BATES BOBCATS YIELD HARD FOUGHT BATTLE TO AGGIES

Garnet Team Showed Much Improvement Over First Game Despite Defeat at Hands of Massachusetts Team. Playing of Secor and Anthony Features

A fighting Bates Bobcat was again turned back when Mass. Aggies won a torrid battle by the small margin of 6 points last Saturday at the Amherst field. It was a nip and tuck struggle all the way through with Bates having a little edge on the attack. The Garnet had several chances to score. Near the end of the half Bornstein tossed a beautiful pass to Jewell who was standing on the Aggie goal line. It looked like a sure winner but it just curved beyond Jewell's outstretched hands. Again in the third period a Bates threat was halted on the Aggies 25 yard line when a forward pass was intercepted and M. A. C. punted out of danger.

Even though the Aggie game seemed to be a series of lost opportunities yet there were a few bright spots that deserve notice and bode ill for future opponents of the Bobcat aggregation. The work of Secor, who is playing his first season in the Garnet backfield, was the big gem of the Bates attack. His 35 yard sprint through the Aggie team had them guessing for a while. "Bull Montana" Anthony played a whale of a game. His play is much improved over last year. Peabody and Kennison on the wings showed up well. Capt. Nilson was as usual a big thorn in the side of the opposition and Shapiro at center did well for his first time under fire.

Inexperience cost Bates the game. Many of the men are playing this year in unnatural positions. The inability of the Bates forwards to stay on side caused a great loss of yardage and a

Bates Graduate is Successful in Music

Erle B. Renwick, class of '18 joins American Opera Company

Erle B. Renwick, '18, is a "grad" who has made his mark in the musical world, having recently become a member of the American Opera Company.

Born in Massachusetts in a talented musical family, he first studied voice culture under Vincent Hubbard of Boston. Here at Bates he left a fine record as member of Choir and Glee Club, and he will be remembered as a soloist at the old Court Street Baptist Church in Auburn. After graduation, Mr. Renwick did some work in phonographic recording. He returned to Maine last July after a year's vocal culture at Milan, and is at present with the American Opera Company.

Mrs. Renwick was formerly Helen L. Clark, also Bates '18. The Renwicks have a summer home at Bolster's Mills, and a winter home at St. Petersburg, Florida, where Mr. Renwick is well known, both as church soloist and as leading man in many Gilbert and Sullivan operettas.

Mr. Renwick will accompany the American Opera Company on its eastern tour which will begin after the opening of the season in Chicago.

ALETHEA CLUB TO INITIATE MEMBERS

A special meeting of Alethea was called Tuesday evening for the purpose of electing the remaining Sophomore and Junior members to bring the membership list up to the constitutional requirement of 35.

Initiation plans were discussed for the first regular meeting of the club next Tuesday and a committee was chosen to initiate the following:

Grace Hatch, Aurie Balch, Gladys Young, Beth Clark, Constance Withington, Dorothy Hanseom.

1931

Baseball Win For Freshmen

Before a large group of co-ed supporters the Class of '32 turned the tables on the Sophs last Friday by winning the annual ball game 5 to 3. After trailing by 2 runs in the first six innings the Frosh, with the help of a few errors, counted 2 tallies in the seventh canto to tie the game all up in knots. It was designed by the Sophomores to be a seven inning game but the freshmen spoiled the original plan and counted two runs in the ninth inning to win the game. Marston pitched a fine game for '31 but errors proved his undoing. Mantelli and LaFlame hurled effective ball for the freshman team. All the pitchers were very stingy with their hits. This ball game marks the final contest between the first and second year men who will soon forget their rivalry around the banquet table.

Heelers Receive Budding Talent

Bolstered by Recruits Dramatic "Scrubs" to Have active Year

Tuesday evening at the Little Theatre try outs for the Heelers Club, the "runner up" to the 4A Players, were held. The participants gave selections from plays with which they were familiar. Those chosen, by judges from the 4A Club, were: Lillian Hill, Ruth Brown, Dorothy Parker, Rebecca Cousins, Parker Mann, Frances Cronin, Dorothy Morse and Mr. Shapiro. Miss Gottesfeld and Miss Howe, who are particularly interested in costuming and designing, were appointed to help with this part of the work.

With these added members the Heelers Club, has come to be a large organization and is expected to be very active during the coming year.

Co-eds out for Fall Sports

Rand Athletic Field is busier than ever this fall. A large and enthusiastic squad is lined up for the annual interclass battles for the Hockey championship. 35 Freshmen, 21 Sophomores, 17 Juniors and 16 Seniors reported for practice Tuesday.

Tennis instruction is being offered for the first time in the fall season this year and finds an especially large number of devotees, totaling 93 candidates.

Hiking and archery seem to have been almost forgotten, as interest turns toward the more active and competitive sports. The numbers registering in these two departments are Archery 7, Hiking 24.

