Punting Features the Game—Davis, Guiney and Bergman Star, while Lewandowski Flashes for Visitors.

When Bates lined up against the Massachusetts Agricultural College team on Garcelon Field it faced a strong aggregation of football players. The Mass. farmers were certainly a stocky group of lads and the football followers knew that the contest was destined to be a fight from start to finish but the Bates rooters were confident that the Garnet team would put up a game the equal of which Garcelon field had not witnessed for years.

Amid Bates yells for the team, John Gormley kicked the pigskin to the five-yard line. The Garnet players dashed down the field and the Mass. Aggie farmer became so nervous that he fumbled the ball which was only recovered in the nick of time by a fellow player. Bates jumped into position but the Mass. team dared not to risk downs so near the Bates goal and kicked the ball. Capt. Tom Kelley renewed the punt and tore it back for a good gain. The Garnet was off—the ball was theirs and they were going to show what the Bates punch could do. Kempton gave the signal which sent John Davis thru center. John was up to standard and smashed thru the Aggie's line for ten yards. This looked good to Bates rooters who sent up a wild cheer for the team. Again Kempton tried the farmers' line and sent McKenna thru for five yards. The sturdy little pilot was not satisfied—his team could do better. A forward pass was tried and McKenna made a pretty catch pushing the ball rapidly down the field. The team was working every man fighting for Bates. Another forward pass was tried and another Bates gain resulted.

The Mass. Aggie viewed with awe the terrific onslaught of the Bates team and now succeeded in holding the Garnet to downs. The farmers tried a line plunge but were held without gain and punted the ball. Kempton moved for Bates but now the Aggies were putting up a superb battle and Bates punted. The game up to this time had showed that the teams were very evenly matched and everybody could see first, the terrific plunges of the Aggies and, then, of Bates—but both teams were helpless to break the resistance of the other. The Bates rooters were witnessing a game of football of the finest quality and above all that their team was fighting a clean game—keeping well the cherished traditions of Bates.

The remainder of the period was a succession of line plunges and punts by both Bates and the Mass. boys in their turn, neither team being able to make effective gains. Bates had possession of the ball at the end of the period.

Bates opened up the second period by punting on a fourth down. The Aggies revived but their vicious line attacks were checked by the Garnet stone wall. Finally in desperation the farmers punted and the Bates rooters urged their battling team to drive the ball thru the Aggie's goal. Again the backfield made smashing attacks onward but to no avail. The equality of strength in the defensive work of the teams was marvelous. Seldom do the football followers witness such vigorous attacks without some point weakening and the ball on its way for a score. But not yet did the attacks of Davis and Moulton on the opponents' line succeed in scoring. Still these unsuccessful attempts do not break the determination of the team—true to a man they showed the student body what kind of a team their new coach had developed. As the game played on with both teams swaying back and forth in the center of the field Bates tried a field goal. John Gormley dropped back but the wind played havoc with John's efforts and the ball went outside.

With the ball on the 20 yd. line the Mass. Aggies kicked to safety. Bates now had a reverse and fumbled the ball while the ever watchful tillers of the soil swooped it up. The goal posts of Bates were not far distant and the Aggies tried their luck on a field goal but again the ball fell short. Bates punted out and the half ended with Mass. in possession of the ball.

Before the opening of the half the rain tried its strategy on the Bates rooters and sent them with little opposition scrambling from the bleachers to the grandstand. This temporary inconvenience did not cause the Bates spirit to diminish, and as the team came back on the field the rooters proved to them that they were still proud of their efforts however futile the score.

As the whistle brought the ball in play the same pep was prominent as in the first half. First a terrific plunge by Bates, then one by the Aggies, but the opposing defense was immovable and punting was resorted to place the ball in the opponents territory. The spectacular work of Bergman in following up the punts was the best ever witnessed. As the ball would be removed by the opponents Bill would gently lay it to rest on the ground.

Minute after minute rolled by and the crowd was now silent, only now and then jumping to its feet to cheer a striking play. But neither team could win and one of the most interesting games of football that Bates men and women ever saw ended with a zero to zero score.

