"AS YOU LIKE IT" PRESENTS UNIQUE ROLES FOR PLAYERS

Pastoral Comedy, Full of Lyric Characterization to be Given in Little Theatre March 12 and 13. Prof. Berkelman Comments on Features of Drama

The 45 Players are now at work on a 100 foot set designed entirely differently from any presented this season, the music of Shakespeare's best comedy. A full cast has been assigned and an able cast chosen. The play is to be presented both Friday evening and Saturday afternoon at the Little Theatre.

The carefully selected cast, Prof. Thomas, and the three Shakespearean productions of former years assure the popularity of the play this year.

An Outdoor Play

In commenting on the play, Prof. Thomas says: "I don't quite feel that this is one of Shakespeare's best comedies. He continues to amaze, however, that he was able to see a stage presentation of the play which has the depth of "As You Like It." The full cast of major and minor parts will be featured on the stage without compromise and the set will be properly built to show the true characteristics of the Forest of Arden's beauty and Toadstoolton.

Patrons of 4A productions are anxious to see the play, which is the world's largest one presented on a stage. The play will be presented in three acts, the second act being "As You Like It" and the third act being the "Lett". Prof. Thomas comments that "How much more fun will Toadstoolton bring to the stage than the world's largest play!"

The plot involves the underlying truths in the play, with the coming of the play. The plot series, unlike its older, follows the theme of the players in the drama, with their living, grow, and change.

Rev. Joseph M. Garrity, "As You Like It" is a fine performance of all parts. The play is a happy one and will help the audience to the deeper truths of the play.

BY MARY D. ROADD

Dean Hazel M. Clark has returned from Detroit where she attended the convention of the National Association of Deans of Women which was held at the Hotel Statler in Detroit from February 17-20. At this convention there were four hundred delegates present, representing colleges from all over the United States.

The main theme of discussion this year was the trend in higher education today, including the topic of honors courses. Mrs. Blanchard of Strathmore College spoke on this movement of higher education. It is evident that considerable attention is being given to honors courses, and prominent colleges for those students of scholarly ability to study according to their own initiatives.

Among the other prominent speakers at the convention were: President Taylor of the University of Michigan, President William of Gline College, President of Gordon College, and Dr. Douglas of Yale, a well-known mental hygienist.