SENIORS ELECT EDITORS FOR MIRROR STAFF

At a meeting of the senior class held Tuesday in the Little Theatre James N. Solomon Jr., of Centre Harbor, N. H. was elected editor-in-chief of the "Mirror" for 1929. Lawrence C. LeBeau of Meredith, N. H. was chosen as the business manager. Solomon has been prominent in many lines of work while in college. He is managing editor of the "Student" and has been on the board for three years. He is president of the English 4A Players and has appeared in a great many plays since entering college. Among his other accomplishments he is a member of the Glee Club. The new business manager is also active in many organizations among which are Der Deutsche Verein, the Spofford Club and the Glee Club. He is editor-in-chief of the "Student".

Speakers "Try Out" In Preparation For Oxford Debate

Presidential Candidates, Arbitration Discussed

A series of three debates were held at Chase Hall Thursday and Friday of this week to determine who should work on the squad, now preparing for debate with Oxford. The teams were made up of those who survived the first eliminations as well as those who, through proved ability, were entitled to a "bye" in the first round.

Two of the debates were held on the question, "Resolved: that Herbert Hoover should be elected President of the United States." Weatherbee, McDonald, and Thomas upheld the affirmative in the first debate against Colby, Kendall, and Hayes. In the second debate, Bassett, Trewoy, and Seeton as negative speakers, were opposed by White, Ratten, and Bujold.

The third and last debate had for its subject, "Resolved, that government should adopt a system of compulsory arbitration of international disputes." The affirmative of which was taken by Gould, Cronick, and Hodson, and the negative by Hislop, Robinson, and Moutrie.

Later in the semester further try-outs will be held for those who were eliminated in the recent selections.

900,000 American College Students to Vote on Smith or Hoover

Because of the high interest in the November election of the President, College Humor and all the American college dailies have planned a nationwide straw vote to determine the voting preference on the two candidates. All college students, regardless of age, are asked to vote. The complete student opinion is of much more interest than just the votes of those students who are of voting age, because we can then tell what the college world thinks of our two candidates.

Herbert Hoover, the Republican candidate, was born in West Branch, Iowa. He received his degree in engineering at Leland Stanford University in 1895 and has since been honored by twenty-seven other universities. He held the position of Food Conservator during President Wilson's term.

Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic candidate, was born in New York City. He started his varied and successful career as newsboy and became one of New York's leading men. He has been elected governor of New York State four times, and has a personality that is rare.

The ballot will be found on page 4 of this issue of the Student and it is hoped all students will register their vote. Tear out the ballot and deposit it in the box located at Coram Library. All votes will be cleared through College Humor and the returns from the American colleges, with pictures, will be run in the Student about November 1st.

Bates Grad On Campus for A Day's Visit

Art Sager Speaks to Students in Chapel

During the past week Bates undergraduates were given an opportunity to express their pride in one of the graduates when Pres. Gray introduced Arthur W. "Art" Sager after chapel service.

During the past few months Art Sager has been making a name for himself in the track world. Probably no group has followed his fortunes more closely than Bates students. Art graduated from Bates in 1926. He was very musically inclined being a member of the Glee Club, Garnet Quartet, Choir and Band. Rather suddenly he broke into track prominence and won the first Maine intercollegiate championship in the javelin when that event was added to the Maine athletic calendar.

During his senior year at college he improved greatly and began to give promise of the great things that he has now achieved. May 1, 1926 he smashed the meet record in the javelin throw against the University of N. H. with a mark of 172 feet. Two weeks later in the State meet at Brunswick (Continued on page 4, column 5)

Bull Represents Y. M. at Hartford

Conference Discussed Student Activities

The Bates Student Christian Association was represented at the recent conference of the New England Field Council by Howard Bull '29. This conference was held on the campus of the Hartford Theological Seminary at Hartford, Conn. October 5th to 7th.

Various phases of Student Christian activities were discussed. It was proposed that the Northfield Summer Conference be held three week-ends rather than an entire week as at present. This would give more students an opportunity to come. It was also suggested that New England be divided into three divisions with "Y" conferences at Boston, Springfield, and Hanover in stead of Hanover and Poland Spring only.

Freshman work and other projects were discussed. Dartmouth is supporting a missionary in China. Amherst is sponsor of another in India. David Porter, Secretary of the National Y. M. C. A. was one of the speakers. He is the son-in-law of George Hinckley of Good Will Farm, who spoke before the Bates "Y" last year.

Officers Chosen by French Club

La Petite Academie also Welcomes new Members

The first meeting of the French Club was held Tuesday evening. President Dorothy Nutter called the meeting to order and after the initiation of the new members the five officers for the rest of the year were elected.

These officers are:
Vice-President, Charles Siegel
Secretary, Cecile Veilleux
Treasurer, Leslie Brown
Chairman Program Committee, Yvonne Langlois
Chairman Membership Committee, Helen Goodwin

First Freshmen Reception Held

On Wednesday evening a group of about fifty freshmen were entertained by President and Mrs. Gray at their home. The evening was spent in various forms of social entertainment. Ice cream and cake was served. Singing under the leadership of Professor Robinson was enjoyed. The faculty members who assisted in the affair included Dean Clark, Professor Cutts, Mr. Ross, Mr. Sipprell and Professor Robinson.