The offensive play of Lewandowski featured the Aggie team's play while John Davis and Bill Guiney featured the Garnet aggregation's work. The summary follows:

COLBY SCRIMMAGES HARD

SEEKS TO STRENGTHEN TACKLING—"MOOSE" COOK SHIFTED TO SUBS—ENHOLM BACK IN LINE-UP

Waterville, Oct. 11 (Special).—At practice tonight, the Colby football squad was well shaken up. Moose Cook, who has played at right tackle for the college for the last three years, was shifted to the second string, as Coach McAuliffe thinks his work is not up to par. Enholt, center on last year's all-Maine team, who has been out of the squad for the last week on account of scholarship troubles, is back in the game, and is taking the place formerly occupied by Cook. Huhn, a new man from Philadelphia who showed up well against Brown and Springfield, is playing at center.

Practice tonight consisted of a long hard scrimmage for about three hours, until darkness made it impossible to continue longer. The first team made two touchdowns against the scrubs. Shoemaker and Callahan, ends, took the ball across on forward passes in each case. The defense was particularly strong tonight. Moynahan and Woodlock did especially good work in this respect. For the offense, Merle Lowery, captain, played a great game. He is back at left tackle, shifted from left end, and is doing better work in his familiar place.

Secret Practice for Bates Game

In preparation for the Bates game Saturday, head Coach McAuliffe has been working the Colby football squad hard this week. Practice for the most part has consisted of hard scrimmages, the first and second strings being kept at this for two hours at a stretch. Secret practice, with all outsiders excluded, has been a large part of the program.

The team returned from Springfield Sunday after a well-played game against the heavier Springfield team, with no injuries reported. The tackling done in that game was not of an extra high grade and practice this week has been directed to the curing of this fault.

Enholt, center, who has been out on account of deficiencies, has taken the necessary examinations, and, it is expected, will be eligible for the game. Captain Lowery has been doing well at left tackle, but a hole at left end remains to worry the coaches. The following is a probable lineup for Saturday:

le, Shoemaker or Callahan
lt, Lowery lg, Moreland
c, Enholt or Huhn
rg, Frude rt, Cook
re, Dolbear qb, Werme or Young rh, Dunnack lh, Royal
fb, Sullivan or Hendricks

TROPHIES TO BE AWARDED IN TRACK ATHLETICS

MEETS TO BE CONDUCTED DURING THE FALL, WINTER AND SPRING

Enthusiasm in track athletics has been running higher this fall than in recent years and is expected to run even higher during the winter months. In order to increase the interest in track work, Prof. Jenkins secured from members of the Bates Boston Alumni the promise of a set of fine cups to be awarded to contestants in track and field events during the coming year. One meet will be conducted in the fall before Thanksgiving, two during the winter and one in the spring.

The events will consist of sprints, hurdles, 440 yds., 880 yds., 1 mile and 2 mile runs, shot-put, hammer throw, discus, high jump, broad jump and pole vault. In these Alumni Cup Meets, a man will be limited to competition in one event, and the winner of the greatest number of points in an event will be awarded the trophy. It is possible that a man may be allowed to compete in two events but with his points to count in only one event. All details have not yet been definitely decided.

The idea of limiting the number of events in which a man may compete, is to prevent one man from winning more than one cup and also to make him specialize in definite events. The number of cups will make it possible for men to work with a definite object in view. The fact that the meets will be spread over an extended period will make it possible for men who are new at the game to keep plugging and eventually reap the benefit of their hard work. The experience gained in these meets will be very valuable to the men when the outdoor season arrives next spring.

Bates is preparing now for the Maine Interscholastic Meets next spring. We need more men who are willing to stick at the game all winter learning the proper form in the various events. If the college spirit increases as it has in recent weeks and the men get the idea firmly fixed in their heads that they are going to win the interscholastic next spring, Bates will have a team she will be proud of.

Everybody who thinks they can run, jump, throw the weights, etc., come out and help the team. Don't be a parasite and expect to receive everything from the college without giving something in return. Your success will depend upon how much you are willing to give the college in return.

