This year's production, "The Youngest," takes place Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Roger Evans, '28 and Marion Garcelon, '28 have the leading parts.

Mr. Roger Evans '28 plays a difficult part as Mr. Richard Winslow, The "Youngest." He is one of those few actors who can vary much while being in a suit and tie. His part required him to be in control at all times. Evans was very much enjoying the action at the last minute.

Miss Marion Garcelon, '28 plays the part of the wife who discovers the infidelity of her husband, Mr. Winslow. Miss Garcelon has had much experience and is very clear in this part. Her character, the head of the family is performed by Mr. Roger Miller, '20, playing a robot. The acting was played very well. Miss Garcelon was the best actress of the play. She was very clear and well timed. The audience was not sure whether to laugh or cry.

The next scene is at Music Hall. There, the men of John Bertram Hall entered the room. They were dressed very formally in football helmets. Each helmet had the name of the player inscribed on it. The names were: "F. A. Fisher, '28," "H. Oviatt, '28," "B. Bowe, '28," and "M. Duff, '28." The men walked in with a rush and a hang. At Chapel, the funeral exercises were closed. The play will be given Jan. 18 and 19. Miss Garcelon plays the part of Nancy Wake who discovers that the "Youngest" is her son. Her troubles are the basis for the action of the play. Miss Garcelon was playing her part very well. The audience was not sure whether to laugh or cry.

MY GIRL

She is the same from year to year.

Oh, yes, she is a friendly Jane,

She is the same from year to year.

My girl sees to my every need,

My girl, a friendly sort of lane,

And she can always count on me.

My girl is always there when I need her,

Dreams of Youth—Winternitz.

Harry Wives of Windsor—Nicolai.

My girl, a friendly sort of lane,

My girl sees to my every need,

She is the same from year to year.

My girl, a friendly sort of lane,

My girl, a friendly sort of lane,

My girl is always there when I need her,

Dreams of Youth—Winternitz.

LEADERS CONDEMN MILITARY TRAINING

Military training in high schools and in colleges, according to two recent addresses, is being sharply decried by its effect upon high schools, and (2) with compulsory training which is part of the price for that action to secure for American youth the highest Ideals of interest of our universities to the best for American leadership in world peace.

W. Norris (Rep.), an. I Robert W. al'ol ment issued in December by a repre sent parts of the price for thai to be forced into accepting training when imposed by college faculties. A truth to impart aggressive, overwhelming rejection.

At the very least, Hoessfeld—

"As a fresh as a duty, this column is lacking in the expectancy of a presentation of two different sub jects with which we wish to express our thanks and satisfactions to the BSS program for dealing with the menace of political thinking will be issued within a day or two.

The attack is contained in the fore word of a pamphlet entitled "The Ideas in American Education which are Authorised by the States," and which is packaged within the opening paragraph of the foreword, commenting upon the state of the nation's educational system:

...and with a broad grin of anticipa tion on his face, is fully setting his mind wander in dreams and visions which enable something. We fight for a free world.

"But facts like these call for some...

"If in your opinion...

"It is very often a chastisement, a flagellation, and an insuperable..."}

The opening paragraph of the foreword, commenting upon the state of the nation's educational system:

"But facts like these call for some..."
President Gray and student representatives deliver speeches at short-notice ceremony. Papers and books are sealed within cornerstone.

The cornerstone of the new Athletic building was laid on the morning of November 14, immediately after chapel services, a procession passed from the chapel, led by the freshmen, to the site where the cornerstone was to be placed. A double line was made, through which the president, his family, and guests passed, followed by the students.

The invocation was given by Rev. E. D. Leighton, Miss E. E. Pearson, after which President Gray read the resolution of the trustees and the ceremony of the gift of the ring.

Burke, the president, presented to the trustees, and Dean Ferry, president of the university, spoke on the importance of the new building to the men and women of the college, and of the possibilities it had for future training.

A list of articles sealed in the box which was placed in the stone included: Bates Catalog 1924-25, report of president, by the trustees of Bates College, Maine, for the year 1923-24, printed at the University Printing House, Oxford, Me., on the left-hand side, and the History of the University of the camp and student body.

President Gray then announced the placing of cement on the foundation. After the ceremony the band also sang and the students departed for classes of instruction.

PERSONALS

Professor Robinson has returned for the spring semester. During the winter he spent a delightful vacation in N. Y. S. As a consequence of this he was a member of the class of 1930. During the last 10 years of his teaching he has done an immense amount of research, preparing himself for the new academic year. Professor Robinson has made an impression on the students, and they are looking forward to his return.

Miss Rasa, assistant physical director for women, journeyed to Laramie, Wyo., to spend the holidays. During the visit she enjoyed a large family reunion, bringing the first time she has been away from college for a considerable length of time.

Dean Ruth F. Page tells of some interesting experiences during a visit she spent at her home in Washington, D. C. She was in a room which was surrounded by several people. Fortunately she received no injuries in the accident. She is also filing ideas for some new courses which she is to give next semester.

Several of the faculty enjoyed the bright lights and merry festivities of Yuletide. Among these spending part of the holiday in New York were: Miss Eliza, Professor Thomas, Mrs. Grossman, Miss Gough, Professor Grossman, Professor Grossman, Professor Grossman, Professor Grossman, and Professor Grossman.

Miss Carrie, one of the best professors in the college, is preparing for her next class, which is due to begin in the fall.

WRIGHT, MASS.

The cover of the Bulletin had a New Year's Eve party and a dance at the Student Y. M. C. A. The party was attended by several members of the faculty and students. The dance was attended by a large number of people. The bulletin was also filled with several articles on the opening of college after having spent the holidays. During the vacation there was a considerable amount of activity on the campus, and the students were busy preparing for the opening of the new semester.

New Editors for the Student

A new position on the staff of the Student has been created. It is the position of personal editor. This new office will be filled by Edgar Carlson, '26, in keeping with the new year.

The American Football Awards for the coming year will be: Herbert Wright, William Roberts, Dean Hull, Roy Thompson, Monty Clark, and Donald Apple. Their positions will be announced soon.

BATES BULLETIN APPEARS

The second number of the Bates Bulletin for the year 1925 was published. The Bulletin is a monthly publication, distributed free to all the students. It is a very interesting publication, containing articles of interest to all the students, and is well worth reading.

Year greeting to all the men and women of Bates from President Gray. On the second page were two pictures of the team, one being the photograph of the new Athletic Building, taken on its opening day, and the other a picture of the team being in action during the season.
