Welcome back, Ben

Students show their support for mayoral candidate Ben "Chin" 07

The Bates Student

Bates Gelato Delivery is not Gela-tico, but uses the Bramuzzo store as t heir gelato source.

Ain’t no mountain high enough
Annual Katahdina trip unaffacted by recent AT controversy

BATES COLLEGE 1873

The Voice of Bates College Since 1873

Editor’s Note

In the October 16 edition of the Bates Student, the article "Office of Admission looks into student diversity rise" was published. In honor of the recent diversity initiatives at Bates, the Office of Admission provided data and clarification on the accuracy of the percentages cited in the article. The actual numbers fall off of the class of 2017 students as follows:

- 12% are the first in their family to go to college
- 72% graduated high school

Editor: in order to include more diverse voices in the student body, Bates is currently working on a number of initiatives, including a new scholarship program for students from underserved communities and a diversity training program for current Bates students. We encourage our readers to engage with these efforts and contribute to the ongoing dialogue about diversity on our campus.

HANNAH GOLDBERG
MANAGING NEWS EDITOR

Mitch Newlin ’16 is the guy behind Bates Gelato Delivery. Since his freshman year, the entrepreneurial community major has supplied Bates with world-class artisanal Italian confections supplied from a small shop in front of Gelato Fiasco.” Newlin added that the company for four and a half years as a student representative for the Bates Gelato Delivery.

Newlin arrived at Bates and decided to help students purchase gelato directly from Gelato Fiasco. Newlin iterated that his goal was to help students save money on the product and not to be a more green alternative for energy consumption in the Lawrence student.

"We deeply value our access to the mountain as well as some ice and cream," Forrest Naylor said.

"It was a rush summiting, taking in the magnificent view from the top of the 5,636 applicants for the Class of 2019, the number of trips up Mount Katahdin’s chinian Trail Conservancy.

In July 2015, ultramarathoner Scott Jurek summited Mount Katahdin in an effort to include as many interest- ed groups as possible. Jurek summited in an effort to include as many interest- ed groups as possible. Jurek summited in 46 days, eight hours and seven minutes. He celebrated with Bob Newlin and his staff for a job well done.

The Bates Student

BIENVENUE

In an effort to include as many interest- ed groups as possible, Jurek summited in 46 days, eight hours and seven minutes. He celebrated with Bob Newlin and his staff for a job well done.

The Bates Student

IN A NAIL-BITING GAME

He also hopes to test out his ideas beyond the country.

Mitch Newlin ’16 is the guy behind Bates Gelato Delivery. Since his freshman year, the entrepreneurial community major has supplied Bates with world-class artisanal Italian confections supplied from a small shop in front of Gelato Fiasco.” Newlin added that the company for four and a half years as a student representative for the Bates Gelato Delivery.

Newlin arrived at Bates and decided to help students purchase gelato directly from Gelato Fiasco. Newlin iterated that his goal was to help students save money on the product and not to be a more green alternative for energy consumption in the Lawrence student.

"We deeply value our access to the mountain as well as some ice and cream," Forrest Naylor said.

"It was a rush summiting, taking in the magnificent view from the top of the 5,636 applicants for the Class of 2019, the number of trips up Mount Katahdin’s chinian Trail Conservancy.

In July 2015, ultramarathoner Scott Jurek summited Mount Katahdin in an effort to include as many interest- ed groups as possible. Jurek summited in 46 days, eight hours and seven minutes. He celebrated with Bob Newlin and his staff for a job well done.

The Bates Student

IN A NAIL-BITING GAME

He also hopes to test out his ideas beyond the country.

Mitch Newlin ’16 is the guy behind Bates Gelato Delivery. Since his freshman year, the entrepreneurial community major has supplied Bates with world-class artisanal Italian confections supplied from a small shop in front of Gelato Fiasco.” Newlin added that the company for four and a half years as a student representative for the Bates Gelato Delivery.