The big Jumbo Elephant invades the lair of the Bobcat tomorrow afternoon with hopes high after their sensational 24-0 victory over Colby last week. Undefeated for two seasons, the Medford gridmen expect to tuck another victory away before boarding the rattler for home Saturday night. But few Garnet men can see any call for such optimism, and can argue nothing but a Bates victory. Indeed, reports of the M. A. C. game last week, even though the Wigginmen were defeated, were most encouraging. The team, as a unit, showed marked improvement over previous performances, and demonstrated that the latent power of the determined Bobcat is manifesting itself. Then, too, a week of gruelling scrimmage has ironed out the roughness, brought out the aggressiveness, and pepped up the spirit of the entire squad. Further encouragement is found in the announcement that Daigle, the doughty Fort Kent Frenchman, and Von Weston, regular right end, will be back in the line-up having recovered from prolonged injuries.

Fred Kennedy, the scintillating star of the Jumbo backfield, will probably watch the game from the sidelines as the result of a sprained ankle. Last season he scored two touchdowns against the Garnet and caused them to suffer many other moments of anxiety. Coach Sampson has capable second string men to take his place, however, among them being Gene Tobey who ran wild in scrimmages this week.

Coaches Wiggin and Threlfall figure that the team's slow start only means that it will be at the height of its form on October 27th, when it attempts to avenge the disastrous defeat administered by the Oronoites last year. Tomorrow's game will be the first opportunity for the whole college to see its warriors in action, and the entire student body are hoping the mentors' predictions will not seem to be based on loyalty and enthusiasm alone after tomorrow.

"Ike" Colburn may start at center, as he has shaped up well in practice. This is a hotly contested berth between Shapiro, Louder and Colburn. Maher and Hutchinson are expected to do big things in the backfield, as is the wing-footed "Sol" Johnson. Carnie will probably bark instructions at the start, with Bornstein held in reserve. Capt. "Swede" Nilson is being depended upon to thrill the onlookers at Garcelion Field with the same brand of brilliant tackling he displayed in all the games last season.

Bates will Debate Oxford at Augusta

Team to be Chosen from Trials this Afternoon

Due to the co-operation of Principal Everett Perkins of Cony High School, and Bates Alumni, in Augusta, plans for the Oxford-Bates Debate are rapidly nearing completion. On Wednesday afternoon Professors Quimby and Carroll met with Bates alumni at Augusta to select committees to take charge of the debate. This will be held on November fifth in the Augusta City Hall. The chairman of the general committee in charge of the debate is the Superintendent of Schools of Augusta, Fred Burrill. Working with him are Bonnie Marston, Bates '15, Principal Everett Perkins, and Mayor Ernest McLean.

The debate will be held on the question, "Resolved: that the governments should adopt a system of compulsory arbitration for international disputes."

The Oxford team comes under the supervision of the National Student Federation. They will meet Bates after having engaged in a debate with Yale on October thirty-first. From Bates they will go to Hanover where, on November seventh, they will meet the Dartmouth debating team.

The members of the team to represent Bates will be announced soon as a result of the series of trials held this afternoon.

YOUR STRAW BALLOT

You will find printed in your copies of the Student for this week, a form of straw ballot to be used in determining the sentiment of this college concerning the presidential election to be held next month. This ballot is printed as part of a national movement to determine the preference of college students of all ages, and the results will be included with those of a great number of other colleges throughout the United States in a final analysis of collegiate feeling for the nation.

Whether you are of age or not, we ask you to mark the ballot and to deposit it in the box as directed. We admit that it is much easier to discard the ballot along with the rest of the paper, but it will take a very small amount of time to indicate at once your personal conviction as to the worth of the candidates and the fact the college is doing its part in getting you to think and to form opinions for yourselves which will be of service to you long after the college life is behind you.

Sorry, we didn't mean to preach a sermon,—but we do want you to vote.

PRIVACY

We are printing below an editorial from the Tuft's Weekly, which is a fine expression of certain thoughts which come to each one of us at odd moments during our four years of college life. May you find a little time and solitude in which to think about it.

College life offers no privacy. For the man or woman who, in order to remain sane and quietly balanced, must sometimes be alone, college is a nightmare. It is true, of course, that there are such people in this community. Worse for the community if there were not. College is, or is supposed to be, a civilizing and refining influence. Naturally it draws persons of sensitiveness to it, and they suppose life will be richer for them. But richer life cannot be found in public, and college life is essentially a public one. Education—the word itself means to lead out of one's inmost mind the possibilities that lie there. Who wants, and who has the least chance, to discover his innermost secret self in a daily round of noisy dormitory, clanging dining hall, busy campus, and feverish fraternity house? There is absolutely no place in this college, with all it offers, where a man may be quietly alone with himself. If by desperate trick he does get away, he is pursued by those who are afraid to let anyone be alone, the collegiate Rotarians.

We believe there are many cases in this college of vital personalities that have had to be smothered because of sensitive horror at college life. It offers little encouragement to the sensitive. It frantically insists on immediate and complete conformity. As usual, conformity means the level of the lowest, or the level of a low average. We believe many came here with notion in the back of their heads of an ideal college. They thought of absorbed study of kind companionship, of a common love for books, of the sharing of intellectual joy as freely as laughter and pleasure. The notion was shattered by the blaring crudeness of thinking, eating, studying, feeling joy and sorrow, in public. Some had it twisted out of them and they forgot it. Others concealed it fairly successfully.

