The competition at Berkeley will be of the toughest sort. In his race for a place on the university track, Adams faces a formidable set of opponents. However, he is determined to give his best effort and争取 victory. We wish him the best of luck in his pursuit.

Large Circulation Of Books Forces Library Changes

Figures Reveal Increased Use of Reserve and Stack Books

With the reserve room book circulation to the state, Library statistics show an increasing demand for the use of reserve and stack books. When the book is needed for the library, it will be withdrawn from the collection, and the reserve room will be made available to accommodate the request. This change is being implemented to better serve the needs of the students and faculty.

Fall Football Practice

In view of the great interest shown in the Nike game practice, the Nike game will be played on Tuesday, Oct. 29, at 2 p.m. The game will be played on the natural grass field at the bottom of the hill, and the regular Nike game will take place on the next day. Tickets are available at the ticket window, and the game promises to be a thrilling experience for all spectators.
French And History Majors
Head List In Senior Class

We have five French majors this year. The number is about the same, as the number of students who take French in the college. The French department is looking forward to the coming year with great interest. The French majors are well-prepared and are eager to continue their work.

The French majors are: Elizabeth Brown, '33; John Adams, '33; James Smith, '33; and Robert Miller, '33.

Professor Hayes

Professor Hayes teaches French at Bates. He is a well-known scholar and his work is greatly admired by his students. He has written several books on French literature and is a member of the French Academy.

Professor Hayes has been at Bates for many years and is highly respected by both students and faculty. He is a kind and gentle man who is always willing to help his students.

The French majors are to be congratulated on their choice of Professor Hayes as their teacher. He is a true scholar and a great help to his students.

We are looking forward to another year of French study under the guidance of Professor Hayes.

College Life In Retrospect

By Valsey Beatty

It was a time of many events, of change and progress, of war and peace, of happiness and sorrow. It was a time when the world was in flux, and everything seemed possible. It was a time when the future was unknown, and the present was uncertain.

But now, as we look back, we can see how much has changed. The world has changed, and we have changed with it. We have learned to live with uncertainty, and to accept change as a part of life.

We are now looking forward to a new year, and we are excited about the possibilities that lie ahead. We are ready to face whatever the future may bring, and we are ready to make the most of it.
Bates Men Helped Establish Present National Fraternity

By Nancy Crockett

Professor Godfrey was invited to St. Andrews to talk about the fraternity. A group of students listened attentively to his lecture. Then an understanding was reached that this would make a good chapter in the fraternity. The men discussed the matter further and decided to make the chapter present national fraternity. The next day, the men presented the idea to the other fraternity members, who were enthusiastic about it. The chapter was then officially recognized as a national fraternity, with Bates being one of the charter members.

Seniors Reject Plan for Later Issue of Student

The senior class, at a meeting last week, voted against the plan for a later issue of the Student. The resolution was moved by Ted Cole, seconded by Paul Green, and carried by a show of hands. The senior class feels that the Student should be published on the last day of the year, and that this is the only way to ensure a quality product. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 20 to 10, with 5 abstentions.

Pepys Through the Keyhole

The book reviews the life of Samuel Pepys, focusing on his personal and professional life. The keyhole is a metaphor for the secrets of Pepys' life that are revealed in the book. The book is recommended for anyone interested in the history of England and the lives of its prominent figures.

Bates Students Participate in Scholarship Drive

Bates students are participating in a scholarship drive to raise funds for student scholarships. They are selling tickets for a drawing, with the proceeds going to the scholarship fund. The drive is being held on campus, and the students are eager to support their fellow students. The drive is expected to be successful, and the students are looking forward to the results.

NEW MIRROR COMBINES BEST
IN PRINTING AND MANAGEMENT

By VALERIE SHATZ

The 1912 Mirror just off the press is complete in itself but perhaps it cannot be considered the complete work of the printer, as it is still much needed to be completed by the printer, and by the printer. The printer, in order to be complete, must be such as to have the printed page as complete as possible. The printer, in order to be complete, must be such as to have the page complete as possible. SPORTS COMMENTS

By VINCENT BELLACI

AMONG 1932-33 ATHLETICS

Another college year is almost to be torn of the calendar. 1932-33 was another banner year for athletics, a year which can, with many of our local schools, be characterized as one of great athletic successes and not without its share of disappointment.

Baseball and football ranks among the theme for the athletic season. In the fall, teams were divided into two leagues in both baseball and football, with the annual championships as the goal for both.

Baseball is one of the most popular sports on campus and one of the most successful. The Bates baseball team, under the guidance of "Doc" Thompson, finished second in the league and captured the championship.

Football, however, was a different story. The Bates football team, under the leadership of "Doc" Thompson, finished second in the league and captured the championship.

Basketball and track teams also had a successful season. The basketball team, under the guidance of "Doc" Thompson, finished second in the league and captured the championship.

Track and field was also a success. The team, under the guidance of "Doc" Thompson, finished second in the league and captured the championship.

Each team had its share of victories and losses, but overall the athletic season was a success. The dedication and hard work of the athletes were evident in their efforts and achievements.

The season has come to a close, but the memories of the successful year remain. Looking forward to the next season, the athletes prepare for another year of competition and achievement.
