WHAT'S WONG WITH THE STUDENT

What is the matter with the Bates Student? May we not with some reason complain of its absence? For a week or two last term we could hardly start a column without saying, "You know that the Student is not coming out. Our apologies."

But now we see The Student more regularly than formerly; yet we are not satisfied, for this is not the Student we knew. When we look at the Student we do not see a college newspaper, but what has been the case, the Student is a student newspaper.

But, what is still more remarkable, the Student does not represent the college. That is to say, it does not represent the good students who are prepared to take part in the work of the undergraduate body.

For one thing the Student is not a true college newspaper. Formerly, when it was a true college newspaper, it represented the students. It represented the students according to their opinions, according to their interests, according to their wishes, according to their desires.

But now it is not a true college newspaper. It represents the students according to the opinions of the student editors. It represents the students according to the views of the student editors, according to their interests, according to their wishes, according to their desires.

The Student is not a true college newspaper. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the students. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student body. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student opinion. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student interest. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student wish. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student desire.

Thus, the Student is not a true college newspaper. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the students. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student body. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student opinion. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student interest. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student wish. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student desire.

Thus, the Student is not a true college newspaper. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the students. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student body. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student opinion. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student interest. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student wish. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student desire.

Thus, the Student is not a true college newspaper. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the students. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student body. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student opinion. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student interest. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student wish. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student desire.

Thus, the Student is not a true college newspaper. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the students. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student body. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student opinion. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student interest. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student wish. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student desire.

Thus, the Student is not a true college newspaper. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the students. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student body. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student opinion. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student interest. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student wish. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student desire.

Thus, the Student is not a true college newspaper. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the students. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student body. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student opinion. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student interest. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student wish. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student desire.

Thus, the Student is not a true college newspaper. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the students. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student body. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student opinion. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student interest. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student wish. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student desire.

Thus, the Student is not a true college newspaper. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the students. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student body. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student opinion. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student interest. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student wish. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student desire.

Thus, the Student is not a true college newspaper. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the students. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student body. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student opinion. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student interest. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student wish. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student desire.

Thus, the Student is not a true college newspaper. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the students. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student body. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student opinion. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student interest. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student wish. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student desire.

Thus, the Student is not a true college newspaper. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the students. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student body. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student opinion. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student interest. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student wish. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student desire.

Thus, the Student is not a true college newspaper. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the students. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student body. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student opinion. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student interest. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student wish. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student desire.

Thus, the Student is not a true college newspaper. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the students. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student body. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student opinion. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student interest. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student wish. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student desire.

Thus, the Student is not a true college newspaper. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the students. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student body. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student opinion. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student interest. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student wish. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student desire.

Thus, the Student is not a true college newspaper. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the students. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student body. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student opinion. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student interest. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student wish. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student desire.

Thus, the Student is not a true college newspaper. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the students. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student body. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student opinion. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student interest. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student wish. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student desire.

Thus, the Student is not a true college newspaper. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the students. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student body. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student opinion. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student interest. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student wish. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student desire.

Thus, the Student is not a true college newspaper. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the students. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student body. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student opinion. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student interest. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student wish. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student desire.

Thus, the Student is not a true college newspaper. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the students. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student body. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student opinion. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student interest. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student wish. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student desire.

Thus, the Student is not a true college newspaper. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the students. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student body. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student opinion. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student interest. It is not a true college newspaper because it does not represent the student wish.