Y. M. C. A. CABINET

Since last June there have been one or two important changes in the Y. M. C. A. cabinet. Mr. Arthur L. Purinton '17, was appointed by the President of the college to take up the work of General Secretary, filling the position held last year by Mr. Gilbert. Earle Clifford '22 was elected to fill the place left vacant by the resignation of William Ashton.

The present cabinet is as follows:
President: Raymond B. Baker '22
Vice President: Carl E. Purinton '23
Secretary: Wesley Gilpatrick '24
Treasurer: Harry W. Rowe '12
General Secretary: Arthur L. Purinton '17
Chairman of Rel. Education Dept.: Ernest W. Robinson '23
Chairman of Campus Service Dept.: Philip Nason '23
Chairman of Community Cooperation: Earle Clifford '23

FRESHMAN GIRL INJURED BY TROLLEY

MISS ALETHA CHILDS RUN INTO, BREAKING HER LEG—INJURY NOT DANGEROUS

On Saturday, October eighth, the members of the Freshman class were deeply grieved to learn that one of their classmates, Miss Aletha Childs, of Rangeley, Maine, had been struck by a Figure 8 street car, while attempting to cross the car tracks at Wood and College streets. Miss Childs had gone to town soon after lunch, and was returning from a shopping trip at about quarter of two, when the accident occurred. She left the car at the first crossing before Wood street, and, after running a short distance along the sidewalk, started to cross the tracks near Whittier House. The street car, which by that time had acquired considerable momentum, lifted her from her feet into the wire netting in front, and came to an immediate stop. Motormen and occupants of the car rushed to her assistance, and she was taken as quickly as possible by automobile to the Maine General Hospital in Lewiston, where it was found that her right leg was seriously injured. Miss Childs was unaccompanied at the time of the accident, which, however, was witnessed by a number of Bates students who were lining up in front of Hathorn Hall to attend the afternoon's football game.

Miss Lena Niles, Dean of Women, went immediately to the hospital, and remained with Miss Childs until her parents, Rev. and Mrs. H. A. Childs, also of Rangeley, could be summoned. After a medical examination Saturday night, it was stated that Miss Childs' right leg had been broken between the ankle and knee, but the exact nature of the break was not known. Later, however, it was reported to be a compound-complex fracture, a very painful and complicated injury. Miss Childs has exhibited unusual courage and pluck in bearing not only the intense physical pain resulting from her misfortune, but also the discouragement of being forced temporarily to give up her college life.

Although Miss Childs has been at Bates for only a few weeks, she has already become well known and generally liked, both by the members of her own class and by those of the upperclass women with whom she has come in contact. A number of the faculty and as many of the girls as possible have visited Miss Childs at the hospital, and flowers, books, candy and fruit have been sent to her. The girls of Whittier House, where the injured girl rooms, united in sending her a large bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums as a token of their sympathy; and indeed, not only the Whittier girls, but the college as a whole deeply regrets that this misfortune should come to one of its members. The college extends its most sincere sympathy to Miss Childs and her parents.

THAT BOWDOIN GAME

One of the most regrettable features of the present football situation in Maine is the deadlock which is preventing Bates and Bowdoin from playing their annual game. For years, one of the most popular games of the entire series has been the battle between these two rivals. More enthusiasm has been generated, and more speculation aroused over this game than almost any other, with the possible exception of the Bowdoin-Maine melee. The game brought money in plenty to the two teams, brought state interest in football to a higher level, and made the college series mean something. But because of a misunderstanding over schedules, the game is off. Little wonder that the grads and the public characterize the business as "Baby Stuff" and proclaim their disgust at the way things have been handled!

The facts of the case are that the two colleges want the game to come at different times on their schedule-Bates desiring a late meeting as a climax for the year; and Bowdoin holding out against what she considers an anticlimax after the Maine game. Both have their legitimate reasons for preferring a different date, but it is certainly obvious that in such a situation both parties cannot be satisfied at once. Yet the thing is left in a general muddle, with each college blaming the other and refusing to yield an inch-and this with the state series beginning tomorrow!

