PROF. ROBINSON ANNOUNCES GREEK PLAY CAST MEMBERS

Louise Fifield to be Leading Lady in Play Antigone —Heaviest Male Role Falls to William Young
—Turner to Take Part of Haemon

As a result of trials held on the steps of the Library, the following seniors have been chosen by the Greek Play committee for the cast of "Antigone," which is to be given during Commencement week: Louise Fifield, to play the part of Antigone; Louise Bryant, Ismene; Emma Abbott, Euridice; William Young, Creon; Daniel Turner, Haemon; Elwin Wilson, Teriasias; Donald Rice, Watchman; Walter V. Gavigan and Clarence Gilpatric, Messengers; Herman Faust, Leader of the Men's Chorus; Janice Hoyt, Leader of the Woman's Chorus. The prologue will be given by Samuel M. Graves while the dancers, who have not yet been chosen, will be trained under the direction of Miss Mildred Francis, Assistant Girls' Physical Director. The choruses will each comprise ten singers. The music will be arranged by Herman Faust, Mary G. Worthley and Janice E. Hoyt.

Elton S. Young was chosen business manager; Wilbur S. Batten, stage manager; Kohe Nagakura, properties, and Elizabeth M. Powers, costumes. The plot centers about the refusal of Creon to allow Antigone to bury the body of her brother, who was slain in a revolt against the king. Antigone disobeyed the command, buried the dead body by night, was discovered and placed in a guarded cave to die in spite of the intercession of her lover, Haemon. Learning of her fate, Haemon killed himself, whereupon the heroine, Antigone, hanged herself. The queen in grief for the death of her son took her own life. Thus this play which is considered to be one of the greatest of the world's tragedies ends.

The cast was chosen by Professor Grosvenor M. Robinson, who will coach the production, Professor George M. Chase, head of the Greek department, Daniel Turner, Louise Fifield, Dorothy Coburn, Elizabeth Powers, Elton S. Young, Clarence Gilpatric and Wesley Gilpatric.

Of those chosen, Louise Fifield, Daniel Turner and Elwin Wilson appeared in the Greek play presented by the Philhellenic society this year in Hathorn Hall. William Young, who will take the part of "heavy villain" has been active in prize speaking and in debating. He has been on eleven victorious teams and has met such institutions as Oxford, Yale, U. of P., Lafayette, Colgate, and Toronto. He has recently accepted a position on the faculty of James Milliken University, Decatur, Illinois, and will succeed Herbert A. Carroll '23, who leaves to take up High school administration work.

The Greek play has been an annual feature of Bates Commencement since 1912, when "Edipus of Colonus" was presented, and with excellent coaching and talented cast will undoubtedly command attention commensurate with past years.

1914 GRADUATES ARE ELECTED TO PHI BETA KAPPA

It always comes as a great satisfaction to those who, for one reason or another, have failed to be made members of the Phi Beta Kappa while in College, that, in later life, by distinguishing themselves in some meritorious cause, they may yet attain this notable honor. So, at this time Professor Leonard, Secretary of the Bates Chapter, announces that seven men and six women of the Class of 1914, have recently been elected into the coveted Phi Beta Kappa. These people are:

TEAM TO DEBATE B. U. IS CHOSEN

Janice Hoyt, Louise Bryant and Elsie Green Will Meet B. U. Law
Students

A debate between Bates College Women's team and a women's team of Boston University is to be held in the Chapel on May 1. The subject of the debate is to be the World Court, with the Bates team favoring United States entry. This will be the first women's inter-collegiate contest in the history of the College and is looked forward to with much interest. The team is composed of Miss Janice Hoyt '24, Miss Louise Bryant '24 and Miss Elsie Green '26. The alternates are Miss Mildred Lincoln '24, and Miss Eleanor McCue '25. All of these young ladies have participated in various high school and class room debates and have proved to be excellent debaters.

Boston University has established an enviable record in debating, having participated in twelve debates during the past year. The women debaters have already commenced preparation for the debate and are now hard at work under the coaching of Professor Baird.

TIME TRIALS HELD FOR PENN RELAYS

The first of three time trials to determine the four men to go to the Penn relays was held last Monday afternoon. Archibald finished in the van, followed by Corey, Baker, Wilson and Burrill. Corey has not had the benefit of a winter's work on the boards, but he is fast rounding into shape. Baker was the surprise of the trials, finishing close behind Corey. Samella, who ran on the relay team at the B. A. A. games, is temporarily incapacitated with an inflamed knee.

