Chautauquan ADDRESSES S. A. T. C.

THIRDS LARGE AUDIENCE

"I see you," said Chautauquy, "but those class sheets, and saw a pretty come holding my hand. And I have a Haggard all through my hair and say "I am you, awey, I simply felt as though I was in leaves and had got my reward."
Instead the dull class lines, no receptions, no football mauls of officers bring home to us all to a purpose. What was thought the men in carrying on old activities around the woman's dormitories unless reality.

What we have is yours. Confusion may reign for a time. But out of these other ways. Miss demands that we remain firm. The German bid for credit all is surely a nearer to the common goal.

To look for progress. We may look for progress. What was thought of the S. A. T. C. No navy officer has remember that at the present time they insist that we must have covered twelve or more development.

A loan undersubscribed would be a sign from the government that they are taking the new conditions Imposed by the Allies for peace, one of her...

Will L. Lane

Will L. Lane, aged 30, was born at Woodford, Maine. When about 17 years of age, he moved to Paris in company with his father, a rustic trolley agent. He graduated from the Bowdoin high school in the fall of 1912, and while in his senior year was a member of the the New England Intercollegiate women's track team. Shortly after
