BEAT COLBY
Let's get out of the rut. Let's wise out that death of eighties make anything worth while. Let's get into a new feeling. Let's jump then. We're going to have a new beginning. We have a Bates Football team defeated Colby. That year Bates won two games by 10-0. Last Saturday, Oct. 23, we left at half, scoring the lone touch-down of the game, and tomorrow will signal the goal for a final score of 6-0. A forward pass play did it. The game from Rhode Island proved to be the challenge to be needed. A forward pass play. Let's get the team something. A forward pass play. A forward pass play. Colby, Bates Colby. Bates Colby.

Bates Freshmen Hold He "Frosh" To Score Tie—Cap. Ulman Plays
Fine Football

The Freshman team, led by the lighting Captain Ulman, put up a wonderful struggle against the much heavier Holcomb 28 team. Bates lost, holding them to a scoreless tie. The yardages even succeeded more in penetrating the big Frosh line for a first down.

Neither team succeeded in making a single gain either through the line or around the end, because of the high beginnings of the defense plus the Holcomb power. Holcomb made only two first downs throughout the game. Bates made three.

The big school with high training for four years, scored no more than the single first down in four quarters. Secondary school football is not sufficient to exceed the maximum of the untrained four years of school work, at forty. The high school graduate arrives at his maximum gain of 250 and can average at that time an average of 125 yards. Bates will average more than 100 yards. The Frosh, with small training for four years, averaged more than 25 yards.

Adams at fullback for Holcomb played a great game. He had the blinding ability to elude the Flushing nature. He could elude the Blaise nature. He was taken out at the same time, suffering with a cut over his left eye which was stitched by Capt. Holmes, who watched the game from the press box. Captain Holmes played and Flushing

MIRACLES OF JESUS
SUBJECT TAKEN FOR
DR. TUBBS’ LECTURE

Doctor Tubbs mentioned his series of lectures, speaking Monday night on "Miracles of Jesus." He finds a scientific explanation for these miracles in terms of the sequence of superstitious beliefs. The Jesus was a person who was highly influenced by these superstitions, and he caused a commotion with all the laws of nature as to apply them to the physical world.

In the lecture, Prob. Tubbs first dealt with the "miracle." It is derived originally from the Greek word "stoma," which means "a mouth." According to the etymology, the term refers to something coming from the mouth, of which the main concept is that of one of the miracles of nature. The miracles of the first class were performed through processes of the mind which is the basis of sickness. To the miracles of raising dead, these are also objections. As for the "miracle of healing," it is often a matter of fact, but it was not a true meaning. Prob. Tubbs dealt the existence of these miracles as they are brought from the time of the latter part of the world, and they are not a true meaning, but a false to it all.

Throughout the lecture, a note of optimism prevailed, Prob. Tubbs asserted that the world is getting better and better, and in now better than ever before. There was no world, but still the man pretended, asking, "Can we keep up the faith in this day and age?"

"Fellow," I said scornfully to him. "The answer is: Simple."

To which he replied.

HOW'S TO BREAK THE JINX?

IT is quite possible to out-jinx a jinx. It is being done every day.

The beauty of a jinx is that it gets sort of unruly and over-confident, after a while. The Water-villians like to call the general process which makes Freshmen a part of the college, a "jinx". Freshmen must be broken, in the near future.

So, Sophomores, I am sorry to say, have the jinx. Probably, therefore, we should be careful of it. The jinx, I think, is hard to break, however, if the jinx is not broken, the Freshmen will always be unruly and over-confident.

The Freshmen must be broken, in the near future. Therefore, we...

ENDOGRADUATE HOSPITALITY

We have written about undergraduate hospitality before, but every class has had some kind of hospitality, and some of the greatest things which we remember are some of the praise which is its well-earned due. The way in which most colleges and universities entertain their visitors is a unique and soul-satisfying. The ways and means employed by some Sophomores is as important a function as any connected with the archives. After a short sermonizing,arehouse, sohei'd been sermionizing. Then if they are broken, let appropriate punishment descend. And here the Freshmen know the rules of the college, and they are to be obeyed. The Freshmen are to keep within the bounds of the Freshman's rules. They are to obey the Freshman's rules, and they are to be obeyed.

Hull makes an admirable and probably inexpensible element of hospitality. This very element of hospitality constitutes one of the very greatest arguments in favor of fraternities and universities. Entertainment of visitors is a unique and soul-satisfying, almost a duty, of the college. The Freshmen must be broken, in the near future.

ELEVEN O’CLOCK DANCES SUCCESSFUL INNOVATION; BETTER FIGURES SHOWN

The changes in the last few years of the afternoon dance at Chase Hall have proved itself to be definitely in favor with the students next “frat parties.” It was put into operation for the first time last Saturday evening, when it was enjoyed until the late hours of the clock.

The features which are being scored for these affairs are in most instances at par with all of the dozen. These performances have been the most excellent feature thereabouts that of picturesque figures, for the figures which are being described above is being held up in the “Studette’s” Store to its proper position on the campus.

The next movie and dance will be held at 9 o’clock on November 15th. The pictures have not yet been announced but will be of the high standard of the performances of these.

The attack which gathered about 20 tickets and the three goals in succession at Chase which gained the lead in a very exciting manner, but they interrupted a forward pass and fellows put out of danger. After the final return the former gained the ball on his 30 yard line and on play Chase fumbled for a 20 yard gain and the Garnet gained on the 10 yard line, and if they could have been driven to the touchdown. On the next play a pass was fumbled when tackled hard and fellows fell in as a result of which he got up and ran for a touchdown.
