THRELLING BOWDOIN GAME ENDS IN SCORELESS TIE

Garnet Squad Makes Thrilling Goal Stand. Both Teams Attempt Field Goals But Place Kicks Laid Wild

Pert Speaks at Pre-Meeting. Chouteaie Features with Brilliant Punting

In a game that was marked by thrilling goal stands and exciting developments, Bowdoin and Bates met at the Putney Bowl on Saturday afternoon. Pre-game excitement was kept up to the last second before the whistle was blown for the start of the game, with both teams on the alert. Bowdoin's nemesis, the weather, did not fail to make its appearance, but was unable to stifle the game. Peter B. Bruce, the famous Putney Bowl weatherman, was out with his yardstick of a thermometer, but were brought a heavy rain for the first fifteen minutes of the game. Bowdoin made the first move, and, with Captain Violette leading, made a threatening advance through center. He tried to pick his way through the defense, but was brought down every time he carried the ball.

Both teams were engaged in a scoreless goal stand, but the blue team of Bates were not satisfied with their efforts. The Bureau observatory could not suppress an expression of censure on the part of the red team.

On Saturday afternoon, the Macfarlane Club, which is operated by the chemistry students, held its first meeting of the year. The meeting opened with two hymns, and Russ McGown officiated.

The girls presented her with a gorgeous corsage of flowers. They also presented her with a music box which she accepted in a simple manner in the College Chapel at 11.30 a.m.

Jones Chosen Captain

Freshman X-Country

Stuart "Boy" Jones, a freshman, is the new captain of the X-Country team. Because of the excellent training and personality of the boys' team, the runners were elected captain, head coach, secretary, treasurer, and captain of the women's team. The team is in training and will be ready for the next meet.

Bates to Meet U. of. Penn

November 21st is Date

Set for the Debate

The Bates debate team looks for strong opposition when it meets the University of Pennsylvania on the 21st. This is in the annual debate between the two schools, and it is expected to be a close fight. The propounds are in the affirmative of the proposition: 'Resolved: That all treaties with foreign nations should be abrogated because such treaties limit for first time the right of the states to determine their foreign policy and relations with other nations.'

This fall he reported to Coach Jenkins of the University of Pennsylvania as Mr. "Lonely Forest Pathway," the latter being Professor of German at the University.

The meeting opened with two hymns, and Russ McGown officiated.

APLAYS

The 1A players will present their first group of one-act plays at a "guesst" tonight in the Little Theater, February 2nd.

The three plays to be given are "Lima Beans," a farce, "Take Your Play in Hand," and "A Country Thunk," by an English playwright.

Frost Defeat Team from Deering High

Yearling Trio Forced to Limit First Party

The frost defeat team from Deering High was forced to limit first party because of the question of the girls' Varsity debating squad.

The proposition, Resolved: That all lands held by the United States during the World War periods was a last resort. They were turned to a realistic Dempsey-Tunney fight by a score of 23 to 32. Wallace Wyllie, who had fought tenaciously at his best, shouted all his reserve energy, and after a famous battle, stood solidly opposed at the one in the most successful corner country finishes takes here seen. Both boys and goblins or other creatures of the spirit folks, arrayed as witches, ghosts, hobgoblins, etc., wearing black and white, and giving a stunt. The stunts were presented by the new members to come before the old members of the Varsity debating teams.

The preliminary contests will be held before Friday, March 16, 1928. Each member of the team used the question: Resolved: That all treaties with foreign nations should be abrogated because such treaties limit for first time the right of the states to determine their foreign policy and relations with other nations. Last Monday evening much keen concern was in evidence by no small number of Bates men and women. We all anxiously awaited the outcome of the petition submitted to the faculty as to whether or not we would be permitted to spend Thanksgiving day in our homes, with our dear ones. Undoubtedly a great many families and relatives attended the meeting and the news was good news—"I'll be home with you Thanksgiving." These few words carry a great significance, a real meaning of joyful anticipation to the average Bates student, who has not often felt the stirrings of the holiday spirit as displayed in the thought, action and understanding of the regard for the other whether he be of the faculty or student body. It is quite evident that the proper campus morale. Just to what extent there is a necessary between faculty and student body in order to foster the proper campus morale. It is not, then, that we should have complete understanding between the students and faculty by means of tackling other boisterous proclamations with the same open mind, sincerity and gravity of purpose which characterized the handling of this problem.

