MILLION DOLLAR DRIVE INAUGURATED AT CHAPEL EVERYBODY IN BACK OF IT!

LOYALTY TO ONE'S COLLEGE

What does loyalty to one's college involve? What does loyalty to one's mother involve? What does it not? One's mother is the source and background of life. All that one is and all that one may be, one owes to her. So with one's college. In a sense more so, for duty to one's college grows not only out of a debt to the past but out of an obligation to the future.

Subtract from life, yours and mine, all that college gave; interests, appreciation, sympathies, judgment, skill, connections with people and things, associations, friendships, memories, ideals, energy set free, personal power . . . What a narrow, limited thing life would be without these things. As one realizes these things a wave of gratitude rises and seeks expression.

The College, our College, is so much greater than the great thing it has done for each one of us, so much greater than the sum of all that it has done for us all. It stretches out its arms to all the future,—to that host of merry, laughing, eager, aspiring, youth, of all the years to come. They are a part of the great whole.

Loyalty means love, deep and abiding; loyalty means confidence in the present of one's college and faith in its future; loyalty means service to the limit of one's powers—thought and care and sacrifice in some degree commensurate with the inestimable gifts we have received from the noble College that is ours.

From the Wesleyan Alumnus.

In a stirring and responsive rally, the MILLION DOLLAR ENDOWMENT FUND CAMPAIGN was launched among the student body Wednesday morning in chapel. President Gray presiding, Bursar Harry Rowe, Wayne Davis, appointee to publicity management, Russell Taylor, Ruth Hanson, and Dwight Libbey outlined the nature and plans of the CAMPAIGN. The question of raising the MILLION DOLLARS is one of the most important ever presented to a student body at Bates, said President Gray.

"The present student body is inheritor of sixty years of building, labor, and sacrifice. The spirit, life, and form of Bates has been instilled through these sixty years, and it is now our turn to build, to do our share in this task of raising a million dollars.

"Why does Bates need a million dollars? What are the plans for raising it? How may we assist? It is now advisable and necessary to add to our endowment fund. In the last fifteen years, Bates has grown much in prestige and equipment. But our endowment fund has not grown in proportion. While seemingly large, it is not sufficient to care for the needs of Bates.

It is not the same as six years ago. Salaries have been increased, and the income has not kept pace with the expenditures. The trustees believe that (Continued on Page Three)

DEAN BROWN TO SPEAK AT BATES

Charles R. Brown, Head of Yale Divinity School to Come Soon after Easter

Following right upon the presence of Sherwood Eddy at Bates, we learn that Bates men and women are to have another unusual privilege in April, when Dean Charles R. Brown, of the Yale Divinity School, will deliver several addresses. The Student quotes a letter from Olin Tracy '20, now a student at the Yale Divinity School, from which we may judge just what we have to look forward to:

New Haven, Conn., March 3, 1922. My dear President Gray:

I have just learned of Bates' good fortune in securing Dean Brown for the dates of April 13th and 14th.

I wish to congratulate the students of Bates College upon this splendid opportunity.

I deem my acquaintance with Dean Brown as one of the most helpful and stimulating acquaintances of my life. It is doubtful if there is a more popular speaker on the platform today than Dr. Charles R. Brown. I would that every student might feel that they cannot afford to miss this treat that is in store for them.

If it is known in advance in New Haven that the Dean is to speak in one of the city churches there is not capacity for those who wish to attend. The Dean has just started a series of addresses in the United Congregational Church. It has been his custom to give such a series yearly during the Lenten

SHERWOOD EDDY GIVES POWERFUL CHAPEL ADDRESS

HONESTY, PURITY, EARNESTNESS AND GODLINESS—ARE THEY YOURS?

Seldom do Bates College students have the unusual opportunity of hearing such a powerful and effective address as was delivered last Tuesday morning at chapel exercises by Dr. Sherwood Eddy of New York. Dr. Eddy is a Y. M. C. A. worker of international repute, having spent much time in this work in America, Asia and Europe. He is also author of several books.

After briefly calling the attention of his audience to the great social, political and industrial problems which face us today, he developed four topic questions which are a mighty challenge to every serious minded person. He challenged those present to examine themselves by introspection upon the following questions: "Am I honest? Am I pure? Am I earnest? Am I right with God and man?"

He told of the touchstone of India, a standard by which all metals might be tested for their purity in gold. "Am I honest" might well be one of the criteria by which we may measure our character. There is today a certain European country which is passing through a grave crisis and its national (Continued on Page Three)

(By Nathaniel Pepper)

Two international Conferences ought to teach us something. This last one at least ought to lead us out of the bogs of garrulity on to the solid ground of actuality.

