For the first time this year the Juniors have come out on top. For the third time they have captured the championship in some form of inter-class athletic contest. This time it was in baseball.

Last Friday the first game of the Sophomore and Freshman classes met on the field of baseball, and the Freshmen were just about to have the last laugh when the Sophomores rallied in the last inning, with all the bases loaded. FINAL EXAMINATIONS

One of the cherished traditions of the college is the danger of falling into disease. The tradition is—Final Examinations. I little while ago it would have been rank treason to have suggested omission of those trials of the collegiate student, but the war came, and with it went unaware into the discard, temporarily at least, many useless customs, among them the Final Examinations. This term has been the hardest year of Bates College successfully passed. Without the worry and consequent tension of the exams, the students have turned to and worked with a will. The results and accomplishments show the proper desire concerning those finals, why not continue the same?

CHASE HALL

Amid our rejoicing at the successful close of this most difficult year, always we not stop and consider a moment the new monument we have on our campus? President Chase is gone, in the twenty-fifth year of his administration, and in his memory has been erected this magnificent edifice. The alumni should feel as they drift back toward the campus, the pride and enthusiasm which was Chase Hall. The building has been dedicated.

FIFTY-THIRD ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT

Class of 1919 Ball Program at Bates

The fifty-third annual Commencement at Bates College is near at hand. Elective preparations have been made to make this the most pleasing and impressive exercises ever witnessed at Bates—the stage is set for the farewell of the Class of 1919. The Class of 1919 needs no college by the STUDENT, for every student in Bates has a respect and admiration for the Class of 1919. It has done. The varying years bring no change to the Bates College which they are about to leave. These men have worked and played and been happy, and Bates, and now are preparing to enter the larger college of life.

In it, then, fitting that 1919 should produce a most excellent commencement program, as it must certainly has done. The very first act is an offering by capable workers, and the several exercises are carefully balanced into a well-organized whole.

The Class Day exercises will be held on Tuesday, June 24.

The program for the day is:

2:50 P.M. Class exercises in front of Hathorn Hall.
3:00-3:30 P.M. Music by the Lewiston Brigade Band.

The Commencement Dinner will be held in Chase Hall, Wednesday, June 25, at one o'clock. Although the Hall will not be complete at this time, the friends of the college and the alumni will be able to gather on the site of the building, and general appearance. It is thought at present that about six hundred people from the tuition, alumni, students, and friends will attend the dinner. Several prominent speakers from the alumni and distinguished guests will speak. Tickets for the dinner may be purchased from Mr. C. H. Higgins, and they will be on sale at Commencement Library. The tickets are one dollar each, and no reservation will be made after Monday, June 21. It is advisable to purchase tickets as soon as possibly.

BATES TIE DIED WITH BOWDION FOR SECOND Championship for Baseball does to Maine.

With this work marking the close of the baseball season, Maine by her blanking bowdoin breaks the Championship list of Maine Colleges.

Final Scoring
Maine 4  Maine 9  Maine 7
Bowdoin 0  Bowdoin 1  Bowdoin 1

There is much speculation about the possibilities for Bates in baseball next year. With two new courses it seems probable that we shall stand a fair chance to regain the lead which we held under Coach Purinton. Many good men will be back in College, and with probation off, the freshness undoubtedly will make a strong bid for the team. Next year must prove all that we wish in athleticism, for Bates never stays voluntarily away from first place.

Woodward N. Fulton, who will be recognized as the Captain in a second round of platoon number two in the Maine Student's Army Training Corps, is visiting Officer Tracy, sergeant of the third platoon, over Commerce. He is not as much in love with Bates and Bates men as ever, and hopes to be a frequent visitor at the College.