Usually when two intelligent parties fail to agree upon the means or time of performing a mutually desirable act, a compromise is effected. Why cannot Bates and Bowdoin do the same? Let one college decide the date of the game for one year, and let the decision rest with the other college for the next year. By so going, no advantage would be given either school, and the thing would be done which is only sportsmanlike and fair to the many supporters of both teams who wish to see them in action against each other.

As to which of the colleges should yield this year, there is little difference. As a practical matter, the game would have to be played on a date which is now open to both colleges, since other contests could not easily be changed at this late date. If that date be after the Maine game, let Bowdoin yield; and if it be before the end of the series, let Bates withdraw her objections. The point is that the game should be played sometime this year, and the date agreed upon at once.

Let the two managements get together and be sports enough to forget their fancied wrongs while they get the thing going. Only by so doing can they convince the public that college sports are carried on from a plane higher than petty wranglings.

FRESHMAN TENNIS

With the days suitable for tennis rapidly passing, the annual Freshman tennis tournament is held up because of lack of entries among the first yearmen. The captain of tennis, who has this tournament in charge, reports that not enough entries have been received to make the contest worth while.

Why this unique modesty on the part of the Frosh? Is it possible that '25 has no tennis players? Or is the impression prevalent that only expert players should presume to enter such a tournament? Presumably the latter belief is keeping many men from taking their part in the contest, yet nothing could be farther from the truth.

The purpose of the tournament is to develop new material which may later be of service to the college, to provide an opportunity for beginners to secure valuable contest experience in court generalship, and to open the way for general athletic rivalry among the men of the Freshmen class. No man need feel himself too ordinary a player to enter this contest; and no player should show himself to be too inferior a man to help boost college athletics. Freshmen, sign up for that tournament!

DORMITORY PHILOSOPHY

—B—

All of us were here on the campus last year. Even then we were brothers at heart and would have formed a little "frat" of our own if there hadn't been a college rule to stop us. As it was we contented ourselves during Freshman year by meeting occasionally in somebody's room, and, after relegating everything that looked like a textbook to oblivion, settling down to a pleasant evening of conversation.

There were always pipes—always cigarettes, and sometimes our host would treat us to the contents of the latest box from home. Those were indeed happy occasions—not a single one of us will ever forget them—no not even A who has left us for the attractions of the University.

Perhaps the memory of those delightful confabs, and of the pipe-rings we used to blow, and of the delicious home-made cakes we used to eat, accounts for the six of us who have survived, getting together the other evening, in the Veteran's room, to cement old friendships and talk on everything in general and nothing in particular. Before long, however, we drifted from athletics, freshmen, the Commons menu, Music Hall, and other such topics and discovered that we had become intensely personal.

The Veteran claims that it was the Poet who started the ball a-rolling when he remarked how glad he was to get back to the campus and in touch with the intangibilities of culture. Anyhow we all started talking.

Our Athlete, who did such splendid work for the college last season in football, and who promises to do even more this year was the first to tell us his thoughts. "I for one agree with the Poet," he said; "it certainly is great to get back here again among the fellows and feel that you are a real part of a college organization. Gee, these first two weeks of college have been great. Coming to college is just like being born over again."

This coming from our Athlete, made the Scholar laugh. It was clear that he did not understand. The Scholar, with all his keenness has never been quite able to see the fineness of feeling that makes our otherwise rough and ready Athlete one of the most sensitive of men.

"My what sentiment," exclaimed the Scholar, as he threatened to throw a handy ink-bottle at the big fellow, loling on the couch, directly opposite. "Now here—tell us the truth. What did you really come back for? I'm sure it wasn't to browse around in Coram Library, or to try out for Varsity debating, or to work for a Phi Beta Kappa Key. Now honestly, didn't you come back to play football?"

None of us liked the Scholar's tone, however, we were all anxious to hear the answer to his question. We did not have to wait long—our Athlete rose to the occasion.