The college should provide solitude. Quiet should be obtainable, if only in small quantities. Even the most social man among us tries to get away once in awhile. Close-bound as we are, this desire is regarded as a disease. Dormitories strangle the desire, fraternities cause it to die the death, relief is not anywhere discoverable on this Hill; so why not be with the crowd. But this we refuse!

Midnight Oil

Philip Tetreau, Editor

There was a time, in the memory of most of us, when it was considered not only the privilege, but also the duty of all true disciples of Co-education, to scale the sides of David's Mountain, and there far from the eyes of the curious, and surrounded by the hushed quiet of a late Sunday afternoon, to whisper those tender little nothings that mean so much.

What a joy it was, to sit upon the rugged brow of the old Mountain, and gaze down over the quiet city, while ones companion gently stroked your hair, and filled your thoughts with sweet visions of better times to come, or perhaps recounted to your eager ear, the latest and most choice campus gossip.

How many generations of Bates sons has this old Mountain known! To how many couples is it sacred with precious memories!

But alas, all that is altered. No more will Mount David's sides shelter the surreptitious sessions of the lovers. The Granite slopes are now protected from all future encroachments. Now, in the interest of preserving this memento, for posterity, they have enclosed its girth with a new and up to date cyclone fence, protection against possible lovers' storms.

And picture the bitter disappointment of returning alumni, when they seek to visit again the scene of so many pleasant evenings, they find their way barred by the realistic barrier of a cruel and unromantic fence. Mount David shut up like any private pasture, like Garcelon field. When middle-aged, and loving couples, who first learned the meaning of Love at College, return to Bates to celebrate the silver anniversary of their graduation, and find that their plans for a second honeymoon have been thwarted by a materialistic groundkeeper who refuses to allow them entrance,—Ah! What a mockery!

But that is not all. There are more practical things. After the Bowdoin game, how are the Freshmen going to collect the wood, and so on for our Bonfire? How will it be possible to celebrate our next Relay Championship, as we did our last?

And the Bird Walks. In the absence of Doctor Tubbs, did an envious faculty grasp this opportunity to strike a blow at the things so dear to his heart.

And the Campanile. We used to hear a lot about this prospective bell tower. Has it been abandoned?

But never mind, there is always the river. In the spring, we will still have one favorite retreat, where we can rest on some overthrown headstone, in the cemetery, and gaze into the sluggish flood of the Androscoggin, as it rushes down to the task of turning wheels in the bustling mills of Lewiston. As we gaze into the muddy, murky, current we will think with sorrow of those other days when Mount David was a haven, safe and serene for Man and Maid and the God with the golden arrows.

Where is the spirit of organization that used to exist upon our campus? Every now and then, to be sure, an individual comes along who shows wonderful powers and enterprise in directing activities and organizations in which he has an interest, but such a character is rare, at Bates.

One of the most disappointing lacks, here, is in the musical line. For four years that we have been at Bates, there has never been a dance band composed solely of Bates men. We have no organization to compare with the Bowdoin Polar Bears. In spite of the fact that we number among our enrollment, a goodly number of competent and more than competent Jazz artists, and enough to round out not only one but at least two good all around teams.

These organizations need not be under the direct control of the office in Roger Williams, altho that perhaps would be a satisfactory arrangement. But they should be prepared to play at any and all possible occasions, regular Chase Hall Saturday night dances included.

This would be a great opportunity for a good dance team to get the benefit of a good deal of the students

Armistice Day through Thanksgiving, November, 11-29. This is the only request the Red Cross makes for funds during the year and upon its success depends the efficient carrying out of the duties placed upon the organization by Congress.

You can be of material assistance to us in our membership campaign by calling to the attention of your readers the dates for the Annual Roll Call and by giving some brief reference to the Red Cross and its work.

Permit us to express our appreciation of the support you have given the Red Cross in the past and to thank you for whatever further assistance you may render in its membership enrollment this year.

Cordially yours,

DOUGLAS GRIESMER

Director Roll Call.

SMALL TALK

(The New Student)—President Hopkins of Dartmouth in his opening address of the fall college term deprecates the prevalence of political small talk. "Temperaments," he says, "personal habits, domestic relationships, racial antecedents, religious affiliations and even physical appearance are discussed for hours, usually falsely and always cheaply, unworthy of the limited intelligence of those participating in the discussion."

More than ever before, prejudices and hates are going to figure in this campaign, perhaps even determining it, and it is encouraging to find a college president who recognizes and deprecates this. The most dreary aspect of the whole situation, however, is that men in frock coats and with strings of degrees attached to their names are not averse to spreading this petty propaganda and climbing to power through its use. They did it in other campaigns and they are doing it again. Did not Charles Evans Hughes (space forbids enumerating his degrees) make a series of speeches in behalf of President Coolidge in 1924, directed against the late Senator LaFollette, and calculated to lull the intelligences of the voters and fan in their hearts an unreasoning fear of the "red menace"? The morning paper is not without its modern instance. Bishop Cannon of the legislative committee of the Anti-Saloon League has four degrees from important universities, yet the fact does not deter him from leading an organization which has just now announced that Al Smith must be kept out of the presidency because he is an enemy of this "Anglo-Saxon, Protestant" country.

