Debaters To Participate In Western Tournament

Neil Newman and Marjorie Sanborn receive sea chest of Maine Products from Governor Reed.

Neil Newman '61 and Marjorie Sanborn '61 will fly from Boston on Saturday, November 5 and arrive in Seattle, Washington early Sunday morning, undertaking the longest trip by Bates debaters in a decade. The last big trip of this nature occurred in 1950 when a Bates man won a place on the International Debate Team that traveled to England.

The debaters will participate in a series of exhibition debates with Washington State University, and will take part in the large Columbia Valley Tournament at Pullman, Washington. Their schedule will include the following activities:

Lists Schedule

Nov. 6 — After meeting their hosts at the airport, Miss Sanborn and Newman will bring greetings from Governor Reed of Maine to Gov. Rosellini of Washington at a luncheon meeting. They will present him with a sea chest of Maine products and other items.

Nov. 7-10 — The debaters will debate their way over 1000 miles across the state, giving demonstrations and leading discussions on debating for high school programs and clinics. They will be debating with two debaters from Washington State University.

Nov. 11-12 — Newman and Miss Sanborn will participate in the Columbia Valley Debate Tournament at Pullman, the home of Washington State University. There they will debate on both sides of the national college topic, "Resolved: that the United States should accept a program of compulsory health insurance." Following an afternoon of sightseeing and dinner in Spokane, the debaters will fly from Spokane on Saturday night.

Newman is president of the Bates Debate Council, and Miss Sanborn, secretary. Both are members of the Bates Chapter, Delta Sigma Rho, the leading national forensic organization.

Political Week Begins Today With Rally, Skits, Speeches

By EDWIN T. ZIMNY JR.

Today is the beginning of Political Week on the Bates campus. Sponsored jointly by the Young Republican and Young Democrat clubs, the week will terminate with the actual nationwide Presidential Election on November 8.

Here on campus the activities will consist of a rally tonight between 6:30 and 7:15 p.m. There will be plenty of speeches, debates, skits, music and cheering. Tomorrow at 4 p.m., on the steps of Hathorn, "Soap Box" speeches will be made by professors and students.

Mock Election Highlights

The "mock election" on Friday will highlight the week. The polls, located in Chase Hall, will be open from 10:00 in the morning until 5:00 in the afternoon. All Bates students are eligible to cast a vote and are urged to do so. It is hoped that a complete coverage of the campus will be realized.

The week's events will terminate on Saturday evening at the dance sponsored by John Bertram Hall. At this time, the sponsors of Political Week will announce the results of the mock election to the students present.

Remember the old saying, "As Maine goes, so goes the nation"? Since this phrase no longer exists, will the saying this year be, "As Bates goes, so goes the nation"? Let's wait and see!

Raven Presents Organ Concert, Instrumentalists

Dr. Leonard Raver has planned a concert to be held in the Chapel on Monday, November 7, at 8:00 p.m. He will be assisted by Charles Davis '61, trumpet, William Holt '63, trumpet, Allen Schmierer '63, violin, Nona Long '63, violin, and Carol Long '63, cello.

The program will be full concert length, and it will feature "A Voluntary in C Major for Two Trumpets and Organ" by Henry Purcell and "Three Sonatas for Organ and Strings" by Wolfgang Mozart. The remainder of the program will consist of organ solos by Nicholas Bruhns and Johann Sebastian Bach and will feature three works by contemporary American composers. These works are "The First Suite for Organ" by Ulysses Kay, "The Cantilena" by Gordon Binkerd, and "The Homage to Perotin" by Myron Roberts.

Dr. Raver has particular interest in giving concerts with instrumentalists. He also is very much interested in contemporary music, and so he has included the three contemporary works for organ.

This concert evening is one of several to be presented during the course of the year. All are open to the public free of charge.

Schaeffer Lists Cast Of 'Tartuffe', Players' First Work Of Year

Miss Lavinia M. Schaeffer has announced the cast for Tartuffe, the satire by the French playwright Moliere, which is to be presented in the Little Theatre on the nights of December 8, 9, and 10.

Douglas Rowe '61 will be in the role of Tartuffe. Cast in the other parts were: Judith Mosman '63 as Dorine; Richard Carlson '62 as Cleante; Carol Sisson '61 as Elmire; Carl Nordahl '64 as Orgon; David Kramer '62 as Valire; Brad Butler '61 as Mr. Loyal; Donald Morton '62 as the Officer; Delight Harmon '61 as Mariane; Stephen Goddard '63 as Damis and Gretchen Rauch '61 as Madame Pernelle.