With such a wealth of veteran material, and with the fusion of new blood in the person of Baker, the relay team is sure to be up to the usual Jenkins standard. The team is entered in Class C, although it may compete in Class B, the medley relay, or the two-mile relay, according as the events come.

Captain "Cyk" McGinley is going to represent Bates in the two mile. While "Cyk" may not possess the natural ability of Ray Baker, he has the heart to win, so we can expect to read of the Garnet and Black's finishing with the leaders.

The events begin on Friday, April twenty-fifth, and end the following day. The men will leave for Philadelphia next Wednesday.

By far the greater number of these men and women have gained distinction through unusual academic work. These are the people who are striving intensely to put into successful practice the educational training they received from Bates.

DEBATING LEAGUE TROPHY CUP GOES TO DEERING HIGH

Granted Decision Over E. L.
H. S. by Securing Highest Rating of Individual Speakers

Eugenia Southard and Charles Guptill
Best Debaters

Deering High of Portland, in one of the most closely contested prep school battles ever waged on the Bates campus, won the championship of the Bates Interscholastic Debating League last Saturday morning. Their opponent was E. L. H. S. of Auburn. The question for debate was "Resolved, that the United States should join the League of Nations," and each school was represented by two teams.

Deering got the jump on their opponents by winning the first debate against E. L. H. S. affirmative team by a 3 to 0 score.

The E. L. H. S. negative team, however, obtained revenge by winning a unanimous decision over the Deering affirmative team. Thus in number of votes the two schools stood deadlocked. The trophy was then awarded on a basis of the best speakers, and in this respect Deering was superior, winning on points by a score of 28 to 32, the low score being most advantageous.

Eugenia Southard and Fred Scribner made up Deering's victorious team; while Preston Langley and Ralph Blagden were the victorious E. L. H. S. debaters. Eugenia Southard and Charles Guptill of Deering were chosen as the best speakers.

This was the fourth consecutive win for the Deering team; and they have also the distinction of winning more Bates debates than any other high school or academy in the League. Much credit for this remarkable record must be given to Brooks Quimby, former Bates debating star, who has built up a fine debating system at Deering during the past few years.

Other teams taking part in the contest for the trophy this year were: Anson Academy, Foxcroft Academy, Houlton High, Jordan High, Lisbon Falls High, Livermore Falls High, Maine Central Institute, and Rockland. These schools were eliminated in the semi-finals by reason of not winning two debates.

SOPHOMORES TO MEET IN ANNUAL DEBATING CLASH

The men's division of the Sophomore prize debate will be held next Thursday evening, April 28, in the college chapel. The proposition is, "Resolved, That Bates shall establish fraternities." The speakers for the affirmative are John Miller, Michael Gillespie, and James Howell; while Welton Farrow, Clarence Clark, and Leland Thurlow will uphold the negative.

The women's prize debate will occur on April 28 in the chapel. The proposition, "Resolved, That the United States shall recognize Soviet Russia," will be supported by Ada Mandelstam, Wilma Carll, and Ursula T'reau. Sylvia Meehan, Ruth Chesley, and Evelyn Butler will argue on the negative.

These six contestants were chosen as the best debaters out of a group of about twenty-five candidates. Thus the debates for this year should be not only interesting but also close.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR SPEAKS AT CHASE HALL

Princess Borghesi Gives Illustrated Lecture On Italian
Art Before Large Audience

Princess Doctor Santya Borghesi, a member of the royal family of Italy, gave a remarkably interesting and enlightening lecture Thursday afternoon to a large audience in Chase Hall. Her subject was a cultural one, one in which she is profoundly versed: Italian art.

"Scholars have found," the Princess began, "that once a country has an artistic renaissance or decadence, it will contemporaneously exhibit a renaissance or decadence in the fields of politics, research, economics, and philosophy. So that, by studying the art of a specific period, we are better able to understand the development of that time."

With exceedingly deft strokes Princess Borghesi sketched the art of Italy up from the Medieval ages. She showed clearly how, at the beginning of the nineteenth century, art was formalized and conventionalized by the classical and romantic schools; then, gradually, through the influence of France, how it became free of these formal schools, and tended to express everyday thoughts and realities.

"Italy," she continued, "absorbed this influence of France and then re-expressed it. Italy felt that something beyond reality should be expressed in art. This is the quintessence of the modern tendency."

The reception room was then darkened and a series of marvelously beautiful slides were flashed on the screen. The Princess explained to the audience the true meaning of each. She dwelt particularly on the works of Tomo, which showed the origin of the realistic school—illustrations romantic in subject, but realistic in presentation; she exhibited portraits characteristic of the school, portraits without idealization.