Partiality and prejudice enter into more spheres than the political, as the New York Times warns Dr. Hopkins. "Even in the bosoms of college trustees and faculties they are sometimes felt and sometimes have prevailed when a president or a professor is to be selected." And when the college president wanders into politics he often is no less free from emotion than the ranting parsons of the Protestant churches today. There is the horrid example of President Dwight of Yale who travelled up and down the country warning of dire things that would happen when and if Thomas Jefferson became president. No woman in New England, he predicted, would be safe. Bibles would be burned by executive order.

It seems that the college educated have their special lesson to learn, as well as the unlettered small-talkers. And it is this: Be unbiased—and be humble.

A STUDENT INTERNATIONAL

(The New Student)—With all the stir about international accord through the peace pacts and arms limitation few people have heard about international good-will through co-operation between students of the United States and of Europe, which became closer than ever this summer. The National Student Federation, organized at Princeton in 1925 and now representing more than two hundred colleges and universities in the Nation, sent its delegates this summer to the tenth annual conference of the Confederation International des Etudiants.

This Confederation was founded at Strasbourg in 1919 and it has grown in the intervening years to embrace the student bodies of forty-eight nations. South Africans, New Zealanders, Filipino and Chinese students were among the 1,400 who gathered at the Sorbonne on August 10 for the annual oiling of their machinery of international intercourse.

It needs only a recital of the agenda of this conference to indicate what busy men and women these students are: determination of international norms of measurement for scholastic degrees; the creation of university archives to house an international exchange of books, publications and of money that is paid out each Saturday for the Chase Hall music. Without a doubt, there is talent enough in our student body to put out an orchestra as good, if not better than any of the various teams that are hired for the numerous Hops, Dances and so on that the different college organizations sponsor every year.

It looks like a golden opportunity going to waste. Why does not some energetic musician "Get Hot."

STUDENT ASSEMBLY

The first Student Assembly of the college year was held Wednesday morning. Pres. Royal Adams '29 of the Student Council conducted the exercises and after filling out the schedule charts the men voted for members of the Athletic Council. The freshmen remained and were given a chance to join the Y. M. C. A. A large percentage signed up.

Those elected to the Athletic Council were Royal Adams '29 of Houlton, President, Paul Chesley '29 of Sumner, W. Howard Bull '29 of Worcester, Mass., Roy L. Casadden '30 of Jay and Harold Louder '30 of Pittsfield.

ENTERPRISING CO-EDS

RUN LETTER SHOP

Three enterprising Northwestern University co-eds, with a knowledge of applied psychology and command of the queen's English, have opened a Letter Shop. They offer to write for you that difficult letter to Dad, to Her, or to Him—for a certain amount.

Custom-made love letters are $10, with no money-back guarantee of results. Ordinary thank-you notes to relatives are $2. Dunning letters to Dad, however, are written on a commission basis—ten per cent of the resulting check, if it comes. The girls report a flourishing business.

Evanston folk are smiling broadly at the venture. They would be still more amused if the University English Department offered a course in "Applied Epistolography: Amorous and Parental." Yet there is ancient precedent. The universities of the Middle Ages were only too glad to help their students compose letters that would loosen the paternal purse-strings. In the good old days even rhetoricians could be practical.

In a day when the teacher received his fee directly from the student, the professor of rhetoric hastened to supply his scholars with model letters fit to move the veriest skinflint of a father. "Complete letter-writers" were published in most of the universities with models for every need, addressed to parents, brothers, uncles, or clerical patrons. One model offered over twenty diplomatic methods of asking an arch deacon for cash.

A typical letter, differing from the 1928 version in details more than in spirit, follows:

"D—to his venerable master T—, greeting. This is to inform you that I am studying at Oxford with the greatest diligence, but the matter of money stands greatly in the way of my promotion, as it is now two months since I spent the last of what you sent me. The city is expensive and makes many demands. I have to rent lodgings, buy necessaries, and provide for many other things which I cannot now specify. Wherefore I respectfully beg your paternity that by the promptings of divine pity you may assist me, so that I may be able to complete what I have well begun. For you must know that without Ceres and Bacchus, Appollo grows cold."

Certain excuses were popular with medieval students. Prices were high in the college town because of crop failures, on account of a seige, or because of a great increase of students. Or the last messenger bearing money from home had been robbed, or had run off with the money. One model purports to be written from a debtor's prison, where the student is eating mouldy bread and drinking water salted with his own tears. A particular student writes to his married sister that he is sleeping without coverings on a pile of straw, going without shoes or shirt, eating unmentionable things. The lady answered with a hundred sous, bedding and ten ells of cloth, sent without her husband's knowledge. Still, the college life must have been fairly pleasant, for many letters beg the parents to allow the student to extend his studies, for ingenious reasons.