Tartuffe will be the first production of the Robinson Players in the new Little Theatre. "To make opening night festive," said Miss Schaeffer, "it will be semi-formal."

STUDENT Meeting

On Wednesday, November 9, there will be a meeting at 4 p.m. in the P.A. office, Chase Hall, for all students interested in working on The STUDENT.

Kentner Plays Tonight 2nd In Concert Series

On Wednesday, November 2, at 8:15 p.m., the Bates Concert and Lecture Series will present the internationally famous pianist, Louis Kentner, in the Lewiston High School Auditorium.

Louis Kentner's two New York appearances during his first season in the U.S. immediately made him one of the most sought after pianists to visit America in many years. The critics' excitement of discovery was communicated to the nation's top orchestras, and Louis Kentner made two tours of America between his New York engagements as a recitalist and as soloist with the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, the New Orleans Symphony and the Cincinnati Orchestra.

Receives European Acclaim

So great is the demand for this artist that during the 1957-58 concert season Louis Kentner undertook an American tour which carried him to every part of this country and Canada. But he is by no means a newcomer to the higher reaches of the world of professional music. Behind his stunning New York success are years of experience as an established artist of the first-rank in Europe and a musical background and training which have won him critical acclaim in all the major capitals of the world.

The pianist returns to North America this season following a year's absence for concertizing in Europe. Each concert inspired superlatives, and of the pianist's solo appearances, headlines proclaimed that his "brilliance plus musicianship left one gasping," that his "majestic command of the piano" was as thrilling as it had been when he first appeared at Queen's Hall just before World War II.

Dr. Pemberton Lectures As Part Of C.A. Series On 'Image Of Society'

The second program in a series of five lectures on the Image of Society will be held in the Chapel on Sunday, November 6, at 7:30 p.m. with Dr. Prentiss L. Pemberton of Colgate Rochester Divinity School. A discussion and refreshments will follow in the Women's Union.

Dr. Pemberton's topic will be: "Awakening Mankind to the Hazards of Emergent Human Rights" in which he will analyze Western history of the Christian era on the basis of the "rights of man", as they have emerged historically. In light of the implications of these rights, Dr. Pemberton will discuss certain serious challenges now confronting the political, educational and religious forces in this nation, and will propose "next steps" which must be taken, if the United States is to overcome the hazards implicit in the emergence of man's most recent rights.

Line Cutting

Notice To All Men:

The Stu-C has issued a reminder concerning line cutting in the Commons: If line cutting continues there will be serious consequences.

The Stu-C will also like to inform all Senior men that they shall have priority in the supper meal-line until 5:30 p.m. after which they will be expected to wait their turn in line as before. This policy is only on a trial basis, therefore if it is abused the former policy will be renewed.

Faculty Affirms Spring Decision About Vacation

"The Faculty regrets to inform the Student Government and the Student Council that at this time it cannot accept the recommendation submitted to it by the All-Campus Assembly . . . regarding the Thanksgiving recess."

In a statement which opens with the foregoing paragraph and which was released to the Student Government and Student Council last Monday, the faculty wishes it known that "The decision on the revised calendar was originally made only after extended discussion in committee and faculty meetings."

Cites Complex Reasons

The reasons for not changing the vacation are complex. The one-day vacation is necessary in a trimester or quarterly academic year. Such a program may be in effect at Bates sometime in the near future, and while all proposed changes are very much in the formative stages, a definite decision has been made to study new academic schedules.

The faculty is interested in maximum efficient use of time and in breaking the academic year into more logical units. Furthermore, in view of crowded college conditions, the faculty is also concerned with the use of college facilities during the entire year.

Since the many facets of most colleges' academic programs are planned well in advance, no radical changes in schedule can be made at Bates for several years. The Thanksgiving vacation change, then, is an experimental step in a complex study which may lead to a new academic program at Bates.

Dr. Donovan Speaks To Bates Chapel Audience

The guest speaker in Chapel, Friday morning, October 28, was Dr. John Donovan. Dr. Donovan invites a twofold interest to Bates students, as he is a former Bates graduate himself and is the Congressional candidate from this district in the current election.

"Politics ought to be a noble profession," stated Dr. Donovan. He pointed out that the precepts originated in the past by men such as Plato and Aristotle, who were concerned in the governing of small city states, are still considered important in modern societies. "The great challenge of this century," said Donovan, "is to control the powers we have built in the laboratories."

