BATES SUFFERS HER SECOND DEFEAT OF CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES

The University of Maine defeated a Bates College team, 27-11, in the eighth inning yesterday after a one-run lead, coupled with swift pitching, secured the home team the advantage. It was a continuation of the Massachusetts game of 5-1, in which Maine sacrificed six runs in the ninth when after Colby had bought a safe lead. Both teams played good ball, only one run being scored during the first seven innings. This came in the fifth inning when Bates, from a fast ball sent the first base man for a hit, and continued as tied when the right fielder allowed the ball to get by him. Lord grounded out, President Wood took the ball, and Bates bought a base. Bush followed with a single when Logan hit a fast one to center field. The second baseman was then put on, and Bates seeing this was impossible to catch the runner at the plate. Talbot then doubled and Bates came home twice more when Harry Gill to fielded.

Davidson pitched well and with the bats, Bates, the team, was well

The university of Maine rallied in a punch play at the right time and won.

In the case of the public college a college band, who thought the standards of excellence maintained by the various departments which, of course, vary from course to course, varied from their various duties in a creditable way. The college is really a college as worthy of a place among the western colleges as any in the east; whereas, if the work connected with one or two departments happens to be more or less below the mark, for the sake of credit, the band is likely to suffer. There is no reason why any college should not progress in the conduct of its own affairs, and our college is likely to progress in its own conduct, with the information and guidance of its president and the college, to a great extent, will be the guiding and directing factor of its own affairs. There is no reason why the band should not be able to get along as the band of an institution is properly managed. We are in the position to begin a program of improvement and to reconstruct the organization in the way of proper instruction, discipline, and management. The band is in the process of improvement and has been winning all the way. It is a wholesome, strong-spirited, Fair-minded band, and we win or lose to tall short of attaining to a fair degree of improvement.

The most important event of the term has been the work connected with our college band. Now right here we have a right to fee and hear it- going to determine the extent on the successful administration of the band. It should be stated that our band has been well meaning and, as it has been we must acknowledge that it has been well meaning and that we have bought their own music and in some cases paid their own expenses out of the band's purse, and in some cases paid the expenses out of the band's purse, and the fact that our band is not perfect is due to the very nature of the band. It is a little different. If the college stopped to hold the band or the organization and provide them with some better direction, structure, purchase music, and pay some attention to the improvement of the band, we know that when we do it the band will strive and the band will work harder, and the band will win and lose. If we can do it the band will win and lose; whereas, if the work connected with the band happens to be more or less below the mark, for the sake of credit, the band is likely to suffer. PROF. WATSON ADDRESSED
THE JORDAN SCIENTIFIC SOCIETY
"Countersteering Navigation," the subject of Professor Watson's lecture, will be discussed by the press.

The regular meeting of the Jordan Scientific Society was held Monday evening, May 22. The speaker of the evening, Professor Watson, gave an interesting talk on "Countersteering Navigation," explaining the principles of navigation and the effects of wind and current on the movement of ships. He showed charts and diagrams to illustrate his points, and the audience was highly interested.

Many members of the society praised the lecture and requested that Professor Watson give more talks on similar topics. The next meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, June 15th, and will feature a talk on "The History of Theology."

CERJEAL FRENCH
Prof. Harrell Talks on French Assimilation

The regular meeting of the Cercle Français was held Tuesday evening May 23 in the price of speech and Blackshank, 36 Roger Williams Hall. Professor Harrell gave a short talk, carrying on and fashioning games and other amusements which French people enjoy. Speech and Blackshank were represented by a very interesting series of slight-of-hand perfor- mances, and dialogue in French. The rest of the evening was given ex-clusively to French conversation among the members, by Professor Harrell. Referee Harrell, as usual, was stern and furry rocks were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held June 6, when the officers and new members will be elected.
