RATES MAGAZINE

BY EULOGIC B. RODRIGUEZ, MGR. PHILIPPINE PRESS BUREAU

It was voted Monday afternoon by the Board of Directors of the Bates Publishing Association that two numbers of the Bates College Debating Council will be issued in the fall. This spring and a third number will be published in the fall.

The Bates College Debating Council is almost twenty years old and it has been growing and expanding its influence every year. It has done and still is doing a great deal of work in the forensic field, in which Bates has always excelled. The present officers are: Andrew R. Young, vice-president; Ernest W. Robinson, secretary, and Professor A. Craig Baird, treasurer.

What is a debating council? For instance, of the members participate in interscholastic debate—most of them do, in fact. The primary purpose of the council is to educate the students in the art of public speaking and to give them the opportunity to practice these skills in a competitive setting.

The Debates are published in the Bates College Debating Council bulletin, which is sent to all members of the council. The bulletin contains information about upcoming debates, past debates, and other related activities. It is a valuable resource for anyone interested in joining or learning more about the council.

If you are interested in joining the Bates College Debating Council or learning more about its activities, you can contact the council through the student government or visit the council's website. The council is open to all students who are interested in public speaking, debate, and critical thinking.

The council's activities are supported by the student government and the university administration. The council has a dedicated group of students who work together to plan and execute debates, and it is funded primarily through the student government budget. The council also may receive small contributions from individuals or businesses who are interested in supporting its activities.

If you are interested in supporting the council, you can make a donation to the student government or contact the council directly. Every contribution, no matter how small, is appreciated and helps support the council's activities.

RATES MAGAZINE welcomes contributions to the Bates College Debating Council. If you have any articles or ideas to contribute to the bulletin, please contact the council through the student government or visit the council's website.

The council also welcomes students who are interested in joining its activities. If you are interested in joining the council, please contact the council through the student government or visit the council's website.

The council is proud to have contributed to the education of many students over the years, and it looks forward to continuing this tradition in the future. If you have any questions or would like more information about the Bates College Debating Council, please contact the council through the student government or visit the council's website.

The council also welcomes donations to support its activities. Every contribution, no matter how small, is appreciated and helps support the council's activities.

Thank you for your interest in the Bates College Debating Council. The council looks forward to continuing its tradition of excellence in public speaking and debate.
Since the MIRROR for this year was designed to be of the student body on February 27, things have been working well and according to Russell Taylor, the editor-in-chief. An unprecedented number of contracts were signed on the first morning, and since that time the orders have come in so steadily that it seems probable that the whole issue of three hundred and fifty copies will be ready for the Bater vacation.

The fresh form, a real, has been interested, because none have set as yet fully realized that the book is as much a record of their years as it is a record of what they have done in their various activities, or of the real world of the campus. The MIRROR contains several entirely new features this year. Every one of the thirty-two pages will have a full page of Athletics. Women's Athletics will have a small regular feature, and it is really significant to the incorporation of a feature of the sport of the times. And such changes have been made in other departments as to iron that we assured that there will be no harked back matter in the whole issue. The result is that the MIRROR than ever before has been set out.

There are still copies left, we are told, and the price of the book in the MIRROR lost in the storm, or to be given to the business manager, Mr. J. C. Taylor, or to any member of the Personnel Committee, Miss Helen Taylor, or to any professor or member of the faculty. Those who wish to have their names listed, alumni or former members of the classes of 1900, 1901, and 1902, mere copies by sending their orders to the business manager, at Chase Hall. The price is six dollars per copy.

With the assurance that the MIRROR will be ready in time for the beginning of vacation, we are looking forward to the publication of this fine little literary magazine.

THE BATES STUDENT MAGAZINE

Bates has retained in the past an enviable reputation among college publications for the quality of its literary publication. Consequently, it was a matter of much regret to many persons when it was found necessary during the year to suspend the printing of the magazine. The reason was of course, the college paper. By many people, a college is judged just as much by its literary organ as it is by its athletic prowess. That the college of the standing of Bates should be handicapped in this way is incomprehensible. It is now found possible to provide one more opportunity for Bates undergraduates to put out such an issue. Now that the opening of the college year that their hairs will be an incentive for a large number of students to prepare contributions. From these the best writings will be chosen and a representative college magazine will be printed.

One advantage in the present situation is that the name of Bates in a literary way may be spread.

Club Revived Last Spring
Now Fills Real Place on Campus

In spite of the fact that clubs were already, in the opinion of many, too numerous on the campus, so much interest was evident in the German language and literature, that it was possible to grow a number of the students in the department, thusJunior, get together with the intention of reviving one or both of the old German societies, which had necessarily been dropped during the war. After much discussion of place, it was decided to combine both organizations into one, a constitution was drawn up and officers elected, and Deutsche Verein was on its way.

Because of the lateness of the season when the club was formed, comparatively little was done last spring, but