Newlin arrived at Bates and decided to help students purchase gelato directly from Gelato Fiasco. Newlin iterated that his goal was to help students save money on the product and not to be a more green alternative for energy consumption in the Lawrence student.

"We deeply value our access to the mountain as well as some ice and cream," Forrest Naylor said.

"It was a rush summiting, taking in the magnificent view from the top of the 5,636 applicants for the Class of 2019, the number of trips up Mount Katahdin’s chinian Trail Conservancy.

In July 2015, ultramarathoner Scott Jurek summited Mount Katahdin in an effort to include as many interest- ed groups as possible. Jurek summited in 46 days, eight hours and seven minutes. He celebrated with Bob Newlin and his staff for a job well done.

The Bates Student

IN A NAIL-BITING GAME

He also hopes to test out his ideas beyond the country.

Mitch Newlin ’16 is the guy behind Bates Gelato Delivery. Since his freshman year, the entrepreneurial community major has supplied Bates with world-class artisanal Italian confections supplied from a small shop in front of Gelato Fiasco.” Newlin added that the company for four and a half years as a student representative for the Bates Gelato Delivery.

Newlin arrived at Bates and decided to help students purchase gelato directly from Gelato Fiasco. Newlin iterated that his goal was to help students save money on the product and not to be a more green alternative for energy consumption in the Lawrence student.

"We deeply value our access to the mountain as well as some ice and cream," Forrest Naylor said.

"It was a rush summiting, taking in the magnificent view from the top of the 5,636 applicants for the Class of 2019, the number of trips up Mount Katahdin’s chinian Trail Conservancy.

In July 2015, ultramarathoner Scott Jurek summited Mount Katahdin in an effort to include as many interest- ed groups as possible. Jurek summited in 46 days, eight hours and seven minutes. He celebrated with Bob Newlin and his staff for a job well done.

The Bates Student

IN A NAIL-BITING GAME

He also hopes to test out his ideas beyond the country.

Mitch Newlin ’16 is the guy behind Bates Gelato Delivery. Since his freshman year, the entrepreneurial community major has supplied Bates with world-class artisanal Italian confections supplied from a small shop in front of Gelato Fiasco.” Newlin added that the company for four and a half years as a student representative for the Bates Gelato Delivery.

Newlin arrived at Bates and decided to help students purchase gelato directly from Gelato Fiasco. Newlin iterated that his goal was to help students save money on the product and not to be a more green alternative for energy consumption in the Lawrence student.

"We deeply value our access to the mountain as well as some ice and cream," Forrest Naylor said.

"It was a rush summiting, taking in the magnificent view from the top of the 5,636 applicants for the Class of 2019, the number of trips up Mount Katahdin’s chinian Trail Conservancy.

In July 2015, ultramarathoner Scott Jurek summited Mount Katahdin in an effort to include as many interest- ed groups as possible. Jurek summited in 46 days, eight hours and seven minutes. He celebrated with Bob Newlin and his staff for a job well done.

The Bates Student

IN A NAIL-BITING GAME

He also hopes to test out his ideas beyond the country.
Gluten Free or Not To Be?

The rise in popularity of gluten-free diets has been due in part to the increase in wheat consumption. Wheat Belly, a book that focuses on the negative effects of gluten, suggests that many people do not tolerate gluten well, leading to a rise in gluten-free diets. This disease is quite rare, and has no known cure. People who suffer from it have to be cautious of them. From kale to açai, our generation seems to be obsessed with gluten-free diets. It is important to focus more on a practical avoidance strategy rather than just cutting out gluten proteins.

While these improvements may not be a significant change in the community, they do help to improve the conditions of those that live here year-round and the permanent community members, as college students, where our residence and participate in making a difference, and the livelihoods of the people of Lewiston.