Cites Liberal Arts Education

Dr. Donovan asserted that for a man aspiring to politics a liberal arts education is a necessity. He claimed that men like John Kennedy and Richard Nixon would have to have a background in the liberal arts in order to understand the "motivations that have driven men for two thousand years." Bates College alone has produced a governor, a senator, and a congressman in the past generation.

Freshman Women Sign In As Part Of Honor System

By MARGE ZIMMERMAN

Freshman Installation was held on Sunday night, October 30. The ceremony took place in the Chapel, where the freshman women signed the honor book and were welcomed as members of the honor system at Bates.

At 9:30 the processional began. In it were the officers of and representatives to the Stu-G, and the presidents of the women's dormitories. They were introduced by Gretchen Shorter '61, president of Stu-G, who then addressed the women of the class of '64. She stressed the importance of the honor system and the privilege of having it, and read a short poem pointing out the necessity for honest and responsible people in our society. Following this address, the freshman women walked up in pairs to the front of the Chapel. The honor book was on a table with a tall white candle on each side; as the organ played, the freshmen signed their names.

A welcome was extended to the freshmen by Miss Shorter after which the Alma Mater was sung. A recessional ended the ceremony which was the official termination of five weeks of freshman rules and the beginning of four years as Bates students.

NOTICE

The Chase Hall Dance for this Saturday night will be sponsored by J. B. The title for the dance is "The Sky's the Limit", with gambling as the main theme.

Admission to the dance will be $.90 per couple and the results of the all-campus vote will be announced.

Phillips Stresses Need For U. S. To Expand Private Enterprise

"It is incorrect to assume that government spending is the only way to meet our so-called national needs," said Dr. Charles F. Phillips, President of Bates College and the New England Council, today. Speaking before the Boston Rotary Club, he added that many of these needs can best be met by expanding our private enterprise system.

"It is clear to all of us," said Dr. Phillips, "that government must play an important role in our daily lives. Among other things, we look to it for national defense, for an effective monetary system, to provide public education, to maintain law and order, and to undertake essential public works. The people of this country attach so much importance to these activities that they now contribute over 27 per cent of their national product to the support of government services."

Medical Expense Increases

"However, to assume that further government spending is the only way to meet many of our so-called national needs, an assumption made today by too many people, is not valid. For example, last year our citizens and private institutions spent $19 billion on medical care, and this amount will expand through the years as even more people join various voluntary programs."

The Bates College President also emphasized that billions of dollars are spent each year for private education, and these dollars meet a "national need" as surely as do dollars collected and spent by a government agency. Likewise the $4 billion which goes each year to private charities and religious institutions perform a valuable public service.

Services Continue

"The important point," he concluded, "is that the many public services performed for us through our private economy can

Debibbing Concludes Freshman Haze Day

By JUDITH TRASK '63
"I can't believe it! I feel lost without the thing!"

Much to their amazement, this was the reaction of many freshmen girls after taking off their bibs during the debibbing ceremonies held in the Women's Locker Building last Thursday night, October 27.

Skits Presented, Judged

The girls of the Class of '64 were welcomed to Debibbing by Happy Davis and Bonnie Logie, the sophomore representatives to Stu-G, who led the audience on a trip "Around the World in Eighty Days". Freshmen skits, the feature of the evening, were in keeping with this general hazing theme, with each dorm portraying a different country.

Each of the eleven acts was amusing and well-planned, and it was difficult for the three judges to choose the one which best represented the spirit of Haze Day this year. Brenda Kaplan '61 led everyone in singing while Dean Varney, Miss Walmsley, and Dr. Mazlish decided that, for the third successive year, the freshmen of Page 1 and 2 had presented the best skit.

"Changing The Guard..." Wins

Th winners, who had been assigned the country of England, dramatized A. A. Milne poem, "Changing the Guard at Buckingham Palace." As in most acts ranged from "Tropical Traumas" in Cheney's Hawaii, to Holland and "Three Little Deuchen Pig-gans" by Hacker House, as Happy and Bonnie floated around the world in their imaginary ball-oon.

After a brief talk, Gretchen Shorter '61, the president of Stu-G, introduced the hour for which the freshmen had been waiting — the debibbing ceremony. While everyone stood singing the Alma Mater, the girls slowly untied their bibs and took them for the last time.

Remove Bibs, Cheer Sophomores

There was a minute of silence while the freshmen realized that at last they were free of the "sophomore tyranny" that they had been complaining about for over a month. Then chaos, as bibs flew into the air and the girls searched for their friends and "flunkies".