The Princess delighted the audience with her slides illustrating Futurism. At first sight enigmatic, she succeeded in showing the impression for which the artist had striven.

"Futurism," she explained, "is an artistic attempt at producing movement by a technique different from the objective methods of the old masters."

Doctor Augustus O. Thomas is to be thanked for this lecture.

After a brief workout of three days, Coach Wiggin made his first slash in the baseball squad. With approximately four teams reporting for practice, "Wig" will continue to comb the ranks for the final slicing, probably on Friday.

At present the battery men include, catchers, Karkos, Moulton, Kimball, Eld, Diehl, Kanally, and Wing. Pitchers, Price, Hamilton, Spiller, Martin, Tarbell, McDonough, Small, Black, Chick, Fuller, Fellows, Bowen and Gilpatrick. The infield is furnishing a lively contest. The initial sack is being covered by Jordan, Peck and Wylie, with "Kippy" doing premier honors. The short field is being very capably handled by Capt. "Joie" Cogau, who is busting the apple in his usual style. This is "Joie's" last year at Bates, and big things are predicted of him this spring. Osgood, "Al" Dimlick and Hinds are striving for guardian of the Keystone sack, with Osgood the most likely prospect, although Al is displaying a classy brand of ball. The hot corner is still uncertain. In the event that "Johnny" Daker, who incidentally is socking the pill to all sections of the pasture, is called upon to fill an outfield berth, "Rosy" Young and Charlie Ray will have it out for the honors. Along with his other natural abilities, Charlie is possessed with a pair of ideal baseball hands. Both of these men are good fielders and as is true in other instances on the squad, the man who wields the stick to the best advantage will get the job.

Guy Rowe, "Red" Monneally, Burril, Haskell, Holland, McCullough, Milderberger and Perham comprise the outfield. Without a doubt, Spiller will pasture in one of the outer garden positions, when not working in the box. Lee is a valuable man to the team because of his slugging ability.

With these men to work with, Coach Wiggin is preparing for the Bowdoin exhibition game next Saturday. During skull practice Monday night, "Wig" stated that he did not want the fans to be given an opportunity to refer to his men as "the hitless wonders," as was the reference last year. This means that considerable attention will be given to hitting this year. Wig is heading the team to a championship this year, and it is up to every Bates man to get out there Saturday and start 'em off right. It certainly is a discouraging proposition to try and play ball before a mere handful of supporters, as was the case last season. How about it fellows? You surely are aware of what we did to Bowdoin last fall—yes and this winter also. Why not make a cleanup this spring and do it right?

Musical Clubs Entertain At Gardiner and Augusta

Gardiner and Augusta audiences were well pleased with the concert given April 11 and 12 respectively by the Bates Glee Club. The concert in Gardiner was under the management of Arthur Sager, Bates '26, and drew a large audience. The concert in Augusta, given for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A., was also well attended.

Walter Gavigan, as usual, in the role of club dancer was received with much enthusiasm in both places. Applause given in the middle of one of his dances proved beyond all doubt Gavigan's ability along this line.

The violin solo of Leadbetter and the piano solo of Gilman were both well received. Perley Knight's performance on the cornet and Reiley's ability as a piano player also drew much favorable comment. Carl Miller, as soloist, and Young, as reader, were equally good, all their numbers being well received.

An orchestra composed of Reiley at the piano, assisted by Lawrence, Waterman, Wells, Leadbetter, Smith, Sager, and Batten furnished music for the dances which followed both concerts.

Mr. E. S. Pitcher who coached the boys accompanied them on their trip.

THE BUCK IS PASSED!

Some two weeks ago we wrote a "baseball" editorial. It was splendid. It was a work of art. It would have inspired every Bates man, woman, and child to attend every Bates ball game. It would have made them cheer themselves hoarse. It was a panegyric. It was a blurb. It was glorious—suberb! It was to have been our masterpiece. With it we were to have gone down to an editorial Valhalla—proud and happy. Upon reading it, every student subscriber would have immediately sprinted to our editorial sanctum and cheered us madly. We would have been immortal.

But it snowed! Yes, Nature with supreme regard for our soul-child, buried it beneath two-foot drifts of snow. (The preceding figure is unintentional!) In disgust we destroyed our editorial. We hurled it out of the window, the blasts seized it, and conveyed it whither we know not. We retired, and wept bitterly.

But now there is no snow. The sun is shining, and the baseballs are flying. The poor little birds, in the trees and elsewhere, are singing songs of love. Of a truth, Baseball Time has really come.

