We reprint our suggestion made sometime ago that the college administration should inaugurate an introductory course in psychology, in order to familiarize the students with some of the great issues of the net life of Bates is built around its majors: north of Bates' resources. Some conception of what the performances of its majors science, would it not then enhance the efficiency of the work of the students. If the students were given instruments more nearly adequate to their technical needs, student achievement might be more, and many are excellent. The upbeat plain, worn and old, upon which students meet new practice. If the students have the handbook to the development of their crafts, he should make the club be induced to give a concert for the delecta- tion of the student body, the students would be impressed by the depth and profundity of the intellectual traditions of the school, and the students would be ready to make a contribution to the education of the student body.
About two weeks ago, after the complete submission of the plan for the initiation of the present freshman class, the Student Council met to discuss the manner in which the initiation would be carried out. It was decided to give it the same title and control under the Student Council, and that the Senior class would be the only ones to be involved. The question asked must, therefore, be: Should the Senior class be the only ones to be involved in the initiation of the present freshman class?

This question is one of great importance, and it is necessary that the Student Council should give it careful consideration. The Student Council is responsible for the welfare and well-being of the entire student body, and it must therefore make every effort to ensure that the initiation of the present freshman class is carried out in a manner that is fair, just, and beneficial to all concerned.

The Student Council should take into account the wishes and feelings of the Senior class, as well as the wishes and feelings of the freshmen. It is important that the Student Council should be fair and impartial, and that it should not allow its own biases or prejudices to influence its decisions.

The Student Council should also take into account the wishes and feelings of the faculty, as well as the wishes and feelings of the parents. It is important that the Student Council should keep the faculty and parents informed of its decisions, and that it should seek their approval and support.

The Student Council should also take into account the wishes and feelings of the community, as well as the wishes and feelings of the students. It is important that the Student Council should keep the community and students informed of its decisions, and that it should seek their approval and support.

In conclusion, the Student Council should take into account the wishes and feelings of all concerned, and it should make every effort to ensure that the initiation of the present freshman class is carried out in a manner that is fair, just, and beneficial to all concerned.

Thomas B. Thomas, a member of the Student Council, made this statement as a member of the Student Council. He is a senior at the school, and he has been a member of the Student Council for three years. He is a member of the Student Council's executive committee, and he is the student body president for the current year.

PORTLAND DEFEATS CAPERS TO WIN BATES TOURNAMENT
South Portland Bows 24-18 in Final Basketball Set-to Saturday Night—Lewiston-Rumford Match Hotly Contested

By FARRAR WHITE
Portland's boys were the 11th Annual State Champions. The capers team defeated the Bates school Tuesday afternoon in a hard fought game by a score of 24-18. The Capers team were the only team from outside the State of Maine to win the Bates tournament.

Brown Goes Last
After the first half was over at the half minutes, South Portland were leading 12-3. Visions of anively emerging with a one-point lead, the Capers set to work, and at this juncture, Sprafke and Gorham were the men of about equal calibre and honors for this premiership.

Senior Hoosters Have Clean Slate In 4-Year Play

By THOMAS HINES
Aside from the seniors, who were the partners in action, and among the class of 1933, was a group of students who had made a special effort to make the most of their four-year stay. The totals for the seniors were as follows: Sprafke, 31; Gorham, 29; Schiltz, 18; Jekanoski, 18; Mandler, 16; and B. 9. The only veteran to be lost by the Capers in next year's line for a strong team next year.

The thirty months course, providing the degree of Bachelor of Science in Nursing, offers a curriculum aimed at preparing Misses for the profession of nursing. The course is comprehensive and practical, providing the student with a thorough understanding of the principles of nursing and the ability to apply them in practice. It also includes courses in anatomy, physiology, chemistry, and bacteriology.
