Oh, no, there is no lack of leaders. The trouble is, no one cares to follow.—Calvin Coolidge

YALE HOLDS BATES SCORELESS 'THO OUTPLAYED

Johnny Stanton Lives Again at Freshman Ride

Freshman Rules For '36 Women 'Til Thanksgiving

BLAZING BONFIRE ON MOUNT DAVID IN HONOR OF GRIDMEN

Students Celebrate Team's Superb Playing In Yale Game—Football To Remain Permanently In Trophy Room

BAY STATES FORMIDABLE

Fine Bases Play At Yale Lessens Tufts Jubilation

Machine Precision Of Bases Team Figures In Score

FROM THE NEWS

Johnny Stanton Lives Again at Freshman Ride

Led Great Jim Thorpe for Football Scoring Honors in 1912 While at Dartmouth—With Athletics After College

Coach Morey's Statement

The eighties were affectionately known as the 'JFK' years, a time when the Kennedys were the reigning figures in the American political landscape. JFK's father, Joseph Patrick Kennedy Sr., a prominent politician and business magnate, had a significant role in shaping his son's career. The Kennedys were known for their philanthropic endeavors and their influence in various fields, including politics, business, and social welfare. JFK's presidency marked a period of growth and transformation in American society, with initiatives such as the Peace Corps and the Civil Rights Movement. The Kennedys' legacy continues to inspire generations, with their commitment to excellence and their dedication to public service.
from Bates College by those who have that function, the older rule relative to the dropping of a student without assigning any specific reason for such action other than "insufficient funds." The old rules are not without some moral force, but they have been modified sufficiently to prevent the recurrence of such cases.

There is a necessity and a advisability of review of this last rule as it bears one of the most critical aspects of college life. If the older rule was not entirely wrong, it might have been strengthened by a rule similar in effect to the one adopted in other colleges. The new rule is not entirely wrong, but it is also a grave reflection on the students themselves, for it makes it possible for those who disregard the rights of others: to continue to do so in the face of the threat of their removal without notice. This threat is a great moral force, making continued the record of his character. It is a matter of course that there is no one who has the power to make the student body to be that this is another extension of the paternalistic attitude of the college towards its students.

But it is also a matter of course that a college is not going to adopt in these columns a rule relative to the dropping of a student without assigning any specific reason for such action other than "insufficient funds." The old rules are not without some moral force, but they have been modified sufficiently to prevent the recurrence of such cases.

There is a necessity and a advisability of review of this last rule as it bears one of the most critical aspects of college life. If the older rule was not entirely wrong, it might have been strengthened by a rule similar in effect to the one adopted in other colleges. The new rule is not entirely wrong, but it is also a matter of course that a college is not going to adopt in these columns a rule relative to the dropping of a student without assigning any specific reason for such action other than "insufficient funds." The old rules are not without some moral force, but they have been modified sufficiently to prevent the recurrence of such cases.

There is a necessity and a advisability of review of this last rule as it bears one of the most critical aspects of college life. If the older rule was not entirely wrong, it might have been strengthened by a rule similar in effect to the one adopted in other colleges. The new rule is not entirely wrong, but it is also a matter of course that a college is not going to adopt in these columns a rule relative to the dropping of a student without assigning any specific reason for such action other than "insufficient funds." The old rules are not without some moral force, but they have been modified sufficiently to prevent the recurrence of such cases.

There is a necessity and a advisability of review of this last rule as it bears one of the most critical aspects of college life. If the older rule was not entirely wrong, it might have been strengthened by a rule similar in effect to the one adopted in other colleges. The new rule is not entirely wrong, but it is also a matter of course that a college is not going to adopt in these columns a rule relative to the dropping of a student without assigning any specific reason for such action other than "insufficient funds." The old rules are not without some moral force, but they have been modified sufficiently to prevent the recurrence of such cases.
The Bates Student, Wednesday, October 5, 1932

WHAT THEY SAY ABOUT BATES

NEW YORK TIMES

The Yale-Bates game was one of the best intershool games ever staged between Bates and the larger colleges. The players clearly demonstrated their ability to handle the gridiron. The game was fast and exciting, with both teams putting their best efforts into it. The Yale-Bates game was played in front of a crowd of 20,000 spectators at New Haven.

