BATES UNCORKS THE PEP AND PLAYS COLBY TO 7-7 TIE

Garnet Misses Several Chances to Put Across Winning Score—Bewildering Aerial Attacks Completely Surprises Colby—Big Plans for College Victory Banquet and Pow Wow Squashed—Moulton, Davis and Dagnino Sparkle as Against Lowry and Young.

The Maine State series started off with a bang last Saturday when Bates and Colby slashed on the latter's gridiron at Waterville. The game was full of spectacular features and the stands were full of appreciative rooters as each team pulled off some brilliant piece of football strategy. The Garnet portion of the stands showed that Cheerleader MacLean had been a very busy man for the voices of over three hundred loyal Bates men and women responded to his entreaties to manifest to the team that they were being backed to the utmost from the sidelines. Working with the disadvantage of not having the customary band, Mac demonstrated his ability in his profession by drawing forth cheers that drowned those on the opposite side of the battlefield many times, especially so during the last few moments of the contest.

The day was ideal as far as football weather goes, but the sun shines in such a manner on the Waterville field that it is extremely difficult to judge kicks and passes when they are received when facing the glare. Old Sol certainly gave Captain Kelley's men a handicap, for many punts were misjudged by the Garnet backs. Even the Colby team erred in the same manner although they were smeared with war paint to counteract the brightness of the sun's rays.

As the referee blew the whistle that started the battle, the entire crowd of spectators rose to cheer the eleven on, and the enthusiasm did not abate until the game was over. Bates received the first kickoff and after a few successful line plunges Gormley sent the ball well into the Colby territory. The speedy Bates ends almost beat the pigskin to its destination and when it was recovered the man was dropped in his tracks. Colby realized now that the pre-game dope was all shot and that the result was not to be an overwhelming defeat for Bates as they had anticipated, but that the Blue and Gray would be lucky if they scored at all. The ball was in such a dangerous zone, Colby did not dare an attempt to rush it, instead she punted it into safety. Dagnino, a freshman making his debut into Maine State games now started an aerial exhibition that worried Colby to the extreme. Dag, in his passes, shot the ball swiftly and accurately and was the means by which Bates gained scores of yards. The oval was now again in a position of danger for Colby, but she tightened up her line and the Bates punch could not seem to gain. The Garnet now met her first reverse when the ball was fumbled. A good chance for a score was lost and Colby carried the ball to the middle of the gridiron before the first quarter ended. With the sole exception of receiving punts, the quarter showed that the Garnet team was far superior to their opponents. The Waterville lads were seeing visions of their golden simolians passing into Bates hands; the Lewiston lads pictured a long parade of pajama-clad, mentally-alienated, enthusiastic Bates sympathizers after supper.

The second period was off with a snap, Bates receiving the kick. Both teams were struggling for supremacy, and both were resorting to the punting game to free their territory from danger. Again the Garnet was facing the

COME BACK TO BATES, ALUMNI

SPLENDID PROGRAM PLANNED FOR EVE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE GAME

According to the circular which is being sent to all Bates grads this week by the Alumni Council, "Ponce de Leon had no corner on the Elixir of Eternal Youth," and college men find it by frequently visiting their Alma Mater. Bates men are invited to test the veracity of this statement by coming back to the campus on October 28 1921 for the second annual "Back-to-Bates Night" and seeing how good it feels to mingle with old classmates and with the present student body of Academia Batesina.

"Back-to-Bates Night" this year falls on the eve of the big Bates-New Hampshire game, and in view of the fact that many of the graduates of the college who are teaching will be attending the Maine State Teachers Convention at Portland or the New Hampshire State Convention at Concord, New Hampshire, during the week of the 24th it is expected that quite a number of alumni will be on hand.

The order of festivities include a massmeeting at Hathorn Hall at 7.00 P. M. with cheers, music by the band, and speeches by coaches undergrads, and a few of the alumni, and an informal party in Chase Hall to which all the men-alumni, faculty and undergrads are invited by the Alumni council. All of the facilities of the hall will be available and there will be a buffet lunch. The whole affair is going to vitalize the college spirit for the contest on Garcelon field Saturday afternoon. The whole college is back of Coach Watkins and his team and believe that the fellows who held Yale down to 28 to 0; Mass Aggies 0 to 0; Colby 7 to 7, and won from Tufts 14 to 10, will give the visiting grads reason to be proud of the old Alma Mater.

