Last Monday morning in chapel the under-graduates of Bates College voted unanimously for the "Bobcat" as the Bates turtom. The students had been waiting for this opportunity for an open motion was offered to give suitable suggestions for a Bates turtom, by placing their choice in ballot boxes located in frequented parts of the campus. Dr. Charles A. Hershey, captain of the track team, has been the Varsity Club coach for the past year. It is an attempt to sound the opinions of the students in the selection of the "Bandit," a turtom which the Varsity Club endued at their last meeting, after a secret ballot vote. The factor throughout the campaign is spreading Chinese astrology. As the first signing lettered as representatives of the first and next college department, Professor C. W. Bunge, president of the Student Council, made a brief and very convincing plea for a turtom. He said: "As freshmen, we found ourselves placed in a position that the turtom is the only emblem that will give Bates much needed recognition.

B. C. Logan, prominent debater, president of the Bates "Turto" Club, next addressed the audience. Mr. Logan pointed out that the turto problems have meant to other schools to give them a unique feature to have dramatics on the turto program. Our "American" group was the first to speak and Mr. Logan desired that the turto select a turto which would give Bates much needed recognition.

The final score was 43 to 16. The Williams will mingle with Roger passing and shooting baskets as well. Played between dormitories. The West Parker, the-funts which lolled around the breaks had been with them. Sin-netted 12 points, flioiix getting 11 of their favorites. By one basket, the score standing 12 re  completely outclassed. But Parker displayed a fine calibre of grass directly in front of Hathorn Hall, where the two poles converge. The next games will he played Thurs-day. It is propose.d that various student committees go ahead with the project, which the proposition will soon be put up for the student body, if present plans carry through.

Do College Students Read Advertisements?

If you do, surely you will read this one

One fine day a Sophomore from a leading University came to see us, suggesting that we advertise in your undergraduate paper, and bossed all of us around, and this is how he did it:

"For—It belonged to Life Insurance because his uncle (a good business man) had advised him to buy some. He also knew that he could buy Insurance NOW at half the annual cost his uncle and Father had paid for their insurance.

All this convinced him that even a student, who had not taken out as much Life Insurance as his allowance would permit.

What About You?

Every college student looks forward to a career, which will make possible the fulfillment of most cherished desires—surely Insurance is a necessary part of this program.

Insure, in part at least the value of your educated self, NOW, making up your mind to increase it as your business or professional success follows.

The John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company issues all forms of Life Insurance, endowment for home and estate protection, mortgage re- payments, education of children, health or income for old age; also annuities and permanent payment disability. The John Hancock is particularly interested in insuring college men and women and obtaining college grad uates for the personnel of the field staff.

What's the use of artificial lighting?

It is mainly experimental, aiding General Electric scientists to solve high power transmission problems. Many such experiments yield no immediate return. But in the long run this work is practical and important. It is part of the study which must go on unceasingly if this powerful force, Electricity, is to be fully tamed and enlisted in your service.

PROF. TUBBS CONCLUDES LECTURES ON RELIGION

On Monday evening, December 1, Dr. Frank B. Tubbs gave his sixth and final lecture on "The Problems of the College Man in Religion." It was held in Bowers Hall as usual, and was conducted as an informal meeting in which the students were invited to present any questions they were desirous of having discussed.

Dr. Tubbs spoke of church creeds and the necessity of cultivating a broad and impartial judgment instead of a restricted view concerning them. In addition, he brought out the fact that no single sect or group of people can rightfully lay claim to the absolute Truth and deny the righteousness of other beliefs. In respect to this narrow-mindedness, he alluded to the huge crowd of people in the past concerning creeds and beliefs.

According to the Doctor, science and religion are unquestionably related to each other. He also maintained that anyone who asserts that they conflict in any particular has a misconception of either one or the other. As a matter of fact, the most prominent men of the scientific age are invariably found to be devout and earnest Christians.

That the basis of education should be spiritual rather than intellectual, was naively pointed out in the lecture. In connection with that statement it was added that the building and forming of character should be one of paramount objects of education.

Dr. Tubbs' subject has been of vast interest to the many upper classmen who have attended this series of lectures. Much lecture held some message for everyone, and the course has helped many to broaden their views as well as to gain knowledge of religion and its manifold problems.

Paul Parker: "Before I consent to the marriage, I must know this young man's qualifications. Now, has he great strength, endurance? Can he keep on his feet despite entangling influences? Has he balance, poise?"

Pamela: "Oh, yes, duly! Regret for tests divinity!"