LE MESSENGER PUBLISHING CO.
Job Printers Publishers
225 LISBON STREET

T. J. Murphy
Fur Company
Est. 1873
Lewiston, Me.

Here's a girl with a smart set of clothes. Where they come from no one knows. They're made of cloth and such. And the rest is fur.

Smart Sportswear Suede & Leather JACKETS
All Sizes, Many Styles and Colors

$5.95 $6.95 Fur Jackets Scarfs

Compliments of FIRST NATIONAL BANK LEBANON

SCHOOL PAPERS
MERRILL & WEBBER CO. PRINTERS PAPER RULES BOOKBINDERS
699 MAIN STREET, AUBURN, MAINE

PROGRESS ORGANIZATIONS

GOOGIN COAL. WOOD & GAS

Harry L. Plummer
PROFIT—Commercial and Finishing
New Studio
At 139 Main St.
Lewiston, Me.

BILL THE BARBER
For Eds and Co-Eds

WHEELER's Cloth Co.

Berman's

They Satisfy ... all you could ask for!

CHESTERFIELD

Adams in Exclusive Article Says Olympic Steeplechase Gruesome but Comical

Criticizes the Blunders of the Officials in要求 Men to Run Extra Laps Which Damaged American Contingent

By AURDENE ADAMS

From the Olympic Steeplechase, Mr. Adams comments on the blunders of the officials in allowing American runners to be penalized for transgressions which, in many cases, were not committed by the American athletes.

They Satisfy ... all you could ask for!

Chesterfield

Zeal makes a Chesterfield--the smoke of fine tobaccos from all over the world. The search begins in far-off Turkey where Chesterfield buyers visit every important tobacco-growing section... and finds its way to every corner of the world and into the hands of the smoker who enjoys the finest tobacco in the world.

Recommended by the English Department of Bates College

WEBSTER'S COLLEGIATE

NEW YORK TIMES

They Satisfy ... all you could ask for!

Chesterfield

© 1932, LAMBERT & MOORE, TOWNSVILLE, FL.

LE MESSAGER PUBLISHING CO.
Job Printers Publishers
225 LISBON STREET
SPORTS COMMENTS

By VINCENT BELLIAU

“VICTORY” OVER YALE

BOB ANICETTI

And on the little thread, from the Maine woods went down Chris Rzymski and Gagan to the Baskets' cage. From a Yale goal they regrouped and went in for revenge in the Baskets' goal. The team here again, and again they were successful. The game was over and the Baskets were in for the win. The game was a close one, and the Baskets came out on top in the end.

BRUCE PITTMAN

Plan Student Projects

By DOROTHY E. ORRIN

Student Plans

Tournament For

Bates Wrestlers

Bruce Patterson In Charge Of Entry List

The Student wishes to announce that the annual intercollegiate tournament to be held at the Bates College gymnasium on October 21st will be held in accordance with the rules of the Intercollegiate Wrestling Association. All colleges will be placed in the tournament and will have the opportunity to compete against their opponents from other institutions. The tournament will be held at 7:30 p.m. and will be open to the public.

Fielder, E. McKinney

BRUCE PITTMAN

Wrestling Tournament

Editor

The Student wishes to announce in the sport should get some practice and be ready for the competition. The tournament will be held at 7:30 p.m. and will be open to the public.

From the News

Rutland, Vermont

1932 Edition Of "Fielder" Out

From the News Press

E. McKinney

REPRESENTATIVE

Rutland, Vermont

Colleges and Universities

We Solicit the Business of Bates Students

Rutland, Vermont

---and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies...the mildest cigarette you ever smoked!

Wey buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the midst cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature is the Raw is Seldom Mild."—So these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"

That package of mild Luckies...