Suddenly one freshman led her

Our first stop was in London. I was very favorably impressed with this great city, perhaps just because it was solid land, but probably because I realized that it was heart of our heritage, and every landmark should be of significance to us as well as to the English. London is a bustling city with an international flavor, like so many of the large European cities, and the people themselves are subjects of interest.

Visit Holland

From England we crossed the North Sea for a stay in Amsterdam in the land of windmills, wooden shoes, dikes, and canals. Holland fulfilled my every expectation, and it was easy for me to understand how the Dutch artists of the 17th century were inspired to such beautiful landscape painting.

On to Bruges in Belgium, a city reminiscent of medieval times and dominated by quaint old buildings. Our next stops were in Germany, first at Cologne for a look at the famous cathedral; class in three cheers for the surprised and grateful sophomores and, as they poured out into the night, Debibbing was over for the Class of '64.

then at Wiesbaden after a scenic ride down the Rhein, in the rain as were most of our activities during the summer; and finally at Nuremberg, another city with strong medieval and modern contrasts, an aspect typical of cities in Europe.

Hear Tyrolean Band

From Germany we journeyed to Austria for an unforgettable stay in Innsbruck in the heart of the alps. The mountain scenery was breathtaking, and an evening street concert by a native Tyrolean band was only one aspect of the entertainment during our visit there.

Sunny Italy was next on the itinerary and for once we had good luck with the weather. Our headquarters were in Florence where we stayed in a 15th century villa, now used as a student house. Florence is a wonderland for cultch majors with its vast offerings in the field of renaissance art, and for those who like to shop and have the money to do so.

Paris Fulfills Expectations

With a change of direction we headed north for Lausanne, Switzerland located on scenic Lake Geneva. Then to the last stop, Paris. Whereas some places we visited had not quite lived up to my expectations, Paris was more beautiful and more in-

Nixon Points At Goals And Aims Of GOP In '60

(Editor's note: In view of the college students' interest in the forthcoming presidential election, the STUDENT is presenting information of Senator John F. Kennedy and Vice-President Richard M. Nixon which may be of some value to the student. The following statement is from Richard Nixon's Chicago "Dinner with Ike" address.)

Why is America a great nation today? Because we Americans have never lived in the past. We are never content to rest on our laurels. We never like to settle for being second best in anything. Let this be the spirit of our party and our people in this crucial year of 1960.

Cites Record

No administration in our history has more reason to be proud of its record in domestic affairs than we have. But there are exciting challenges in those domestic problems that remain unsolved.

We believe, for example, that over-all the American educational system today is the best in the world. But inadequate classrooms, underpaid teachers, flabby standards are weaknesses we must constantly strive to eliminate, always recognizing in the remedies we recommend that any Federal education program must not infringe upon state and local responsibility for, and control of, our school system.

Seeks Guarantee

The maintenance of military strength adequate to deter aggression, while absolutely essential for our survival, does not by itself meet the responsibilities of world leadership which are ours. We must leave no stone unturned in our efforts to find some more effective guarantee against the terrible destruction of nuclear war than the mere maintenance of a balance of terror.

Courage, as you know, is not always shown by strong actions and brave words. Often it takes the far higher form of moral courage to be silent when talk may be harmful, and it takes both courage and judgment to choose a sound course in contrast to a spectacular course.

Reaffirms Strength

We need constant examination and constructive criticism of our defense posture, pointing up our weaknesses where they exist. But constructive criticism is one thing; making America appear weaker than she is to potential aggressors is another thing. It is time to quit selling America short. We are not a second-rate country with second-rate military strength and second-rate economy. Let's get that straight once and for all!

Ounce Of Precaution

The Faculty's decision not to accept the student recommendation of the All-Campus Assembly is not a surprising one. Seldom, if ever, does the, or any, Faculty reverse itself on a decision. The reason probably being that it can't afford to lose the influence it would lose by backtracking due to mass student appeal. There is no real reason to believe that the Thanksgiving Vacation remained deleted due to the advent of a trimester system. There is no point in believing this simply because there is no reason in removing Thanksgiving Vacation before the trimester system would go into effect.

