Three Students Attend Wellesley Conference

After being away from Wellesley College for a year the New England Institute of International Relations is returning there from June 20-29. Under the auspices of American Friends Service Committee, the theme of the Institute this year will be "The Price of an Enduring Peace". The purpose, primarily, of the Institute is "to provide a critical study of the necessary steps involved in building an enduring peace".

There are definite courses of study planned on Asia, Europe, Russia, Latin America. Then again, the Institute will have the general problems of race, economics, faith organized into a study course. The mornings will be occupied with lectures on the subjects mentioned, afternoons with recreations and round tables, and evenings again with lectures. The faculty leading these round tables and lectures will include Max Habicht, Sergio Bagu, Martin Hall, Nicholai P. Vakar, Haridas T. Nusumdar and others, all of whom are experts in their

"Sea Spray" Formal Brings Mermaids

With already well over half the tickets sold for the Ivy Hop and only two more days in which to act, any one interested in attending had better see the ticket committee right away.

Great things have been planned for this last formal of the year and the Juniors intend to make it especially memorable by adding a mermaid here and there to the decorations of Chase Hall. They are also dragging in tennis nets with which to "catch the fish".

There will be dancing from eight to twelve to the music of Lenny Lizotte's Orchestra. The tickets are $2.75, government tax included.

Saturday Night Dance Closes Successful Year

The Chase Hall Committee had planned an outdoor dance for last Saturday night, but due to cold weather, it was decided to hold it in Chase Hall. There were several novelty dances-the entertainment was furnished by the Semaphore Team of the Navy. The boys put on an excellent performance, displaying a great deal of skill in the use of signal flags.

Tuesday, May 30, Open House was held. There was dancing upstairs. while the ping-pong room, pool tables, and bowling alleys were available downstairs. The lounge was also open. There was an interesting variety of things going on.

The above dance was the last Saturday night dance of the year, and many congratulations and thanks go to Mrs. Kimball and her committee for having planned some of the best dances the campus has ever had.

Intellectual Independence . . .

The sharpest curbs to independent thinking are the chains of prejudice and tradition. Particularly in dealing with problems of human relationships like government, politics, and economics, we easily slip into deep worn ruts of traditional thought.

Those initiated included Geraldine Weed '46, Christine Stillman '44, Shirley Stone '45, and Donald Richter V-12. Faculty members present were

It is only natural that as people grow older it becomes progressively easier for most to follow these familiar paths. Young people in general should have an advantage in thinking with greater objectivity on basic social and religious questions since they haven't had as much time to get used to particular patterns of thought. It is, however, far easier for a young person to follow along in a rut than to think for himself. It is the most difficult task in the world to really think. At first they perhaps fear an inability to separate the sound and good from out of the new, and are not willing to exercise their latent powers of reason to dispel that fear. As a result, instead of doing their own thinking they accept a prejudice and stick doggedly to it, defending it with emotion, not reason.

If one declares an independence from tradition and prejudice, then he must deserve that intellectual freedom by deliberately and constantly focusing his knowledge and judgment on the question at hand. An independence from tradition does not mean an indiscriminate acceptance of anything that's new and radical simply because it is new and radical. That would be as unbalanced as reading a paper like P.M. to the exclusion of the New York Times or Christian Science Monitor. It would be as easy as substituting tradition for real thinking.

There are those who now sidestep independent thinking because it is hard work, and those who have sidestepped it in the past and now condemn it as being radical and unreliable. New ideas and ideals, those in the main that concern social problems, are not killed by mature thought. Prejudice kills independent, objective reasoning. Ideals don't break down under the force of reason. They are discouraged by those who failed to apply them. The voice of experience is too often warped by failure.

Independent thought is discouraged by an unreasoning fear of what is new. Emerson in his "Journals" listed among the superstititions of his time the fear of radicalism and democracy. Many of us today are still at the superstition stage in our thinking on social invention. If an older person is too liberal, too independent a thinker, he is tagged with labels ranging from crackpot to communist. If a young person fails to slip into an accepted rut, it is attributed with a paternalistic pat on the head to immaturity.