Last year it will be remembered "Back to Bates Night" came on the eve of the Bowdoin game. Misunderstanding between the college this year has to date resulted in no game being arranged between Bates and Bowdoin. However there will be plenty of enthusiasm as the Granite-Staters have a reputation that is enviable.

Other alumni meetings that are to be held in conjunction with the Teachers conventions are the dinner at Portland on the evening of October 27th, at which President Gray and several of the faculty will be present, and the dinner of the Cheney Club at noon on the 21st at American Legion Hall, Concord New Hampshire at which Ex-Governor Carl E. Milliken of Maine will be one of the principal speakers.

It's nearly time for the Ghosts and Goblins to appear. Chase Hall will soon be the scene of Hallow'en revelry. Let's all be ready for the fun. Get your masques ready now in order that you may appear in a costume that will win the prize.

THE MIGRATION OF THE FAITHFUL

BEING AN ACCOUNT OF THE LANDSLIDE OF BATES HUMANITY WHICH LANDED IN WATERVILLE

A Choice Morsel for Other Tramps

Moses had his exodus, Mohammed his hegira, and Bates its side-door pullman. By hook, but mostly by crook, Bates got to Waterville Saturday last, to see that Colby game, and it speaks well for the get-there spirit of those Bates men in that at the game's start, the Bates' cheering section outnumbered their opponent's.

Twenty-six staunch undergraduates went by M. C. R. R. Limited—limited one to a brake beam—and, out of the kindness of their hearts, the burly brakemen closed their eyes to this infraction of company rules, and allowed the embryo tramps uninterrupted passage to Waterville. They came, they saw, and went to chapel—(anti-climax) as we who remained were informed by Prexy Saturday at our own chapel service.

And there were others who travelled in style,—who started on the long trail to Waterville on brogans, sizes 7 1/2 and up, and landed in Waterville on Goodrich Silvertown Cords, lolling on luxurious cushions, and all that sort o' thing. Some auto owners have a heart under their vests, as well as silk shirts, as those men will testify who were picked up by a big Packard, its owner's attention evidently drawn to them by the placards on their backs, stating the intense desire of the bearer for assistance on his holy pilgrimage to the unholy city of Waterville.

Oh, yes! The cheer leaders went, too! MacLean and French showed a somewhat bumptious spirit by selecting an untamed woolly Fjord as their means of transportation. Carl held its head while Mac mounted; three raucous snorts were heard in the land, and then they were off. The Fjord was full of the Spirits of '76, seemed to enter into the general spirit, and roared aloud as Mac guided her safely past the Augusta Institution for Bankrupt Brains. Quivering gently in every cylinder, it came to a halt outside the Colby athletic field just before the game started. When interviewed, Mac's only statement, couched in his terse verbiage, was, "Yes, we sure had some blow-outs! Three, in fact!" Mac will have his little joke.

By speed-wagon, private auto, train, electric car, or freight car, they got there, over two hundred strong, ready to let that ol' Bates' yell roll across the field when the Garnet warriors trotted onto the gridiron. Great stuff, noble twenty-six, faces and hands somewhat cinderized! Nice work, tramps, your spirit is A No. 1! Some stunt, Mac and Frenehie! With your nerve and your luck and your untamed Fjord, you represent the epitome of Bates 'spirit, dash, pep, and fight!

take this special leaving Lewiston at 6.15, a round trip can be made for $1.25. As yet about fifteen have signed up. Are ye not ashamed of that, ye dramatists, ye writers, ye literary critics, ye vaudeartists, ye actors, ye theatre-goers? It is useless to say more. You all know the quality of the work which Shakespeare has wrought. Raleigh said: "Shakespeare was that rarest of all things, a whole man." Why hesitate then? Think what you will miss by staying away! The interurban must have those fifty-two passengers. Don't smash the plans of some future Drinkwater by making the special rate impossible. Think it over—and seriously; then leave your name at the library at your earliest opportunity.

