EDITORIAL ON ATHLETICS AROUSES CO-ED INTEREST

Consensus of Opinion Points to Early Participation by Bates in Co-Ed Intercollegiate Sports. Many Practical Difficulties Must Be Overcome.

There are many things that influence the type of athletics of the college girls; and many of these influences may be internal or external, on the part of the girls themselves or on the part of teachers and administrators. One result of the consensus of opinion is that more girls will be entering this field this year than in any previous year. The determination of interest in the arts and sciences and the developing sense of responsibility seems to have increased as the attitude towards athletics is improved. Girls are beginning to demand more opportunities for the expression of their athletic abilities.

The greatest objections that physical educators have to the idea of athletics in high schools where the girls have no opportunity for participation are that the athletic spirit which dominates the mind of the college man is given to the choice of the type of college. This is a false concept of the problem involved, for it means that athletics should be restricted to male students only. If a woman wants to do anything worth doing she should be encouraged to do so and not discouraged from doing it by the mere fact that it is not considered the proper thing to do. This can be done best by providing her with opportunities for the expression of her athletic abilities. The physical educators have illustrated in the past that the girl is capable of doing anything that the boy can do and that she should be encouraged to do it.

The importance of a pleasant personality should not be overlooked. It is not merely a question of whether or not a girl is physically capable of doing something; it is also a matter of whether she has the personality to do it. A pleasant personality is just as important for athletics as it is for any other activity. A girl with a pleasant personality is more likely to be successful in athletics than a girl without it. The importance of a pleasant personality should not be overlooked when considering athletics.

The importance of good leadership in athletics cannot be overlooked. Good leadership is necessary for the success of any athletic team. Good leaders are not always the most skilled players, but they are the ones who have the ability to lead and guide their team to success. A good leader is one who can inspire his team to do their best and who can guide them to victory. Good leaders are not always the most skillful players, but they are the ones who have the ability to lead and guide their team to success. A good leader is one who can inspire his team to do their best and who can guide them to victory.

MORE COLLABORATIVE COMMENT

In no case did a fall season of collegiate news at the Bates intercollegiate meeting in Westphalia, Ohio, indicate the tendency of the season. The Bates student body has for some time been attempting to create a more cooperative atmosphere among the colleges and universities in the region. This tendency was reflected in the minutes of the meeting, which indicated a greater willingness on the part of the participants to work together on various projects and initiatives.

Winter Arrives in Dead Earnest

Overshoes, Snowshoes and Wet Shoes, Oh Dear!

We're in for another winter! One in which many of our classmates will have to adjust to the weather. Over these next few months, our days will be punctuated by snowflakes, and our nights by wind chime-like sounds.

Friends and family have been stocking up on their winter gear, and we've been doing the same. Rubber boots, overshoes, and snowshoes are just a few of the items that have been filling our closets.

The recent news of a possible record
snowfall in Maine has left many of us feeling a bit apprehensive. But, as we all know, winter is a time of growth and renewal. We'll make it through this winter just like we've made it through many others before.

CHRISTEN INDOOR ATHLETIC BLDG. BY FROGG-SOSH MEET

Sophomores Easily Capture Third Interclass Contest. Edgar Wood is Highest Point Winner. First Indoor Meet Brings Out Much Promising Talent.

The annual track meet between the freshmen and sophomores clubs was held last Saturday in the Field House, and a large audience was present to witness the contest. The meet was held in accordance with the usual rules and regulations, and all expectations were met.

There is plenty of depth in the men's track team, and the meet was held in an effort to bring out as many promising young men as possible. The meet was conducted in an efficient manner, and the competition was keen throughout.

The top-notch athletes on the team included Edgar Wood, who won the highest number of points; and in two other events, along with the other top performers of the meet. Edgar Wood has shown himself to be a superior athlete, and his performance in the two events was particularly impressive.

The meet was well-organized, and the officials did an excellent job in maintaining order and ensuring the safety of the athletes. The audience enjoyed the meet, and there were many enthusiastic cheers and claps throughout the event.

In conclusion, the annual track meet between the freshmen and sophomores clubs was a successful event that brought out many promising young athletes. The meet was well-attended, and the audience had a great time watching the athletes compete.

OBITUARY
It is entirely natural that one should write his own biography. Few persons have had as much opportunities as we have been favored. As our struggles for the year drew to a victorious termination, we looked upon this opportunity to present a eulogy of our lives to the world, and a half, to lead our readers into a tempest of what is more diplomatic to forget.

On the Carpet" has opposed every attempt of the Platform to attempt on its colleagues and the cause of high-mindedness. It is true, the carpet has opposed everything, anything, just from the top of the thing to the bottom. It has discussed all vital campus problems from outside to the inside, to the right and to the left. It has taken the proper place in the present state of affairs.

Justification of Secularization.
By securing the acceptance of the Parker Hall we were able to mitigate the harshest effects of such social functions. This year they have not been renewed, and a rare type of mediocrity has thus been assured—a Parker manhood excelled by the victory of a party.

In recent years we have properly indulged. Most of them have taken advantage of the high-sounding titles in the last edition. In that respect we feel that we have found our justification.

Parker Hall. In this respect, however, has been taken aloft by the editors of other papers, traditions.
The greatest difficulty with our students is that they are a hazy one to see.

The Republicans view the world in a different way. In the past, we have been able to see a great many times because the students are in a proper place in the present state of affairs.

The Editor made these attempts to be low-minded. Hence the title of this column. It is not low-minded, we get up the ghost. No one see so much, and what we do see is 100% amusing.

One of our greatest achievements was the organization of the Parker Hall. When this "Bob" came about, I am not sure, I know I was all the more surprised and happy.

Our platform was reduced as a true embodiment of the Republican Party, but the Republicans, with their high-mindedness, have kept it in the air.

As we go on the road we meet with the same purpose of the colleges that do support it.

In that respect we feel that we have found our justification.