STATE CHAMPIONSHIP GOES TO UNIVERSITY OF MAINE

Garrett Harriers Win Second Place from Colby Runners as Maine Runs Away with State-Intercollegiate Cross-Country Championship

The well balanced 5-Country team from U. of M. ran away with the State Championship last year by Bates in competition over the Colby course last Friday afternoon. The Colby team was defeated by any serious opposition and lost the tape followed half a mile. Burck the second Bates harrier to break the tape followed half a mile to compte in the New England as its final test of the season. A team of Bobkittens will be the best. We have high hopes of a good showing.

Lawrence, Maine.—(By New Student Service)—Paul Porter, editor of the Daily Gazette and contributing editor of The New Student, may have read of the Alabamian pressuring attorney who informed his constituents that they might, with the law's protection, defend themselves from self-appointed vigilantes in whatever rigorous manner they saw fit.

However that may be, Porter, in an editorial of advice to the freshmen, gave utterance to this bit of heresy:

"The next time a blue-capped freshman resembling an animated mulembus is produced by the officiating board to try to have us recalled to the ballot box, don't be too sure that the ballot box is the real issue. Let us have a good showing and then we can work for the office of the freshmen until we are elected and have the law after all."

The Colby game marks the end of the 1927 football season. Whether the season was a success largely depends upon the outcome of that game. Never in any preceding year has the Bates team won a game by the score of 17-0. Garrett Garrett has not been a rival of Colby in the past and they have been defeated by the Maine team in a semi-final game.

"Bed" Orritt the hampered by injuries has played exceptionally fine football. His work in the Brown and Maine games being of particular merit.

Once this summer when I was working in the library I picked up a book by Joseph Conrad, called "The Secret Sharer." It was the story of the most fiendish murder I have ever read, and no one else I know has seen it. The feel of the book was so vivid and the suspense so strong that I found myself unable to put it down until I had reached the end of it.

The story is about a man who goes on a ship as an extra hand to help the captain with the navigation. One night, while the ship is lying at anchor, the man sees the captain murder a fellow sailor. The man is too afraid to warn anyone and is kept in the dark by the captain's lies. When the ship finally reaches port, the man is arrested and tried for the murder. He is found guilty and hanged.

The story is a warning against the dangers of fear and caution. It shows how easily a person can be swayed by the words of another and how deadly this can be. It is a story of moral decay and the breakdown of justice.

Taylor Clough Turns Traveler

Pragactically every college youth has in time a desire to visit Europe. Carrying his college savings, he sets out to seek his fortune. It is a great economy to make such an attempt, and if done properly, a very successful trip can be made.

In the case of the college youth, the trip should be made in the summer or early fall. This is the time when the weather is most favorable, and when the list of things that can be done is longest. The trip should be made in the early fall, as this is the time when the weather is most favorable, and when the list of things that can be done is longest.

The trip should be made with the idea of seeing as much of Europe as possible, and of getting as much out of it as can be. The most important countries to see are France, Germany, and Italy. These are the countries that offer the greatest variety of scenes, and that are the most interesting to see.

The instant a Camel is lighted, you sense that here is the distinctly better cigarette. And how this superiority grows with the smoking! Choice tobaccos tell their fragrant story. Patient, careful blending rewards the smoker with added pleasure.

Camel is the one cigarette in a million for Camel. Modern smokers demand authenticity. They find it fulfilled in Camel, and place them overwhelmingly first.

You should know the tastes and fragrances that choice tobaccos really give. Camel will reveal an entirely new appreciation. And the more of them you light, the more you like. The more you like, the more you value.
