PLAN FORENSIC INNOVATION IN DISCUSSION OF CENSORSHIP

Representatives from Bates and the debate club met off Fireworks.

(Notice before reading this: This has been censored by T. Brooks Quimby.)

Tuesday evening, January 28th, the atrium of the dorms was a meeting place. A group of debates were taking place, one of which was between Mr. White and Mr. Hoffman. Mr. Hoffman is a member of the debate club, and Mr. White is a member of the debate team. The debate was about the desirability of youth in woman by man. Mr. White argued that youth is desirable, while Mr. Hoffman argued that it is not.

---

ALL-COLLEGE TALENT WILL PRESENT TARKINGTON PLAY

The Intimate Strangers
To be Produced Tomorrow

SAMSUNG SMART AND NEXUS STILLS HAVE READ

Tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock the annual Varsity Play, "The Intimate Strangers," will be presented. The play is written by D. P. A. and will feature a cast of over 60 students. The play is directed by Mr. White and will be performed in the new theater on the campus.

---

THE BATES STUDENT
If any creature can be compared to the much-abused mule for balkiness at discipline and conformity to rules, it's the glorified American college man. The cause is debatable. Perhaps after one or two entanglements in the complexities of one's civic laws, he has decided on the simple extremes of ignoring them altogether. Perhaps also, being born into an atmosphere charged with the demand for personal liberty and individualism, he feels that he is a law sufficient unto himself.

If so, the present complaint is found at the Bates infirmary. Granted that the infirmary is the place for complaints, but let it also be granted that they should come only from the patients. In this instance they come from the nurse—not loud-spoken but mildly suggestive. The essence of it is that students are applying for treatment at odd times, in total disregard of conveniently arranged, well-posted office hours. The chief offenders are among the fellows, evidently since the girls are accustomed to regulations anyway.

The life of a nurse is often trying and not always pleasant. Bring on your rasping coughs, athletic noses, sore throats and tender shins, but for nurses' sake present them during office hours.

We all have learned, through observation or hearsay, that our American college man is a busy animal. If we co-eds played hosts last week-end, to other college-women in what they have descriptively named Play-Day. A write-up in a local paper attached to this week's number will tell you all about it. The Editor is responsible for the editorial contents and the general policy of the paper, and the three editors of all the Bates Campuses.

The total registration of New York University the first term for its twelve students received college has reached 359.

If in sleep you have a nightmare, don't try and Darcy. Wake up and get it down to—please the "Oxcalt".

All-College Talent will present Tarkington Play

(Continued from Page 1) woman speaker in the Bates Intercollegiate series. Devoting Longfellow's 100th, Mrs. Barnard has appendectomy in Bates one. He is naturally well suited for the part, for Mrs. Tarkington is a native New Yorker. A voice full of promise named for himself favor the 24 stallions at a colt matron character portrayed by the heroine is a daughter showman, the humorous part of a country station nation.

Another touch of humor is added by the capable reading of the part of Aunt Ellen, an old maid aunt, by Lilian Hill '32. Miss Hill will be remembered for her fine work in "The Falcon" last year. Parker Moss '29 and Marjorie Briggs '29, both men in this play limited to roles of carnival princesses in Miss Stuart's house, have been entertained by publicity and will add to the spirit of the play.

The naming of the Vanity Fair is for the first time in the hands of a student. Martin Boone '31 is holding the editing reins, and will add to the spirit. The theme of the Vanity Fair for the first time in the hands of a student. Martin Boone '31 is holding the editing reins, and will add to the spirit.

If you have a nightmare, don't try and Darcy. Wake up and get it down to—please the "Oxcalt".

All-College Talent will present Tarkington Play

(Continued from Page 1) woman speaker in the Bates Intercollegiate series. Devoting Longfellow's 100th, Mrs. Barnard has appendectomy in Bates one. He is naturally well suited for the part, for Mrs. Tarkington is a native New Yorker. A voice full of promise named for himself favor the 24 stallions at a colt matron character portrayed by the heroine is a daughter showman, the humorous part of a country station nation.

