Governor Gardiner Speaks to Large Audience in Chase

Governor Gardiner was the guest of honor last Friday night at the opening meeting of the Bates. He came up the long, winding driveway filled with the roaring applause of Bates students. It was not unusual to see his subject the Governor, W. W. Gardiner, but it is to be appreciated that there are students, the New Yorkers and all, who have been brought up and made to appreciate the Governor and his work. It is the function of the arrangements of the Governor to help the students get the Governor and the way of understanding. It would be a quarter of an hour or so before the Governor started to speak, but there would be service for those who couldn't hear the Governor and those who were asked by the Governor and by the Governor's permission to hear it.

TO ALUMNI CONCERNED

An incident of the past week, which we are not permitted to report immediately, seems to us of such importance that we feel compelled to call attention to it. The Student Council has just announced that it has decided not to issue a statement of the facts as known to them, under the threat that further reports would be made public.

In the opinion of The Student, nothing could seem so insignificant to the students as the suppression of such a story in the halls and the whole general policy of the Student Council. The subsequent discussion of the matter in newspapers and the anonymous communication to the planning committee of the Student Council all indicate the existence of a very serious situation.

To illustrate the nature of the situation, The Student asks all alumni to consider the facts presented in the following article:

OPEN FORUM

To the Editor of The Student:

I am writing to express my concern regarding the recent events on campus. As a member of the student body, I feel that it is important to address these issues and to ensure that the community is aware of the situation.

I believe that the administration should take immediate action to address these concerns. It is crucial that the safety and well-being of all students are protected.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

John Doe

BALANO MAKES PORT AFTER EXTENDED SUMMER ODYSSEY

Visits Russia, Sicily, Spain and Africa During Voyage in Tramp Steamer "Explorer"—Plays Hockey From July 31 to October 1

Baldwin Waldo, president of the Greek fraternities andวัต

During the voyage, the ship made stops in various ports around the world, including Russia, Sicily, Spain, and Africa. The ship's captain, a former member of the Greek fraternities, was able to arrange a unique and exciting trip for the students on board.

Despite encountering some challenges along the way, the students were able to have a memorable experience. They enjoyed the opportunity to explore new cultures and to meet people from all over the world. The experience was especially rewarding for those who were able to play hockey on board the ship.

Overall, the voyage was a great opportunity for the students to learn and grow. It was a once-in-a-lifetime experience that they will never forget.
"None so good as LUCKIES"

"I've tried all cigarettes and there's none so good as LUCKIES. And incidentally I'm careful in my choice of cigarettes. I have to be because of my throat. Put another way, as one who always reaches for a LUCKY. It's a real delight to find a Celophane wrapper that opens without an ice pick."

Colby Powerful
In 32-6 Defeat
Over Polar Bear
Brewster and Colby, whom the Bobcats met in their opening Saturday and Assertion football game, trounce the Polar Bears by a score of 32-6. However, the visitors were outnumbered by the hosts.

Colby's defense ruined what little the Bowdoin offense had to offer as an offense. However, Colby's defense was not the only factor in the victory. Bowdoin's poor performances, including frequent penalties and fumbles, resulted in five touchdowns. Although, Bowdoin's poor performances resulted in three touchdowns, the Bobcats were able to outscore the Polar Bears by a score of 32-6.

The Summary
M. C. I. by a score of 13-0 in a rather inconclusive first period. The visitors, placing the ball on the 44 yard line, Andranick unloosed a passing attack with Jordan turning it over for the first touchdown. Colby thereafter added points with Jordan passing the ball to Millard, who ran sixty yards for a score. Bates scored again in the second half, and ran sixty yards for a score.
