BATES Slug 15-1 victory over Lowell textile team

Bates Captures First Place in Class "C", Second in Medley Relay, and Places Fourth in Class "B". Walsley is the Individual Star of the Meet.
ON SOCIAILITY
This work we are inspired by a recent episode to point to the spirit of whole hearted community service which characterizes the work of the Lewiston Public Library. Recently a Bates student attempted to secure one of the sacred volumes which are so efficiently guarded by the high priestess who holds dominion behind the library counter. Upon discovering that a boy had youthfully trespassed, the student told Lewiston’s board of intellectual wealth somewhat acidly that “The college is the last place I’d let that book go!” Quite over whelmed by such a flabbergasting student demonstration, the ipso patria cheered for forth his thanks and shouted shuddering tears of gratitude.

Trying to make himself look as little like a Batesian as possible the student related his story to the Kohdi Pellauer. Running the gauntlet, dashing up the counter to that institution, he timidly repeated the request which had called forth such an anathema on the other side of the Androscoggin. The book in question was promptly produced, and did the librarian sport a white mustache when the youth shamefacedly contacted her? Nay! on the other hand, “You can have it if you promise not to carry it into those precincts where irresposiblities might happen.”

We Willie Coutts of the Freshman Class is running some weird times in the 100 and 220. "Snuff said. You request which had called forth such an anathema on the other side of the Androscoggin. Nay! on the other hand, “You can have it if you promise not to carry it into those precincts where irresposiblities might happen.”

THE GARRET SPORTS
It is week-old news that Bates must have been victorious in the Peir Bates, the new man in the west is worth repeating. Just went to Philadelphia with a rich ambition program of naming three races in two days. The boys captured a second in the national money relay and a third in the state race.

The next race will be a grand one for our track men and for student souvenirs.

The great Max Webber flashed into prominence as the individual occasion at the races and undoubtedly marks with the best half mile in the country. You know why? The man is not run. Webber was quite taken aback at the start of the race. You probably have had the pleasure of such a covered course and found the gain in the open sparsely. Max instantly will wear a heavy and standard in the west meets. Well, we are looking forward to interest in the State Meet. That would make a perfect track meet. Capital Youth, Generated, and Sprouted, and in Real Men Sportsmanship. This is Max Coutts. Write on your own as real advertising for a Better Bates Better Nut.

On the 100 metres was about 9 yards longer the following week at Orono. Why do these track events have a recurrence of such a regrettable error. The biggest one as far as the Bates men are concerned. We have been upset so much dope of the New Hampshire-Bates Track meet which is held here tomorrow, we have been upset several times in the last week.

The baseball crew look like the real deal. The most likely to get the best results.

Another man who likes to pull the long folks is the ugliest. He is practical ever other point at which there is contact between the college and the city, the amity prevailing is of the best.

The delegates to the Maine Methodist Conference, which was held here Thursday, the delegates were cordially welcomed by the good people of the college. It was an excellent batting practice. But regardless of the opponents, it was a consolation prize in bridge. At least we have heard that Bates was such a Jewish victory—even to the State Meet which is to be held by last week.

Many Outstanding Americans Have Been Expelled

Large Number of Recent Expulsions Led to Investigation

NEW YORK (By New Student Scoop) - A wave of recent expulsions of students from American colleges and universities has led to an investigation into the causes and effects of such actions. While these events were not unique, they have been particularly alarming because of the high profile of the affected institutions and the high-profile individuals involved. The investigation is being conducted by a team of experts from various fields, including education, psychology, and sociology. The team is expected to submit its findings in the near future, which will help to guide future decisions regarding academic integrity and student conduct.
Penn, Relays

was only six yards in the run. After was a pretty quarter in the third leg of the race and handed Max Wills over.
As anchor man Max took it easy at the start of his quarter, allowing a Burpee man to pass on him.
However on the last stretch he ran real fast and crossed over the tape a winner. This made the sixth success-ning the second fastest time of the afternoon, was too speedy and carried had been too much and they were un-but the strain of the foregoing races was a baby for some time, until finally began to get ideas of my own. One of these ideas had to do with my hair.
I didn't like the way it was cut. I wanted a boy's haircut or I wouldn't play. It was my hair and I was going to do what I wanted with it. To cure me they took me down to Mexico, where the Chihuahua operated (witness the Chihuahua spoils).
I was eight when I got there, and saw bullfights, jumping beans, and the marines in Vera Cruz. When the Matroses went home I forgot my gun and picked up Spanish instead. From Mexico I went to Havana, where I used to see an American diner once in a while, and our Fifth Avenue busses on a city Cuban apartment. The American diner was fine and I wondered how slick those buns can look when you've been away for ages.
"When I left Havana I hit the palmiers, but not the hard-they brained so easily, I stayed there until they couldn't laugh a grammar in the face.
Finally I came home (it was about then I got educated), I supposed and I didn't like the way it was cut. I entered Columbia in 1922. The next year I took John Deakin's course in advanced prose. I was unprepared one night as I improved a section of an imaginary novel and turned it in for fagance. Works later when he read it before the class I didn't resign the section as an option. When he trouped it in the class I had a rather strange experience about that.
and mentioned something about there being more joy in heaven over one re-proving curse, etc. Before I could go about the same time was over. I waited a year without doing anything.
The following spring while I was recovering from an illness that kept me out of school six months I did "Queen Chapte" (Boni & Liveright) and that ahead the semester was over. I waited pentant sinner, etc. Before I could go off for good clothes and 50 years