Anybody, though he be of the dumbest, ought to rave about our baseball chances this spring. And everybody, lazy and unpatriotic alike, should relish seeing our team in action. From all the probabilities, a stellar nine should cavort our baseball pasture.

For the past few years the support which our baseball teams have had has been ridiculous. We can never expect a championship nine until we come out with the championship support. If the Bates student body is willing to give the support to a baseball team that she has given to a winning football team and a championship hockey team, there is little to fear. The buck is passed to every one of us. It is up to us to come through.

The Greek Play is with us again. Among the striking Grecian figures seen flitting about Coram Library steps may be seen the familiar ones of Walter Vincent Gavigan and William Ernest Young.

COEDUCATIONAL DEMOCRACY

The long anticipated moment has arrived! The Bates women at last are to engage in an intercollegiate debate. For several years it has been the ambition of the Bates Debating Council to promote a debate for women. The Council has long felt that women, as well as men, deserved to take part in intercollegiate activity. It also felt that Bates women were eminently qualified to uphold Bates debating prestige. Hence, after considerable difficulties, a debate with a worthy opponent has been scheduled. Boston University is another institution with a jealously guarded debating record. Inspired by the example of its men, the women of Boston have been thrilled to action. On May 1 (truly an appropriate day!) the B. U. women will come to Lewiston, here to altercate with three of Bates' finest.

The entrance of Bates women into a truly intercollegiate activity impels one to a consideration of the extremely splendid status which women occupy on the Bates campus. It is not every coeducational college which can boast the freedom from problems that Bates can. There are coed colleges, not so far from Lewiston, either, at which the status of women is not nearly as desirable as that at Bates. The administration of a coeducational institution has numerous ticklish features, but at Bates most of these problems are being successfully met.

Our social activity is only one notable feature. There are coeducational colleges at which it is impossible to run successful college dances and social affairs unless they partake of the nature of fraternity dances or minor event. At Bates the greatest and the majority of the college social activities are splendidly run with a wide-open, democracy policy which has brought definite and admirable results.

We should be careful lest we lose our coeducational democracy. If that time ever comes, things will be unpleasant on both sides of the

In the Final Analysis

History is going to repeat itself, if we are not mistaken, and around these parts, too. The newspaper items will probably run something like this:

Lewiston, Me. April 19—(By the Associated Press) Considerable excitement was occasioned here today when a young man clad only in B. V. D.'s and overshoes ran through the business section of this city, a tuft of what appeared to be hay clutched tightly in his right hand. He was pursued by the police aided by several hundred prominent citizens who were attracted to the chase, but he succeeded in eluding them, and disappeared, running swiftly toward the seacoast. The police are investigating.

Lewiston, Me. Apr. 19—(By the Associated Press) On a willow tree not far from the Bates College campus, a harp was found hanging today, apparently deserted by its owner. The police are investigating.

Lewiston, Me. Apr. 20—(By the Associated Press) Policemen searching the vicinity of the willow tree upon which a deserted harp was found hanging yesterday, this morning discovered a clue to the identity of the person who left the musical instrument in the branches of the sylvan sorrower, as the willow is sometimes called. On a hickory bush not far from the tree where the harp was found were draped several articles of men's clothing, some of them silk and all of them new, indicating, apparently, that their owner was a person of considerable means.

In one of the pockets of the coat was found a partly finished letter addressed to a prominent business man who is said to reside in an Eastern city. The superscription of the letter was "Dear father," and it is believed by the police that this will aid in discovering the identity of the writer. Only short excerpts from the letter were given out to the press by the police department which is concealing the nature of the rest as well as the identity of the man to whom it is addressed.

The following extracts from the text of the letter were given to the press: "My peaceful home has no charms for me—

"I learned to play the lute for this June, dad, but she didn't appreciate it. I—

"The first thing I am going to get pie-eyed and forget it all. My Go—

"I bought these clothes thinking that she would like them, and charged them to you, dad, but—

"Goodbye, I wish I'd never—"

The police are utterly at a loss to construe a motive for this remarkable series of events. Particularly baffling is the letter and its contents. What could have prompted the sentiments to which they give voice?

It has been suggested that perhaps the young man who left town with a bunch of straw in his hand yesterday afternoon could throw some light upon the matter, could he be captured, but since the police have been unable to lay hands upon him, they are inclined to deride the theory that he has anything to do with the present events.

