STUDENT COLLEGES ADVANCE CONFERENCE

Officers of Bates Student Govt. Discus Problems of Time and Place

Miss Helen Lockwood and Miss Isabel Furse, President and Vice President of Students' Government, also attended the annual conference of the Woman's Intercollegiate Association for Student Government which was held at Vassar College, last week. Both colleges are from eastern college conferences.

The session opened with an address by Miss Lockwood, a student of Vassar, who spoke on the attitude of the faculty toward Student Government.

At the following session each college presented its relation of Student Government to Education and Public Opinion through the process of achieving aims and ideals which are considered eternal. The colleges represented at the conference were the following:

The general opinion of the conference was that student government organizations should be no more of a factor in shaping democratic public opinion than they are already. The problem is that of the college and its methods of carrying forward the process of enfranchising the student body for ratification.

The delegates of Vassar College, like the others, were filled with social activities among which were the social activities at which both students and the faculty of Vassar, including President Gleason, also interested interest in the women's college. Miss Helen Lockwood was president of the student body and was particularly interested.

We have this week received what amounts to a great sensation in our lifetimes; we have been taken not only by the newspapers but by the students themselves, who have given us a new source of income in the form of a new pamphlet of the press. "The Attack of War," published by Sherwood Eddy and "Questions and Answers" by a New York Colleger, is the sensation of the week. The volume has been sent to the press, and we are looking forward to its appearance in time for the next issue.

The pamphlet is divided into two parts. The first part, "The Attack of War," is a series of essays dealing with the war. The second part, "Questions and Answers," is a collection of questions asked by the students and answered by the author. The pamphlet is not intended as a treatise on the war, but as a collection of essays that deal with the war and its effects.

A STATEMENT

We print verbatim the following article which appeared in the New York Herald Tribune, published by the "New York Herald Tribune Publishing Company.

The Bates College-Cornell Committee's report on the recent foreign conference was one of the factors in the sale of stock in New York. The committee's report was published in the New York Herald Tribune on the 23rd of last month. The report was also published in the New York Times on the 24th of last month.

SHERWOOD EDDY LEAVES LASTING IMPRESS ON ALL

Most of the students who read the statement in the Chase Hall bulletin that the Reverend Dr. Sherwood Eddy would be Chaplain of the Bates College-Cornell Committee, were not dissatisfied with the article, entitled "More Than A Filling Station." The committee's report was published in the New York Herald Tribune on the 23rd of last month. The report was also published in the New York Times on the 24th of last month.

New Hampshire Univ, is Too Strong For Plucky Garnet Crew

Peterson, Childs, Fellows and Ray Star

The Garnet cleared the football season but yesterday by losing to the University of New Hampshire at 8 o'clock at Durham. The score by no means indicates the clearness of the game. The-Americans were far the better team but they were not able to penetrate the heavy blue line.

The least period was full of exciting football. Long runs and completed forward passes featured the quarter. A remarkable field goal by Apilin and two touchdowns were the scoring in this period. Bates threatened to score two or three times but failed. [Continue reading article...]

CONTRIBUTORS TO THE COURSE

Mr. Malin spoke to the girls with a great deal of enthusiasm and there is no doubt that the course they were about to take was one that would penetrate the heart of the wearer of the heavy blue line.

There were several long runs and completed passes by Bates. The fast, clean, hard tackling of the New Hampshire men was marked.

Wentworth was the worst team in the country for the last quarter. The New Hampshire man was the greatest getter for the wearer of the blue and between them, Abigail and O' Connor, rested the work of carrying the ball. New Hampshire's first march down the field was halted when Wentworth fumbled and Ray recovered. Plenty pointed, and thus began the March for New Hampshire's first score. After several long runs by Wentworth, O'Connor took the ball over on an line and in the last part of the game Wentworth carried the ball over on two plays and O'Connor kicked the ball. There was so much in the second period for the Garnet to withstand that it was unable to penetrate the heavy blue line.
