THE BATES VIEWPOINT

An article appeared in one of the Lewiston papers on Monday last telling of the behavior of Bates Students at the Lewiston High School football games.

It seems that the writers assumed that at least fifty students jumped the fence in order to gain entrance to a foot-ball game. Although the number to which this did not come anywhere near fifty it is still a show that our adopted employed this method. It has been the interference of some of Lewiston's.

THE BATES VIEWPOINT

Taking Action in Regard To Resignation of Dean Niles

The women of Bates College concurred in main meeting Monday night in the resignation of Fred Hall, the president of the women's student government association at Bates, and most probably significant, the resignation of an entire list of presidents, hedges, women's association as chairman. Shady S. S. Butler, one of the women's association as chairman, Shady S. Butler, one of the outstanding students of the association, has been 이번 GREAT IMPORTANCE: great advancement in the women's department of physical education; the recognition of a women's student government association at Bates, and possibly significant, the resignation of an entire list of presidents. The resignation was immediately followed by an appeal to the assembled.

Resolved 1. That Bates women understand, and appreciate, the position of the students, and that such women's association, that the women's association should be called upon to resign.

Resolved 2. That the women's association, that the women's association, that the women's association should be called upon to resign.

Resolved 3. That the women's association, that the women's association should be called upon to resign.

Resolved 4. That the women's association, that the women's association should be called upon to resign.

Resolved 5. That the women's association, that the women's association should be called upon to resign.

Thanksgiving

It is not at all inappropriate that at this season of the year, Bates students should feel themselves thinking of Thanksgiving. It is altogether a custom, this business of Thanksgiving. The necessity of the custom is not so apparent to us as it is to the younger generation, but we think we ought to be satisfied with the custom as it is, sufficiently to justify the continuation of the day. But to the college student of 1924, Thanksgiving should have a larger and more fruitful message. The student at Bates, has plenty for which to be thankful.

Perhaps it is not so readily noticeable to us, of the present student generation, but Bates College is in the midst of a phenomenal and altogether healthy growth. Those who knew the college eight or ten years ago find, when they survey it today, many remarkable changes. Among these are many material changes. There are also many more human changes. The college is a different place in every respect. We are even more conscious of this than before, we are more conscious of it, and we think we are justified in thinking so.

For another thing, we believe that the character of the student body at Bates is changing. Alumni have told us the same thing, and they have been right. We feel that the new growth in liberalism, the new spirit of the free and the open, has been tinged as in all the student body with a feeling of new freedom and hope. We want to attempt the impossible. Our horizon is broadened. The tremendous growth in the last four years has witnessed in extra-curricular activities, affects the fact. There are many other ways, we believe, in which Bates is evolving, becoming more and more attractive than this, the first one.

The Outing Club is carrying on of Maine that they ought to be interested in outdoor things, but it should be our task to attempt the impossible. Our horizon is broadened. The true spirit of the post-bellum times, has tinged us all in the college. It is the wish of the Outing Club that everybody in college will.

Time has flourished as a magazine of the University, for the first time in its seven years of existence. The fact that some of them owe him money.

There are many other ways, we believe, in which Bates is evolving, and it is the wish of the Outing Club, an organization of which the college people are so proud, to have its influence felt in the coming year. The club wants students to become interested in all outdoor things. It hopes to open other cabins, even the new spirit of the post-bellum times, has tinged us all in the college. It is the wish of the Outing Club that everybody in college will.

...silently un赢得了 the Faculty saying, "Now, let us discuss the Curriculum of the College."

ability

The meeting was a unique one for the College, as it included representatives from various disciplines, and it was held in a relaxed and informal setting.

The attendees included the dean of the faculty, the department heads, and representatives from the student council. The discussion centered around the curriculum, with a focus on the need for flexibility and innovation in the educational process.

There was a general agreement that the curriculum should be revised to include more practical and interdisciplinary courses. It was also suggested that the faculty should work closely with the student council to ensure that the courses met the needs of the students.

The meeting ended with a vote of confidence in the administration and a commitment to work together to improve the educational experience for all students.

Congratulations to the faculty and students for their valuable contributions to the discussion. We look forward to seeing the results of their efforts in the future.

Y. W. BAZAAS COMING DEC. 11

The Y. W. C. A. Bazaar will be held in Chase Hall on December 11th. The plans already made make certain the presence of the best bazaar yet. There will be something going on all the time from noon and evening. Come and see the clever touches in the advertising and return at night to see the play. There is a surprise in store for all at the play. The Million Dollar Prize stars will take the honors. Don't miss the show!

SPOTFOOT CLUB
Upford Club on Tuesday night in Library Forum. After a few humorous matters had been disposed of, a short story by Dorothy Clark was recited. The story, "Ages of Boys," was colored by an imagination of its own, but the theme, which dealt with the end of life with the exception of riches, caused a heated discussion among the club members. The Champus read a few poems of advice and the evening ended with a good game of El- gins and, and of Sliping.

KENSIT DANCE
A very successful and enjoyable dance was held by the Senior Class last Saturday evening at Chase Hall. In spite of the inclement weather there was a large attendance on the part of both sexes and even the Freshmen agreed that the dance they received was worth the trouble. They worked in expressing their final sentiments to the class. Malcolm Gray's Collegiate Symphony accompanied with their usual joy, and not only contributed to the life of the proceedings but materially aided the sale of ice cream by their cheery and lively music to get the dancers "warm up." To the girls of the Senior Class pass the credit for the artistic decoration of Chase Hall. The feminine touch was noticeable even on the tavern.

DORTNINE-WORCESTER INITIATION
