3-5-1930

The Bates Student - volume 57 number 26 - March 5, 1930

Bates College
N. E. Conference At Poland Spring
Representative Students Gather to Discuss Social Problems

The realization that the greatest problems of our time are social and economic has brought about new lines of thought to be followed to the point of total social reorganization and to maintain a balance between the spiritual and material factors. For this reason, there are actions, both within and outside of the churches, to control and to act in conflict with each other. However, one of the more critical issues now facing the church is the question of the church's role in the world today. The role of the church is being questioned by many in the world today, as the church is seen as being too close to the world and not being able to maintain a balance between the spiritual and material factors.
PROPORTION IN ATHLETICS

The theme of President Gray's recent chapel talk, following so closely upon the heels of the event of last Saturday night, is indeed a provocative thought. But in adopting his theme for this essay, it is our choice to take quite a different, though not opposing, line of thought from that provoker of thought. But in adopting his theme, we have chosen to take quite a different, though not opposing, line of thought from that provoker of thought...
Duel With Maine Saturday

Advance Specification Gives Maine the Edge

Dual will be Close

At 2:30 P.M. Saturday in the Clifford Daggett Gym Athletic Building the Bates vs. Maine track program may be viewed for the first time this season. Heads of the respective teams are hopeful that the Blue and the Black uniforms will clear the line in the first heat to be run. The event will be the first meet in the state if not the meet this month.

As usual the strength of the Blue team is appreciably greater than that of its Yankee rival. In the words of retiring coach A. C. Viles' comment in a race that can go either way, White, White, White is mighty hard to figure. Viles' assessment in a race that can go either way.

One of the outstanding points of the meet will be the entry of the Blue team in the pole vault. British track and field officials have heard much about the pole vaulting prowess of the Maine boys and they have decided to make the event a special attraction. The Blue team has already established a new record in the pole vault and is expected to make a strong showing in the event. The field also includes several well-known pole vaulters from other institutions.

ALL SPORTS NEWS BY RADIO

Eat Home Made Pies While You Listen

Next week the radio station WUXS will broadcast the entire program of track meets from the Maine campus. The broadcast will begin at 2:30 P.M. and will continue until the end of the program. The broadcasting will be done both in the morning and afternoon on Saturday and Sunday.

NATIONAL TWO-MILE RELAY VICTORY

(Redacted content)

W. A. A. Flashes

Well, what did you think of the Kentishman, Mr. Jones? He was a great fighter, rather unorthodox at the start, but you saw him take the lead right away. When we got to the middle of the race, Jones was poised for the final stretch.

COACH THOMPSON

The Bates team is the best in Maine, says Coach Thompson, in charge from their R. A. A. time shows the improvement of the team. However, the coach is still revealing conditions which probably helped the team.

The Maine team is expected to face the Bates team, the only rival in the state which can compare with the Blue team. The Blue team is the favorite in the meet, according to coach Thompson.

The course is expected to be the same as last year, with the_meet being held on the Maine campus. The Maine team is expected to do well in the meet, according to Manager Jones.

E. E. CONFERENCE AT POLAND SPRING

(Continued From Page 1)

at Poland Spring

N. E. CONFERENCE AT POLAND SPRING

(Continued From Page 1)

You give me the power to control civilization, and I am not afraid to take on the responsibility of this great task.

MERRILL & WEBBER CO.

PRINTERS AND BOOKBINDERS

Merrill & Webber Co.

GEORGE A. ROSS

ELM STREET

LEWISTON, MAINE

LOTUS SHOES
$12 and $15. the pair

COBB-MORRIS CO.

For GODEL CLOTHES and FURNISHINGS

WHEELER CLOTHING CO.

Co. Main and MIDDLE ST.

WRENTHAM, MASS.

E. E. FLANDERS & CO.

62 Court Street

AUBURN

STUDENTS SUITS AND OVERCOATS
All the Styles

$25.00 and $50.00

MERRILL & WEBBER CO.

PRINTERS AND BOOKBINDERS

All Styles

DIAMONDS . . . WATCHES
30 LIBSON STREET
LEWISTON, MAINE

GEO. V. TURGEON & CO.

JEWELERS

LOOSE LEAF WORK

ORDER TO

To ALL BOOKSELLERS

All kinds of BOOK and JOB PRINTING executed in a

95 TO 99 MAIN STREET, AUBURN, MAINE
Amendment to the Constitution of the Publishing Assn.

To Increase Efficiency and Interest in the Paper
Passed by Board of Directors at Meeting

Acting upon a suggestion offered by a volunteer committee from the student body, the Board of Directors of the Bates Publishing Association meets Monday afternoon, as soon as its amendment proposal has been approved and received for consideration at the next meeting, a committee is named to work on the amendment.

The amendment committee, chief of changes in the organization of the Bates Student, and cut out the makeup and general policy of the paper, but also in the organization of departments, the method of choosing administrative officials and department heads, and the committee on personnel, to take in their initiation of research journals and to extend the interests of journalism in general on the campus, to take in their initiation of research journals and to extend the interests of journalism in general on the campus.

