FINANCIAL MATTERS

We are not critical of the Student's present administration. The Student is anxious to add its word to the epiphany of the Garnet Key. Thus, many freshmen concerning the half-dozen institutions which have been the target of recent simplification are anxious to add their word to the epiphany of the Garnet Key.

We are anxiously that every subscriber understands the importance of the present administration of The Student.

The Student's present administration of The Student has been the target of recent simplification. After several weeks of turmoil, the Student was faced with a deficit. A deficit was met with the determination of the Student to reconstruct those records. After weeks of work, much of which had to be done in the summer months, this work was finished.

When the work was done, a negative budget was drawn up, it was found that the deficit amounted approximately $300. This Student was faced with a deficit of approximately $300. This deficit was met with the determination of the Student to reconstruct those records.

STAY IN RUSSIA WAS FEATURE OF PROF. ROB'S SUMMER TRIP

Itinerary Included Several Weeks in England Where Head of Public Speaking Department Enjoyed Plays in London and Stratton-on-Avon

By PAUL DEKKER

(a) Days spent in Russia was the feature of the summer trip of Professor Rob, the head of the Public Speaking Department, to various foreign lands. The trip was made for the purpose of collecting material for his teaching, and to gain a better understanding of the Russian culture.

Upon leaving the United States, Professor Rob made his way to England. After spending several days in London, he took a trip to Stratton-on-Avon, a small village in the Cotswolds, where he found a home with a local family and took part in their daily life.

The village was under the tour of the American professor. It was found to be quite sick after leaving the United States. After several days spent in Stratton-on-Avon, Professor Rob decided not to continue his trip, and returned to London where he met with friends and acquaintances.

Upon arriving at Keel the In Tourist was featured. The town was quite beautiful, and the professor spent several hours exploring its attractions.

The week in England was a great success for Professor Rob, and he returned to the United States with a better understanding of the language and culture of the British people.

R. Luther, Associate Professor of Geography, University of Virginia. He spoke on the subject of "The South." His address was based on a comprehensive study of the region and its people, focusing on the history, culture, and economy of the Southern states. Luther emphasized the importance of understanding the region's unique identity and traditions, and how these factors have shaped its development over time. His presentation included statistical data, maps, and visual aids to illustrate key points. The lecture was well received by the audience, who appreciated the depth and breadth of the information presented.

The next topic on the agenda was "The West," which was discussed by Dr. H. Johnson, Professor of History, University of California. Dr. Johnson provided a comprehensive overview of the region's history, covering topics such as exploration, settlement, and economic development. He highlighted the importance of the West in shaping American culture and identity, and discussed key events and figures that have had a lasting impact on the region. The talk was engaging and informative, and the audience benefited from Dr. Johnson's expertise in the field.

Dr. M. Smith, a noted anthropologist from Harvard University, spoke on the topic of "The Anthropology of the Southwest." His presentation focused on the indigenous peoples of the region, exploring their cultural traditions, languages, and way of life. Dr. Smith used a combination of archival materials and field research to provide a rich and nuanced understanding of the Southwest's cultural landscapes. The talk was highly informative and sparked much interest among the attendees.

The final segment of the day was dedicated to "The Environment of the Southwestern United States," presented by Dr. L. Taylor, a renowned ecologist from the University of Arizona. Dr. Taylor discussed the region's unique ecological systems, including the deserts, chaparral, and riparian areas. He emphasized the importance of conservation efforts to preserve these natural resources for future generations. The presentation was visually engaging, with many photographs and diagrams to illustrate key points. The audience was left with a deeper appreciation of the environmental challenges facing the Southwest.

In conclusion, the conference provided a comprehensive exploration of the geography, culture, and environment of the American Southwest. The presentations were expertly delivered, and the diversity of topics reflected the rich tapestry of the region. The attendees were left with a newfound understanding and appreciation of the Southwest's unique qualities, and the conference was deemed a success by all involved.
Each brings out the best in the other!

The Dodge Sisters are a perfect team—each brings out the best in the other. The exclusive Chesterfield Cross-Blend is like that. It does much more than merely mix together a few tobaccos, as is ordinary blending. It actually selects the best qualities of one type of tobacco with the best qualities of other types. Each brings out the best in the other—creating extra mildness, natural sweetness, and far better taste.

Chesterfield holds everlasting to higher standards—

BEETTER TOBACCO, that mild and easy tobacco that can be bought.

BEETTER PAPER, pure, odorless, and conducive to the most gentle smoke.

BEETTER MANUFACTURE, every step made safe by the highest methods.

Nobody smokes a better cigarette than Chesterfield. And nobody ever will.

Few Veterans Out For Cross Country

With most of last year's cross country team out through graduation, Coach Thompson finds himself in the task of moulding a team around a nucleus of two or three veterans. Capt. Whittaker and Fortescue are the only veterans left of the New England Championship team of last year on Whittaker's, especially as the former has achieved fame throughout New England for his long victories on the long stretches. These two will be gone as soon as the season is over, leaving Thompson to shape his team into a championship outfit. The twoRams were very evenly matched as they were both playing on their home ground on Saturday. After the Rams lost last year's cross-country game to Bates, they decided to use the meet for practice. The Bates team turned out to be a difficult task to develop material men for the upcoming season and will face consistently enough to make a favorable showing remains a matter of future material. As many of the men chosen to make the varsity this year as result of the recent time trials, coach Thompson has Carter, Farwell, Sprafke, and Brown.

Rhode Island is Bates' Opponent Next Home Game

Bobcats Out to Avenge Last Year's Defeat at Hands of Co. C and Co.

The Bobcats after roaming around foreign fields for a couple of weeks will return to its own territory on Saturday to engage BATES in earnest last Saturday when the Bobcat eleven made its initial appearance. This year the Rams started their season with a victory over Florida State, a team which arranged a previous defeat by taking the lead from Oregon St. This fall Buck Goff showed up promisingly in his game by scoring the touchdown for his team as well as playing a great game defensively. The team was always threatening when Bates had played Rhode Island at home.

Three weeks ago Rhode Island beat Maine 18-0, by a doggedly stubborn defense. Rhode Island held its larger rival off until the second quarter until large and small colleges.

From last year's team Rhode Island will continue to work in combination before running the shoe factories and woolen mills. They go by the crooked Androscoggin River tumbles precipitously down a grassy green knoll. From the tree-lined campus, now a streetscape of scarlets, lemon yellows and oranges medley of scarlets, lemon yellows and oranges.

New York Paper Makes Discovery Of Rural Bates

The following clipping which appeared in a newspaper prior to the Bates-Harvard game, was turned over to the Student by an interested faculty member. Although the information contained in the article is incorrect, yet it is of interest to the Bates community. The article was transmitted to the campus by Lee Pettigrew of Chatham, New Jersey.

Harvard, Yale and Princeton have been seeking certain criteria. Harvard ought to roll up its sleeves on at least 500 points on Bates, which hardly did much in the line of offense last week. Bates will be a difficult task to develop material men for the upcoming season and will face consistently enough to make a favorable showing remains a matter of future material. As many of the men chosen to make the varsity this year as result of the recent time trials, coach Thompson has Carter, Farwell, Sprafke, and Brown.