DEBATING SEASON OPENS

RECORD NUMBER OF CANDIDATES PARTICIPATE IN VARSITY TRIALS

Strong Hopes for Championship Team With Four Veterans and Excellent New Material Available.

Bates debating starts off with a bang today. The preliminaries were held this afternoon, in which all the candidates tried out. The same method of determining the varsity as has always been used, will be employed this year. From all the candidates who presented their five minute speeches today, eight will be chosen, who, with four veterans, Watts, Young, Johnson, and Raye, will be grouped into three teams to debate among each other to determine the six men to compose the varsity.

Bates is known internationally for her debating record. Two years ago, she defeated Harvard and Cornell. Last year, she met and defeated both Harvard and Yale, and gained distinction by being the first American college to engage Oxford Union in debate. Although there was no formal decision on the last named contest, it is known that the Bates team showed up most favorably against England's best. The Bates' debating record has been an occasion of comment by leading newspapers all over the country.

Debating is perhaps the most emphasized extraacademic activity on the Bates campus. The college has been unusually fortunate in the material it has had for the last few years. Mays and Lucas, graduates of two year's standing were strong men, and did much to put the institution on the map. Starbird and Morris graduated last year, and their loss is keenly felt. Watts, the one remaining member of the Oxford aggregation, is perhaps the most powerful debater that Bates has ever had. Young, who made the team last year as a freshman, and who showed up mighty well against Yale, is on the campus for three years yet. This is Johnson's last year, but the experience of the Harvard debate will stand him in good stead.

Two new strong speakers are needed to complete the varsity. Whether or not they will come from the class of 1925, is still a matter of conjecture. Bragg, from Worcester, is said to have had much prep school experience. Googins, from Deering, Bob Watts's own prep school, is also a candidate. Twombly, whose oratorical ability has dazzled Bates men many times this year, has announced his intention of making the varsity. There are undoubtedly other freshmen less known, who are possibilities. It is felt, however, that at least one of the vacancies will be filled by an upperclassman. The reputation of Bates in this field has brought great responsibility upon those who will pick the team, and they will, of necessity, proceed with caution.

The debating prospects for the year are very bright. There are several colleges of national fame with whom negotiations are under way. Although it cannot yet be stated definitely what these prospects are, it is thought that a Western trip may be arranged including some of the well known Western institutions. Oxford will very likely send a team over to debate Bates at Lewiston, although all arrangements for this international contest have not yet been made. At any rate it will be a great year for Bates.

BATES STUDENTS TO SEE "HAMLET"

SPECIAL CAR ARRANGED TO MAKE TRIP TO PORTLAND

"O, Opportunity, Thou Point'st the Season."

Next week, beginning Monday, October 24, Lee Shubert, at Jefferson theatre in Portland, will present E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe in four of the greatest Shakespearean plays; Tuesday and Saturday evenings; "The Merchant of Venice," Wednesday and Friday evenings; "The Taming of the Shrew" Thursday evening. That should be sufficient to awaken the interest of every one. Every Bates man and woman knows what a transcendent opportunity is afforded them in this program. Professor Hartshorn, an authority on literature, has made the bold statement that in a few years Shakespeare's plays will no longer be produced. Then can any adjective in the English language adequately express the quality of this opportunity? How about it ye college men of 1921? Are you going to Portland Saturday evening on the special Interurban to see "Hamlet," the famous old tragedy that thrills! If fifty-two Bates people will

BEEDY AND BATES

Years ago, the nation was repeatedly aroused by the famous speeches of the statesmen of the times, chief among whom were the representatives from Maine. Time after time, the words of Blaine sounded as a watchword of Congress; and to this day the heroic stand of Fessenden remains as a tribute to the man who, by his vote and oratory, at the time of reconstruction, literally swung the fate of the nation. In fact, some of the greatest known examples of eloquence were called into being by national crises and the defence of cherished ideals in our Congress.