"Yes," he said, "I did come back to play football. I love the game. It's wonderful to run out there on the field, the band playing, the crowd cheering and feel that you are actually fighting—fighting for Bates. The physical pleasure of it sort of grips a man—but it's something more than physical. It's—it's fascinating—intoxicating if you want to put it that way. When you play football you can't help feeling as tho you are somebody, and that something is depending upon the way you conduct yourself. Yes that is one of the reasons why I put up such a fight to come back—because I wanted to make the team. But that isn't all. College means something more than football games and track meets. My life here last year taught me that. There's the social side of it to think of—the chance to mix and make friends—to know men and their moods. There is the education to think of, too. Don't think I am minimizing its importance by putting it last—no one realizes any more than I do what it means to have rough edges worn off and the mental kinks taken out of one's mind. Why, man, there are a thousand things that brought me back. I'll admit I'm no scholar—I never got an 'A' in my life—but then I'm no dumb-bell. All I can say is that college is meaning a great deal to me. I will be satisfied if they say when I leave that during my four years I showed myself to be a creditable athlete, a fair scholar, and a good mixer."

The Veteran clapped his hands by way of approval. "You hit the nail on the head, old boy, when you emphasized the attractions that college has for training one socially. Over in France, it didn't take long to have it drummed into a fellow's head how important it is to know how to get along with men. That's what this dormitory life is doing—teaching us how to bear idiosyncrasies, how to analyze character and how to adjust ourselves to people; when we get out we ought "to know a good man when we see one," I believe that college trains us for leadership—that's why I threw down the chance to be first selectman back home and am back here at Bates studying—because I realize what four years here on the campus is going to mean to me."

"Well," said the Scholar, "now that you two have told us your reasons for coming back, it's our turn to tell ours." (He has a wretched habit of talking in the plural when he means himself.) "I don't have to tell you fellows that I am not here for social life or athletics—I am here to get the training for a professional career. The future that I am planning on, necessitates that I excel in studies and make a name for myself before I enter the University. Frankly, my coming to Bates has been a business proposition. The thing that I hope to do while here is to get all that I can of languages, mathematics and debating!"

At this point he was interrupted by the Poet. "You confess, then, that you came primarily to excel in studies—you are working for what it will later bring to you in dollars and cents?" "That's it exactly," replied the Scholar. "It's a perfectly legitimate ambition, isn't it?" "Oh it's within the law all right—but not just the thing the world expects of a college man. It's wrong—this passion for things for what they bring and not for their own sake. The college man should have ideals—noble, unselfish ideals; he can't help having them if he gets the most out of his college, and is any way receptive to the things of the spirit. When he goes out in the world he should go with his head high—standing for the better things, because of his contact with the best that has been thought and said in the world."

The Scholar's lips curled in a cynical smile. "But you must remember that all of us don't take to idealism like a duck does to water. Some of us are directly concerned with the economic phase of the thing—in other words with the matter of earning a living. I for one can't afford to starve among my lawbooks while waiting for a client. I've got to attract them to me and the only way I can do that is to start right in doing better work than the other fellow right here in college. They remember those things in the Law School you know! Besides I want money—and the things that money will buy—a Rolls-Royce, a beautiful home—a charming wife—and the other things that make life worth living. Idealism is all right for school teachers and poets but a business man can't afford to risk his future on dreams of unselfish service to humanity. I am here at college studying the goods that I am going to sell—and when I sell them I mean to ask my price and to get it!"

The Poet had much more to say—but he remained silent. Something seemed to tell him that there would always be those who worked for the joy of working and those who worked primarily for the scanty tithe that men can give, that was why he and the Scholar would never agree.

It was now the Scientist's turn. He is a splendid fellow—practical to the very core and yet he believes with the Poet that a man should see things for their own sake and not for his own. He is terribly devoted to his job and virtually lives in the laboratory. His one ambition is to be a qualitative chemist

THE CLUB-MAN

Spo-Tord Club met for its regular meeting in Libbey Forum, Tuesday evening. Two new members, Miss Amy Blaisdell and Miss Elsie Mowry, were elected; this leaves one vacancy in the club membership. March 18 was definitely decided upon as the date for Spof-Tord Night. Mr. Libbey reported on prospects for pushing a magazine, something after the style of the Collegiate World. Prospects are golden, with the gold yet to be found. Miss Bradford read a rural story abounding in atmosphere and portrayals of real stable farm people, entitled "Pa Speculates." Mr. Thompson, batting for Mr. Ashton, read a short story of a professor who went wrong, called "Reverse English," very gory and true to type. Meeting expired.