It is easy to mistake tradition and prejudice for mature, independent thought.

CLUB NOTES

Spofford

A meeting of the Spofford Club will be held this week under the direction of President Dorothy Petrie '44. Dorothy Babcock '45 will speak on the Modern Dance. At the last meeting, the members of the club read in part the play "The Man Who Came To Dinner".

Jordan-Ramsdell Scientific

Tuesday evening a meeting was held of the Jordan-Ramsdell Scientific, to vote in new members. Retiring president, Gene Woodcock '44, is soon to be inducted into the armed services as is Guy Turcotte '47. Norman Morin '46 and Paul LaFlamme '46 are soon to leave for medical school.

Delta Sigma Rho

Wednesday at 7:00 the Debate Room was the scene of the initiation of new members to the national debating fraternity, Delta Sigma Rho. Those initiated included Geraldine Weed '46, Christine Stillman '44, Shirley Stone '45, and Donald Richter V-12. Faculty members present were Harry Rowe, Professor Carroll, and Professor Quimby. Donald Richter accepted the initiation for the new members, after which the key and certificate were presented to all. A meeting of all followed.

Politics

Politics Club held its last meeting of the year last night when those who would be interested in belonging to the organization next year gathered in order to elect officers from a slate of candidates selected by a committee appointed at the last meeting. This nominating committee consisted of Geraldine Weed, Billy Greenberg, Frances Wheeler, Electra Zazopoulos, and Myrtle Holden.

Guest Speaker was Mrs. Ossip Flechtheim who told of her personal experiences in Central Europe.

Shirley Stone Leaves For Six Weeks' Study In Mexico

Miss Shirley Stone '45, one of the six winners of the national discussion contest sponsored by the Office of the Co-ordinator of Inter-American Affairs, will leave Bates June 10 for a six-week study course at the University of Mexico in Mexico City. Her course of study will be centered around the social sciences, economics, government, with a course on the Spanish language to round it off.

Miss Stone won the regional contest at Fordham University on March 27. In April she went to Washington, D. C., to participate in a speaking round of all six regional winners. At Washington Miss Stone was a guest at the White House where she met Mrs. Roosevelt and Vice-President Wallace. Her speech was delivered before members of the sponsoring office and Secretary of State Cordeli Hull in the Hall of the Americas in the Pan-American Building.

Fashion Gurns

With L-85 orders in mind, this yea apparel has been even scantier the those of 1943. Bathing suits have to lowed this trend to perfection. The have decome definitely two-piece fairs. For those who still persist one piece suits, the trend seems to to cut away the entire back and of the neckline into a low V-cut. Sind have been cut out completely, using a lacing in their place. The skirt pairs no longer a skirt, but has assuminstead a glorified diaper effect while with the right tan and a little discution will look extremely well.

Again remembering the mater shortage, sleeves have changed th appearance radically in summ dresses. This summer, as has alrebeen noted, sleeves are just lit "cap" affairs leaving the greater I of the arm exposed to the sun. dress up the sleeves, narrow ruff made from edgings of material being used. Not an inch of mater to waste! Some summer frocks ha completely eliminated the sleeves use instead a halter, or strap eff again baring the anatomy. If it is the women have been craving Le85 has provided the means for th to acquire it heavily and in the hei of style, too.

Necklines are continuing as the have been for a year now to be of out in an oval or round line with little shirring to add a touch of somess and femininity. Skirts, like necklines, still pursue the same trenslim and narrow. Occasionally, may find shirring in the center from the match shirring in the neckling But, primarily, the fashion wor finds itself in the slim skirt cycle, will be, perhaps after the war, flowed by the flare cycle which in the is followed by the bell skirt cycle.

As for the ever-present play so they are found this year in charmi three-piece practicals, a skirt, shor and a bra top. They are made of at thing from rayon in a solid color a a stripe piping, to a cotton flo print. They may be used in the cou try, on the beach and for formal en ning wear. The keynote is anythi that looks neat and saves material o. k.