Of late years there have been few instances when the House has listened to really great speeches—for even the World War failed to produce any save the more prosaic arguments. Yet recently, when the House debated the bill which would reapportion representatives and cause Maine to lose one seat, Carroll Beedy—the Beedy of Bates, and the Beedy of Maine—delivered a plea for Maine which stampeded the House, rallied Democrats and Republicans to his aid in blocking the bill, and made him famous overnight as the greatest orator in Washington.

With but three minutes allowed him by the chair, Beedy secured ten more from the Democratic floor leader and an additional four from a colleague who yielded to him, and addressed Congress in his maiden speech. At the very start of his plea the House was hushed; with every minute bringing keener logic and more moving eloquence, senators began to crowd into the hall to hear this new leader who stood revealed; until, as he concluded, a roar acclaimed him as the House rushed to shake his hand. A maiden speech, yet a speech which has given Maine her greatest orator since Blaine and made her statesmen once more famed for their power.

Need we say that Bates is proud of Beedy? We join with the State of Maine in congratulating him—may his term be long and as successful as this, his maiden speech!

A BATES MAN BORN AND BRED

What a fine display of college spirit that was when our co-eds marched two hundred strong into Hathorn Hall to attend the athletic rally last week! That demonstration was enough to kindle enthusiasm for the best mass meeting that has shaken the timbers of old Hathorn for some years. Those were "born and bred" Bates women.

The true Bates spirit is not something compounded out of thin air, and extracted by means of hot air. It goes down deep into the heart of its possessor. How about you? Are you a real Bates man? Does a thrill go through you when you return to the campus after vacation time? Just what does Bates mean to you anyway? What do you know about your Alma Mater? Have you ever read the history of Bates,—in the life of its first President—one of the pluckiest stories ever chronicled? Have you ever stopped to look a second time at the portrait of President Chase in the building named after him? What do you know about Bates' debating record? Out of her fifty debates, exactly how many has she won? When you are off the campus, associated with men from other colleges perhaps, are you proud of the fact that you hail from Bates, or do you conceal it? Would you be willing to sacrifice your personal whims to uphold the time-honored traditions and ideals of your Alma Mater?

Here is another one of those intelligence tests. Dig down deep into your own heart and see just how you stand. If you draw a low mark this time, see to it that you are letter perfect next time. That "born and bred" feeling is a good thing to have.

NEW HIKING PROGRAM FOR WOMEN

Stripes to Be Awarded for Participation

It has long been recognized that there is a great need and opportunity for organized hiking for the women of the college. The very location of Bates, on the outskirts of the city, makes it a center from which many delightful walks may be taken. Hiking is fine exercise and a real sport if carried on in the right way, and the girl who has learned to hike scientifically, has all out of doors before her. The question of introducing this sport into our regular athletic schedule was taken up in the Athletic Board this fall and a committee was appointed, with Miss Davies as chairman, to work out some plan of action. In order to provide an incentive for work along this line, and to offer an opportunity for girls to earn the right to wear the college colors, it was decided to offer a stripe for hiking, under certain conditions. The committee worked out the following plan:

1. Each class shall have a captain who shall keep a record of each girl's work.
2. One hike shall consist of at least one hour of walking. Three special hikes shall be: 1st, around Lake Auburn; 2nd, to Greene, and 3rd, to Taylor Pond.
3. A stripe shall be given to a girl who has completed thirty hikes, including the three special hikes. A half stripe shall be given to a girl completing twenty-five hikes, including the Lake Auburn trip. A certain length of time shall be specified in which the hikes shall be completed.

This plan is subject to revision and may be changed to conform with the season of the year. It is hoped that the new sport will find many enthusiastic followers this fall. We have an ideal country in which to hike, the reward of a stripe is given if you will but work for it. Let's all go out for hiking!

MOVIES FOR SATURDAY EVENING

Will Be Held Early if Bates Trims Maine—Big Celebration Scheduled

The second movie show of the year is scheduled for Saturday evening. Arrangements have been made whereby it will not interfere with the celebration of the victory over Maine, which all are confidently expecting. The hour of the show will be made early and immediately afterward the big parade of triumph will take place. Further notice will be posted as to the exact time of the performance.

