5-9-1924

The Bates Student - volume 52 number 15 - May 9, 1924

Bates College

Follow this and additional works at: http://scarab.bates.edu/bates_student

Recommended Citation

http://scarab.bates.edu/bates_student/253

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the Archives and Special Collections at SCARAB. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Bates Student by an authorized administrator of SCARAB. For more information, please contact batesscarab@bates.edu.
Both Sheldebater will give Hates stragdebating teams.

Don and Davis have worked untiringly

The two events were in which Henry Rich was involved, which Milliken told that

The most puzzling that ever runners,

Beckup, news, and his brother, the

The fact that Johnny Daker had

The most of them used to

The decision is that

The season of the two

The University of New Hampshire

The team has the first match

The Bates College also ran from

The city was under the debate of the college year. The

The Bates men have played

The Bates men have its Ray

The Bates men have played

Johnny Daker exhibits Old

The Bates men have its Ray

Johnny Daker marked his return to

The Bates men have played

The Bates College also ran from

The Bates men have played

Johnny Daker marked his return to

The Bates men have played

The Bates men have played

Johnny Daker exhibited Old

The Bates men have played

The Bates men have played

The Bates men have played

The Bates men have played

The Bates men have played

The Bates men have played
HENRY A. RICH

He was so much a friend to us all, his life was so near to ours, he was with us in his life, the life he led was felt most poignant rarely is it a tribute to a man, when a feeling like which precedes the Batesan soon is manifested at his death. We reverence his memory. Our tears flow, our words cannot express. Our hearts have been too full, these latter days, for us to say much; but we have thought a great deal.

We feel a hush; a sad and a reverent hush; we have all felt it deeply, and we expect to feel it more.

All of our hands have been bowed—we have been weaned too near to tears.

Now that he is gone, we begin to feel how much of a man he was. Now he is likely and respected. He was humble, dear to all, and dear to very few.

Our final tribute as we pay the highest tribute which can come to man,—the words are trite, but they mean more than any others.

"He was a true friend of all."—

MAINE vs. COLBY

It is a blessing that Maine and Colby had sense enough to prevent their last alteration from becoming more than a minor exchange of verbal hostilities. After these little affairs are all over, their peculiarities become very apparent to all concerned. Bates has had her share of such business, and will continue to have in the future, but each speechmaking scandal would teach a lesson. It has been taught to Aspen some years back—no doubt Greek and Roman papas taught it to their little boys. It is—"Look before you leap." But if we only worried about conclusions, with a subsequent tear ing of hair, wearing of garments, gnawing of tooth, and fretting of the mouth. In the alternate interpretation, it is stated that one gentleman from the New England college group was so convinced that the Colby Colonel was under the influence of narcotics, he did not feel the need of an unlimited amount of harmless-yet-guaranteed one. Colby students take warning. Others are old enough to know better!

BOOKS

Those of our readers who do not enjoy a good book—but there, if there is a Bates student who does not enjoy a book, he will not have progressed thus far down this column, and we need not address him.

Those of our readers who want to know something about the late books will have a rare opportunity next Tuesday evening. John Clair Minot, one of New England’s most distinguished critics and a Maine product, is coming to Bates. He will lecture on “Among the Late Books,” at Chase Hall, Tuesday evening, at 8 P. M., under the auspices of the Spoofford Club. A most interesting—well, we cannot say “snappy” discourse on this year’s books is assured. Few students should miss the opportunity.

OUTING CLUB TO HOLD ELECTION FOR DIRECTORS

(Continued from Page 3)

H. R. IV., seems to have been difficult with his little thing about our ways and means. He has a most promising group here. At any rate, he writes us a letter of apology which we are able to use in showing a dictionary, in writing poetry. Never having been a Christian, he has the advantage of being a non-Catholic, and will be able to talk better about this.

We have a hush, a sad, and a reverent hush; we have all felt it deeply, and we expect to feel it more near to tears.

Now that he is gone, we begin to feel how much of a man he was. Now he is likely and respected. He was humble, dear to all, and dear to very few.

Our final tribute as we pay the highest tribute which can come to man,—the words are trite, but they mean more than any others.

"He was a true friend of all."—

MAINE vs. COLBY

It is a blessing that Maine and Colby had sense enough to prevent their last alteration from becoming more than a minor exchange of verbal hostilities. After these little affairs are all over, their peculiarities become very apparent to all concerned. Bates has had her share of such business, and will continue to have in the future, but each speechmaking scandal would teach a lesson. It has been taught to Aspen some years back—no doubt Greek and Roman papas taught it to their little boys. It is—"Look before you leap." But if we only worried about conclusions, with a subsequent tear ing of hair, wearing of garments, gnawing of tooth, and fretting of the mouth. In the alternate interpretation, it is stated that one gentleman from the New England college group was so convinced that the Colby Colonel was under the influence of narcotics, he did not feel the need of an unlimited amount of harmless-yet-guaranteed one. Colby students take warning. Others are old enough to know better!

BOOKS

Those of our readers who do not enjoy a good book—but there, if there is a Bates student who does not enjoy a book, he will not have progressed thus far down this column, and we need not address him.

Those of our readers who want to know something about the late books will have a rare opportunity next Tuesday evening. John Clair Minot, one of New England’s most distinguished critics and a Maine product, is coming to Bates. He will lecture on “Among the Late Books,” at Chase Hall, Tuesday evening, at 8 P. M., under the auspices of the Spoofford Club. A most interesting—well, we cannot say “snappy” discourse on this year’s books is assured. Few students should miss the opportunity.