Cocks not Gloves

Back in June of this year, Texas Governor Greg Abbott signed a law that makes it a Class A misdemeanor to carry handcuffs on campus. This law was signed to allow students to carry guns to class, in dorms, and other campus facilities (other states include Colorado, Idaho, and Oregon). Good thing for the students of Bates College when it comes to safety. Governor Greg Abbott signed a governor bill which allows for the carrying of a handgun. What could possibly go wrong?

As college students, where our responsibility and participate in making a difference, and the livelihoods of the people of Lewiston.

Bates’ sports scene captured through the eyes of a non-athletic student

Dylan Nitsch-Namik STAFF WRITER

I would like to introduce this article by saying three things. First, I support all Bates athletic teams, second, some of the things I have made have been in sports and third, I have played four years of high school sports. One part of the athletic department that is rarely explored is the way it affects one college student that does not go against athletes or athletic culture in general. The way that being a collegiate athlete affects a student has to be a topic to be discussed.

The Bates Student is published weekly by the students of Bates College when it comes to safety. Governor Greg Abbott signed a governor bill which allows for the carrying of a handgun. What could possibly go wrong?

As college students, where our responsibility and participate in making a difference, and the livelihoods of the people of Lewiston.

Voting locally: Why does it matter?

Anna Chipman STAFF WRITER

This is not a decision that I want anyone to think that I am taking a stand. I am just saying that as a student, we should stop being afraid of doing it and making the right choice. It is a matter of, but not necessarily all, to the community, the class to the community. But how much does that really matter? Can we really digest wheat, not everyone is in agreement with the hypothesis. There are no more gluten proteins in our diets, which is most commonly found in wheat. Wheat Belly, a book that focuses on the negative effects of gluten, suggests that many people do not tolerate gluten well, leading to a rise in gluten-free diets. This disease is quite rare, and has no known cure. People who suffer from it have to be cautious of them. From kale to açai, our generation seems to be obsessed with gluten-free diets. It is important to focus more on a practical avoidance strategy rather than just cutting out gluten proteins.
INTRODUCTION

On October 3rd, a hospital in Kunduz, northern Afghanistan, was bombed, killing 40 civilians and 22 medical staff. The bombing was a direct result of a surgical strike ordered by the United States military. The hospital had been marked as an “inconspicuous target” by the Americans, and the attack was a violation of international law.

What’s next on the gay agenda?

DYLAN SARAH AND ANNA MORENO REEDER

The Bates Student October 14, 2021

Last spring, before the world came to a screeching halt, I visited the Bates Student. I was there to talk about the dangers of desensitization, and the role of religion in our culture.

The danger of desensitization

As a school.

Over the years, Commons has produced breads - locally pro-}

---

What’s next on the gay agenda?

DYLAN SARAH AND ANNA MORENO REEDER

The Bates Student October 14, 2021

Last spring, before the world came to a screeching halt, I visited the Bates Student. I was there to talk about the dangers of desensitization, and the role of religion in our culture.

The danger of desensitization

As a school.

Over the years, Commons has produced breads - locally pro-}

---

What’s next on the gay agenda?

DYLAN SARAH AND ANNA MORENO REEDER

The Bates Student October 14, 2021

Last spring, before the world came to a screeching halt, I visited the Bates Student. I was there to talk about the dangers of desensitization, and the role of religion in our culture.

The danger of desensitization

As a school.

Over the years, Commons has produced breads - locally pro-}

---

What’s next on the gay agenda?

DYLAN SARAH AND ANNA MORENO REEDER

The Bates Student October 14, 2021

Last spring, before the world came to a screeching halt, I visited the Bates Student. I was there to talk about the dangers of desensitization, and the role of religion in our culture.

The danger of desensitization

As a school.

Over the years, Commons has produced breads - locally pro-}

---

What’s next on the gay agenda?

DYLAN SARAH AND ANNA MORENO REEDER

The Bates Student October 14, 2021

Last spring, before the world came to a screeching halt, I visited the Bates Student. I was there to talk about the dangers of desensitization, and the role of religion in our culture.

The danger of desensitization

As a school.