We have just adjourned sine die the Conference on Limitation of Armaments and Pacific and Far East Problems. It is time to measure the results of that Conference with a little realism. It has on its credit side a great contribution. It has spared us the insanity (Continued on Page Three)

AFFIRMATIVE TEAMS WIN SOPH. DEBATES

Wm. E. Young and Louise
E. Bryant Best Individual Speakers

The annual Sophomore Prize debates held in the College chapel Wednesday evening March 22nd proved to be two of the most effective forensic contests ever given by a group of undergraduate debaters at Bates.

The program opened with prayer offered by Rev. Insley Bean. Professor George M. Chase as chairman then introduced the first speaker in the men's debate, A. W. Pollister of Danville, Maine, who upheld the affirmatives' contentions on the question Resolved: That the United States should cancel the war debts owed it by the allied nations. It is conceded that such action will be followed by the cancellation of all war debts owed each other by the Allied nations."

He was followed by Elton S. Young of Auburn, Maine, who pointed out for the negative why such cancellation was impractical and moreover an utter impossibility. Wm. E. Young of Lewiston as the last speaker on the affirmative answered several of the negative's conclusions, and summarized the re- (Continued on Page Three)

JORDAN SCIENTIFIC EXHIBITION MEETS WITH USUAL SUCCESS

DEPARTMENTS VIE WITH EACH OTHER IN INTERESTING AND INSTRUCTIVE
DISPLAYS

The Fifth Annual Exhibition of the Jordan Scientific Society held in the Carnegie Science Hall, March 16-17, proved to be the equal of its successful predecessors. Each floor was full of a wealth of scientific information and was an education in itself. The Exhibition Committee was Allston Huntress, chairman, Llewellyn Burgess, Elwood Ireland, Fred Noyes, and Norman Ross. To this committee the college owes much for the great success of the exhibition which has taken its place as a permanent feature of the year's activities.

On the first floor of the hall the Biology Department displayed its many phases of study. In Room 14 were the exhibits of the General Biology, Zoology, and Vertebrate Anatomy courses. There were the unicellular animals, the amoeba and the paramecium. In this room also was a living salamander which attracted considerable attention.

The display of food products from the College Commons with an accompanying lecture of the value of vitamins was especially interesting. The ideal menu was very carefully explained by the student in charge of this exhibit.

In the Zoology Department one saw many specimens with cards explaining their position in the animal kingdom and drawings giving a careful study of the structure involved. The Vertebrate Department was also of much interest.

Room 19, just across the hall, contained a study in Bacteriology and Histology. Wax images showed the embryological development of the frog. In an adjoining room a stereopticon lecture was given on some of the various microscopic specimens of this department.

Going up stairs to the second floor one found in Room 13 a very interesting display of the Chemistry Department. Professor Lawrence deserves credit for the arrangement of this exhibit. The most remarkable display here was the organic compounds, which Professor Lawrence himself, after much study and research, has succeeded in discovering. Then there was the solution of vitamins, which is said to be the most concentrated in the world, loaned by the University of Toronto. This was made from a ton of yeast and is valued at $500. Experiments in qualitative analysis were carried on and the other branches in chemical work were explained.

The Physics Department had an exceptionally interesting display this year. A new feature of the exhibit was the movie reels showing various phases of the application of physics in a practical manner. Sound waves were also demonstrated to the interest of many visitors. The exhibit of photography was also very good. In one corner of the room a radio outfit was set up and its wonders revealed.

On the third floor one gained an insight into the work of the Forestry, Botany, Mathematics, and Geology departments. Each one of these showed the careful work of the students and the helpful cooperation of the professors in their respective courses. And last but not least was the wonderful exhibit of the Stanton Bird Collection famous throughout the state.

WOMEN'S GYM MEET IN RAND THIS EVENING

Excellent Program Prepared Exhibition Promises to Be Best Ever

The Women's Gymnastic Meet is to be held in the women's gymnasium in Rand Hall this evening. In previous years the women have given some fine exhibitions and it is expected that this meet will be even better than previous meets. Following the meet the judges will make their reports.

life and happiness are being unnecessarily endangered, all because the leader is not honest. George Washington was chosen leader of the Colonists not because he excelled in brain power and efficiency, but because he excelled in honesty. Many instances were cited in which great men fell because they were dishonest and in each case the root of their crime could be traced back to their college days. They were not honest.

A second test is "Am I pure?" Dr. Eddy pleaded for purity in speech, purity in physical life, and purity in morals. Very plainly did he relate instance after instance of ruined homes, unhappy lives and wrecked characters, all because someone was not pure—someone "took a chance." The war caused a great moral slump which the young people of today must not allow to continue. "Keep pure."

"Am I earnest?" How many of us have lost the reality of the Bible? Have we allowed prayer to become dead or dry and irksome to us? Are we really sincere in all that we say and do?