Plans Released

What has come out of the discussion on the Thanksgiving Vacation seems to be a great deal of thought, by the Faculty, on a trimester system. Evidently more thought was given than had been previously indicated; making it appear that a good deal of thinking had been done about it, ostensibly at any rate, since President Phillips mentioned its possibility in Chapel. The Faculty has released the information of trimester plans to the students, via the Student Council and Student Government, something it does not usually do. Perhaps the All-Campus Assembly on Thanksgiving Vacation convinced the Faculty of the wisdom in consulting the students, to some degree, before making a change of major consequence. If the All-Campus Assembly accomplished this it was a success, and both the Faculty and the students have gained from it.

Politics And Presumption

Just why the Christian Association bulletin board has a display of politically orientated material upon it is somewhat mystifying. The C.A. is, according to the Bates College Bulletin, a group that "... fosters religious interests ...". There is, however, a vast difference between activities of a religious nature and and politicking. The C.A. Cabinet, in a statement of purpose, said: "... [S.A.] activities have one purpose: to introduce the student to the opportunities for meaningful self-expression." It is difficult to see the correlation between self-expression and political material on the bulletin board of this organization that is by its very name religious in nature.

There is also the consideration of membership opinion. The C.A. Cabinet represents over eight hundred people. The assumption by some Cabinet members that they have the right to place such material in a public place under the auspices of the C.A. is faulty. They are presuming upon their members for they are not taking due recognition of the opinion of the majority of the members, which of course are, the students of the College.

DISCUSSION vs. SPIRIT

To the Editor:

I would like to comment on the meeting of the student body which was held last Monday to discuss the Thanksgiving issue. Many of us had hoped that by conducting this meeting in an orderly and serious manner we would show the faculty that the student body is worthy of the respect and responsibility which we desire. We were disappointed at the beginning of the discussion by the haranguing manner in which the suggestions and arguments were presented. Even more immature were the applause and cheers each time the four-day vacation was mentioned. I do not believe that this type of action will have any effect on the faculty decision, whatever it may be.

Cites Speakers

I hope that the mob enthusiasm did not prevent students and faculty from noting the views presented by some students, especially Doug Ayer, Al Schwartz and Sharon Fowler, who are sincerely interested in taking a responsible stand on this and other issues. The large attendance at this meeting does seem to indicate a desire on the part of the students to be concerned about issues which affect them. If this healthy interest and enthusiasm were directed toward a less petty problem, the result might be a spirit of aliveness which is lacking in most aspects of life at Bates. A united student body could work for broader, far-reaching changes than the one discussed last Monday.

Happy Davis '63

REASSESSMENT

To the Editor:

It was rather interesting to read the impassioned plea of Politicus No. 2 in support of the Democratic Presidential candidate and be left with the solid conviction that the facts cited by Messrs. Schmeller and Newman are precisely those which the Democratic Party has tried to conceal from the public. In the fashion of the true politico, however, the authors have claimed everything, conceded nothing, and, if confronted with facts that would refute their position, would surely allege fraud. The purpose of this letter is to reveal certain inconsistencies in their argument.

"Let's look at the record" as the authors so boldly assert. Criticism is directed toward the stand that the Vice-President has taken in regard to civil rights. They seem to feel that "moderation in regard to civil rights is the equivalent to no action at all."

Civil Rights Examined

The Democratic Party, that last bastion of hope for the oppressed and persecuted against the ruthless "vested interest," has enjoyed a majority in both houses of Congress since 1954. The crucial question of civil rights came to a head in 1957 when Congress passed a Civil Rights Bill. Again in 1960, Congress passed still another bill to safeguard the "inalienable rights" of a person to vote without fear, to speak freely, and to attend schools of his own choice.

When one "looks at the record," however, one sees that the traditionally Democratic South has paid little or no attention to such cherished rights. Instead one sees increasing violence and intimidation directed toward the Negro. How does one reconcile this record of "separate but equal, mob riot, and lynching with the Democratic Presidential candidate's stand on civil rights? Does Mr. Kennedy speak for a united front or does he "approach the problem in the politically expedient manner" alleged to be the method of the Vice-President? The answer seems obvious.

Ponders Statement

The authors further point out that what is needed is "the same principled, moral leadership of an FDR." That Roosevelt was a great President is beyond dispute. It is worth noting, however, that FDR was regarded as a "dictator" in many quarters, and not just by Republicans alone. Furthermore, it was Roosevelt who attempted to violate our cherished tripartite form of government with his "court packing" plan in 1937. It was the same Roosevelt who so affectionately dubbed the ruthless Stalin the nickname of "Uncle Joe."