New Hampshire Club met for the first time this year in Rand Hall. At that time Dorothea Davis resigned her position as president and nominated Marguerite Armstrong to fill the vacancy. Miss Armstrong was elected by a unanimous vote.

Arrangements for a camp supper which will take place soon were made. A committee for refreshments was chosen: Ruth Dunlap '23, chairman; Grace Daly '23, Nellie Bannister and Estella Card '24.

The Portland Club held its first meeting of the year Monday noon. The meeting was for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year. The following officers were elected:

President: Gladys Dearing '22.
Vice-Pres.: Dorothy Wheat '23.
Sec. and Treas.: Florence Day '24.

At the same time Miss Hooper was appointed the chairman of the next meeting.

Plans were discussed for attending the Shakespearian Plays soon to be presented in Portland.

The members of the Massachusetts club held their first meeting Tuesday noon. At that time Elizabeth Little '22 was elected president for this year.

Last year's social committee was unanimously reelected, Kaye Whittier '22, Dorothy Lamb '24, and Geraldine Smith '24. This committee has full charge of snow shoe hikes, picnics, parties, and entertainments for the benefit of the Massachusetts people.

Plans were also made for a picnic to be enjoyed by both the New Hampshire and Massachusetts clubs in the near future.

The regular meeting of the Extra Club was held Monday evening at eight o'clock. The election of officers for this year took place. Wilhelmina Fieneman '22, was elected president; Elizabeth Files '23, vice president, and Elsie Mowry '24, secretary and treasurer. Dorothy Holt '22 was re-elected chairman of the Social Committee.

Plans were discussed for a party to be held out of doors soon.

After the meeting, the annual candy pull, a tradition of the club, was enjoyed by all.

Seniority held its first meeting of the year, Friday evening in the girls' gymnasium. The first matter of business taken up was the appointing of a committee whose duty it is to nominate a few girls from the Junior class who are eligible to join this society. The names will be voted upon at the next meeting.

Many plans for the ensuing year were discussed.

and to be of service to the world! He said much in his few words, "I want to be a good chemist—a leader in my line. I also want culture as I believe it will aid me in my work which shall be primarily devoted to making this a better world to live in, thru popularizing newer methods of treating with everyday industrial problems connected with chemistry. That's why I am in college!"

That evening after they had all gone—the Veteran and I had quite a talk together. It was he who suggested that I put what the others had said down on paper; he thought that someone might profit by reading it, and since he is older and has had experience and ought to know about such things, I have complied.

KENTS HILL TEAM DEFEATED 6-2 IN SECOND GAME OF SEASON

Woodman and Kenney Feature, while Others Show Varsity Promise

The Bates Freshman team showed an improvement over last week by defeating Kents Hill Seminary. The aggressive line of the visitors broke through often, blocking several punts, but the powerful offensive of Bates gained more first downs than their opponents.

Hagberg, for Bates, kicked to Fraser who was downed after a short run. Kent's Hill made a slight gain through the line but fumbled on the next play, giving Bates the ball. Kenney made first down on an end run. Woodman carried the ball through the line and then caught two successive passes from Dagnino and Kenney for first down. A crossback, and forward, Kenney to Dagnino, brought the ball to the 15 yard line. On his second attempt, Kenney placed the ball behind the line for a touchdown. The try for goal failed.

Woodman received the kickoff and time was called. The second quarter started with the ball deep in Bates' territory. A fumble gave the ball to Kent's Hill on the Freshmen's 5 yard line. The boys from the Seminary gained, but Bates held them for downs on the 2 yard line. Kenney punted to Lago who was downed in his tracks on the 35 yard line by Simpson. A punt followed, which Burns caught on the 10 yard line. A poor pass for a punt put the ball behind the Bates' goal line where Kenney fell on it for a safety scoring two points for Kent's Hill. The ball was then put in play on the Freshmen's 30 yard line. Woodman picked a hole through tackle, running a broken field for fifty yards. This was the feature play of the game. Kenney hurt his ankle on an end run giving place to Doker. Doker gained around the end, but a criss-cross failed. After a couple of forwards which did not gain the ten, Kent's Hill took the ball. Time was called for half.