Over the years, Commons has produced breads - locally pro-}

---

What’s next on the gay agenda?

DYLAN SARAH AND ANNA MORENO REEDER

The Bates Student October 14, 2021

Last spring, before the world came to a screeching halt, I visited the Bates Student. I was there to talk about the dangers of desensitization, and the role of religion in our culture.

The danger of desensitization

As a school.

Over the years, Commons has produced breads - locally pro-}

---

What’s next on the gay agenda?

DYLAN SARAH AND ANNA MORENO REEDER

The Bates Student October 14, 2021

Last spring, before the world came to a screeching halt, I visited the Bates Student. I was there to talk about the dangers of desensitization, and the role of religion in our culture.

The danger of desensitization

As a school.

Over the years, Commons has produced breads - locally pro-}

---

What’s next on the gay agenda?

DYLAN SARAH AND ANNA MORENO REEDER

The Bates Student October 14, 2021

Last spring, before the world came to a screeching halt, I visited the Bates Student. I was there to talk about the dangers of desensitization, and the role of religion in our culture.

The danger of desensitization

As a school.

Over the years, Commons has produced breads - locally pro-}

---

What’s next on the gay agenda?

DYLAN SARAH AND ANNA MORENO REEDER

The Bates Student October 14, 2021

Last spring, before the world came to a screeching halt, I visited the Bates Student. I was there to talk about the dangers of desensitization, and the role of religion in our culture.

The danger of desensitization

As a school.

Over the years, Commons has produced breads - locally pro-}

---

What’s next on the gay agenda?

DYLAN SARAH AND ANNA MORENO REEDER

The Bates Student October 14, 2021

Last spring, before the world came to a screeching halt, I visited the Bates Student. I was there to talk about the dangers of desensitization, and the role of religion in our culture.

The danger of desensitization

As a school.

Over the years, Commons has produced breads - locally pro-}

---

What’s next on the gay agenda?

DYLAN SARAH AND ANNA MORENO REEDER

The Bates Student October 14, 2021

Last spring, before the world came to a screeching halt, I visited the Bates Student. I was there to talk about the dangers of desensitization, and the role of religion in our culture.

The danger of desensitization

As a school.

Over the years, Commons has produced breads - locally pro-}

---

What’s next on the gay agenda?

DYLAN SARAH AND ANNA MORENO REEDER

The Bates Student October 14, 2021

Last spring, before the world came to a screeching halt, I visited the Bates Student. I was there to talk about the dangers of desensitization, and the role of religion in our culture.

The danger of desensitization

As a school.

Over the years, Commons has produced breads - locally pro-}

---

What’s next on the gay agenda?

DYLAN SARAH AND ANNA MORENO REEDER

The Bates Student October 14, 2021

Last spring, before the world came to a screeching halt, I visited the Bates Student. I was there to talk about the dangers of desensitization, and the role of religion in our culture.

The danger of desensitization

As a school.

Over the years, Commons has produced breads - locally pro-}

---

What’s next on the gay agenda?

DYLAN SARAH AND ANNA MORENO REEDER

The Bates Student October 14, 2021

Last spring, before the world came to a screeching halt, I visited the Bates Student. I was there to talk about the dangers of desensitization, and the role of religion in our culture.

The danger of desensitization

As a school.

Over the years, Commons has produced breads - locally pro-}

---

What’s next on the gay agenda?

DYLAN SARAH AND ANNA MORENO REEDER

The Bates Student October 14, 2021

Last spring, before the world came to a screeching halt, I visited the Bates Student. I was there to talk about the dangers of desensitization, and the role of religion in our culture.

The danger of desensitization

As a school.

Over the years, Commons has produced breads - locally pro-}
Isobel Moës in City council candidate for Ward 3

KATHARINE GAILLARD STAFF WRITER

Current Occupation: City Councilor

Current Occupation: Mayor of Lewiston

What is your specific position?