Yet the man who paid the bills was not forgotten in the "complete letter-writer." Epistles to be sent to spendthrift sons were provided. Thus:

"To his son residing at Orleans, P—of Besancon sends greetings with paternal zeal. I have recently discovered that you live dissolutely and slothfully, preferring license to restraint and strumming a guitar while others are at their studies, whence it happens that you have read but one volume of law while your more industrious companions have read several. Wherefore I have decided to exhort you herewith to repent utterly of your dissolute and careless ways, that you may no longer be called a waster and your shame may be turned to good repute."

Doubtless the modern student would vociferously welcome such a course in Practical Composition. But just to give Dad a fighting chance, the universities ought also to offer a correspondence course teaching him how to rake the collegiate spendthrift over the coals in matchless, dynamic prose.

Although there has been talk lately of starting basketball at Bates as a major sport there is but little likelihood of this popular game finding its way into our sport program except as it is now played in the inter-class and inter-dorm leagues.

At present the only Maine college playing basketball is the U. of Maine. They have an extensive schedule but the team has met with limited success both financially and in games won.

Several obstacles balk the adoption of this sport. To be really successful the four Maine colleges would have to put teams on the floor. Colby for the present is not in a position to support a team on account of the expense of a new gym which she would need in place of her now standing inadequacy. The officials at Bowdoin are very cool on the subject and seem to be opposed to the idea.

From our own standpoint, although we have a fine gym and good accommodations, the adoption of the sport would not be practical. An additional sport would mean sacrificing men from hockey and track which we can ill afford to do. The male enrollment at Bates is too small to foster three major sports in one season.

So it seems that basketball in Maine Intercollegiate circles is doomed to remain in the shade unless the four colleges get together and make a determined effort to revive the sport.

Romeo Houle, saucer sealer supreme, is in big demand these days. He is being accosted on all sides by several aspiring discus heavers who seek points on his style, technique, and training methods. The Big One has wing spread sufficient to nurse several of the yearlings and may leave as his parting gift to the Garnet a successor who, though he may not fill the Huge One's shoes, may regularly contribute the customary five points.

Word comes from "Babe" Adams now with Kresge's in Detroit where he is tossing crates and boxes instead of passes to the quarterback. Last year's captain informs us that he has dropped a mere nineteen pounds at his new racquet. We wonder if any of the "Beef Trust" could be induced to accept positions with Kresge during the summer vacation.

With the opening of the fall tournaments tennis is claiming plenty of attention from the racquet wielders. Although the courts are in poor condition some of the boys are flashing a good brand of tennis and will be in evidence next spring. Coach George Tufts assisted by Francis Purinton is working out daily with the boys and should place a clever team on the courts next spring.

The freshmen gave a rather novel twist to the interclass contests by taking the baseball game 6-3. This is the first time in several years that an entering class has beaten the soph on the diamond. The second year men however deserve lots of credit for the way the event was run off. None of the old time methods for cramping the style of the freshmen were used. The lordlier class can be expected to make a desperate bid to recoup their laurels in the football game and a sweet battle should result.

Tufts will undoubtedly be one of the Garnet's hardest assignments of the season. The visitors come with a veteran team lead by a triple threat in the person of "Fish" Ellis whose grid ability knows few peers among New England college ranks.

Bates has met with reverses in her first two starts but the season is not to be discounted as a failure because of two early defeats. The Maine objectives have not yet been reached and the Bobcat despite a few past lapses has always shown more scrap and power in the State series.

The Tufts game will go a long way toward showing just what may be expected from locals in the big series. Except for a few flashes the team has not shown its best football. While it may be too much to ask for a victory Saturday there will nevertheless be much rejoicing if the boys uncock something in the line of defense and attack upon which we may rest our hopes in the Bowdoin game.

Coach Ray Thompson had a nice paper chase time trial on the books for his X country men Thursday afternoon. When the boys turned out ex-

A growing tendency on the part of the American undergraduate to sleep too little was noted by President Livingston Farrand in his address to the freshman class at the 61st. annual opening of Cornell University.

"The failure to get the proper amount of sleep is one of the growing evils of American undergraduates," he stated. "Your efficiency, your competency, your health and your future can be wrecked without the proper amount of sleep."

He stressed the use of good English, display of energy, exercise of independent judgment and honest thinking as those things to be most sought during college days.

Julius Seligson, 19-year-old junior at Lehigh University, won the national collegiate lawn tennis crown this summer.

Bowdoin men will have the chance of hearing Madame Halide Hanoum, the Turkish Jeanne D'are, lecture November ninth in Brunswick. Madame Hanoum is at once soldier, poet, philosopher, revolutionist, and novelist. Incidentally she was the first of her sex to be invited to address the Institute of Politics at Williams.

Night football is gaining a firm foothold in Dixie.

William and Mary of Virginia played several games last year and found the practice so successful, it will be continued. Howard College also is initiating the experiment.

Mrs. James W. Gerard, wife of the former Ambassador to Germany, has offered two prizes of $1,000 each for the best essay written by college students or graduates of not more than two years standing on the subject: "Why Alfred E. Smith Should Be Elected President of the United States." One prize is for women and the other for men. The contest will close on October 20th.