Lewiston, April 22—(By the Associated Press) Efforts to confirm the rumor that the young man who left this city wearing only filthy undergarments and galoshes and carrying what is said to have been a wisp of hay in his hand on April 19th was a Bates student failed completely today. Representatives of the press have been picketing the executive mansion of the college since first the rumor broke loose, and during all that time President Clifton D. Gray is said to have been confined to his bed by illness. He has been unable to grant an interview, and has refused to issue any statement except that the Million Dollar Drive which the college is conducting is "progressing splendidly." Dr. Gray is believed to be delirious.

Denos Pomeroy and Niles were also reported as being under the care of physicians, and refused to give out any statements. The remainder of the faculty members were absolutely non-committal, while the students, in order to prevent their letting out any information have all been locked in the gymnasium, around which Coach Cutts of the college patrols day and night armed with a baseball bat and a pair of brass knuckles.

The police investigation of the matter has not been abandoned.

Brunswick, Me., Apr. 20—(By the Associated Press) The body of a man who was apparently murdered by being beaten over the head with a blunt instrument was discovered on Main Street in front of City Hall this morning. His outer clothing had been removed but the vest of the suit, found a short distance from the body, was of a distinctive purple color which local townspeople remember having seen worn by a stranger on the streets here yesterday. The man is said to have had a large roll of bills in his possession, but all trace of these had disappeared.

"Apparently part of the initiation ceremonial of some fraternity" was the verdict of Chief of Police Bamber this morning. "As such I shall ignore it, of course. Boys will be boys, you know," sagely concluded the genial chief who has gained something of a reputation as a homily philosopher locally.

Portland, Me., Apr. 23—(By the Associated Press) A new link in the chain of evidence which is closing around the mysterious young man who left Lewiston in the novel manner by this time familiar to all newspaper readers was forged today when I. Bronstein of this city stated to the press that he saw the young man here yesterday, and that the mysterious yellow substance which has roused such curiosity was still in the young man's possession.

According to Mr. Bronstein, the young man entered the Bronstein pawnshop and asked to buy a second-hand vacuum bottle. He was shown several, and having selected one, he paid for it from what Mr. Bronstein termed "a large roll of bills." He then hastily removed the covers of the bottle, and reaching into an inner pocket, took out what the pawnbroker took to be "a handful of cornsilk" and stuffed it into the bottle, muttering "That will keep it dry, I guess." He then left the shop.

He was described as wearing a purple suit and a grey cap, but no vest. His face was said to be pale and haggard, and he appeared to have been drinking. A man answering his description was later seen on the wharf of the Oriental Steamship Company, and is believed to have taken passage on that company's liner "Arabella" which sailed last night for Port Said.

The Portland police will investigate.

Jerusalem, Palestine, May 15th.—(By cable to the Associated Press) The body of a young American was found late today in a deserted turnip field on the outskirts of this city. He had apparently been slain by the hands of marauding Saracens who have been molesting the suburbs during the past two or three months.

The young man bore no marks of identification and was dressed in conventional American costume except for his headgear which was a battered football helmet upon the top of which waved a black ostrich feather. Into this sable plume had been twined a single tress of golden hair.

Lord Mayor Abdul Hamid Pasha has requested that the gendarmerie investigate.

Jerusalem, Palestine, June 24.—(By cable to the Associated Press.) Lord Mayor Abdul Hamid Pasha was today in receipt of a most unusual request which forms the sequel to the tragic death in a suburban turnip field of an unidentified young American last month.

A small registered package was delivered at the Mayor's office this morning. It was postmarked Lewiston, Maine, U. S. A., and upon being opened it was found to contain a small

Now that Bates is on the eve of her first game it is time that the old cry of "support the team" should be heard. Several criticisms by students on the campus have been made regarding the lack of support which the student body has given baseball in the last two years. Last season the cheering section was composed of a mere handful of men led by "Red" Menneally. This year we must not give the critics a chance to criticise us. Let us show them that we are behind Bates athletics in the spring as well as in the fall and winter.

The success of Bates' teams this year has been remarkable. Two championships, a victorious relay team, and a strong football machine have been the successes so far. A third championship should not be allowed to slip thru our fingers because of lack of support. The men will give all they have, will do their best. The most we students can do is to go to the game and lend our moral support.

Let tennis, golf, and co-education go till the game is over.

Tom Tierney ex '25 Bates is now at Clark College, Worcester. Tom is Captain of the baseball nine this year. While here at Bates he was known as a promising runner and baseball player.

Ex-Captain Edward Roberts '23 of hockey and tennis is spending his Easter vacation in Lewiston. "Eddie" will probably be seen on the tennis courts before he leaves to resume his studies. "Eddie" was the last man in college to win his letter in tennis.