SPORT SHOTS

That 10-5 win over the Portland fleet gives the baseball team six wins in the last seven games, which is a pretty good pace to be setting. Newt's homerun in Saturday's game was far enough so that he was around third by the time the outfielder had reached the ball; the only other extra base knock on the Bates side of the ledger was a double by Mike Keshka, but our total of 16 hits seems to prove that you don't need extra base hits, if you get enough singles.

One of the really gratifying things of Saturday's meet was the polevault event where Gryska took second with a vault of 11 feet, a full six inches over his usual height; another was to see Cal Dolan, the Colby comet, finally getting into shape and over the results of the sickness that kept him out through the winter season. Perhaps the most surprising occurrence was the failure of the broadjumpers. With jumps from 18 ft. to 18 ft. 10 in, they averaged two feet less than they did in the meet with Northeastern. Al Cole might have done better, as he fell backward on his best jump, and made his last two jumps after running a fast 220.

The wind and weather conditions favored the two dashes somewhat. The rather coolish air, and the resultant difficulty in warming up almost nullified a slight back wind down the back stretch where the two dash events were run, and it was generally a day for those events beyond the

I would like to say for M.I.T. that they are the most gracious hosts I've ever run across in five years of track. Their runners are true sportsmen. and their refreshments after the meet were highly appreciated.

It looks like nothing is going to be done about tennis. At this stage in the season, most minds are turning o term papers and exams than to sports, which is as good a point as any to sign off and get to work.

I guess that man ever complaineth because for weeks I've been grousing about cold weather, and now that I can't get my pants unstuck from my chair or remove my jumper without the aid of a bootjack, I'm still grumbling. (Not gas on the stomach either.)

On last Thursday the trainees all lined up for a big pay session in the cage with the heat indicator set at "Bake". Pay receipts had to be made out, perfect to the most minute detail, forward, fingerprints were taken, receipts were examined and the crisp new lettuce was snappily counted out. Never missing a turn, the collector from the laundry set up shop right at the end of the pay table so that some unfortunate individuals didn't even have time to pay last month's loans before they were in the hole

The Parade Passes: Lt. Martin returned from his leave in New Jersey about ten days ago and Lt. Cass started his immediately afterwards. The C.O. spent part of his time industriously encouraging only the nicer kinds of plant life in his victory garden on Ware Street. As to "where Goodwin goes, nobody knows; perhaps to Lynn to live in sin". - The Sea Spray fray sounds tempting, but at $2.75 the slug it should have been held the very evening of pay-day. In fact it should have been held between the end of the pay line and the laundry collector's table . . . One platoon I'm thinking of has learned that the proper place for certain nasty words is on sidewalks at Hallowe'en and not directed orally at Chief Rutherford. Nine laps around the big track at 0600 in full uniform did the trick ... Two strength tests within eight days were an uncomfortable reality this last week. They say that Monte Moore has been offered a C.P.O. rating any time he wants it since the day he saw a sailor stretched out, painfully moaning, "Sir, I've broken "Well, dammit," barked my leg." Monte, "don't just lie there. Start doing push-ups." Incidentally, three cheers to Bev Campbell, who has broken 80 on the test, and with a game knee too . . . Two gobs leaving the chow hall talking, "Make no misa." said one, "she's a well-reared girl." Replied the other, "Who said anything about her looks anyway?" . Norman Ross was seen nervously talking to Chief Pharmacist's Mate Shepherd. It seems the college may have to replace all candles with 25 watt bulbs. Mumbled one frustrated lad. "The only really well-lighted

Bates Nine Totals Eleven Wins To Date

For the fourth straight game, the baseball team came from hehind to win, as Bates scored seven runs in the sixth inning, Saturday, to defeat the Portland fleet on home grounds. Our record for the season is now eleven wins, and four defeats.