The Freshmen started the second half with the original lineup. Kenney received on the 10 yard line and carried to the thirty yard line. Bates gained on a long punt by Hagberg. Kent's Hill failed to gain and punted. Several incomplete forwards and a punting duel ensued. Hagberg's punt was blocked as the quarter was called. The ball passed from team to team twice.

Kent's Hill blocked a punt and recovered the ball beyond the goal line but was ruled offside.

Coach Smith sent in several men. Kent's Hill advanced with several forward passes and the game was called.

The team shows an increase in co-operation and team play over last week. Woodman and Kenney featured in gaining ground. The team showed true Bates spirit when it held its opponent on the 2 yard line. Coach Smith will have a finished machine to boast of within another week. Price and Fraser played well for Kent's Hill.

BIG INTERCLASS MEET MONDAY, OCTOBER 17

Who Is Going to Win?

The big fall interclass track meet will be held on Monday afternoon, October 17, and it is expected that some fine performances will be turned in. The runners have been working out under Coach Jenkins and are expected to turn in some excellent early-season performances.

It is rumored that 1924 will have to show signs of life to win this fall, 1925 is organizing and is expecting to show up the sophs, who felt pretty chesty over their work last year. The freshmen claim that the baseball series was fixed but that they will show the sophs in their proper colors when the track meet comes off. The seniors are showing up excellently and we are expecting to hear from 1923.

The probable events will be:
 100 yds. dash; 60 yds. high hurdles; 2 mile run; 440 yds. run; 120 yds. low hurdles; 220 yds. dash; 1 mile run; 880 yds. run.

The field events will be run off at the same time. The following are the events:

Pole vault; hammer throw; discus; shot put; running broad jump; running high jump.

This meet will serve as a fore-runner of the first Alumni Cup Meet.

Everybody up, 1922!
 Go to it, 1923!
 Eat 'em alive, 1924!
 Show 'em up, 1925!

DEBATERS, FRONT AND CENTER

Announcement Made of Preliminary Trials for Varsity Squad

The varsity debating season is getting under way. The first official call for the assembly of the varsity squad was made this week and the Council hopes that a large number will turn out. The preliminary trials will be held in the little theatre, Hathorn Hall, on Friday, October 21, at four o'clock. Each candidate will present a five minute speech on one of the following propositions:

1. The United States should insist that all nations respect the open door policy and the political and administrative integrity of China.
2. Japanese immigrants to the United States should be admitted on the same terms as immigrants from European countries.
3. The renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance would be detrimental to the best interests of the United States.

Each speech should develop one issue and may or may not include an analysis of the question. Close reading from notes or reciting closely memorized speeches should be avoided.

All those intending to try out will sign their cognomens in the Blue Book at the librarian's desk, Coram Library. Don't forget this address.

Eight men will be picked from the preliminaries, who, with four veterans, Watts '22, Young '24, Raye '25 and Johnson '22, will debate two weeks later to determine the varsity squad.

FRESHMAN TRACK MEETING

The men of the class of '25 held council last Monday to discuss plans for the coming interclass track meet and to elect a captain and manager.

H. A. Simpson defeated Burrill for the manager's position by a close vote. Two middle distance runners, who have had considerable experience on both the boards and cinder paths, were nominated for the captaincy.

Raymond Bragg who previously featured for Worcester School of Commerce received a slight win over Archibald, the well known Brookline High and Huntington school athlete.

Though we have known the new captain but a short time, we feel that he has the capabilities for a good leader. We wish him all success and hope to see him displaying his wares for the varsity.

SENIORS SEEK SECLUSION

Another Successful Party Added to the List

Last Friday afternoon the class of 1922 held its first party of the year on the banks of the Androscoggin. By quarter of four a large representative group of the class was assembled before Parker Hall and journeyed to that old familiar picnic spot on the river bank. Following the course laid down by human nature, many immediately gathered wood for a fire, which was soon to be used in preparing the repast. Others, calling to their mates, sought more or less secluded spots while still others enjoyed themselves in various games.