Finally we should introspect to see whether we are right with God and man. How many moments of the day are we willing to give to God? What is our love for God? Are our minds clean and have we a whole soul and personality? Then note our relations toward our fellowmen.

Just before closing Dr. Eddy told how he had lost his only boy during the war, but how happy he was to know that his boy had always been honest, pure, earnest, and right with God. The little Testament and account book which he found beside his son's death bed showed that each day a few moments of his son's life were dedicated to God, that he had given more to relieve the suffering of others than he had spent for himself.

Surely no one can hear a sincere talk like Dr. Eddy's without feeling some challenge, some determination to live a life that counts.

of a naval race on two oceans and a war on at least one as a consequence. So far so good, and let the editor and politician voice ring out. But that is only half. The other half is the Far East.

China, for all the magna charta, so-called, written at Washington, is still at the mercy of any despoiling nation in the future, and past spoiliations have not been compensated for. The clash of national interests in China has not been checked. The status quo has been sanctified. There have been promises not to do in the future those things that have been done in the past; but until those things that have been done in the past are undone there is little prospect that they will not be done again in the future. The principle of balance of power and the desire of each nation to even up for advantages gained by other nations in the past will propel each nation to better its own position as compared with the others—always at China's expense. To lay a foundation for stability in any disturbed part of the earth you have to do more than make a fresh start and look forward. You have first to go back and make a fresh start at the beginning. This the other Powers refused to do, because it entailed sacrifice. Nor did America use its influence to bring them to do so. Its own policy being entirely in terms of words, it was satisfied with verbal victories. And when the cheerleaders were calling on the nation to proclaim words as victory, naturally the other Powers were content to let well enough alone. So well in fact did the organized cheering do its work that the Conference was well-nigh over before we realized that it had done nothing.

So the Far East is left unchanged. England and France keep the fruits of their spoiliations. So does Japan and more. For having given no proof in deed of repentance and abandonment of its course in the past, it may be expected in the future to continue on that sons why cancellation would prove most effective economic policy. The last speaker for the negative, E. W. Raye of Lynn, Mass., followed, and in his speech conclusively answered several of the questions raised by the affirmative and restated the negatives case why the Allied nations should meet the demands of the war debt.

Each speaker was allowed ten minutes for his main speech, and an additional five minutes for rebuttal. A short intermission followed, and then Professor Chase as chairman, announced the first speaker in the girls' debate. Miss Florenee Hodgkins of Lisbon Falls, Maine, as alternate for the affirmative, substituted for Miss Mildred Lincoln of West Leeds, Maine, and in a spirited speech upheld the proposition: Resolved: "That the various states should establish courts of industrial relations similar to that of Kansas, constitutionality waived." She was followed by Miss Hazel Converse of Putnam, Conn., who stated the contentions of the negative in a most effective manner. The next speaker, Miss Louise Bryant, Lebanon, N. H., pointed out the reasons why the Kansas court had been successful and why courts patterned on it should be instituted in the various states. She was answered by Miss Janice Hoyt of Auburn, who, as the last speaker for the negative, restated the reasons why such a court would fail to solve the labor problem or prove efficient in operation. Five minutes was allowed each speaker for rebuttal.

The judges were Dana S. Williams, Earl S. Lewis and Mrs. Willis Abbott and their decisions were as follows: in the Boys debate, for the affirmative, best individual speaker, Wm. E. Young; in the girls' debate for the affirmative; best individual speaker, Louise Bryant.

In both debates the speakers on both sides displayed remarkable ability and showed the effects of careful preparation and training. Much of the credit for the fine showing made by the teams is due to Professor A. Craig Baird of the Argumentation department. The time keepers were Samuel M. Graves of New Haven, Conn. and David G. Singer of Lewiston, both of the class of '24.

The committee of arrangements comprised Harold S. Segal, Norman Stickney, Louise Bryant and Janice Hoyt of the Sophomore class.

course, namely, the conquest of China and the pre-empting of itself of the Asiatic continent. I do not mean to say that Japan is racially unregenerate. That which we mean when we say "Japan"—public Japan, those elements in Japan that frame the nation's policy and direct its actions, the only Japan with which the outer world has contact—that Japan is unregenerate. I am convinced that those elements will pass or be neutralized with the greater enlightenment of the Japanese masses and their democratization.

the best economy is practiced by strict upkeep of buildings and care of the campus.

"Bates owes a deficit of $75,000. The General Education Board has offered to give $200,000, provided that the sum of $400,000 is raised before July, 1923. The new gymnasium, which is the first necessity, will cost $400,000, making our FUND to be raised a million dollars. The whole-hearted action and co-operation of Bates men and women is necessary—let us act."

Wayne Davis, '12, represented the 2,271 Bates alumni distributed over the world, and told of their spirit toward the CAMPAIGN. "It is a stupendous task," said Mr. Davis, "and one to tax the resources and energy of all. The help of every Bates man and woman is needed."

