One of the important problems which faces the United States at the present time is the problem of unemployment. The economic conditions are at a low ebb, and there is a great need for new industries which will provide employment for the masses. In this connection, the American Federation of Labor has been active in organizing new industries, and in encouraging existing industries to expand their operations.

The Amherst dramatic club. The American Association of University Students, among others, is a new chapter at Amherst, which is making plans for an unusual and entertainment. All week, in fact, there have been meetings. This is the second time the club has met in Amherst. It has a membership of about four hundred at the present time.

The Amherst dramatic club is organized on the lines of the Motor Club of Great Britain, which has a large membership and is one of the most successful clubs in the world. The Amherst club is planning a series of performances, including one in the fall of 1920, when Professor Kendall, his wife, and a large company of actors will take part in the production. The club also proposes to have a weekly meeting, which will be open to all students.

The club is composed of men and women of all departments, and is open to all members of the college. The aim of the club is to create a general interest in the theater, and to make the students familiar with the different forms of theater, both on the stage and on the screen. The club is also planing to have a weekly newspaper, which will be published in the spring of 1920.

BATES DEFEATS ARNOLD 19-0 IN OPENING GAME SATURDAY

Garret Team Scores In Second And Fourth Periods—Arnold Offers Stubborn Resistance—Moynihan Injured

Bates opened in 1933 football season with a decisive win over the Wildcats of the College of Holyoke, 19-0, on Saturday afternoon. Scores were tallied by two touchdowns in the second and fourth periods respectively.

Two pass s failed and two more were intercepted by Bates' Bob Kulp. Jimmy Smith, visiting quarterback, did not get a chance to pass. The Bates defense was effective, allowing no points from the opponent.

The victory took possession of the ball from the hands of the Holyoke team. It comes at a time when the Bates defense is in full swing and the offense is ready to make it better just drop a hint.