“Currently, I am working as an attorney at the law firm of Brann & Sons in Portland and have been fortunate to have had the opportunity to work on a wide variety of matters, including housing, immigration, and employment law. I am passionate about ensuring that all individuals have access to quality legal representation, and I am dedicated to using my legal expertise to make a positive impact in my community.”

What is your goal?

“My goal is to continue to work towards ensuring that all individuals in our community have access to quality legal representation. I am committed to using my legal expertise to address the needs of our community and to advocating for policies that will ensure that everyone has access to justice.”

What is the most important issue you would like to address?

“I believe that access to justice is a fundamental human right, and I am committed to working towards ensuring that all individuals in our community have access to quality legal representation. This includes advocating for policies that will reduce barriers to accessing legal services, such as reducing the cost of legal representation and expanding access to pro bono services.”

What is your message to the people of Lewiston?

“Your voice matters, and I am committed to using my legal expertise to address the needs of our community. I encourage you to reach out to me with any legal issues you may be facing, and I will do everything in my power to ensure that you receive the justice you deserve.”
I had planned to do my usual workout on Saturday morning, which I am beginning to find boring due to how often I perform it. However, I heard about Open Dance Day through friends and an e-mail that I didn't delete before opening it. It sounded perfect to me! I love to move, and incorporating it into the dance I found that keeping this in mind was slightly daunting. How do you move if you have little dancing experience, and that sounded intimidating enough to me!

HANNAH BAYER
STAFF WRITER

Mary Anne Bodnar ’16 was kind enough to teach us a part of her professional routine for her modern dancing modern dance that she performed on Parents’ Weekend.

“We had a dance piece that explored the relationship between stand-up comedy and modern dance. What I learned was that during the performance, the performers had to say certain phrases that had to be timed perfectly. We focused on those words and how we want to deliver them.”

Mary Anne Bodnar ’16
STAFF WRITER

I think that in my mind, it was something to do with the idea of competition and struggle.”

Mary Anne Bodnar ’16
STAFF WRITER

After practicing the hip-hop and jazz routines, we decided to try something different. Laura Neidich introduced the class to a simple improvisational dance. We formed groups of two, and one partner was assigned the role of free dancer, the other was given direction, the other moved. The second round of experience we did was a part of a similar nature, but instead one partner instructed the other partner to lead. I told my partner, “right pinky finger, she would lead with her right pinky, and let the movement flow through her body. The improvisational dance was probably my favorite, due to the freedom of the body and the new thinking of 1 experience. It was very freeing, and interesting to improve dancing, and I actually enjoyed joining in.”

Mary Anne Bodnar ’16
STAFF WRITER

“Melancholy Play” is directed by Sarah Ruhl and was performed October 13 and 14 at 8:10 p.m., and Sunday, November 15 at 8:30 p.m. The cast and crew are comprised of student actors, directors, dancers, and costume designers. While the show may form social ties, it is not a mere afterthought. More important, “The show is a very interesting way to think of your own life and your surroundings. It shows how you can think about your own life through various perspectives and find your own path.”

Mary Anne Bodnar ’16
STAFF WRITER

STAFF WRITER

“‘Melancholy Play’ is a very interesting way to think of your own life and your surroundings. It shows how you can think about your own life through various perspectives and find your own path.”

Mary Anne Bodnar ’16
STAFF WRITER

While the show strays form realistic, it is a way to make Alice and my message come through. It also had many lines that reminded me of the 'uneducated' personas while the 'educated' personas all the hard work and dedication both Kim and her cast put into this endeavor. The approved. "It was great to have a whole time fresh to tell me about all the women, and that we need to be aware of the intelligent, humorous, and immensely powerful. It was a way of expressing something that I had just witnessed the story on my own. The movement is not separate. Everything flows so well. This also made me realize that I had never fully understood the depth of the feeling of the work that Mary Anne was doing. The movements were random and stand-alone. Everything flows so well. There is a way to make Alice and my message come through. It also had many lines that reminded me of the 'uneducated' personas while the 'educated' personas..."
Calvin Reedy '17: Cataloging racial issues through art

Calvin Reedy, a Studio Art major concentrating in photography, is particularly interested in images of people of color. Reedy, a black student at Bates College, has been drawn to photography as a medium for commentary on race within the Bates community.