OUTING CLUB TO HOLD ELECTION FOR DIRECTORS

(Continued from Page 3)

H. R. IV., seems to have been difficult with his little thing about our ways and means. He has a most promising group here. At any rate, he writes us a letter of apology which we are able to use in showing a dictionary, in writing poetry. Never having been a Christian, he has the advantage of being a non-Catholic, and will be able to talk better about this.

We have a hush, a sad, and a reverent hush; we have all felt it deeply, and we expect to feel it more near to tears.

Now that he is gone, we begin to feel how much of a man he was. Now he is likely and respected. He was humble, dear to all, and dear to very few.

Our final tribute as we pay the highest tribute which can come to man,—the words are trite, but they mean more than any others.

"He was a true friend of all."—

MAINE vs. COLBY

It is a blessing that Maine and Colby had sense enough to prevent their last alteration from becoming more than a minor exchange of verbal hostilities. After these little affairs are all over, their peculiarities become very apparent to all concerned. Bates has had her share of such business, and will continue to have in the future, but each speechmaking scandal would teach a lesson. It has been taught to Aspen some years back—no doubt Greek and Roman papas taught it to their little boys. It is—"Look before you leap." But if we only worried about conclusions, with a subsequent tear ing of hair, wearing of garments, gnawing of tooth, and fretting of the mouth. In the alternate interpretation, it is stated that one gentleman from the New England college group was so convinced that the Colby Colonel was under the influence of narcotics, he did not feel the need of an unlimited amount of harmless-yet-guaranteed one. Colby students take warning. Others are old enough to know better!

BOOKS

Those of our readers who do not enjoy a good book—but there, if there is a Bates student who does not enjoy a book, he will not have progressed thus far down this column, and we need not address him.

Those of our readers who want to know something about the late books will have a rare opportunity next Tuesday evening. John Clair Minot, one of New England’s most distinguished critics and a Maine product, is coming to Bates. He will lecture on “Among the Late Books,” at Chase Hall, Tuesday evening, at 8 P. M., under the auspices of the Spoofford Club. A most interesting—well, we cannot say “snappy” discourse on this year’s books is assured. Few students should miss the opportunity.
At the last meeting of the Maine Interscholastic Track and Field Association Coach Ryan of Colby College presented against Professor Gruber of the University of South Carolina a contract for the high jump. The contract was signed and sealed before the meeting.

The conference was attended by representatives of Maine high schools, including the Colby College Track Team.

Providence Bate's Game

The Providence Bate's Game was held on Tuesday afternoon. The game was played in front of a large audience, and many spectators were present.

The game was won by the Providence Bate's, with a score of 2 to 0. The Providence Bate's had a smooth and successful game, and their players showed great skill and ability.

The Providence Bate's had a strong and well-balanced team, and their players were able to maintain their lead throughout the game.

The Providence Bate's were led by their star player, who scored two goals for the team.

The game was played on a beautiful day, and the spectators enjoyed the exciting and competitive action.

The Providence Bate's celebrate their victory with a parade in the city. The parade was attended by many residents, and the team was honored for their excellent performance.
BATES BOYS GET YOUR GOOD CLOTHES FROM GRANT & CO.

Lewiston Trust Company

Registered Druggist

UjCrs

R\X7

I'AOK  KOUH

Lewiston Trust Company

ills.-.

Shoewing and Shuler for Young Men and Ladies

ILLUS.

THE MOCCASIN HOUSE

1—)

THE PEOPLE'S SHOE SHOP

240 MAIN STREET, LEWISTON, MAINE

THE QUALITY SHOP

340 MAIN STREET, LEWISTON, MAINE

THE BATES STUDENT'S TRADE

This Store Carries A Complete Line of Student's Clothing In All Models

Discount To Students

CORTELL'S

109 Lisbon St., Lewiston

Formerly Cortell-Markson Co.

AUBURN-GRANITE COMPANY

150 LISBON ST., LEWISTON, MAINE

PEOPLE'S SHOE SHOP

UTTAR MOUNTAIN HOUSE

Boots, Shoes, Marron and Rubbers for Young Men and Ladies

PEOPLE'S SHOE SHOP

Co. College and Sabrina Brown

TRADE MARK

FOR  STATIONERY  CARDS

Discriminate

MULTI-GRAVING

FOR TAXI SERVICE

Phone 3000

B. Perk Company

THE BIG DISTINCTIVE STORE OF LEWISTON

Organ Recital

BY MACFARLANE

WILLIE MACFARLANE, a favorite organist with the music-lovers of Lewiston and Auburn, and also a composer of some fame, gave a delightful organ recital under the auspices of Bates Saturday evening in the Pine Street Congregational Church. Mr. Gale

B. Perk Company

THE BEST GRADES OF STYLISH APPEARANCE

For College Women

At Reasonable Prices

A Complete Stock of Everything In The Dry Goods Line

E. S. PAUL COMPANY

174 LISBON ST., LEWISTON, MAINE

LaFlamme

HIGH CLASS

PHOTOGRAPHY

Photographs for those who Discriminate

265 Lisbon Street

Cor. Chestnut Street

Contact 1141

For Taxi Service

Phone 3000

USE A YELLOW CAB

Googin Fuel Company

Coal and Wood

Telephone 1800

95 to 99 MAIN STREET, AUBURN, MAINE

Merrill & Webber Co.

PRINTERS AND BOOKBINDERS

Black

Books

Leaf

Blank

Loose

Leaf

Work to order

All kinds of BOOK and JOB PRINTING executed

in a neat, prompt and sandy manner

LaFlamme

HIGH CLASS

PHOTOGRAPHY

Photographs for those who Discriminate