ENKRIOS RECEPTION AT RAND HALL

LEWISTON'S WEEK OF SONG

Lewiston's week of song was given fitting opening at the college Chapel, Sunday, February 20. A large number of people from Lewiston and the vicinity came to join with the students in the service of the popular church songs of fifty mixed voices led the singing and entertainment were provided by reciting portions. The leader-ship of both groups was directly responsible for the inspiring result which came. His arrangements of the short service was upset and adequate.

The balcony of the chapel was reserved for members of the church and those who desired to be apart from the harmonic organizations. Their aid in the theme of their service was paramount.

Miss Christian announced the programme to the happy organ selection, the "Grandville Choral Society," the "Music Club," Mrs. Adams was in control.

Other members of the faculty, who desired the right of the band hall.

A MESSAGE TO THE THINKING PEOPLE

State Department of Health, Augusta, Me.

President Adams has congratulated the Band Hall of the publishers of this appealing new song book. The book is an effort to make the public more aware of the health and safety of the state. It contains a number of songs which the public is invited to be.

FREE-FOR-ALL SONG CONTEST

NAMES RECORDED IN BATES MUSICAL MEMORY

The contest was founded to encourage singing and to give the public a chance to participate in the musical life of the school. The contest was open to any person who wished to enter. The winners were selected by a panel of judges who had previous experience in judging similar contests.

The finals of the contest were held on Wednesday, February 24, and the winners were announced on Thursday, February 25. The prize was a gold medal for the first place, a silver medal for the second place, and a bronze medal for the third place. The winners were chosen by a panel of judges who had previous experience in judging similar contests.

The final standing for the song book is now ready for publication. The winners of the song contest, the members of the faculty, and the students who participated in the contest were invited to attend the final ceremony. The winners were given a special medal to commemorate their achievement. The contest was considered a successful one, and it was hoped that it would be repeated in the future.

In order to run the paper, it is necessary to train the editors for a period that their minds will become accustomed to the work. In some cases, it would seem, some professional newspaper men must get their orders, and are drawn to the office of the paper to give their advice as to how to run the paper. The work of such a paper is always pleasing and the time and labor necessary for running the newspaper office from making an extensive personal work are practical.

HOCKEY

With that last game of the series played Monday, the hockey season will give way to track. We have had much enthusiasm, more than was at first expected to spur the training of the different classes on to success. Out of the noise and clatter of the hockey games has arisen a fierce spirit of rivalry. The old time class ambitions have been forgotten and the sportsmanship of some of these individuals is laughable. At first, they shouted the loudest for the Commons, but evidently the kitchen police work has caused them to withdraw their aggressive behavior and to lapse into silence until the next time.

Fortunately the Commons have had an increased attendance this last week, and perhaps the return to the field is in progress. At any rate, the Commons is running hats off to the committee!

THE TRACK MEET

May we be pardoned for looking a little way into the future? Just three weeks from this morning the annual track meet, the really important mid-winter event of our college year. Already the men are talking of the probable success or failure of their respective classes. This is good

THE BLAZED TRAIL

Anonhater? I am in a dilemma. Will some kind geologist tell us whether the world is in a state of one or just as choppy as a plank in a breeze? How did you ever get to the front door of Roger Williams Hall at a rowdy? Why not have one of the windows open. It would save a lot of time.

There are two reasons why John Powers goes down town every day to eat and see other people. You have the last reason madly, don’t you John? You can’t laugh him.

The members of the Junior oratory club are to enjoy an intense bout of spelling, which will start the work for the term. It is expected that a large number of students will sign up for this course during the next three or four days.

You are certainly behind the times if you are not a member of the probation council. We certainly have a true friend in the editor of the Sun.

Wouldn’t it be a great joke if they put men on probation for hearing down doors.

In these days of conservation it is nothing unusual to see some female would-be chemist trip the light mending gavotte. There is a project on foot to take down all service flags on the commons to the accompaniment of the waving of flags by the pedestrians, the hoop of the volcano upon volcano of loud gassiness. The curtain descends amidst their howling and the students.

Innocent and unoffending public.

Lotam—Solomon, I have long been thinking, What a good world this would be if the men were all transported far beyond the Northern Sea.

No one seems to care for me. I wish the men were all transported.

On this side of the Northern Sea.

Dora—Solomon, I’m a poor little woman, No one seems to care for me. I wish the men were all transported.

Far beyond the Northern Sea.

Dora and Solomon join hands and step off the stage of life with an air of the fatalists.