Shall we allow ourselves to be taken in by the demagogic pleas of Mr. Kennedy and his Democratic Party? Their "pie-in-the-sky" platforms are an insult to any thinking American.

After ten weeks of adventure and unforgettable experiences, we found ourselves once again tossing on the Atlantic, and finally arrived back in New York, better late than never, this time after an eventful crossing thanks to Hurricane Donna and several other interventions of nature.

Plan Tufts Debate

On Saturday, November 5 another Bates team will journey to Tufts, accompanied by Mr. Warye of the Speech Department. Keith Bowden '64 and Thomas Hall '64 will represent the Affirmative and Robert Boyd '64 and Norman Bowie '64, the Negative, of the national college topic at this novice tournament.

Goldat Joins Faculty As Cultch Professor

By LINDA CORKUM '64

A new cultural heritage professor, Dr. George Goldat, has come to Bates after many years of study and preparation in the field of science. Born in Manhattan, N. Y., Professor Goldat carried out undergraduate study at C.C.N.Y. for his B.S. degree. During this time he also studied Greek and Astronomy at Columbia University, where he received his Master's Degree in 1952 in the History of Science. In 1957 Professor Goldat was the first person ever to receive a Ph.D. in his field from the University of Wisconsin.

Co-Authors Cancer Report

From 1954-56, Professor Goldat worked as a research assistant in a project sponsored by the National Cancer Institute of the National Health Institute. He was co-author of a report made on the historical treatment of cancer from ancient times to the present.

Previous to his arrival at Bates to teach Cultural Heritage, Professor Goldat was an instructor and lecturer of national science, and a tutor of the history of science at Harvard University.

Writes Book, Studies Art

The present project on the professor's agenda, aside from teaching, is the completion of a book on the history of science. He hopes to have it completed and published by the early part of this coming year.

When his book is completed, Professor Goldat's principle aim is to continue research on the development of various themes regarding the concept of space, both in the realm of art and the scientific frame. The medieval art looks very flat, and Professor Goldat would like to find a basis to explain this. Were there principles of art that guided the medieval artist, or did people see things differently than we see them? This is one of the questions he will strive to answer.

Has Many Interests

The professor's research interests are the history of exact science, and the philosophy of science. Other interests are ice skating, dancing, fishing, and horseback riding.

The professor's family consists of his wife, Charlotte, two sons, and a daughter. Mrs. Goldat is a trained psychiatric social worker.

Professor Goldat said: "I like a small college where the faculty and the students get to know each other."

Bobcats Frustrated By Bowdoin 6-0

Fumbles Cost Bates The Game, Despite Planchon's Punt Returns

By SKIP MARDEN

ON THE FORTHCOMING Saturday, in State Series action, the Bates Bobcats will entertain the Colby Mule, and, in the annual clash between the Bears, Bowdoin plays host to Maine. All of which leads to a discussion on mascots. Every school has its spirit personified in some form of animal, bird, or folk hero. Oregon has its Duck, Oklahoma travels under the name of the Sooners, Columbia is represented by its Lions, and Saint Lawrence is known as the Larries. The four Maine schools have their mascots — one Bobcat, two Bears, and a single Mule.

Those who chose the various representatives for the latter quartet of archrivals have made their selections with a varying degree of tact and intelligence. The Bobcat, the local favorite, fits the image of the Bates athletic teams — small, powerful, and particularly vicious when cornered (or considered an underdog). Anyone who has followed the fortunes of Bates in sports should be in accord that the Bobcat is a proper animal to represent this school.

THE BOWDOIN Polar Bear is also a representative mascot — an animal with a relatively small head (and a red nose) that probably does not hibernate. Anyone who has visited the Brunswick campus on a Saturday evening will be in agreement with the previous statement. The other bear — The Maine Black Bear — also projects a certain image. How many millions have visited in person or by picture Yellowstone National Park and seen that big, slow-moving and thinking scavenger?

The epitome of mascot selection was reached when Colby selected its White Mule. In the first place, the mule is a hybrid (which is a proper name for a synonymous seven letter vulgarity referring to mixed parentage) of a jackass and a mare. Colloquially used to refer to a stubborn, obstinate, bigoted person, a mule is really nothing more than a large ass — a patient, slow, dull, stupid quadruped. If the horse-shoe fits . . .

SO ON SATURDAY, the student body should turn out with some degree of tolerance (the football team may be excused from exercising such courtesy) to welcome the Colby mascot and student body without any reference to its unusual parentage. After all, no one likes to be called a hybrid or a synonymous seven-letter vulgarity to his face.

