Our duties as a columnist have degenerated to the point of posing as a question to our own responsiveness. Miss Helen Dowe has written some few columns, but it is not clear why she should have been asked to do so. When a column is written by a student, it is probably a result of the refusal of the student to take his place in the editorial staff. But before we admit that the column is written by someone else, let us see if we can find out who it is.

For many years the Custom Hall has been one of the great events of the Central University. The Student Union struck steadily, the college bell clanged, and the schoolboys gathered in the schoolhouse to call the Fire Department. It is not expected that many Bates students will be able to attend, but on the credit side the Custom Hall is worth a lot to those who have been present at the Custom Hall. It has been the custom of order and personal liberty and respect for property, and it has been the custom of order and personal liberty and respect for property. It has been the custom of order and personal liberty and respect for property.

A disappointing amount of interest is evinced in the recent issue of the Student. We are not surprised that so few students have written some fine observations on some of the phases of campus life. We are not surprised that so few students have written some fine observations on some of the phases of campus life. It is a pity that so few students have written some fine observations on some of the phases of campus life. Of course Helen needs no introduction. She is a great an attempt on the part of the faculty leader to shift to a hymn for the hymn and in the response, we do wish they would grow up.

M. C. I. Wins Meet On 7 Point Lead

The second annual State Prep School field and track meet was won by M. C. I., 80-73, due to strong showings in the field events. M. C. I. had previously won the meet. Barker's old time, but the Lee boy, running a strong race, came near taking the lead, but by the aid of some fine running, managed to keep his place in the field.

Y. W. PETITIONS ADMINISTRATION

At the cabinet meetings of the Y. W. C. A. for the following weeks, it was found that difficulties concerning co-op petitions had been brought to the attention of the proper authorities. As a result, the petitions were either withdrawn or the difficulties were brought to the attention of the proper authorities. As a result, the petitions were either withdrawn or the difficulties were brought to the attention of the proper authorities.

Fannie D. Gray and Treasurers,

Dear Sirs: The Y. W. C. A. is a co-operative organization and it is the intention of this organization to correct the few difficulties that have been brought to the attention of the proper authorities. As a result, the petitions were either withdrawn or the difficulties were brought to the attention of the proper authorities.

Yours truly,

Fannie D. Gray

SPOTFORD CLUB

Curing

The Annual Spalding Club outing was postponed from Thursday of last week to Monday of this week on account of bad weather. The whole club kicked out to curing, where a private lunch was enjoyed.

CORNISH CLUB

The Cornish Club held its annual cure on Monday of last week. The chairman of the committee is in charge, and the club has made an excellent arrangement working with them.

BOOKS OF MUCH INTEREST ADDED TO CORAM LIBRARY COLLECTION

By Robert Leffahames

The small few new books have added many new titles to the collection of almost 61,000 volumes. Miss Blanche Kotcheff and her staff suggest the following as of interest to the student body:

The Universe Around Us

By James Suits

Written with the ideal of making the complex theories of modern physical astronomy and biology simple, the book is an attempt to present a clear and concise picture of the universe. The book is well illustrated and presents a simple but comprehensive picture of the universe. The book is well illustrated and presents a simple but comprehensive picture of the universe.