Russell Taylor, president of the Student Council said, "It goes without saying that every Bates undergraduate must exercise his entire power and help in order to push this thing thru. Today, from the viewpoint of the loyal Bates student that Bates is second to none in the state. When the FUND is raised Bates will in actuality be second to none in the state. But cooperation is needed; each must do his bit."

Ruth Hanson, president of the Student Government, represented the women, and their enthusiasm. "Bates girls," said Miss Hanson, "have been interested in the FUND ever since it was first heard of. Speaking for our side of the student body, it is certain that every girl will do all in her power to help."

Dwight Libbey, president of the Press Club, which has played and will play an important part in advertising the CAMPAIGN, outlined some practical suggestions for publicity and for arousing enthusiasm. A play will be given by students in May, and a parade will give an opportunity for much publicity.

Following the FUND Rally, campaign headquarters issued the following statement. "The ready response of the Bates students to the call to arms at chapel is gratifying—but what would you expect?"

"Who realizes the need of the MILLION if not those who now profit by the extraordinary expenditures causing the annual deficit, and those who daily suffer the torture of the antiquated building we dignify by the appellation 'gymnasium'."

"Who is to benefit by the MILLION DOLLARS if not the students now in college, and those who immediately succeed to uphold our traditions?"

"Who can naturally generate the enthusiasm here at Campaign Headquarters, so that loyalty and generosity will radiate to the 2,271 Bates graduates scattered around the world?"

"Who can put across demonstrations that will stir Lewiston and Auburn to the very seat of their 'pocket nerves'?"

"It looks as tho the Bates students were going to answer these questions."

The baseball "cage" in Parker Hall is the scene of much activity on the part of Capt. Spiller's battery candidate nowadays.

Delightful Dinner Served
Charades and Music
Enjoyed

On Thursday evening, March 16th, the members of the cast of the Greek play, "Antigone," which was presented in Hathorn Hall, March 10th, enjoyed a cafeteria supper and an evening of real fun at the home of Professor and Mrs. George M. Chase on Frye street.

The superlative merits of the dinner are attested by the menu:

Fruit Cocktail
Chicken Patties Mashed Potatoes
Green Peas
Jelly Rolls Olives

Marshmallow Cream Cake
Confections Coffee

As usual the Phil-Hellenes came through nobly, and did homage to the culinary arts of their accomplished hostess, for, without doubt, "the proof of the pudding is in the eating."

The tables were daintily decorated for the patronage of the good St. Patrick. Shamrocks peeped forth from every corner. Green baskets of nuts and candy were on every table. The spirit of mirth of the good old Saint was the keynote of the evening.

And there was merriment—such amounts and varieties of it! That crowd liked anything from "Carry Me Back to Ol' Virginny," to the universal favorite, "Clementine." Every one sang his prettiest, and he who wasn't tuneful added to the din as best he might. Caliope must have heard and smiled. The invocations to the muse were made possible largely through the genius of the versatile pianist, Miss Gertrude Lombard, '23, of Saxton's River, Vermont.

An outstanding feature of the evening was Mrs. Pomeroy's readings. Her first selection, "How He Apologized," was decidedly a laugh-producer. It was very cleverly done, as is characteristic of Mrs. Pomeroy's work. The second, "Advice to Young Tadpoles," was timely and equally delightful. Mrs. Pomeroy's dramatic talent is of very high order and adaptable to any sort of occasion.

Charades were next. Everyone drew on his knowledge of Sophocles, Shakespeare, "Doc" Britan, and even Julius Caesar, to think of the most difficult words to enact. A great deal of originality was displayed together with a commendable absorption of the faculty's jokes.

The party disbanded reluctantly after a most delightful evening. Much credit is due the host and hostesses, Professor and Mrs. George M. Chase and Miss Elizabeth Chase, for one of the most successful social events of the college year.

The guests of honor of the evening were Professor and Mrs. Fred R. Pomeroy, and Miss Eleanor Bradford, '22, who were indispensable in the production of "Antigone."

Season. These meetings are held at 7.30 P. M. Sunday evening. Last Sunday at 7.10 there was scarcely a seat to be had in the house; at 7.15 there was standing room only; at 7.20 the police had to close the doors and turn away those still wishing to enter.

I know that you, and the other members of the faculty who are acquainted with Dr. Brown, will agree with me in my most hearty praise of him. I shall await with the keenest anticipation the report of Dean Brown's visit.

May Bates receive him as heartily as he has received those whom Bates has sent to Yale.

I am happy that Dean Brown is to make his initial visit to the best college in all the world. "May Her glory shine while time endures."

Again, I congratulate you on the pleasure and privilege that is so soon to be yours.

Most cordially and sincerely,
OLIN B. TRACY.