Next week, the Bates football season will be over, and the Sports Staff has scheduled a review of the season for those interested. Those who are not will find the extensive advertising coverage on these pages particularly refreshing.

On Saturday, the Bobcats lost to a lucky Bowdoin team 6-0 before a near capacity Homecoming crowd. It was a frustrating game all the way with the 'Cats fumbling five times deep in Polar Bear territory, and having a T.D. called back by a costly 15 yd. penalty.

Bucklin Pass Tallies

The first period of play was dominated by the Hatchmen as they forced the "Blue Bloods" to their first two of ten punts. At the start of the second period the frustration began as Bates fumbled with Bowdoin recovering on the 37. Three plays later Dexter Bucklin rolled out and fired a perfect strike to sophomore flash John Milo, who sped into the end zone for the only score of the game. Jack Cummings' hurried kick was wide, making the score 6-0.

The rest of the game was a scene of complete frustration for both the players and the fans. The Polar Bears were never able to advance the ball beyond their own 40 for the rest of the game.

A holding penalty cost the 'Cats the equalizer as Bill Davis sped through a gaping hole into the end zone. This miscue came after a brilliant 66 yd. runback of a Gardner punt by Paul Planchon who carried the ball to the Bowdoin 28. Swiftly Hathaway passed to Paul Castolene for a first down on the 17. Following a Hathaway-Davis pass to the 11, Planchon then recovered his own fumble on the eight from where Davis dashed over.

Another Fumble

Shortly after, Castolene recovered a Bowdoin fumble on the Polar Bear 27. John Curtiss carried to the 24 and Planchon picked up a first down on the 7. On the next play Bates fumbled and a Polar Bear covered the loose ball.

The Bowdoin offense failed to click and once again they were forced to punt. Planchon picked up the ball on the Bates 28, faked a handoff to Davis on a criss-cross and was nearly away again but was halted on the 14.

Still Another!!

Curtiss fumbled on the ensuing play and guard Jim Cunningham recovered on the 10, thus halting another Garnet drive.

The Cats opened the final period by picking up a first down on the Bowdoin 17. Two running plays went to the 12, but delay of the game penalty pushed it back five yards. Davis' roll out run was not enough for the first down.

Being held on downs, Gardner's kick was wobbly and went out of bounds on the Bowdoin 34. The Garnetmen were on the move once again as Davis rolled out for six and Curtiss bulled his way for a first down. Dennis Tourse and Davis combined to bring the ball to the 15, but another delay call put the ball back on the 20. Here the 'Cats fumbled again and the Bowdoin center fell on it, ending still another Bates threat.

Bates Drive Stalls

Near the end of the final period, the fighting Bates gridsters were on the move again as they took a Bowdoin kick and moved to the midfield strip. A fourth down gamble paid off as Curtiss hit Bill Lersch for a first down on the 40. An attempted pass from Hathaway to Planchon was almost good but just fell out of reach of the diving freshman.

Garnet Harriers Defeat Bowdoin For Second Win

In the final cross-country meet for the Bates harriers this year, Coach Slovenski's charges ended the season on a pleasant note as they downed the visiting Bowdoin club 18-39, as Larry Boston led the pack with a winning time of 21:37.8.

Bates Finish 1-2-3

Boston was followed by Eric Silverberg who negotiated the course in 21:46 and another teammate Bill Dunham who took third in 21:50. The first Bowdoin finisher was Captain Mark Youmans who took fourth in 22:08 followed closely by Dewitt Randall of Bates in fifth, Chuck Shea of Bowdoin in sixth, and Ed Belden of Bates in seventh to permit the Garnet harriers to capture five of the first seven places.

Other finishers for Bates were Ed Margulies (10), Pete Schuyler (11), Jack Wilson (12), Tim Thomas (14), Ken Snow (15), Pete Rae (16), and Steve Ullian (17).

Booters Downed 3-1 In Homecoming Game

The Bates soccermen were downed by Bowdoin 3-1 on homecoming morning in a well played thriller. The Polar Bears jumped out front midway in the second period when the right wing, John Sack, put a dribbler across the goal mouth, and Tom Barr footed into the cords to give them a lead they never relinquished.

Nute Tally Nullified

The Brunswick flock added the winning margin as "Beaver" Strong tallied their second marker in the opening minutes of the second half. The aggressive Garnet front line knocked at the goal door frequently but managed to only dent the ropes once, late in the final stanza. Bobcat inside right Lee Nute took a Dave Kramer cross outside the penalty zone, broke behind the Bowdoin fullbacks and flicked it in. The play was nullified, however, because of a use of the hands violation in trapping the cross from right wing.

