OPENING OF BATES BASEBALL SEASON NOT FAR DISTANT

Powerful Aggregation Built About Veterans of Last Year's Championship Team Is Expected

Although several players of Bates' championship team of last year have graduated, the prospects are good for an equally successful aggregation this season. The team has been afforded as yet no new candidates to demand their worth. Coach Wiggie has a large core of last year's team from which to choose.

The loss of Hamilton, Porret, and Mandell from the battery will be felt, but with Haskins back at catcher's position, Charley Smollett in the second, Nick, Black, Escott, and好きな in the outfield, the team will be in the state. These men have been much

The other infield candidates and the outfield men are getting under way now as yet because of the late vacation. However, there is no doubt that the Bates team will be declared the best in the state. The Colby and Waterville teams follow:

Compulsory Military Drill Is Subject of Debate

For the sixth time, Bates and Yale are to meet in a forensic competition in the Chapel, Saturday evening, April 16. Previous contests were in 1917, 1921, 1922, '24 and '25. All except the last were victories for Bates.

The question of peculiar interest just at present in collegiate circles is, whether or not the student body is to be granted the option of military training. At present the choice is left to the student having the largest number of votes for the matter. WOMAN EDITOR FIRED

One of the most startling developments in the controversy recently took place in the college when Miss Perkins, as editor of the student's magazine, was discharged from her duties as editor by order of the college authorities. It seems like this was the result of a split issue. The entire staff of the magazine was involved in the dispute, but Miss Perkins, as editor of the student's magazine, was discharged from her duties as editor by order of the college authorities. Everyone in Maine enjoyed our annual "Tournament", a popular event that has much to do with our base. In fact, it was being given half a chance. As a result, the SMART in Maine is bit more certain than in South. We do like to feel that Maine is bit more real.
