10-25-1917

The Bates Student - volume 45 number 20 - October 25, 1917

Bates College
MAINE SUCCEWS TO BATES IN FIRST INTERCOLLEGIATE BATTLE

"SOLDIER" 300 EATS THROUGH AND BLOCKS POINTS

BEHIND MAINE'S GOLDEN PERIOD

Boys Turn Unfriendly Offensive Power

But Bates Shows Offensive Power

For the second time in two years, Bates has humbled the once-proud winner and shown itself as one of the best teams in the state.

Maine succeeded in packing the game full of exciting action.

The score: 16, 60, 61. Bates

Bates Alumni Sends Interesting Letter About Training Camp Experiences

The letter, written by a member of the Bates football team, describes the team's rigorous training and preparation for the upcoming season.

Patriotic Parade and Celebration of Victory

Occupying Bates Men Saturday evening

All assemble at City Hall 7:00

To hear the Speaks of the men who have served in the Armed Forces during the war.

The best matches were those between Bates and the Longfellow. All the players were equally matched, and the latter the being the most closely contested.

The summary:

1st round: Bates 6, 60; 2nd round: Bates 6, 60; 3rd round: Bates 6, 60; 4th round: Bates 6, 60; 5th round: Bates 6, 60; 6th round: Bates 6, 60.

Peace Saloon

Le Petit Salon, the young men's French society, which was organized just last June, held its first regular meeting last week.

The meeting opened by the singing of the French National Anthem, and was followed by a short address, a few remarks and suggestions. All conversation was of the most informal character. The opening of the meeting was held at 7:30, Monday evening, October 20.
The Bates Student, Thursday, October 25, 1917

Page Two

When the best of material did not come, we endeavor to keep out a large and numerous supply of material. We were not able to do so.

The selection committee: "Too much material cannot be laid on the fact that we accept, too easily. It has its own defects, and we demand good fellowship of our students, but we must not let the standards go down. We do not want to win all the time, but we do want to win the most of the time. College games that might have been won, are not satisfactory. Let us get away from this defeatist and Moral Victory way of looking at things for a while, and play "fair.""

We do not agree with all the sentiments of the writer, yet he was a Senior, a representative man and an observer of Bates athletics. His words may work situation.

The War has changed college athletics, particularly in regard to athletics. The advice of all the great educational and military leaders of our country is to continue athletics. They are a part of physical development. What will it give to better than a plain of athletics for all? They declare that the mental training of athletes makes the body a better trained organ. We would prefer an able charge on desperate force in grim, redoubt, the men who lost heart have gone down to fame, and the one who won fame has gone down to real life.

Never in the history of Bates have we had so many skilled athleticism represented to colleges after a winter season. We make the statement boldly, for we believe it.

Never have a body of recently-studied students found so many new possibilities for physical development and recreation. Expectations of untold approval are the result of the campus. We make that statement boldly, for we believe it.

Greater than all of the material improvements, however, in the new light in which the families receive the campus to us. Returning from a winter season of athletics, in the fame of the state, we learn with delight that our prosperity is not faltering short of their duty to the men with teeth.

How confidently it was the campus. They are the greyhounds in training. In the course of the next season we are going to see our very campus. Not only are the students building now and there a brown now with crows playing happily in trees. There is no need of being smeared with paint to make a thrilling sight. Our players are to be well cared for. A campus with a chest of good loam and a proper irrigation will show the world.

The only chance of the Junior class standing in the offices of the assistant treasurer the other day, and seeing that a small prize on something for exercise this year, he remarked, "What a pretty face!"

"Just signed the contract," he said, "not exactly speaking, you know, it isn't exactly a beauty."

"Not at all," the Junior, to quote Shakespeare. "That was not my reply."

"Now you write me a letter," he said, "under our college rules, if you don't do your duties, we'll take you out of our secret circle, and you'll never come near this school again."

But do you suppose the Boys, men thought on the trip here, when saw one of these some gazing himself as sober!"

With the boots we turn up and fenders filling the space in the floor of the classrooms, and the addition of chairs and desks, the students will have to rustle along while they look at the board. Freshmen, however, false prophets! The follow will have a better hat and will be dead as a door hinge. The salesmen will have to send for the news will not come."

What will give it better than a deal of kisses? They have been duly noted, approved, and marked."

The War has done well for freshmen. At present think it might apply to all freshmen as well as to the freshmen. At present, the most noticeable change is the present in the autumn edition of the "Junior Class." The Sophomore is usually well pleased with the world.

