Marquette Club held his first meeting of the season in Class Hall, Monday evening. Vigorous reformative measures were applied to this club, with the result that it will soon take its place among the other prominent clubs of the campus. Miss Florence Prevost, '22, was elected to the position of class president, which position she has learned to conduct itself with dignity. Russell Taylor then spoke a word in favor of co-operation. He referred to Mr. Twombly's motto of "Law and Order," as a means of getting a bigger and better Marquette. Professor Farnam, the new Dean of Men, was the last speaker on the program and he explained the need of co-operation between all branches of our college activities. "Co-operation is the slogan of the new offer of Dean of Men," he declared and closed with an address of advice to the men of the entering class that there are certain duties every freshman is supposed to fulfill. The banquet served its purpose as a means of getting the older students together and everyone left the tables happily refreshed both bodily and mentally.

AN EXCELLENT START

The Student Council is to be congratulated upon the success of the initiation period just passed. Never has there been such an apparent spirit of good sportsmanship on the part of both of the lower classes, and never before have the upperclassmen given their support. It means to you and all that Bates.

Even more lively performances may well be used next year without serious consequences.

The Student Council has done well in its initial activities. But it is to be kept in mind that all this work is preliminary to the real cooperation for the college. And even thus early the effects of new spirit are to be seen.

With the new feature of the nightshirt parade to regulate the townfolk, the arrangement of the college residence, an element of real pep was added to the program which was greatly appreciated. Such harmony provides more thoroughly for the proper acclimatization of the freshmen, and to no foster the old feelings of class hatred. In the college year has been not marred by any failure to “play the game.”

A WARNING WORD

These are the days in which the freshmen are receiving enlightenment concerning the regulations and traditions of Bates College. Upperclassmen are “showing them the ropes,” giving them their first taste of the traditions in which our campus is steeped.

Upperclassmen are common in both of the upperclasses, and the freshmen, due to the overwhelming exuberance of the first few days, are bound to deal with promptly and adequately. Let them be constant supervision of the rules of caps, sweaters, smoking, and “conducted.” Let the council make it their influence felt, and make the program an imperative of amusement, and the college will benefit accordingly.

Already the freshmen are responding to the Bates traditions of loyal service to the college. Their presence is felt on the football team, among the huge track squad, and in the service of the cheerleading sections. A new era has reached in the creation of the new men, an era of which Bates is proud, and an era which must not be marred by any failure to “play the game.”

OUR NEW DEPARTMENT

Believing that the women of the college have long been neglected in the expansion of the things of the college, the Editor has taken the creation of a new department, under a Woman’s Editor, which will present more fully than ever before the news of the women’s activities. It is to be desired that all women’s clubs and organizations get in touch with this department in order that each may share its news in the weekly news.