The New World Buffalo Times, Trenton Times, Raleigh News Observer, Richmond Times Leader, Arkansas Gazette, Gainesville, Fla. Sun; Columbia, S. C. Record; Nashville Tennessean, Lexington Herald; Nevada State Journal, Atlanta Journal and Providence News are co-operating with the College League in conducting the contest.

Essays may be sent to these newspapers or to the New York committee at 1775 Broadway, New York City the Central Regional Committee at the Hotel Jefferson, St. Louis, Mo., or the New England Committee at the Hotel Statler, Boston, Mass. Each of the various committees will pick the two best essays written by men and the two written by women that are submitted to it. Only these sectional selections will qualify for the money prizes.

The essays are to be limited to 500 words and will be judged on strength of argument, form of composition and excellence in English. They must be typed, or written, on one side of the paper. The name of the author, with college and class must be enclosed.

peeting to frolic over fields and meadows picking up stray wisps of paper they were coolly informed that there was no fooling but an honest to goodness time trial. Ray's psychology probably saved a few moments of uneasiness for the more nervous runners. There won't be much time to hunt around for scraps of paper on Stand-nipe hill on the U. of M. course when the Garnet team meets Maine.

scientific and technical films; to arrange for the securing of special student rates on steamships and railroads; the exchange of information concerning the launching of investigations into the feasibility of building student dormitories and restaurants, the management of an international sanitarium for students, and, finally the organization of international athletic meets to be held concurrently with the annual conferences.

Student travel, for pleasure and for study, receives major emphasis. The National Student Federation of America has already issued over one thousand student identity cards. These highly useful cards are granted to students—graduate or undergraduate—of accredited American universities and they entitle the holder to visa reductions, and in some cases free visas in Europe. They also serve as introductions to European students and often secure for the bearer reduced transportation rates. The practice of exchange scholarships is very common in Europe. It is a common practice for an Englishman desiring to study in Germany to exchange homes with a German who wishes to study in England.

In America the students have just begun to provide for their common welfare. To the average student on the average campus the initials N. S. F. A. are as yet meaningless. The Federation officials have come back from Paris, however, with plans for strengthening the body through added responsibilities. This year the N. S. F. A. has undertaken to supervise international debate, which has become a permanent and growing institution here. A team from Oxford will tour the country, and another representing the British Union of Students. This latter team has the distinction of being the first international women's debate team to come from these isles which have so stubbornly resisted the encroachments of women upon the universities.

FOR COLLEGE VOTERS

(The New Student)—College students who wish to vote this fall are advised to acquaint themselves with the laws governing absentee voting in their state well before election time. In 1924 many such students were deprived of their franchise through ignorance and, as this election promises to evoke more college interest than any recent ones, it is very likely that many will discover at the last minute that they cannot vote. Very often the political opinions of town are at variance with those of gown and the student who does not come to the polls armed with a thorough knowledge of his rights loses his vote.

Studies of the laws affecting the absentee voter have been made by Simon Michelet of the National Get-Out-the-Vote Club and by Helen M. Roca, secretary of political education of the League of Women Voters and inquiries addressed to the national offices at Washington will no doubt be promptly answered. According to the Christian Science Monitor thousands of college students who considered their votes lost on account of their inability to register in person may learn how to vote from these organizations. Many states have recently altered their election laws to facilitate absentee voting and these organizations have all the latest changes.

For a concise digest of the platforms of the seven political parties whose candidates are in the field, that issued as a special supplement to the October World Tomorrow is recommended. It contains a brief history of each party and it is strictly non-partisan. The World Tomorrow is published at 347 Madison Avenue, New York.

OUR DEBATERS BEING ENTERTAINED BY BATES ALUMNI AT WAIALUA, HAWAII

(Seated) Samuel E. Longwell, '02, Lewis W. Howard, '11, son of Lewis Howard, John F. Davis, '28.

The World Tour Debaters landed in Genoa, October 5th. They will debate Oxford and Cambridge in England before returning home. In New Zealand, Tasmania, and Australia they only lost one out of eighteen debates. Many letters and newspaper clippings, showing what a fine impression they made as debaters and American college men, have been received. News of all their successes in South Africa are now coming to the college. A wonderful welcome was arranged for them at Transvaal University College (University of South Africa) where General Smuts was present to greet them.

Sometimes Broiled
Sometimes Frozen
Says Guptill

Needless to say we have had a merry four months of it. We have alternately broiled and frozen; lived in hotels and college dormitories of all sorts and descriptions, met a variety of debaters, many of them good, some so poor they were funny, averaged almost two and a half hours sleep a night, and seen so much scenery that we can't tell whether kangaroos come from Africa or giraffes from Australia. It's a great life. At the present moment we have finished our S. A. tour (such as it was); we arrive back in Durham tomorrow at seven o'clock and sail for Europe via the East Coast at twelve. In other words we are for the next two months gentlemen of leisure, with nothing to do but enjoy ourselves, a circumstance we anticipate with some enthusiasm, you may be sure. We have had a great time, of course, but we have delivered some forty-five speeches, (debates and after dinner speeches, etc., and met about ten thousand people and been stuffed with ceremonial banquets until we are quite ready for a vacation.