After an hour of recreation, during which time the official photographer, "Pete" Lesieur took a few pictures. The fire was well under way and soon the feast was on. The hot dog of antiquity, with all its fixings, the incessant doughnut, and the ever-welcome cider—all were in abundance.

When everyone had eaten to his or her full capacity, Lesieur and his band of mandolin players, entertained the crowd with a few choice selections. This was followed by songs, led by Mr. Ireland and Miss Lidstone. Then "Dave" Thompson and his company made their debut and furnished no little amusement.

At seven o'clock a few cheers were given for "Prexy" Carpenter, the "Alma Mater" was sung, and the assemblage slowly wended its way back to the campus.

The chaperones for the party were Mrs. Wilton, Miss Niles, and Prof. Baird. Mr. McKenney was chairman of the party committee.

CO-EDS SPRING SURPRISE AT MASS MEETING

WONDERFUL EXHIBITION OF PEP AND COLLEGE SPIRIT

If the spirits of Presidents Cheney and Chase were hovering around Hathorn Hall last Friday evening they heard a demonstration of the old Bates' spirit second to none in all our college history. The thrilling gridiron battle of the morrow seemed to be forecasted in the splendid enthusiasm of that mass meeting which "Prexy" declared, the morning after in chapel, to have been the best he has ever seen at Bates.

The girls sprang the surprise of the evening by marching into the hall en masse with an array of slogans held high above their heads. Such signs as "The cats at midnight have nothing on us," "If you cant sing—Growl!" and "If you've got a voice—Let's hear it," gave ample proof that on the co-eds' side of the campus all was in readiness for the football campaign to begin. The songs offered by the girls for the entertainment and instruction of the men were of a snappy nature and the cheer leaders put them across in first class shape.

MacLean led the men in college yells and his remarks regarding the prospective game were enthusiastically received. Captain Kelley, Coach Jenkins and Bob Watts furnished the oratory of the evening and instilled in the student body the kind of spirit that can't help but win ball games. The season is on and everybody's happy.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The weekly meeting of the Y. W. was in charge of the membership committee, Hazel Prescott being leader. Special music was furnished by a group of Freshmen girls. Elsie Roberts gave a short but interesting talk on the national Y. W. organization and its relation to our Bates organization. Frances Mingot also spoke, mentioning the value of the Y. W. on the campus and the meaning of membership in the organization.

Delegate to Conference Chosen

The annual conference of the Undergraduates Field Representatives of the Y. W. C. A. is to be held in New York City, Saturday and Sunday of this week. Bates is to be represented by Elsie Roberts. Colleges from all the northeastern district of the U. S. send delegates to this conference.

Bible Study Classes

The Y. W. have arranged the following courses for the Bible study classes. These classes are to begin next Sunday and to continue for five weeks.

The Senior and Junior girls are to meet Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Rand Hall. Mrs. G. Edgar Wolfe will lead a discussion and study of the book of Mark.

It is hoped that a large number of girls will enroll in these classes.

The Sophomore girls are to meet at 4.30 at Frye Street House. Mrs. Clifton D. Gray will teach Christian Life and Conduct.

The Freshmen girls are to meet with Mrs. George Chase at 4.30 at Cheney House, to study the book "The Golden Word."

RAMSDELL SCIENTIFIC CLUB

Last Thursday night the Ramsdell Scientific Club held its annual initiation of new members. The members admitted at this time were recommended and voted upon last spring.

Each girl was compelled to pass an examination in her special scientific department before she signed the constitution of the club. This furnished amusement not only to the initiators but also to the initiated.

Games and stunts more or less scientific were enjoyed by all later in the evening.

The girls admitted to the club were Izzetta Lidstone '22, Lola Mitchell '22, Helen Waddell '22, Katherine O'Brien '22, Mabel Simmons '23, Theodora Berentzen '23, Helen Hoyt '23, Alice Cunningham '23.
