Practically everyone in New England has heard of the famous Dartmouth College Outing Club. In fact, it is one of the great institutions among the hills of New Hampshire in as much hours for its Outing Club as for anything else.

Last year Bates took a pioneer step in organizing a similar club here in Maine. Great work was done by the club in keeping a skating rink at Lake Andrews closed for most of the winter, and a new vogue was introduced. The amount of snow fell that one must conclude that that snow meant more than just a skating rink.

The club is working hard this winter on the ice cut in the rink. The amount of snow available will determine whether or not the rink will be ready for the games.

The club is open to all members of the junior and senior classes. The members of the club have already made arrangements for the coming season.

The club will hold a meeting next week for the purpose of electing officers for the coming season. All members of the junior and senior classes are invited to attend.

HIGH STREET CHURCH HOST TO STUDENTS

"Just the best ever!" is the consensus of opinion expressed by 72 or more Bates students who attended the social evening as guests of the pastor of the High Street Church in Lewiston, Me., Thursday evening.

Automobiles were on hand to carry the students at 5:45, and they arrived at the hosts and were parked more before the sermon commenced.

The art of skating, which is rapidly gaining a greater degree of popularity, is receiving special favor from the Outing Club director.

For a course of some 10 miles the track was surveyed down over the ski of Mt. Dave, a favorite Mountain Avenue into the ski bayo. Here a short spurt was performed, and arrangements for picking up and picking up all the supplies were made. One of the big peaks of the Outing Club is the building of ski lines. Both men and women of the club this year are to receive equal consideration. Three ski lines are under way for at least these are in the works, one in one of them, and the other three are in their first stage. The present line is under the superintendence of the men.

A summit will be held on Mt. Washington, which will be as it was with those who are interested by those who take advantage of the opportunity.

Last year was a beginning on difficulties. The Bates Outing Club promises its members a line of events--the games--a program that can be entered into by almost everyone. The principal thing which the club promises to do this year is to have a rink on the ice cut in the rink. The club is trying to make a winter for the boys who have never been introduced to the game before.

By the foot of the second season, when the weather is better, the club will have its entire equipment ready. The members of the club were present last week for the last day of skating at the rink.

The club will hold its first meeting next week for the purpose of electing officers for the coming season. All members of the junior and senior classes are invited to attend.

Portsmouth Outing Club has been in session for the past few weeks and is preparing for the coming season. The members of the club are busy working on the lines of equipment for the coming season. BATES VS. YALE

One week from tomorrow night our debating team will meet the Yale aggregation on the question that "The United States should initiate the A. B. C. powers to cooperate in the formation of a joint protectorate over the Middle East." It is necessary to argue the student lyce to be present at that meeting, since it is the first of the season, and naturally will draw interest.

The fact that the debate is to be against Yale should be sufficient to insure the presence of the entire college. We do, however, wish to emphasize the fact that this is as much a collegiate activity as football or baseball and equally deserves student support. We must not let our backing of the team waver. The boys must know that we are backing them to win the next and the third debate as well as the first.

The team should not be expected to win every contest because of the nature of our opponents. The most important factor is that we keep up our interest in our college and that we be present to watch the winter sports.

The passing of the Thanksgiving recess and the near approach of the Christmas holidays remind us that the first lap of the year is almost run. Perhaps by this time some of us are beginning to wake up to the fact that we had better "look alive," if we wish to improve our grade standing.

A brie survey of what we have accomplished thus far might be appropriate at this time. We have followed the fortunes of a football team of which we are justly proud. We have seen them go down to defeat and rise to victory, always showing the Bobcats as a team that has the potential for fair play. We have rejoiced over the winning of the state Cresson Championship by the Bates team and the individual New England Championship by Ray Batty in basketball. Basketball practice has started. The Outing Club is well in advance of its schedule. Other things of positive value have taken place and we are proud of them. It is true that we have some things to regret, but who has not?

College students are not the only people in the world who make mistakes.

More than one person has remarked that the year so far has been unlike any other year in the memory of the present student body. The College policy is being more clear-cut and decisive, and the reins of authority are held with a firmer hand than most of us have been accustomed to. It is doubtless a good thing for the college that the rules and regulations are taking on a clearer shape which has been so long lacking. We wish all success to the present administration in their attempt to simplify the relations between the various elements of the college.

For the remainder of the year there is still the duty of enjoying our time on campus. We urge every one to use this time to improve the spirit of good fellowship and democracy for which our Alma Mater is famed.

BASKETBALL

With the basketball situation in the hands of Coach Smith this year we believe that the sport will make a big jump to become an important athletic activity at Bates in the future. Already the interclass games have brought to light some good material for the 'varsity team and there is reason to believe that basketball should prove a good attraction to the townspeople and others, as well as to the college students. Anyone who has even seen a real basketball game does not need to be urged to g2 a second time, as we believe that the team will be well supported. We will simply invite everyone to be present at the first game and the team will do the rest.

OUR GRADUATES

November 13, 1929, about forty Bates Alumni of Boston and vicinity met at the Art Museum in Boston where a delightful luncheon was served. From 100 to 150 were represented. A business meeting followed the luncheon and several ambitious plans for the year were discussed.

Editor, Maggie C. New and Amy Lester '24 are teaching in a High School in Bridgeport.

Winifred A. Chapman '09, is in the class of '29, Lynn, Mass.

1923, Alice Allen, a prominent physician of Buffalo, N. Y., was graduated. Dr. Miller has been a member of the class of 1883, and received the Honorary Degree of A. M. from Bates in 1916. He received his degree of M. D. from Dartmouth in 1883.

1923, Brigadier General Mark Leslie Hersee, has been transferred to the command of Camp Devens. GENERAL Hersee was a graduate of West Point, N. Y. His wife was illusively serving both in the Spanish war, and in the late European war. He returned as an Honorary member of M. D. from Dartmouth in 1916.

1929, A son, Augustus Peter, Jr., was born to the wife of Augustus Peter Murray, '40, on November 5, 1929, in Washington, D. C.

The Bates Bates Men's Club have always been true to tradition in Bates things, as shown in their usual spirit for the annual gathering planned for the first year of the new century. The plans for the festivities are being carried on an invitation letter, which is self-explanatory, showing their concern for the Junior and Sophomore Club, which, as we write, is preparing for the last part of the month.
