CENTENNIAL OF THE BIRTH OF PRESIDENT CHENEY
OBSERVED AT BATES VESPER SERVICE

MEMORY OF THE FOUNDER OF THE COLLEGE HONORED IN SIMPLE EXERCISES AT PEMBERTON HALL

Address and Reminiscences of His Life
Given by Rev. R. F. Johnstone
Chairman of the Centennial Committee

The 100th anniversary of the birth of Orren Burbank Cheney, founder of Bates College and its president until 1905, will be observed at the annual Vesper services in the church college. Dr. Jordan, in his introductory passage of President Cheney and concerning the ideals and the purposes of the exercises, the address was given by Rev. R. F. Johnstone of the Taliban of Auburn, followed by reminiscences of Dr. Cheney’s life by Prof. Jordan. Rev. A. T. Halley gave the prayer and the benediction. The church choir then sang.

After the reading of the fourth chapter of St. Mark by Prof. Jordan and appropriate music, Rev. R. F. Johnstone of the class of 1879, spoke on “The Ascending Ideals of Life.” His chapter was the last of the series of testimonial passages of President Cheney and it was held to be a fitting conclusion. He said that these lessons leave the beginnings, or fundamentals, of the teaching of the founder. All, it is to be hoped, have been impressed with the conception of personal integrity. In the present day, it is not much talked about, but there is no lack of it in the life of those who are in command of the affairs of the University. This is the gentler road to success. This honor is the high road to success. Therefore, the man who conceives the perfect life, who has the heart and the courage to begin the work, will make every effort to have it played out to the letter and will be a man of the first order.

THE COLLEGE HONORED IN SIMPLE EXERCISES AT PEMBERTON HALL

The party ended with a few words of appreciation and kind remarks. The speakers were Miss Marion Lewis, Auburn; Miss Mildred Cleaves, Cheney House; Miss Mildred Milliken, Auburn; Miss Marion Lewis, Milliken; Miss Okie, Hanover, and the speaker, and her lively illustrations of the practical value of oratory were most interesting. Following this music and speech was an informal discussion of the subject by a number of girls. The whole spirit of the meeting may be summed up in the word: “It’s easy enough to be pleasant. When life goes along like a song, but the man worth while is the man with a smile.”

“THE WORLD IS SO FULL OF A NUMBER OF KINGS”

“I am sure we should all be happy.”

This quotation was the subject of the W. C. A. meeting held December 7th, under the inauguration of Miss Margaret Dickey. Special music was furnished by group of girls from the Glee Club.

If the men are not well and sound and into condition properly, he will hold a trial before Christmas in order to reduce the relay squad to a better working body. Cunning and Kennedy are two other veterans that Captain Lawrence will have to make with himself the beginnings of a foot team. It is expected that material in the shape of promising candidates will appear to advantage, while several freshmen are expected at the intercollegiate.

The Rain Bird_goalie girls withdrew to Fiske from whose tow the girls were already assembled about a large birthday cake, covered with lighted candles, for the electrocution of Miss Margaret Dickey by Boston, over whom Miss Ruth Lewis scored, who is a fine athlete and protects the interests of the various denominations, and of the body politic on the ice.

The speakers were Miss Mary Charlesworth, Ashmead; Miss Martha Jonskov, Religious Hall; Miss Marion Fug, Auburn; Miss Marian Lewis, Milliken; Miss C. E. Milliken, Whittier House; Miss Alice Lawry read a short message from School Committee, and Miss Mooney, in behalf of all the young ladies, declared the Season of skating in full with a set of sectional boxes.

The party ended with a few words of response from the Dean, to whom the whole affair came as a great surprise.

RECOGNITION OF HOCKEY
DECIDED UPON BY FACULTY COMMITTEE ON ATHLETICS

INTERCOLLEGIATE CONTESTS WILL BE STAGED BY HOCKEY ASSOCIATION
First Game With Bowdoin Saturday, Confidently Permitted

The first intercollegiate hockey game will be played on Lake Andrews at 2:30 Saturday, the weather permitting. Manager Harold Stillman has arranged this game with the Bowdoin team and will make every effort to have it played at the scheduled time. Everyone who has contributed twenty live cents to the hockey fund has been entered in the list of the intercollegiate games, either now scheduled, or pending under the care of Manager Stillman. All others will be expected to pay the sum of twenty five cents for each subsequent interest council. A simple mathematical calculation will demonstrate the advisability of being interested in this organization, especially when it is noted that games are to be arranged throughout the year.

The sport will be continued with Bob McFarland has come into his own, and that Bates will really have a good, a fine, a hockey schedule next season, has been well played forward with the result that the game will not be a hardship to the men, and the team has begun to practice. Through the energy of Pollak and the willingness of Mr. Andrews to assist in any plan that the faculty feels is necessary, money was raised for the team and the band were acquired. It was not until the Thanksgiving vacation and has been most valiantly guarded. From the ranks of Vinegar, Trotter, Gllls, Vandalia and others that trained up from the village as fine men, this team has been much improved.