Large audiences are attending the movies this fall, and those in charge have responded by securing first class features for every week. The Bates Theatre is apparently here to stay—so much so that it behooves co-educators and others to arrive early and avoid foot sores.

JEFF SMITH SPEAKS AT 'Y' MEETING

Large Audience Hears a Snappy Talk on "Life Investments"

The announcement that Jeff Smith, State "Y" Secretary for Maine, was to be at the association meeting last Wednesday night, October 12, was enough to draw a large crowd, for there are very few boys in Maine who do not know and love Jeff. Approximately seventy-five men were present and gave Mr. Smith a rousing welcome that brought a hearty smile to his face.

The way the service was conducted reminded one of Jeff Smith's Boys' Conferences, for the meeting was not allowed to drag for a moment at any time. Elwood Ireland '22, led the singing, assisted by Martin '25, on the cornet.

After a few good jokes, which the men appreciated greatly, and a few knocks at President Buker and his new moustache, Jeff settled right down to business and gave a straightforward talk for fifteen minutes. He chose for a leading thought "The Investment of Your Life." Jeff pointed out that to serve God does not necessarily mean to be a minister. Many professions are callings of God. For every man, indeed, God has a certain plan. The best thing for each fellow to do is to try to find out what that plan is, to put himself wholly in God's hand, and proceed accordingly.

The meeting closed promptly at 7.30, but many of the men lingered to say "Hello" to Mr. Smith.

BATES DELEGATES

ATTEND CONFERENCE

New England 'Y' Sessions Held in New York City

Secretary Arthur Purinton and his brother Carl, represented Bates at an important meeting of the Christian Associations of the New England and Middle Atlantic States held at Wallace Lodge, New York City, last Friday to Sunday. There were representatives from Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Bowdoin, M. A. C., etc. In all there were some fifty men representing thirty colleges.

Sunday, at the Y. W. C. A. headquarters, Miss Elsie Roberts acted as Bates' representative. At this meeting important national questions were discussed.

Further experiences of the delegates will be heard at the meetings of the organizations during the week.

BATES BIBLES READY

There are still many Handbooks left at the Y. M. C. A. office waiting to be called for. These little books published under the direction of Harris C. Palmer '23, Ernest Ripley '23, E. F. Roberts '23, and Rudolph Kempton '24, are full of information for Bates men covering every college activity. If you haven't got yours call around at the "Y" office before it's too late.

INTER-CLASS MEET POSTPONED UNTIL MONDAY

An Outline of Freshman Material

The much-looked-for inter-class track meet was postponed from October 17 to October 24 because of the inclement weather. The applicants, however, are taking advantage of the extra week, and every afternoon they can be seen practicing on Garcelon Field.

Little is known to the freshmen as to what the upper classes have for material. The freshmen, under the leadership of Capt. Bragg, are confident that they will give a good account of themselves. They are pinning their hopes on Archibald, the former Huntington School star, who, undoubtedly, will run the sprints along with Corey, Fletcher, Burrill, Morrell, and Tierney. Also Corey will handle the hurdles; Burrill, the high jump and pole vault; and Hagburg will take charge of the weights. In all probability Sannella, S. E. Wilson and Capt. Bragg are to run the middle distances, viz, the quarter and one mile races. Steady will run the two mile. There is a lot of good material in the freshman class which ought to be a great help to the regular varsity team.

Everybody out and help your class team to win. Don't forget the date—October 24.

THE CLUB-MAN

POLITICS CLUB ORGANIZES FOR YEAR

Hears Account of Bates Team in England

The Politics Club held its first meeting of the year on Thursday night. For those who are not acquainted with this organization, it may be said that the Politics Club was formed in 1912 under the leadership of Professor Gould. The purpose of the Club is to arouse interest in the discussion of current political and economic problems. The enrollment is limited to twenty-five members who are elected from the two upper classes. This is one of the live organizations at Bates and one in which enthusiasm is always expressed in live action.

Last year the club was more than successful. It held several debates, which were extremely interesting. The most important of these was a debate between Dr. H. W. Laidler, secretary of the Intercollegiate Socialist Society and Professor Carroll of Bates. Those who were fortunate enough to hear the argument surely had a great deal to think over on both sides of socialism.