"Bill" Guiney football captain in 1922 is now coaching baseball at Houlton High School. The Coach of Houlton's rival school is also a Bates man.

When bad luck comes it comes in bunches. So Fair Harvard must think, for they have lost Joe McGlone, three sportman, Percy Jenkins, Captain of baseball, and Ken Hill, star pitcher, all because of injuries.

According to a summary made by the Lewiston "Journal," the Maine interscholastic track records are better in most cases than the records of the Yale interscholastic records. This summary speaks well for the Maine school-boy athletes, and for those who have been instrumental in the staging of these secondary school meets.

Let's have everyone out to help "Joie" Cogan and his mates whip the Bowdoin Bearskin.

glass bottle containing a drop of water and labelled "One Tear". Accompanying the bottle was a letter written by a young lady whose identity is unknown. In the letter the young woman requested that the tear be shed upon the grave of the young man who was found slain in the turnip field last month. The document showed that the lady was in a state of high nervous tension when she wrote, and her piteous appeal is said to have brought tears to the eyes of our honored Mayor who is to take every possible step to comply with the unknown's request.

According to the plans outlined by the Lord Mayor, the shedding of the tear will be made the occasion of an elaborate ceremonial, a parade, and a general holiday in this city. The mere pouring of the precious drop upon the grave of him most recently fallen by the Saracen's hand being considered poetically uneffective, it will be first placed in the eye of Miss Zuleika Bshara, the "Miss Jerusalem" of the recent All-Palestine beauty contest held here under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, and will then be shed in the conventional manner. Beside the Lord Mayor and his retinue, prominent civil and military officials will be at the grave-side, while the local militia, three brass bands and numerous floats will take part in the parade.

The gendarmerie is endeavoring to trace the package through the means of its registration number.

Open Forum

To the Editor,
Bates Student,

Following your generous suggestion printed in last week's Student to the effect that you would welcome communications and expressions of opinion on matters of student interest, I would like to secure your cooperation in presenting a matter which should be of interest to all the men of the college. Since I have been connected with the college, my work has brought me into a rather intimate relation with Chase Hall. As I have been there day after day, I have been struck by the apparent lack of appreciation of some of the men for the building and an even more general lack of sense of responsibility for its use. There seems to be quite a prevalent attitude of "Well, we pay for the use of it, and the college takes care of the building, so why should we worry?"

I wonder if we realize sometimes just how fortunate we at Bates are in having such a building as Chase Hall, where we can enter the undergraduate life of the college. I have heard considerable sentiment regarding fraternities expressed among the students. Yet it occurs to me that Chase Hall provides us with most of the social life that fraternities give to their members and at the same time relieves us of the tremendous financial burden that a fraternity house always carries. But because we are relieved of a heavy financial obligation, ought we likewise to feel no responsibility for the upkeep and use of our Union building? I know of no small college in this part of the country that provides a finer center for undergraduate activities than Bates provides in Chase Hall. And I do know of a college not very far away whose undergraduates want more than anything else a Union, built on the general plan of our own Chase Hall. It seems to me we ought to appreciate what we already have.

Doubtless, much of the lack of undergraduate responsibility in Chase Hall is due to thoughtlessness. May I make a few suggestions based on a rather careful study of the use of the building. Others may have observed other things to be corrected which they will be willing to bring to our attention in this column.

In the first place, it would improve conditions downstairs in the billiard room if the undergraduates would cooperate with the janitor and the rest of us in reserving these privileges for students. There is a great tendency for the pool room to exert a magnetic attraction after school hours for the boys of the city. The Chase Hall Administration is not trying to conduct a public billiard room for boys and consequently has not provided such adequate supervision as would be necessary for that kind of an establishment. As a result, sometimes the property is misused and the students suffer. Students can cooperate by advising outsiders that this is a college, and not a public, billiard room.

There is one other consideration I would like to present. If Chase Hall is to be truly a student Union, it should be for all the students. Some individuals have been thoughtless of the rights of the others as to remove parts of the equipment at times. Perhaps this one had his mind entirely on that next recitation and unconsciously carried the latest copy of "Life" to class with him. Perhaps that one thought only of his own convenience and forgot there were three hundred and fifty other students when he took a record over to try out on his own Victrola. It is evident that these happenings are due largely to thoughtlessness, since much of the equipment often reappears months later. But such carelessness doesn't tend to make Chase Hall of full value to all Bates men. Moreover, it doesn't tend to encourage the Chase Hall Administration to put in additional features to improve the equipment. We wouldn't find a fraternity man thoughtless enough to remove records and sheet music from the house to the detriment of his fraternity brothers. He is much more likely to purchase a new piece he likes and contribute it to the general welfare of the house. Since Chase Hall takes the place of a fraternity house for Bates men, wouldn't it be a much better state of affairs if every Bates man helped to preserve the usefulness of the hall by feeling a personal responsibility for all the equipment? Surely such action would be forcing the Administration to feel it must keep a watchdog guarding the common property lest somebody make way with it.

