Let Something Good Be Said

By JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY

(During the G. W. War an all-considered letter writer sent a notice of a new school. It had been sung in this way to his friends:)

When love is the first name of friend or foe
The man is his friend or foe no more.

Of words of blame, or proof of this and so,
A man is his friend or foe no more.

Forget not that follow being yet
May fall too low, but may lift his head.
May the thing that is best in love remain,
If something good be said!

As so I upheave, for the sweet essay,
And by the cross on which the Saviour died.
And by the cross with which thou seest
Wilt something good be said!
JELLISON BREAKS RECORD BUT

The summary:

Fewer Games This Year

This year's game between Maine and Bates was the eighth to be played by these two schools. In previous years, Maine has taken the upper hand in the series, winning 5 of the 7 games played. The score this year was 27-30 in favor of Maine.

Bates freshman team was led by George A. Ross, who played a fine game at end. He was one of the stars of the game and did well in the official meeting. He was also the star of the Tartan and Richardson—Butler and Olde, Third and Fifth.

Drake C. Oliver, quarterback, was the leading man for Bates, but he was shadowed by Maine's defense. He did well in the meeting, but was unable to break through the Maine defense.

Richard D. Geary, center, played well for Bates, but he was unable to break through the Maine defense.

Robert D. Berman, end, played well for Bates, but he was unable to break through the Maine defense.

George A. Ross, end, played well for Bates, but he was unable to break through the Maine defense.

Dr. Wright pointed out that the game was a good one, but he was disappointed that Bates was unable to break through the Maine defense.

The game was a good one, but Bates was unable to break through the Maine defense.

The game was a good one, but Bates was unable to break through the Maine defense.

STUDENT IN FAVOR OF COLLEGE BASKETBALL

The first and greatest advantage of basketball is to make the most business to give those chances. Exercising in basketball can be extremely exciting on the necessity to recognize the rules of the game, and Maine is ready, according basketball as an intercollegiate sport at the end of the first half, we would shire nearby to all the list of store for them this winter.