Because of the fact that the meeting Thursday night was the first to be held this year, some of the time was spent in organization. The remainder of the session was utilized by Robert B. Watts, who told the club the more interesting facts of the trip of the Bates debating team to England.

Macfarlane Club met in regular convocation Monday evening. After a short business meeting, a varied and interesting program was presented. Miss Mavorette Blackmer '22, Miss F. Muriel Wills '22, and Miss Bertha Maybury '23, all played excellent pianoforte selections from the works of Chopin, Mr. Elwood Ireland '22 sang two stirring solos, and Miss Izetta Lidstone '22 gave two very pleasing, likewise lilted, vocal selections. Mr. Thompson '22 read a short sketch on Chopin.

Initiation night was observed by Spofford this week. Miss Amy Blaisdell and Miss Elsie Mowry were duly installed as full-fledged members. A committee for a party was selected consisting of Mr. Ashton, Miss Bradford and Mr. Manter. A short program consisting of a book review by Mr. Edward Stiekney, and a poem, "Ideals" and short rural story of character, dead and alive, was read by Mr. Herbert Carroll.

Last Sunday afternoon Miss Dorothy Holt gave a welcoming tea to a few of her friends. The tea was given in honor of Hockey Training which arrived last Monday. The room was attractively decorated and artistically arranged. Miss Holt poured while Miss Fieneman assisted. Invitations were then extended to attend a farewell tea to be given in the same honor three weeks later.

Last night Seniority met for the initiation of the new members voted upon and accepted at the preceding meeting. Professor and Mrs. Hartshorne were at this time adopted as Patron Saints of the club.

The initiation was unique in that the new members were required to present Tennyson's "Elaine" in pantomime as it was read aloud. Professor Hartshorne very cleverly interpreted the character of "Elaine" while Mrs. Hartshorne played the part of "Lancelot." The other members in the cast were: Dorothy Wheet, Alice Jessamine, Elsie Roberts, Vivien Rogers and Hazel Prescott.

The latter part of the evening was given over to games and stunts.

sun and the punts were rolling offside, giving Colby the advantage. The invincible stonewall line, however, pushed the heavy Blue and Gray opposition, Moose Cook and all, back again to the Colby goal line. Colby kicked and the jinx landed on Bates for a whole row of boathouses for the Garnet quarter misjudged the punt and Colby recovered the ball after it had touched him and bounded away. A Garnet man was now offside and the penalty put Colby five yards nearer the goal line. The latter team found it necessary to plug the line four successive times before the three yards to the goal could be gained. Finally Millett, the Colby left half, carried the ball over for the first touchdown. Young kicked the goal. Score, Colby 7, Bates 0.

Again the teams lined up and the hard struggle was on. Terrific line plunges were now tried by both machines and the ball saw-sawed back and forth with Bates gaining advantage during every play. Slowly, but surely, Colby was being driven back when Davis, the Garnet's tower of strength in defense action, broke through and tackled the ball as it slipped through a Colby man's hands. The ball bounded, Heine Bergman picked it up, and raced sixty yards, planting it between the goal posts for a touchdown. Willie Guiney dropped back and tied the score by kicking the goal. Only a few minutes of play remained for the quarter and the ball was kept well in the area that threatened Colby's chances.

The last period opened with the ball in Colby's possession. The latter realized by now that she was unable to gain on either side of Bates' line, so end runs and forwards were resorted to. But her much heralded overhead game proved a fizzle for very nearly all of her passes were blocked or intercepted. The kicking game was now undertaken again by both aggregations, and again Bates was superior, for John Gormley was booting the ball in a beautiful manner for fifty or sixty yards. The last few minutes of play proved lucky for Colby for she was driven back to her one yard line. Only a kick could save Colby from sure defeat. The Blue and Gray boot artist fell back to punt his team to safety and in his anxiety to do his best he pulled a bone-head play. The Bates line broke through and worried him so that instead of kicking, he feinted and then started to carry the ball from a position ten yards back of the line. The Garnet warriors hardly expected so foolhardy a play, and allowed the ball to advance far enough to avert a safety against Colby. The quarter was well spent and in a few minutes time was called.

