SUGGESTIONS FOR THE DANCES

During the past ten years remarkable progress has been made in the field of the New Student, this quarterly publication of the Bates College Union, which has been marked by an increasingly liberal attitude on the part of the administration toward student activities, and the students in their own way have been participating more and more in the public life of the college. It is a salutary fact that there are two evils in our system of education: one is the fact that there is not enough room for our students to express themselves, and the other is that we do not adequately understand the public interest. A certain amount of public relations propaganda should be made to contribute to this end.

The new student is a very important segment of our social life, and it is interesting to see how far he has progressed in this direction. By encouraging the participation of the student body in the administration, we are able to make the student body a real force in the affairs of the college. To this end, we should attempt to achieve a certain amount of influence over the student body, and we should make every effort to encourage the student body to assume an active role in the administration. This should be done through the establishment of a student government, which should be responsible for the direction of student activities. It is interesting to note that the student body is now beginning to take an active role in the administration, and it is clear that this is a positive step in the right direction.

CHURCH DANCE

Rev. Dr. Currie, the. pastor of the Bates Union, has issued a call for the new student body to take an active role in the administration of the college. This is an important step in the right direction, and it is clear that this is a positive step in the right direction.

PROF. LEWIS DISCUSSES CAUSE OF CHAPEL DISLIKE

"Anything less religion is an evil," is the opinion of Prof. Lewis, who has been troubled by the frequency of chapel attendance among his students. This opinion is shared by many other educators, who believe that chapel is an important part of the college experience. However, there is a growing feeling among students that they are not receiving enough benefit from chapel, and they are beginning to question its usefulness. It is clear that we need to find a way to make chapel more meaningful for our students, if we are to ensure that they will continue to attend.

CLASSROOM

By James Brown of the University of North Carolina

The typical university classroom is a place of learning and scholarship. It is a place where students come together to explore the world around them, to engage in meaningful discussion, and to develop critical thinking skills. It is a place where teachers and students work together to create a dynamic and intellectually stimulating environment.

At Bates College, the classroom is an integral part of the educational experience. It is a place where students are encouraged to think deeply and to challenge their assumptions. It is a place where teachers are expected to be knowledgeable and passionate about their subject matter. It is a place where students are challenged to think critically and to develop a strong foundation of knowledge.

According to Prof. Brown, the ideal classroom is one in which students and teachers work together to create a dynamic and intellectually stimulating environment. It is a place where students are encouraged to think deeply and to challenge their assumptions. It is a place where teachers are expected to be knowledgeable and passionate about their subject matter. It is a place where students are challenged to think critically and to develop a strong foundation of knowledge.