The fleet got off to a fairly early lead as they combined a single and a double in the second inning for their first tally. They added three more in the fourth inning on a home run with two men on base. Through the first five innings, however, the in advance. As the line slowly moved fleet pitcher was giving the Bates men trouble allowing only three scattered hits and striking out seven. In the sixth, a series of singles brought over seven runs to give Bates a lead they never relinquished. To sort of tie up the edges, Newt Pendleton, hit a home run with two men on, to add three more, in the eighth, but as Portland scored only once in the ninth on a pair of singles and an error, the game was already cinched.

Cal Dolan Scores Only Double Win In M.I.T. Meet

As we were being shaded, 99-36, by the powerful New England championship team from M.I.T., Cal Dolan, redheaded sprinter, starred, scoring the only Bates double win for the after-

Dolan scored his first win in the second event as he was credited with a 10 second 100 yard dash, and rounded it out later in the afternoon, by winning the 220 in 22.2 sec. The only other Bates wins were in the weight events where Niegelski took a first in the javelin throw, and Lukins garnered a win in the shot put.

The most exciting events of the afternoon were the two-mile and the 220 yard dash. In the former there was a neck and neck battle right down to the tape, as Watson lost by five feet to the M.I.T. distance man. In the 220 Dolan, Hazel, and Al Cole fought it out with a lone Tech man.

Though the team might have some reason to be a little disappointed that in this, their last meet of the season, they didn't make as good a showing as they might have, there is heartening evidence in the fact that the majority of the performers show-Auf Wiedersehn. ed increased improvement.

Swingin' - -On A Star

Unhitching our dream cloud from a star, we chart our course along a well-traveled moon-beam toward the Little Theatre arriving on Thursday evening, just in time to catch Chet Catler coming in on a well-traveled beam of his own. May we attribute it to quick thinking or just grabbing an opportunity before the second knock. Chet?

In keeping with tradition, plans were drawn up for the annual June Day breakfast to be held on the jagged peaks of Mt. David, with sunbeams spilling into our coffee cups; likewise, in keeping with tradition, nature set these plans awry and we awoke to the gentle patter of spring rain. Result: June Day breakfast was held in the spacious but gloomy Rand Gym. (Anyway, the coffee was good without the sunbeams.)

Admonition to the boys of Company 2, Platoon 1: The Chief has previously been under the illusion that his duties did not include those of a nursemaid, but we have great faith in his versatility and are sure if such profanity had continued in the ranks, he might have been tempted to assume these duties, and offer a paternal knee in hopes of warming his spirit along with the anatomy of certain members in the ranks. However, five extra laps did the trick this time.

Saturday afternoon found the gals' side of campus buzzin' with business. New dormitories having been assigned, we frantically dashed to our prospective houses, and giving a cursory glance to the rooms, we proceded to the reception room to view its disadvantages and to scrutinize its qualifi-

Summer Work Projects Attract Many Students

Summer work projects every year attract a large number of college students. In past years several students from campus have been able to take advantage of these opportunities to work and study in different parts of the country. The Conference Commission of the Christian Association has information on several such projects. Among these are the Lisle Fellowship and the Friends' Summer Service Projects.

The Lisle Fellowship is a community of thirty to fifty students who live and work together for six weeks at Lisle, N. Y. Students of all nationalities and creeds live together, hold discussions and go on deputations to neighboring communities. These deputation teams help people to see that it is possible to break down denominational and racial barriers through their work in a community, their discussions, services, and recreation with the townspeople.

The Friends' Summer Work Projects are similar in function and idea to the Lisle Fellowship. Some take place in southern and western communities and in Mexican villages as well as in the poorer districts of some cities.

Besides these specific groups there are numerous volunteer jobs waiting on farms and in industry where college people can help the manpower shortage and gain firsthand knowledge of working conditions during their summer vacation. Each project offers a splendid opportunity for service and fellowship, an unforgetable experience. Expenses are kept at a minimum, and there is often a scholarship given. Any student interested may contact Virginia Simons or Louise Gibbs.