The Bates line was again the staying feature and Maine will do well to keep an eye on Bill Guiney and Fat Johnson on one side, and Norm Ross and Peterson on the other side of Price, the sturdy center. The forward passes on Dagnino were especially commendable. The backfield showed a decided improvement and Moulton and Davis were the big ground gainers of the day. For Colby, Captain Lowry, Millett, and Young, were the stars.

SPORT SPATTER

Four dances, a banquet to the victorious (?) team, and the raising of all Freshman restrictions, were called off at Colby because Captain Kelley and his bunch upset the expectations of those wise birds who underrated the ability of the best football team that Bates has ever had.

We wonder how many Bates men realize that Prexie's son Malcolm is working as hard as the next one to perfect a tried and true Bates band. Wait till you hear the big noise tomorrow and you will say that MacLean knows how to vie with Sousa as band leader.

Say Frosh! do you remember the famous slogan used by the Yanks during the war? Don't forget; "Berlin or Bust." We want both games, and it is up to you to start the good work.

Coach Watkins recently said that the team was the best bunch of fellows that he had ever had anything to do with. We wish you could be just around the corner sometime Coach, and hear the splendid rep you have among those same boys. And we will add that the men aren't a darn bit backward of expressing their admiration either.

Maine appeared on our campus some half a dozen years ago this fall with a certain white elephant. The Bates punch punched the stuffing out of the poor pachyderm. Tomorrow history will repeat itself.

No milk shakes will be served at the Quality Shop tomorrow during the hours of the game. Fred and Mary have bought their tickets.

Holy Cross considers us a worthy opponent on the gridiron.

Pure pluck, iron grit, and a strong determination to do something for his Alma Mater, are only a few of the sterling qualities in the makeup of Wesley Gilpatrick, who is now convalescing at the hospital. When he was far from out of danger his interest was always with his teammates on Garcelon Field.

HEBRON SWAMPS THE VALIANT FROSH

PIERCES LINE FOR FIVE TOUCH-DOWNS AND CALLS IT A DAY

The Bates yearlings traveled to Hebron last Saturday, and received a decisive defeat from the strong aggregation which the Green presented. The absence of Coach Smith whose presence was required at Waterville was deeply felt. Our plucky fullback, Kenney, captained the team ably though unable to play the entire game himself because of an injured ankle.

Hebron found luck with them from the beginning, as they won the toss, and received on their own 30 yard line carrying the kick back for 10 yards. Wollis featured in the next few plays making first down for Hebron on line plunges and an end run. Two more first downs were registered for the prep school team. Now within scoring distance, Quarter-back Smith skirted the end for the first touchdown. The kick for goal was successful.

Bates' chance for offense came when Kenney rushed the kick back for 12 yards. Hagburg and Kenney gained on line plays but a fumble, recovered for a loss, forced the freshmen to punt. Bates was holding when a cross-back fooled them and Wollis raced for a second touchdown.

Hines went into the backfield to fill the vacancy left by Hagburg who replaced Dow in the line. Hines gained on a new play after the kick. An exchange of punts followed. Daker goes in for Lawrence. Bates smears a couple of end runs and Daker blocks a forward behind the line. Kenney was put out on the next play. Huntington went in and the half ended.

Woodman received the oval and after a 15 yard run was downed. The ball see-sawed back and forth in Bates territory while Sargent's defensive play featured. Hebron's third tally was soon counted. The attempt at goal failed. Daker furnished a thrill when he ran the kick back for 25 yards. O'Connor and Chandler went in at back and end respectively. Bates lost the ball on downs, and Hebron scored again after an end run. The quarter was called.

Kenney went back for the last period. He knocked down one forward and intercepted the next. Hagburg punted out of danger. Daker smeared an end run for a 12 yard loss. The Green soon scored and the game ended following the kick.

The team did not present the organizations that it previously has shown but it was pitted against a strong, fast, aggressive eleven. Aspasian and Sargent did their work well while Daker, Kenney and Hines provided the backfield talent. Wollis and Smith provided many thrills for the home rooters.