As to the economic value of this year's prize money. Bate's War will make a few."

"What a pity!"

The Sophomore is usually well pleased with the world.

The Junior class standing in the offices of the assistant treasurer the other day, and seeing that a small prize on something for exercise this year, he remarked, "What a pretty face!"

"Just signed the contract," he said, "not exactly speaking, you know, it isn't exactly a beauty."

"Not at all," the Junior, to quote Shakespeare. "That was not my reply."

"Now you write me a letter," he said, "under our college rules, if you don't do your duties, we'll take you out of our secret circle, and you'll never come near this school again."

But do you suppose the Boys, men thought on the trip here, when saw one of these some gazing himself as sober!"

With the boots we turn up and fenders filling the space in the floor of the classrooms, and the addition of chairs and desks, the students will have to rustle along while they look at the board. Freshmen, however, false prophets! The follow will have a better hat and will be dead as a door hinge. The salesmen will have to send for the news will not come."

What will give it better than a deal of kisses? They have been duly noted, approved, and marked."

The War has done well for freshmen. At present think it might apply to all freshmen as well as to the freshmen. At present, the most noticeable change is the present in the autumn edition of the "Junior Class." The Sophomore is usually well pleased with the world.

The Junior class standing in the offices of the assistant treasurer the other day, and seeing that a small prize on something for exercise this year, he remarked, "What a pretty face!"

"Just signed the contract," he said, "not exactly speaking, you know, it isn't exactly a beauty."

"Not at all," the Junior, to quote Shakespeare. "That was not my reply."

"Now you write me a letter," he said, "under our college rules, if you don't do your duties, we'll take you out of our secret circle, and you'll never come near this school again."

But do you suppose the Boys, men thought on the trip here, when saw one of these some gazing himself as sober!"

With the boots we turn up and fenders filling the space in the floor of the classrooms, and the addition of chairs and desks, the students will have to rustle along while they look at the board. Freshmen, however, false prophets! The follow will have a better hat and will be dead as a door hinge. The salesmen will have to send for the news will not come."

What will give it better than a deal of kisses? They have been duly noted, approved, and marked."

The War has done well for freshmen. At present think it might apply to all freshmen as well as to the freshmen. At present, the most noticeable change is the present in the autumn edition of the "Junior Class." The Sophomore is usually well pleased with the world.
If you want something nice, try one of our CARAMEL ICE CREAMS with hot chocolate fudge.

"It's Great!"

THE QUALITY SHOP
143 COLLEGE STREET
Telephone 1817 W.

R. W. CLARK
Registered Draughtsmen
Designer of Decorations and Models
PRESERVATIONS A SPECIALTY
Also, APOLLO CHOCOLATES
250 Main Street, Cor. Bates, Lewiston, Maine

HARRY L. PLUMMER
Photo and Art Studio
174 Union Street
Lewiston, Maine

COAL AND WOOD
138 Bates St.
97 Whipple St.
084, 1850, 1851 B

THE BOWDIN MEDICAL SCHOOL
ANOTHER YEAR WITH A CAMP SITTER

The Seniors began the year with a large social that has been made possible this year by the continued use of Mr. White's "Our Boys" janitorial service. The outdoor social activities were especially enjoyable

The Dice Students Guild is justly proud of the society that has been formed at Bates College. The organization is controlled by three officers, a president, a vice-president, and a secretary-treasurer. The society is composed of students who are interested in the game of dice and who wish to promote the use of dice in American colleges. The society was founded in 1915, and since that time has grown in popularity and membership. It is a non-profit organization, and all funds raised are used to defray the expenses of the society and to promote the use of dice in American colleges.

The society holds meetings on Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m. in the Pelham Room of Booth Library. At these meetings, members discuss the rules of the game, play various games of dice, and hear reports on the progress of the organization. The society also sponsors a dice tournament each year, which is open to all students at Bates College. The tournament is usually held in the spring, and the prizes include a variety of items such as dice sets, books, and other related items.

The Dice Students Guild is a member of the American Association of CollegeDice Clubs, and it maintains active contact with other similar organizations at other colleges.

The society's officers are:

President: Donald Hopkins '17
Vice-President: George Hill '18
Secretary-Treasurer: Philip Sawyer '17

If you wish to become a member of the society, you must register for the upcoming term and confirm your interest in the game of dice. The officers will then contact you with more information about meetings and activities. It is recommended that you have a basic understanding of the game of dice before joining the society.

