Conscription and Early Closing Fail to Prevent Juniors from Carrying Out a Successful Ivy Day Program

CAPTAIN DUNCAN
played a little better ballgame and hit the ball harder than the three boys from Orono. However, Maine had the last but first and carried off the game. To the oldtimers present, the score of 12-12 brought back old memories.

In conclusion, the exhibition can hardly go by without mentioning that the Hates 2nd nine, in the infantry, played the ball well and contributed something to the present of the game to the audience. The world is sick, there's torment, there's force and there's pain

SNECK YEAR!

The last year will mark the close of the freshman course of college years. Many of the boys serving as a salient reminder that the members of yet another class have left the fence and have entered into the camp that they have just begun to build.

The end of this college year brings special problems to those who have not yet completed their college course. The university requires them to obey the rules of the year, and the effect of such rules is not to deter but to define the things that are important. The following correspondence of the administration suggests a solution of the difficulty.

"For nearly a year there has been much talk on the part of those who are in charge of the college's affairs and of the college's students about the present emergency. It is the opinion of many that this is a solution of the problem. But if the college is to be a solution of the problem, it must be a solution of the problem."

A course in college traditions and the history of the United States should be a study of the United States. Such a study should be required of all students who are to graduate from the college.

"The students are well aware that the college has been ordered to cooperate with the government in making the best use of the time. This cooperation is not only to be appreciated, but it is to be expected."

COMMENCEMENT DINNER

Certain changes, growing out of war conditions, have been made in the course of the college. They involve the abandonment of the usual commencement dinner and a special dinner to be served to the students. The dinner will consist of a simple meal, which will be served in the gymnasium at 6:00 P.M. on Commencement Day, 30th June. The dinner will be purely voluntary, and all students are requested to attend.

CORONEL UNIVERSITY MEDICAL COLLEGE

In the City of New York

Alumni graduates of Bates College will hold a dinner on June 30th, 1919, in the City of New York. The dinner will be held in the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Astor, and is open to all alumni graduates of Bates College.

JORDAN: SCIENTIFIC JOURNEYS TO LAKE SABATTUS

Last Thursday evening the Jordan Scientific Society held its annual dinner for an outing. The principal object of the evening was the presence of the new members recently elected to the society. The annual dinner was held at the Jordan Scientific Society, and all members of the society were present.

"It is hoped that these changes will be for the benefit of all concerned, and that the students will appreciate them."

BATES TENNIS TEAM OVER GOOD ACCOUNT OF ITSELF AT LONGWOOD

Portraits and medals were awarded.

The Bates tennis team composed of Eddie Johnson and John Powers, accompanied by manager T. H. MacDowell, arrived in Boston on Sunday, May 13, to take part in the New England inter-college tennis tournament which was held on the Longwood courts, May 15-16.

CHAMPIONS OF MAINE

Both players were entered in the singles and doubles and both together made up the double team. John Powers was defeated in the singles after two hard sets by a Williams player, 6-4, 6-4. Eddie Johnson ran up against one of the strongest players in the whole tournament at the very beginning in the person of Sanders of Dartmouth. Captain Peterson was in the lead; but the first set was not until the eighth game Sanders caught up with the Bates man and won him out by 6-2, 10-4. In the second set Eddie seemed to play off form, which may have been due to a bad headache just before the inter-departmental. The Dartmouth man won the second set 6-3. This eliminated the Bates men from taking part in any further single matches.

In the doubles, Dartmouth, represented for the two years Captains Lat-ton and Sanders, defeated the Bates men and M. T. T. easily disposed of Williams. Amherst vanquished Bowdoin, while our men saw a low victory. In the doubles matches were now in straight sets, except the Russell-Amherst games, of which Howdoin lost two out of three. In the semi-final round of the M. T. T. players, Wei, a skilled Chinese racket wielder, and Brockman, almost the equal of Wei, defeated the two Dartmouth men, Sanders and Sanders. Bates triumphed over Amherst in three sets. Our men lost the first set but came back strong and won the second and third rounds. Amherst was by no means a weak team, as Howdoin, one of the members of the combination won the championship in the singles of the whole tournament, and second round was not such a match as Wei and Brockman of M. T. T. In the final round, the Bates men put up a p[...](The rest of the text is not visible.)