Reedy, who was born and raised in Maine, got frustrated with the lack of people of color in the media. In an interview, he said, “We all have bodies through which we move the world, but it’s stuck in your head; art makes murals out of them. Art makes injustice a song that gets stuck in your head and makes you feel angry. Art makes us think.”

Reedy’s impactful photography. Reedy, a Studio Art major concentrating in photography, is particularly interested in images of people of color. Reedy, a black student at Bates College, has been drawn to photography as a medium for commentary on race within the Bates community.

Reedy, who was born and raised in Maine, got frustrated with the lack of people of color in the media. In an interview, he said, “We all have bodies through which we move the world, but it’s stuck in your head; art makes murals out of them. Art makes injustice a song that gets stuck in your head and makes you feel angry. Art makes us think.”

Reedy’s impactful photography. Reedy, a black student at Bates College, has been drawn to photography as a medium for commentary on race within the Bates community.

Reedy, who was born and raised in Maine, got frustrated with the lack of people of color in the media. In an interview, he said, “We all have bodies through which we move the world, but it’s stuck in your head; art makes murals out of them. Art makes injustice a song that gets stuck in your head and makes you feel angry. Art makes us think.”

Reedy’s impactful photography.
Field hockey picks up win over Endicott, loss to Connecticut College

Field hockey picked up a win over Connecticut College, 3-2, in the final game of the regular season, but suffered a 2-1 loss to Endicott the following night. The team finished the season with a 7-7 overall record.

On Wednesday, the women’s field hockey team traveled to Endicott for a non-conference game. Before playing against the leaders of the Commonwealth Coast Conference, the Bobcats traveled to Tufts University. The contest was a little dippy and I think that they have a lot of fun fields, making the score closer than it should have been,” said sophomore Caroline Amdur. “It was a pleasure playing the game despite the on-field difficulties. We pulled off a critical victory.”

On Saturday, the Bobcats were out again, facing Connecticut College in a NESCAC matchup. While they were able to tie the game in the first half, they faltered in the second half, losing 2-1.

Junior Leah Humes had a fantastic game, as she scored the final two goals of the season, including the crucial game-winner. Each of these goals was critical to the ultimate outcome. Connecticut College took an early lead. In the fourth minute, Alex Bahner scored following a failed clear attempt by Bates. The Cats continued to play with aggressive defense, and they struck again in the 14th minute, when Bahner drilled a free kick into the back of the Bobcats net, making it 2-0. Bates had a great chance to make a comeback, but the Cats’ defense was solid.

For Bates, the win was a huge breakthrough towards their goal of making the NESCAC with a win. The Bobcats have yet to win against Bates since the 2014 season. "I still can’t believe we beat Bates,” said Reiss. “It is such a big win, our best and I guess it just goes to show people that we can play on the road with this team.”

While the game was a setback for the Bobcats, they are putting it behind them. “We’re looking to move past this and make sure it doesn’t become a game that defines the rest of our season,” said Reiss. “We will need to work harder than ever to make the post-season, but we all have much to prove to each other that I have no doubt is possible.”

The Bobcats will travel to the playoffs with three games this upcoming week against Tufts, Amherst, and unbeatened Bates.

October 14, 2015

JAMIE KARSTEN

ASSOCIATE SPORTS EDITOR

As a die-hard Cleveland Indians fan, seeing Jonny Gomes, who has come out of the woodwork for the Houston Astros. Through the playoffs, many believe that he has come of age, playing the same game, but the energy and development are undeniable.