With less than eight minutes remaining, the Garnet's honorary game captain, John Adams, passed the leather out to wing Kramer, who centered the pill and burly left wing, Jim Nye, cut across and smacked it in.

The Bears added the icing a few moments later when the Bowdoin left halfback lofted an indirect kick from the touch line, and 'Cat goalie Scott Brown lost sight of it in the sun and deflected the ball in.

Last Wednesday the Colby White Mules shelled the 'Cat booters 8-2 on their home field. Brad Garcelon pounded in a first quarter penalty kick for Bates, marking the first Bobcat tally against Colby in the last four games against them. Colby captain Steve Chase, playing center forward and right wing, stole the show as he pounded five "one pointers" into the Lewiston crew's goal. Miklos Harmati added the second Garnet score late in the fourth period. Harmati, the Hungarian-born sophomore is currently the leading Bates scorer with three goals.

In recent soccer action on Garcelon Field, Steve Barron stretches for the ball as a Bowdoin defensive back moves in to cover the play. Bowdoin won the game 3-1.

THE GRADUATION of nine seniors will leave the Bobcats with a large re-building job.

9 Seniors End Grid Careers Saturday

By JIM HALL

The Bates College football squad boasts of nine seniors on this year's team, nine boys who will be playing the last game of their college careers against Colby. The STUDENT salutes Captain Dick Ellis, John Belmont, Jim Keenan, Brad Greene, Dick Jeffers, Dick Gurney, Dick Watkins, Dave Engstrom and Manager Jerry Badger for their many accomplishments for the Garnet and Gold over the past four years.

Despite the fact that this year's Bates team is mainly a youthful one, the seniors have done much toward making this season the most successful one since the State Championship team of 1957.

The younger and less experienced members of the team have depended on the seniors for team leadership and personal help when needed. A well balanced team needs experience as well as youth and Bates has had this experience thanks to Messrs. Ellis, Belmont and company.

Dick Ellis, Captain

To point out a good example of this experience and team leadership would be to point to Dick Ellis. Having played four years of varsity ball, including the year Bates won its last State title, he is well qualified to captain the Bobcats this season. He has been a mainstay in the Bates line at tackle, performing well on both offense and defense. Many a time has a Bates runner silently thanked the balding captain for the hole that was there. Dick Ellis will be hard to replace next year.

John Belmont

Bates will also lose its other tackle this year when John Belmont graduates. John is also in his fourth year of varsity ball and also played on the State Championship team in 1956 as a freshman.

Jim Keenan

Jim Keenan has been one of Coach Hatch's top replacements at halfback. When it comes to open field running the slippery speedster is at his best as he has often demonstrated to Bates fans. He has done very well from halfback and even better at his specialty, returning punts and kickoffs.

Brad Greene

Brad Greene has been plagued by bad luck for the past few years. He has been sidelined most of this season with an injury but a healthy Greene would give Bates greater depth in the line, without sacrificing talent. Brad's weight, 169 pounds, does not really make him heavy enough for the line, therefore he had to be extra tough to make up for his weight deficit.

Dick Jeffers

Dick Jeffers, from Swampscott, Mass., has been another top fight guard for Bates. Dick is the oldest member of the team at 24. Whether starting or coming in from the bench, Dick has and is playing a lot of football for Coach Hatch's teams.

Dick Gurney

Dick Gurney, from Burlington, Mass., is one of the Bobcats' top ends. He has started much of this season, and although not a top pass catcher, does a good job on blocking assignments and performs well defensively.

Dick Watkins

Dick Watkins, a tackle, from Amesbury, Mass., is not a starter, and yet Dick has been of great help to Coach Hatch and Bates this year. It takes a week of hard work to prepare for each football game and Dick is always in there giving it his best. It takes a lot of spirit to take the knocks without the rewards that many of the other players get. Much credit to Dick Watkins.

Bob Engstrom

Bob Engstrom, from Upper Montclair, New Jersey, is another tackle who hasn't seen much action this year for the Bobcats. He was unable to play last season, and so this year he also has devoted himself to helping the team in anyway he can.

Jerry Badger

Last, but surely not least, is the manager, Jerry Badger. A manager is kept constantly busy doing all the odd jobs that must be done and Jerry has done his duties well over the past four years, giving up much of his time to the team.