The students involved, John Fuller, '31, and Valery Colby, '31, have served with all credit and credit to the professional staff.

The proposal of the Publishing Association Board of Directors which asked on the substance of the amendment: Charles H. Disbrow, '30, president; John Fuller, '31, and Valery Colby, '31, have served with all credit and credit to the professional staff.

The volunteer committee in which much of the work thrust of the amendment was done by the Board of Directors in their meetings in the month of December.

The amendments are: a change in the constitution of the Association. It must be strictly understood that the volunteer committee is wholly unscientific and not limited to any one group in the association.

The amendments consist chiefly of changes in the organization of the Bates Student, and cut out the makeup and general policy of the paper, but also in the organization of departments, the method of choosing administrative officials and department heads, and the committee on personnel, to take in their initiation of research journals and to extend the interests of journalism in general on the campus.

The students involved, John Fuller, '31, and Valery Colby, '31, have served with all credit and credit to the professional staff.

The proposal of the Publishing Association Board of Directors which asked on the substance of the amendment: Charles H. Disbrow, '30, president; John Fuller, '31, and Valery Colby, '31, have served with all credit and credit to the professional staff.

The amendments are: a change in the constitution of the Association. It must be strictly understood that the volunteer committee is wholly unscientific and not limited to any one group in the association.

The amendments consist chiefly of changes in the organization of the Bates Student, and cut out the makeup and general policy of the paper, but also in the organization of departments, the method of choosing administrative officials and department heads, and the committee on personnel, to take in their initiation of research journals and to extend the interests of journalism in general on the campus.

The students involved, John Fuller, '31, and Valery Colby, '31, have served with all credit and credit to the professional staff.

The proposal of the Publishing Association Board of Directors which asked on the substance of the amendment: Charles H. Disbrow, '30, president; John Fuller, '31, and Valery Colby, '31, have served with all credit and credit to the professional staff.

The amendments are: a change in the constitution of the Association. It must be strictly understood that the volunteer committee is wholly unscientific and not limited to any one group in the association.

The amendments consist chiefly of changes in the organization of the Bates Student, and cut out the makeup and general policy of the paper, but also in the organization of departments, the method of choosing administrative officials and department heads, and the committee on personnel, to take in their initiation of research journals and to extend the interests of journalism in general on the campus.

The students involved, John Fuller, '31, and Valery Colby, '31, have served with all credit and credit to the professional staff.

The proposal of the Publishing Association Board of Directors which asked on the substance of the amendment: Charles H. Disbrow, '30, president; John Fuller, '31, and Valery Colby, '31, have served with all credit and credit to the professional staff.

The amendments are: a change in the constitution of the Association. It must be strictly understood that the volunteer committee is wholly unscientific and not limited to any one group in the association.

The amendments consist chiefly of changes in the organization of the Bates Student, and cut out the makeup and general policy of the paper, but also in the organization of departments, the method of choosing administrative officials and department heads, and the committee on personnel, to take in their initiation of research journals and to extend the interests of journalism in general on the campus.

The students involved, John Fuller, '31, and Valery Colby, '31, have served with all credit and credit to the professional staff.

The proposal of the Publishing Association Board of Directors which asked on the substance of the amendment: Charles H. Disbrow, '30, president; John Fuller, '31, and Valery Colby, '31, have served with all credit and credit to the professional staff.

The amendments are: a change in the constitution of the Association. It must be strictly understood that the volunteer committee is wholly unscientific and not limited to any one group in the association.

The amendments consist chiefly of changes in the organization of the Bates Student, and cut out the makeup and general policy of the paper, but also in the organization of departments, the method of choosing administrative officials and department heads, and the committee on personnel, to take in their initiation of research journals and to extend the interests of journalism in general on the campus.

The students involved, John Fuller, '31, and Valery Colby, '31, have served with all credit and credit to the professional staff.

The proposal of the Publishing Association Board of Directors which asked on the substance of the amendment: Charles H. Disbrow, '30, president; John Fuller, '31, and Valery Colby, '31, have served with all credit and credit to the professional staff.

The amendments are: a change in the constitution of the Association. It must be strictly understood that the volunteer committee is wholly unscientific and not limited to any one group in the association.

The amendments consist chiefly of changes in the organization of the Bates Student, and cut out the makeup and general policy of the paper, but also in the organization of departments, the method of choosing administrative officials and department heads, and the committee on personnel, to take in their initiation of research journals and to extend the interests of journalism in general on the campus.

The students involved, John Fuller, '31, and Valery Colby, '31, have served with all credit and credit to the professional staff.

The proposal of the Publishing Association Board of Directors which asked on the substance of the amendment: Charles H. Disbrow, '30, president; John Fuller, '31, and Valery Colby, '31, have served with all credit and credit to the professional staff.