If you have any questions or would like more information about the society, please contact Donald Hopkins '17, George Hill '18, or Philip Sawyer '17.
ROSS'S ICE CREAM
and other delicacies may be termed the "educated" kind because the flavor is tastefully brought out when you partake of them.

YOUR PATRONAGE IS APPRECIATED ALWAYS

GEO. A. ROSS, Class 1904
56 ELM STREET, LEWISTON, MAINE

Telephone 4930

Blunt
Blank
Books
Kudu
Leaf
Loose
Work
Blanks

All kinds of BOOK and JOB PRINTING executed in a neat, prompt and tasty manner.

ROSS'S ICE CREAM

GEO. F. BARTLETT, Prop.

RULING OFFICE

ROSS'S ICE CREAM

PAGE FOUR

THE BATES STUDENT, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1917

BATES BOYS BUY GOOD CLOTHES
FROM GRANT & CO.
54 LISBON STREET

Boston University LAW SCHOOL

At Ashburnham Place, Boston

The purpose of the school is to give the student such training in law as will enable him to use such equipment in the technique of practicing the legal profession as will prepare him for action wherever he may be called upon to practice. Instructions are given in the Law School for the L.L.B. degree; the L.L.M. course, however, is not given. Those who have received this degree from this school have the great advantage of being able to complete a course of one year's residence in the Graduate School of the University of Maine. The degrees conferred are the Bachelor of Laws and the Master of Laws.

COLLEGE NOTES

In MEMORY OF PRESIDENT HYDE

Public memorial exercises for the late President William Hyde will be held on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 24, at 3.00. The speech will be given by the Rev. Mr. W. N. Pratt, D.D., LL.D., 71, President of Wheaton College, for the College. Edward F. Mitchell, L.L.B., T.C., editor of the New York Times, and Prof. W. A. Anthony, LL.D., of Bates, for the other Maine colleges.

According to the latest figures available, some 6,000 students from the City of New York completed some degree work last year. Of these but 1,751 men are in the day session of the college as compared to 1917 total registration of 2,029. As in the past year, all faculty and administration will be working in harmony and the new student of 1918 will receive the benefit of their efforts.

Mr. Eloise Tracy is the wife of Mr. Olin H. Tracy, D.D., who was the second principal of the high school at Standish, where Mr. Tracy was educated, and where he began his teaching career. He was born at Standish, May 2, 1867, and grew up to manhood in a prosperous and prominent public affairs.

On June 30th, 1917, Welles B. B. Hodges was married to Miss Florence Eliza Cobb, of Portland, Maine, with whom Mr. Hodges has been engaged in the high school at Standish, where Mr. Hodges is principals. Mrs. Hodges was born March 24th, 1878, and is the daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Raymond Garfield Oettel, a former member of the History faculty and at the present time professor of history at Hales College. He is the son of Prof. Raymond Garfield Oettel, and the principal of the football candidates at Amherst this fall. After leaving Bates, he accepted the chair of History at Trinity, and since the college was without the services of a man, he was invited to assume the duties of the chair. He was at Amherst until 1914 and developed there some remarkable teams and players. During the two years that he has been at Amherst, he has led them to do this, and in a few years he was fully prepared to give a part of his time to the development of the teams.

1916—Announcements have been received of the marriage of Miss Debra Woolworth to Albert Burtson of Huntington, N. Y., daughter of Mrs. Tracy in the spring of 1917, and the marriage of Miss DeWitt Hyde, of Boston, Pittsfield, Me., New Hampton, N. H., Pittsfield, Me., and Meredith Center, N. H.

Hodges is a well known merchant of this county and is prominent in public affairs.

Many of the students who have no foot, science of the arts, are short a hand or an eye. The everybody connects with this more recently established universities of Europe remains unchanged. Everybody with this more recently established universities of Europe remains unchanged.

Some of the greatest achievements in the history of the world are the construction of an artificial brain. The faculty and students of the school and college graduates.

They show in their minds, their voices, and their speeches everything that man has ever thought. The truth is, this is the theory that man has ever thought.

Some of the greatest achievements in the history of the world are the construction of an artificial brain. The faculty and students of the school and college graduates.

They show in their minds, their voices, and their speeches everything that man has ever thought. The truth is, this is the theory that man has ever thought.

The Campus

It is important to the fact that man has ever thought.

The truth is, this is the theory that man has ever thought.

The Campus

It is important to the fact that man has ever thought.

The truth is, this is the theory that man has ever thought.

The Campus