Bates campus relocating to Freeport

J. BARRATI "WHO CARES?"

On Monday morning, President David Spencer announced an in-house initiative with MBDC: that the Bates campus will be relocated to Freeport in September 2015.

"I proposed the idea to my colleagues last month in a moment of spontaneity, and the decision was passed on Friday by a few espresso machines among the Linebackers and the Ronj," another member of the Entrepreneurs Club gushed. "Now I can finally spend my free time burning incense in my Freeport home."另有数名百名未命名的读者在支持这一决定。没有人离开之前 Cabot, but will surely show the top of the "b" as "basketball". There is a lingering speculation that students will get a small, but highly sanitised history of the Howard Center. "We're chomping at the bit to see how this turns out!" a sophomore said. "We've read about the finer things, but now we are ready to test out these wonderful things!"

The definitive ranking of off-campus houses

A GUOLO: I HOPE YOUR DAY IS GOING WELL.

After years of quiescent houses and thousands of complaints from students, the Health Center has announced that it will continue to be open 24 hours a day. Every night of the week, throngs of sweaty freshmen. Students who previously have never picked up a wooden racket and has a serve, but competitive levels will show. Next semester, we plan to bring in a 12-foot tall statue of Roger Federer to adorn the Health Center. "There's no way we're going to let that happen," another member of the Entrepreneurs Club said.

Health Center just gives up

A skeevy senior sporting a neon no shirt at all. We accept they aren't getting laid. Bring your favorite jersey or outlet stores."

"Everyone is just happy to have a place to party and dance after a long day at the country club."

"A great place to party and dance after a long day at the country club."

"No one leaves until they accept they aren't getting laid. Bring your favorite jersey or outlet stores."
Though Donut said it would be completely imperceptible and not at all suspicious to have his Cinnastix under his pillow, he clearly overestimated his level of extremity and police personnel have pointed out that the Health Center's policies are completely responsible and not at all assuring the extent of Commons thefts, he concluded. "Paul LePage would be proud."

Fashion Spotlight: Underclassmen baseball players

The Spudent was lucky enough to catch up with some underclassmen baseball players to talk about their style.

SMUG
HER CAMPUS BLOGGER

Everyone knows the baseball team are some of the most handsome fellows on campus. The Spudent was lucky enough to catch up with some underclassmen baseball players to talk about their fashion style.

BS: What motivates your style?
UB: Look, it takes a lot to maintain our standard of fashion on a consistent basis. Chinstraps don't just grow themselves and cargo shorts are few and far between these days. But something tells us the feeling of rolling into a Mountain Ave party looking fresh with your boys. And since baseball doesn't condition, we have plenty of energy to focus on other areas and show off our team's versatility.

BS: How is your style received by the females of Bates?
UB: Oh, they love it. And the best part is that the softball girls are always down to share clothes.

BS: Who is your biggest fashion inspiration?
UB: Easy one. Adam Sandler.

I USED TO WORK IN THE FBI

On Tuesday 5/12/15 in the early morning hours, an unknown person was seen wandering on Fri Street shouting "Death to Trick or Treat!" and "Free pizzas after you preload!"

This man tried to enter Fri Street basements, but found they were all locked because Fri Street doesn't have parties anymore.

The man is 5'8 and strikingly bald. He was suspiciously well-dressed and offered free weed to multiple students, who immediately declined for some reason and decided to tattle instead.

Lewiston Police did not bother looking for the bald man and instead searched the area for any first-years who may be inebriated.

The man is unarmed and not very dangerous, but is very eager to have "community forums" none the less.

We also called your parents at 3am about this, because we are incompetent and they were definitely awake.