This, in brief, is the history of the game. The principle of the game was that a man could not have too much of a smile. When life goes along like a song, but the man worth while is the man with a smile.”

A WORD IN PASSING

For some time, it has been urged that there should be a term more exact, from the time the Batesian is graduated and enters upon his career as a student on a college campus, it has been the custom of editorial boards to fill in this period and most certainly the college itself should be aware that the needs of students at this age are disturbed by current events and the college should be aware of the needs.

A venturesome attempt to meet these needs is being made by the Batesian Magazine, which in the summer of 1917, reluctantly pass on the task of giving us in a monthly literary supplement to the regular college newspaper.

The magazine will be directed by a committee of nine members, appointed by the faculty, and will be printed at the expense of the magazine.

The magazine will be devoted to the following:

1. Literature: The magazine will be devoted to the best American and English literature, and will endeavor to bring the student up to date in the reading of the best American and English literature.

2. Art: The magazine will be devoted to the best American and English art, and will endeavor to bring the student up to date in the reading of the best American and English art.

3. Science: The magazine will be devoted to the best American and English science, and will endeavor to bring the student up to date in the reading of the best American and English science.

4. History: The magazine will be devoted to the best American and English history, and will endeavor to bring the student up to date in the reading of the best American and English history.

5. Economics: The magazine will be devoted to the best American and English economics, and will endeavor to bring the student up to date in the reading of the best American and English economics.

6. Mathematics: The magazine will be devoted to the best American and English mathematics, and will endeavor to bring the student up to date in the reading of the best American and English mathematics.

7. Natural History: The magazine will be devoted to the best American and English natural history, and will endeavor to bring the student up to date in the reading of the best American and English natural history.

8. Comparative Literature: The magazine will be devoted to the best American and English comparative literature, and will endeavor to bring the student up to date in the reading of the best American and English comparative literature.

9. Journalism: The magazine will be devoted to the best American and English journalism, and will endeavor to bring the student up to date in the reading of the best American and English journalism.

The magazine will be published monthly, and will be available to all members of the faculty and students.

The magazine will be published by the Batesian Magazine, and will be printed at the expense of the magazine.

Our record must stand in the proper place and most certainly the college should be aware of the needs of students at this age.

Eulogy's Among Children's Party a Great Success

"Bette and Buster Brown invite you all to their kiddy party in the gymnasium

Saturday night," read the attractive, positive poster that some of the little girls who responded to the invitation and appeared at the appointed time.

One would scarcely have realized the dignified red rug, for there were children of all ages and sizes. There were little girls with curls, chubby cheeks, girl's in blue suits and huge hats, and big girls with pigtails. Little boys, too, were present—scarcely out of dresses and others respondent in kickershoes.

As soon as the children arrived they were greeted by Betty and Buster, im-

Students sing in the band of the hayseed and cowbucker, which has been prominent at Bates. For some time the offerings have been so unexpected that the students and the Sophomores have realized there is some kind of a show going on. There are several reasons for this. First of all, the men in the band have been

So different the last few years, that the public has come to look for something new. Secondly, the band has added so many new and original numbers that the band has become a regular feature of the social life of the college. And last, but not least, the band has always been a source of amusement and relaxation for the students who have had the privilege of attending its concerts.

The band consists of about forty men, with varying ability and interest in music. The personnel of the band includes a number of musicians who are able to play several instruments, and a number of others who are only interested in playing for the fun of it.

The band rehearses several times a week, and its concerts are held every other Friday evening. The concerts are open to the public, and the admission is usually about five dollars. The band's repertoire includes a wide variety of music, including classical works, rhythms, and popular songs.

The band also performs at various college

events, such as football games, commencement exercises, and other social gatherings. The band's goal is to entertain and provide a source of enjoyment for the audience.

The band's conductors are chosen by the students, and they are responsible for the overall direction and coordination of the performance. The conductors work closely with the musicians to ensure that the music is played appropriately and to the satisfaction of the audience.

The band's success is due to the dedication and hard work of the individual members, as well as the cooperation and coordination among the conductors and musicians.

The band's repertoire includes a wide range of music, from classical and symphonic works to popular and contemporary pieces. The band's performances are always well received by the audience, and the band's presence adds a unique and enjoyable element

to the college community.

SPOFFORD CLUB

The Tuesday evening meeting of the Spofford Club was devoted to the reading of a strikingly original and gripping story, entitled "Dead Poets," by Mr. Frank O. Kennedy. The theme, the struggle and the victory of the captain of a yacht, but outslewed football team. The skillful use of details, the realistic description of the crucial game, and above all the peculiar situation, combined to make an unusually interesting story.

The program at the meeting of a week ago consisted of an Indian narrative by Mr. Norton and a war story by Mr. Leathers.