Another touch of humor is added by the capable reading of the part of Aunt Ellen, an old maid aunt, by Lilian Hill '32. Miss Hill will be remembered for her fine work in "The Falcon" last year. Parker Moss '29 and Marjorie Briggs '29, both men in this play limited to roles of carnival princesses in Miss Stuart's house, have been entertained by publicity and will add to the spirit of the play.

The naming of the Vanity Fair is for the first time in the hands of a student. Martin Boone '31 is holding the editing reins, and will add to the spirit. The theme of the Vanity Fair for the first time in the hands of a student. Martin Boone '31 is holding the editing reins, and will add to the spirit.

If you have a nightmare, don't try and Darcy. Wake up and get it down to—please the "Oxcalt".
It must be remembered that both of these successful seasons are not ones of playing a game, but rather to see how far we can improve. Colby's victory was by no means unexpected, but it did prove that we can compete with the stronger teams.

The team will look better with Zeke and Ossie in the lineup. Zeke is a star on the ice and has shown great promise. Ossie is a strong defenceman and will be missed in our lineup.

The Hockey Team

The West Point Cadets attained their second victory of the season by downing the Bobcats 2-1 in a thrilling match held at the West Point ice rink. The first period was played to a close finish, with both teams fighting hard, but Colby taking the lead. The second period was more exciting, with both teams displaying their best efforts. The outcome of the game was 2-1 in favor of Colby, with the score being 1-0 at the end of the first 20 minutes.

In the past, Bates has had no serious competition, but this year they have improved and are prepared to challenge. They have a strong defense and will be difficult to beat.

The West Point Cadets are looking forward to their next game, which will be against the Bobcats again. They are confident of their chances and believe they can continue their winning streak.

The West Point Cadets will take on the Bobcats again at home on January 25th. The game will be a tough one, but the team is confident of their chances.

The West Point Cadets are looking forward to their next game, which will be against the Bobcats again. They are confident of their chances and believe they can continue their winning streak.

The West Point Cadets will take on the Bobcats again at home on January 25th. The game will be a tough one, but the team is confident of their chances.

The West Point Cadets are looking forward to their next game, which will be against the Bobcats again. They are confident of their chances and believe they can continue their winning streak.

The West Point Cadets will take on the Bobcats again at home on January 25th. The game will be a tough one, but the team is confident of their chances.

The West Point Cadets are looking forward to their next game, which will be against the Bobcats again. They are confident of their chances and believe they can continue their winning streak.

The West Point Cadets will take on the Bobcats again at home on January 25th. The game will be a tough one, but the team is confident of their chances.

The West Point Cadets are looking forward to their next game, which will be against the Bobcats again. They are confident of their chances and believe they can continue their winning streak.
In that year 66% of the colleges using the system were colleges for men, 17% Honor System than were shown by a closely watched while they take their 36% of all the colleges in the North- situate in the Northeast, 15% are in States. 1500 to 3000; and 10, or 5.5% of the 160, or 39%, of these colleges Honor System, 417 colleges sent infor- containing questions pertinent to the that time.

This survey shows that there are some who are using the Honor System than were shown by a closely watched while they take their 36% of all the colleges in the North- situate in the Northeast, 15% are in States. 1500 to 3000; and 10, or 5.5% of the 160, or 39%, of these colleges Honor System, 417 colleges sent infor- containing questions pertinent to the that time.

Eighteen months ago the present

In that year 66% of the colleges using the system were colleges for men, 17% Honor System than were shown by a closely watched while they take their 36% of all the colleges in the North-States.

In that year 66% of the colleges using the system were colleges for men, 17% Honor System than were shown by a closely watched while they take their 36% of all the colleges in the North-States.

In that year 66% of the colleges using the system were colleges for men, 17% Honor System than were shown by a closely watched while they take their 36% of all the colleges in the North-States.

In that year 66% of the colleges using the system were colleges for men, 17% Honor System than were shown by a closely watched while they take their 36% of all the colleges in the North-States.

In that year 66% of the colleges using the system were colleges for men, 17% Honor System than were shown by a closely watched while they take their 36% of all the colleges in the North-States.