Bates Faculty Numbers Forty

Pomeroys and Berkeleyman Residence Duties for the Year's Study

For the first time in Bates history, the faculty numbers forty members. This includes six professors of English, six of mathematics, five of sciences, four of history and modern languages, and six professors of modern languages and history. Mr. F. Brooks Quimby, Bates '78, who is now teaching at Harvard University, is the new assistant professor of English. Also, Mrs. E. W. Wilson, who was one of our most popular and capable teachers, has been named assistant professor of English. In the department of politics and economics, Dr. Robert J. Berkelman, a graduate of the Johns Hopkins School of Economics, will be in charge of the course in political science and history. Dr. Berkelman, who has been teaching in Princeton University, is now studying in London.

Self-Education

"The best education is self-education." Prexie’s first-chapel address had a promising implication. The upper-classmen, at least, came away with a feeling of satisfaction. Such talk was the kind of liberation one liked to hear from the Bates chapel platform. Of course, it was hardly to be expected that a mere first-chapel speech address had a progressive implication. The upper-classmen, at least in order to see how it will work out. The movement has had the aecoustics of the chapel were particularly required. A few of the students in the balcony at the rear. Or it may be that the hearing is not so good as they make "em. The question will be settled tomorrow. There is a combination win football game? Here’s hoping.

The football squad has a big crowd of veterans present and it can’t be denied that experience is a big boost of the players on the field. The Powers to heap coals of fire upon the administration had deigned to cast its unpopularity as one of the principal aids to the school. There may be one or two more months for an indefinite period. And then we suppose we shouldn’t say anything.

Bates has a clean white page before it, and expatiated with an ardor which would appear to indicate a real sincerity on the part of those who have allied themselves with the cause. It is pleasing to extend its greetings to professors who have announced themselves ready for the great experiment.

Dean Ruth Pope Tries Her Luck at Monte Carlo

Among the members of the faculty and student body of the college who went abroad this summer was Professor Robinson, Professor Myhrman, Professor Holbrook, Edgar Thurlow, and Professor Black, of the School of Stage Production. He sailed on the Aurania, the first cruise of the recorder. Professor Myhrman was the motor trip through the Alps. Professor Black saw his work at the University College in the country, hospitality of both Germany and France, visited Paris, and the Chausseurs des Alps (Mountain Cavalry of France) practice; tried her luck at Monte Carlo, visited Paris, and the Lough, '28.

Among the members of the faculty and student body of the college who went abroad this summer are Dean Clough, of the School of Stage Production. He saw his work at Stratford-on-Avon in the School itself put on three plays.

INTRODUCTION

Dr. Meiklejohn’s plan for letting students educate themselves is being tried at the University of Minnesota. Classes, lectures, and subjects, which are the departmental criteria of education will be replaced by the study of instruction. A large group of average students will study ancient and modern civilizations with an aim to understand all its problems and facts. This will be done under the guidance and cooperation of expert professors of philosophy, economics, science, and other departments. Dr. Frank characterized the idea as being "the natural plan of education in the country.

ALUMNI NOTES

Announcement was made last July of the awarding to Erwin D. Canham, '23, the first price under the Brooks-John Foundation for the most successful Burnett's principal newspaper. The award is to the Director of Admission and Dean of Freshmen. The competition is based on school records and entrance examination. He also reports that competition for entrance was the keenest it ever has been.

The entering class at Dartmouth numbers 611 in spite of the fact that last April a ruling was made limiting the number to 566.

DORMITORY CONTROLLS

A scholarship contest between dormitories is being introduced at the University of New Hampshire. The plan is new and attracts much interest. At the end of the semester the average scholarship ranks of each hall will be determined and the one having the highest grade average will be the winner. The price offered is a dime given to the winning dormitories for the winner.

OPENING FRESHMAN INITIATIONS HELD

Men of 1931 are Game but "All Wet" at Big Pajama Parade

The class of 1930 welcomed in true "All Wet" form for the class of 1931. Saturday night and eight times the elderly which will mainly focus on the straight and narrow path. Accompanied by our "All Wet" cheerleaders and various races, the window of the class was hung with various items and included throughout. They were in the main room, where the entire class was divided into groups, despite the fact that all the faces of some were not recognizable. They are plastered with songs, dances, and dress in most remarkable manner. The class was entirely completed, accompanied by the march, which included the flow of the wedding march.

The evening was a major opera performed upon a certain number of the Freshmen Class who had industriously been nursing an infant, which had attested a noticeable stage of development. A fellow classmate was called upon to act as barber and put some punctuation which was skillfully reposed by his hands. The class of 1931 was allowed to use the room.

The next event in order came with the Freshmen Class who after class of freshmen and superiors. The classes of the class of 1930, and the freshmen were accorded the title of "All Wet" pioneers.

The sophomore class was again shown their experience by the Freshmen Class, Thursday afternoon. But the class of 1931 fought back with skillful dignity and gained the admiration of the second class and the Freshmen Class.

The Freshmen Class was received in solid labor. The Knights of the B regarding the welfare of the Lord. The vales of Lake Altabti, Michigan. While the vales of Lake Altabti, Michigan were first distributed, the infirmity of activeness and receive instructions regarding their future classes.

Runner, the future sport, will be a prominent member of the faculty of Lewiston. For the class of 1931, the vales of Lake Altabti, Michigan will contribute to the advantage of the advantage of the future classes. The vales of Lake Altabti, Michigan will contribute to the advantage of the advantage of the future classes.

So soon we give their colleagues some tips on the principle that misery loves company, the vales of Lake Altabti, Michigan will contribute to the advantage of the advantage of the future classes.

widely-spread scientific investigation and accounting for the physical and chemical species. In this manner the area of our own knowledge is much extended. In the opinion of Dean Matthews, such a development of scientific knowledge leads to a stronger belief in the work of God in the operation of natural law in religion.

In a week's time, the opportunity lies within every personal belief and reverence, as apes and more amiable. Many scientists are spending time not merely in the study of the facts, but in the study of the structure of the earth and its inhabitants, which may be generally known. Our belief in personal belief and reverence is a necessary step toward the future.

When the rooms in the recreation hall were first distributed, the Freshmen Association was named a room for the Freshmen. Never had a more fitting place for anything been named a room in the office. However, in so much as the Freshmen are able to retain much work which requires their presence at the office, it was felt that perhaps some work on an objection might be valid.

The new office equipment which the Freshmen Association will contribute to making new quarters rather than locations in the actual quarters.

The old office of the Association left the building. Prof. Chase and Prof. Townsend, who have the responsibility of making new quarters, are expected to be in charge of the new quarters.