A Gateway—Electrical

ONLY a forty-foot gateway bounded by two brick pillars and ornamental lamps, but it is unlike any other gateway in the entire world.

For back of it is the General Electric Company's main office building, accommodating 2300 employees. And just next door is its main laboratory with the best equipment for testing, standardizing and research at the command of capable engineers. Then down the street a mile long—are other buildings where electrical products are made by the thousands of electrical workers who daily stream through.

Through this gate messages and representatives from a score of other factories and over fifty branch offices come and go every hour—an endless chain of co-ordinated activities carrying on and enlarging the scope of over a quarter century's work for the betterment of mankind.

What a story this gate would tell, if it could, of the leaders of the electrical industry and of ambassadors from other industries and institutions—and from foreign lands. The story would be the history of electric lighting, electric transportation, electrified industries and electricity in the home.

EVE OF GAME FINDS MAINE PREPARED

PAST WEEK SPENT IN PERFECTING OFFENSIVE PLAYS

Special Train Will Bring Band, Rooters and Mascot

Orono October 20, (Special).—After the win over Rhode Island State on last Saturday, Maine has been working steadily for the Bates game which comes tomorrow. While the Rhode Island game was fairly satisfactory, the Maine coaches are driving the team through hard scrimmages, calculated to increase the offensive power of the Blue and to lessen costly fumbles.

The serious problem of the backfield combination has apparently been solved, with the new men working in great style together. Especially notable is the new spirit which Gruhn at quarter, has put into the team. Up to very recently the team lacked pep in running off plays, but the new pilot seems to have proved the needed stimulus.

Local sentiment seems to be that the Bates game will be one of the most severe tests of the season, in view of the fighting qualities which Bates has shown in her games this far in the year. If anything, local odds are a shade in favor of the Lewiston team.

Special arrangements are being made by the management for the trip. A "Maine Special" will carry the majority of the men of the college to Lewiston, as well as transporting the Maine military band and "Bannanas." Arrangements are being made at Lewiston for special cheering section space, which will permit the usual college rivalry to assert itself.

HOLY CROSS ACCEPTS BATES TERMS

Game Arranged for Nov. 5 at Worcester

November 5, the open date on Bates' schedule has been closed by clinching a game with the Holy Cross team, one of the strongest elevens in the East. Bates realizes that a win over Holy Cross means much for her future athletic honor, and therefore is out to bring back the Purple's scalp.

The Worcester team has had a successful season, holding Harvard to a solitary field goal scored only after unsuccessful attempts at a touchdown.

Captain Kelley's aggregation has a season which speaks for itself. Two Massachusetts teams have already faced it and have scored on it only once. It outplayed Colby. No team has outfought it.

The game is, for Bates, primarily a money proposition, with a large guarantee being placed by Holy Cross. With the important series games over, Bates can afford to take a chance such as this, especially when the opportunity is given to prove her worth against one of the best teams in the East.

In case the railroad strike is in full swing at the date when the game is played, the Garnet team will travel by trucks, and without doubt will be accompanied by a fleet of cars bearing the enthusiastic backers of the sport.

Coach Watkins has moulded an excellent machine and when the big date rolls around, the Garnet team, invading the Bay State for the second time this season, will come home with their shields, or on them.

BAND BIG FEATURE AT MASS MEETING

"Mac" Makes Lots of Noise but the Band Makes More

The team did the playing Saturday and the school did the yelling the night before. The Bates Band had practiced just once, but they made plenty of noise, and who would say it wasn't music? They started things going with "Hail, Hail, The Gang's All Here" and then tackled "Our Director's March." How could the meeting be anything but a success with a real band to help it along?

"Mac" introduced the speakers with his usual snappy remarks. Captain Kelly spoke for the team. Coach Smith exploited the new Bates spirit, and Rev. G. F. Finnie gave a hale and hearty speech that kept the student body in a gale of laughter. "Mac" introduced Coach Watkins last, but the Coach got outdoors before "Mac" stopped speaking. However, Coach Watkins does not have to speak, his work does it for him.

The band played the Alma Mater, then the student body cheered the team. The music, the noise, the speaking, the yelling, all contributed to make the mass meeting a rip roaring success.