The New Zealand and Australian tours were both good. We did the four University towns in N. Z., having two debates in Australia, Tasmania and Perth were added to the schedule, so we covered the whole of Australia except for Brisbane which was too far off the track. Out of ten decisions in Australia we received nine.

Ames and Davis are well. We have been fortunate in getting through this much of the trip without contracting chronic indigestion or sleeping sickness. We have been ready to drop from weariness most of the time, but have managed to keep in good health nevertheless. If only we had someone to darn our socks we'd be in the pink of condition.

Sincerely,
Charles Guptill

CURRICULUM CHANGES AND ADVANCES

Several curriculum changes and additions have been made. The English Department has been thoroughly reorganized by Dr. Wright and several new courses are being offered. One of these will be a study of the Development of the Novel, from its beginning to the present time. A Seminar, Nineteenth Century Problems, for honor students in English, Philosophy, and one of the Social Sciences will be given under the supervision of Dr. Wright. A course of Journalism for Juniors and Seniors is also a new feature of the Department. Sophomores will be permitted a choice of either a course in Argumentation or one in the study of the biographies of the outstanding writers.

The Chemistry Department has also been reorganized. Physical Chemistry has been extended throughout the year and it is planned that all of the courses will be more intensive and complete.

SPECIALIZING

Dashing into the church, O'Rourke came upon Father Shea, who was retiring towards the rectory. O'Rourke explained that he wanted to go to confession.

"Why," said Father Shea, who appeared to be in a hurry, "you haven't been bad."

"No," said O'Rourke, "but—"

"Well, you haven't committed murder, have you?"

"No, but—"

"Go home then, say a few prayers and it will be all right."

O'Rourke wasn't altogether pleased, but he came out of the church. As he did he met Fogarty going in to confession.

"Why," said O'Rourke, "you haven't been bad."

"I haven't that, but nevertheless—"

"Shure, you haven't committed murder, have you?"

"Not yet," said Fogarty, angrily, "but nevertheless—"

"Well, go home an' say a few prayers an' it'll be all right; Father Shea's hearin' nothing' but murder cases to-night."

Frosh Drop First Game to Big Green By Two Touchdowns

Inexperience and Lack of Weight are Strong Factors in Defeat

Coach Finn is proud of the fine showing of his green cubs who held the famous undefeated Hebron gridders to a 12-0 score last Friday. The Bates yearlings, with only a week's organized practice behind them, played the Big Green to a standstill the first 2 periods, but lack of practice showed up the rest of the game. The Hebron scores came well into the third quarter by off-tackle plays which proved the cub's Waterloo.

The better team-play of the experienced Hebron eleven was a deciding factor in determining the final score. Bates guards, Mardossa and Long, did fine work as did the tackles White and Phillips. These four together with Knox, Mantelli, Charneuse and Brown should do much toward making a successful season.

The fleet Mantelli completed several passes and walked all over his opponents' backs before he could be downed. Plucky E. Murphy showed his grit when he came back after being knocked out by a knee in the head. The valiant White was up against the big 200 pound tackle Osgood, but kept up the Bates' spirit all the same. Gorbam at center snapped the ball back with a whiz. Secor and Flaherty showed promise in the backfield.

With more experience and practice the team should easily carry out Finn's prediction that in time the cubs will grow into Bobcats in the full sense of the word.

weak defense against an aerial attack led directly to the Aggies' one touch-down. Only experience can iron out these weaknesses. It is of course disappointing for the Garnet to lose its first two games but the season is far from finished and there is still ample opportunity for success. In spite of the defeat the team showed an improvement over a week ago. The eleven is still in a formative stage and there will be probably a few changes in the lineup before the Bobcat faces the unbeaten Jumbo at Garelton field next Saturday. Defeat is now past history and the boys will be sent out to lick Tufts. Are we down-hearted? No! Then let the Bobcat scream! The Jumbo had better look to its hide next Saturday for our Bobcat has nine lives.

he established a new record when he tossed the spear 182 feet 9 inches. His next important victory was at the eastern sectional Olympic tryouts in New York where he beat Creth Hines, the intercollegiate champion in 1927 and 1928, by a throw of 209 feet 6 3/4 inches. This was the best mark ever made in the metropolitan district. At the Harvard Stadium he finished first in the trials and third in the finals which gained him a place on the Olympic team. At Amsterdam he gained eighth place being the first of the American javelin throwers. He is now head coach of athletics at Sanford High where he has been joined by Elliott Small of the class of 1928 as assistant coach.

A great ovation greeted Sager when Pres. Gray called him from the audience. Whether the occasion was unexpected or not, he rose to it admirably and gave a brief, interesting talk on his Olympic experiences. He said that he was very much impressed by the ceremonies that were carried on at the games to emulate the old customs. His parting remarks, in which he asserted his pride in claiming Bates as his alma mater, brought a burst of applause from his hearers which lasted several minutes.

Evidently this Bates "grad" will not be satisfied until he wears the Olympic crown because at the close of the remarks he said that he was looking forward to the 1932 games at Los Angeles with impatience and expectation. All Bates men and women will be behind him in his next athletic attempts.