I have tried to make these suggestions not in the spirit of complaint but rather with the feeling that, if we all understood and gave a little more thought to our social responsibility, all would profit by it, and Chase Hall would be a better social center.

Sincerely yours,

Russell M. McGown.

JORDAN SCIENTIFIC LECTURE

Next Monday evening, April 21, the Jordan Scientific Society will hold an open meeting in the lecture room on the second floor of Carnegie Hall, Edward F. Roberts, Bates '23, president of the Society last year, who is now doing graduate work in bacteriology and immunology at Yale University, will give at this time a talk on the nature and purposes of advanced work in those sciences.

Mr. Roberts lecture will be upon the "Laboratory Diagnosis of Pneumonia, Tuberculosis, and Typhoid Fever" and will be supplemented by lantern slides. Everyone interested in this kind of work is cordially invited to attend. The hour is 7.30 o'clock.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

"It's easy to be good when people are watching us," said Reverend J. Charles MacDonald of Auburn in the "Y" meeting last Wednesday, "but the Christianity that counts is that which helps us to be good when alone."

In a direct and lucid message Mr. MacDonald asked and answered four questions: What would Jesus do in my place in the hour of temptation? In the hour of success? Of misfortune? In dealing with wrongdoing? Jesus, he pointed out, when He was tempted, got back to God. In the midst of success He sent the people away and prayed, alone. Christ's great misfortune finds Him placing His life in the hands of God, while His attitude toward wrongdoers was ever that of forgiveness. In closing Mr. MacDonald recommended that kind of a life to all his hearers.

Y. W. C. A. MEETING

The annual Freshman meeting of Y. W. C. A. was held in the reception room of Rand Hall, Wednesday evening. The dramatization of a scene from the Bible, after the crucifixion of Christ, was a program original, and very effective. The characters were deftly portrayed by Katherine Thomas, Ella Hultgren, and Esther Owens, with piano accompaniment by Ruth Harrington. To the committee in charge all praise is due: Bernice Hamm, Alice Aikens, Katherine Thomas, Ruth Harrington, Lillian Stevens and Marian Braun.

MACFARLANE CLUB

Macfarlane Club met in Libbey Forum, Monday night. At a short business meeting a nominating committee was elected, consisting of Ruth Marsh, May Worthley, and Carl Miller; and programs outlined for the remaining meetings this year.

The program of the evening follows: Moonlight Sonata, Beethoven, Coming Thro' the Rye, Why is Johnny so Long at the Fair?

Drew Gilman

Paper on Emma Eames, Elizabeth Powers Violin Solo, Allison Wills Piano Solo, Hungarian Rhapsody II, Listz, Mildred Stanley Quartet from the Girls' Glee Club Carmena Bowl of Roses, Ruth Wass, Virginia Ames, Madelene Chapman, Janice Hoit.

SPOFFORD

Tuesday night, Spofford Club held a Bohemian orgy within the sombre walk of Libbey Forum. The society room had an atmosphere a la Greenwich Village with colorful scarfs, cushions, dimmed lights, and incense,—much incense. There were impromptu dances, poetic out-pourings, and music and cats. In fact, it was a truly Bohemian spree.

BREAKFAST AT COMMONS?

A man sat in a restaurant Too bored for any use; Another aimed straight at his gaze And squirted grapefruit juice. In pain he cried, "Now I like that!" Sweet came the prompt reply; "I know that you like grapefruit, I can see it in your eye."

ENTRE NOUS

At Entre Nous meeting Monday evening reviews of the life and poems of Emily Dickinson and Eugene Field were given. Following a vocal solo by Helen Foss and a reading by Ruth Canham, games were played. Because of the lack of funds the committee could serve no refreshments.