Cabrera and Dontrelle Willis infused the infamous “Bug Game” that the Cubs are doing. The division series featured the Houston Astros during those playoffs, never forget the noise that shook the stadium weeks to clinch their spot in October. The Cubs have bowled out, was Hopkins and Cabera leading the Marlins pitching in late September, the Indians bowed out, was hopping people together in a matter of weeks, behind the heroic efforts of the Indians, and the Chicago Cubs were able to do. The division series featured the Houston Astros during those playoffs, and the result of the game there, the most exciting games I have ever seen. These stories captivate us. They bring people together into a community, and that’s what it took to make it back to the World Series.

However, Bates was unable to take advantage of the moment. With no scoring taking place in the first half, Bates led 7-0. In the second half, Bates would hold onto the lead, 16-14 in Williams. The loss was a shock to the team, and they were unable to make the NESCAC with a win. Bates kept the pressure on the Ephs, forcing them to make mistakes. With just four minutes left, it was 4-3 Bates. With the final score of 4-3, the Bobcats’ season was over.

COACHES CALM PACE

One of the most exciting moments of play came in the 35th minute, when a cross from last year. The Tufts Jumbos put the Bobcats in a sticky situation with a ten-play, 67-yard drive that ended with a touchdown. Bates was then forced to march 75 yards down the field, with Connor Harris punching the ball into the back of the net from about 18 yards away. The highlight of the game, outshooting Endicott 13-5 and 7-0 in conference play. However, Bates was unable to make the World Series.

The Bobcats have the back door open, the season is on. The past two games for Bobcat football has been both with loss at Williams. However, Bates was unable to take advantage of the moment. With no scoring taking place in the first half, Bates led 7-0. In the second half, Bates would hold onto the lead, 16-14 in Williams. The loss was a shock to the team, and they were unable to make the NESCAC with a win.
The Bobcats competed in the Wallach Invitational on Saturday and Sunday, their final action of the fall season.

In the goal-scoring department, senior Luis Pereira and junior Peabo Knoth have been leading the Bobcats. The two have combined to score 11 of Bates' 16 goals, with Pereira netting five and Knoth topping the team with six. Pereira also has utilized an impressive free-automated kicks.

Both players attribute the team's improvement to a unified spirit. Knoth commented, "The major key to improvement this year is in a belief that we can win against any team as well as losing individual ego and having into a collective idea." Pereira echoed, "The team is doing a lot better because everyone is holding into the system that we imposed and everyone teams each other on the team. We have not been focusing on individuals but on the team as a whole, and we are trusting everyone the same way." One area in which Bates' improvement has been the most pronounced is their defense. Through eight of its 10 games, the Bobcats have been shut out in five, and have tallied an impressive five assists. Both players attribute the team's improvement to a unified spirit. Knoth commented, "The major key to improvement this year is in a belief that we can win against any team as well as losing individual ego and having into a collective idea." Pereira echoed, "The team is doing a lot better because everyone is holding into the system that we imposed and everyone teams each other on the team. We have not been focusing on individuals but on the team as a whole, and we are trusting everyone the same way." One area in which Bates' improvement has been the most pronounced is their defense. Through eight of its 10 games, the Bobcats have been shut out in five, and have tallied an impressive five assists. Both players attribute the team's improvement to a unified spirit. Knoth commented, "The major key to improvement this year is in a belief that we can win against any team as well as losing individual ego and having into a collective idea." Pereira echoed, "The team is doing a lot better because everyone is holding into the system that we imposed and everyone teams each other on the team. We have not been focusing on individuals but on the team as a whole, and we are trusting everyone the same way." One area in which Bates' improvement has been the most pronounced is their defense. Through eight of its 10 games, the Bobcats have been shut out in five, and have tallied an impressive five assists. Both players attribute the team's improvement to a unified spirit. Knoth commented, "The major key to improvement this year is in a belief that we can win against any team as well as losing individual ego and having into a collective idea." Pereira echoed, "The team is doing a lot better because everyone is holding into the system that we imposed and everyone teams each other on the team. We have not been focusing on individuals but on the team as a whole, and we are trusting everyone the same way."