SIGNS OF SPRING

Ukelele strains from Mount David and a banjo across the way are no longer sole symptoms of Spring. Grants—or was it Grants', now?—had a sale on spring chickens the other day, really Easter chickens. Two of the chicks came by chance into the possession of Rand Hall, or a part of it, regardless of pet and vagrancy laws, which read to the effect that no pets nor tramps shall be harbored within these dormitories. Stu. G. kindly classed chickens and goldfish alike harmless, as long as they were confined. These were a lusty pair, with growing popularity and competency in self-advertisement—nothing less than a frog pond could rival. But here must end this brief entry into the annals of Rand Hall. There was no proper authority for consultation; the infirmary proved inaccessible; the chickens had the mites; and the mites were the fittest.

ceremonial in honor of the shedding of the tear at the grave of the young American whose romantic death and its unique sequel has attracted world-wide attention was not held on account of a severe rain storm. The tear sent by the unknown young American woman was, however, poured on the grave.

Lewiston, Me. Aug. 3—(By the Associated Press) Postal officials today reached the end of the trail in their search for the young woman who mailed a tear from this office to the Lord Mayor of Jerusalem in early June. John P. Higgins, Postal clerk, stated that he remembered accepting the package, and that its sender was a young, apparently beautiful, but heavily veiled woman who was dressed in black and who would give no address.

Don't give a cap "too much rope"

Just when you're hurrying the most—zip! and away goes that shaving cream cap. The new cap on Williams ends the nuisance forever. It's hinged on and can't get lost.

In shaving, too, Williams has just as noticeable improvements: Williams lather is heavier and more closely woven. It holds the water in against the beard. Result: quicker softening. Williams lather lubricates—no irritating friction. Last, Williams is decidedly helpful to the skin. It keeps your face comfortable no matter how heavy your beard and how tender your skin. There's no coloring matter in Williams—it is a natural white, absolutely pure. Say "WilliamsHinge-Cap" to your dealer.

CANDIDATES FOR TENNIS BERTHS START PRACTICE

Team Will be Coached by Professor Britain

Nearly a score of tennis players reported last Monday to Captain Wallace Fairbanks. There is much promising material in College to make a formidable team. However there is not a letter man in the court game in Bates at the present time. "Eddie" Roberts, captain of last year's team, was the only man to gain the B in the last few years. Four veterans were among those who reported;—Arthur Leonardi, "Dick" Stanley, Capt. Fairbanks, and Paul Gray. Of these but two, Stanley and Fairbanks, have seen regular service on the court.

Promising material from the freshman class will make the veterans step to retain their positions. Francis Purinton, who won the Freshman tournament last Fall, is the most promising of the yearlings. While at Jordan High Purinton cleaned up everything in sight and is regarded as the best player turned out of the local High School. Landman, who was Purinton's opponent in the finals last fall, is another likely looking candidate. Landman was a consistent player in prep school, and will make a strong bid for a berth on the team. Evans and Kilbride, both of 1927, have had much experience and should develop under the tutelage of "Doc" Britain.

Professor Britain has been chosen coach of tennis this year to take the place of Arthur Purinton who is now taking graduate work at Yale. The "Doc" is well fitted for the position as he has had a great deal of experience. At Hanover College, Indiana, he has left a fine record as a tennis player, and since coming to Bates he has shown marked ability on the court. Psychologically speaking it seems to be instinctive for the Professor to wield his racket.

Manager Willard J. Stevens has announced the following schedule:
May 10—University of Maine at Lewiston.
May 14-15—State Meet at Orono.
May 19-20-21—New England Meet at Chestnut Hill (Boston)
May 22—Bowdoin at Brunswick.
May 31—Colby at Lewiston.

DEBATING JOTTINGS

Among recent debates the following will be of interest to Bates debaters:

The University of Vermont won a 2 to 1 decision over Middlebury, who also lost to M. A. C. during the same week.

Boston University which has been winning all of its debates for the past few years, received a severe setback at the hands of Williams. The question was "Resolved: That in the interests of the country a Conservative and a Liberal Party shall supersede the present Republican and Democratic parties." Williams won a unanimous decision.

M. A. C. which won over Middlebury lost to U. of Vermont the same week.

Bowdoin's team composed of Athert P. Daggett, Edward W. Raye, and George W. Rowe, defeated Boston University by a two to one decision April 2.

Boston University's Amazon debaters, who are to debate the Bates women early in May, are meeting George Washington University girls.

The girl's debating team of Ottawa (Kansas) University won a 2 to 1 decision from Park College (Parkville, Mo.).

Father, teaching his six-year-old son arithmetic by giving a problem to his wife, begs his son to listen.

Father: "Mother, if you had a pound and I gave you five more, what would you have?"

Mother (replying absently): "Hy-sterics."
