PAST, PRESENT, AND FUTURE

We began with a new series of efforts in practically every campus organization. New men and new faces are in the thick of affairs. There are new clubs, new activities, and new appointments. Interests have broadened, and there is a new atmosphere of activity. In the organization between the various phases of culture. There should be an appreciation of the friendship and a willingness to help keep in touch with the student body. There is a definite need for this kind of thing. Appropriately, it is a matter of great concern.

The STUDENT is especially fortunate in that the interests of its staff are largely in the arrangement of the staff members. There is a surprising amount of knowledge about the importance of keeping in touch with the student body.

The future attitude of the STUDENT can be illustrated rather well by the life history of a student. The student will find that the STUDENT is fully as much as it is possible for him to be interested, and that the STUDENT has been and will continue to be a vital institution.

The Open Forum column will always be open to legitimate discussion, but it will not make the STUDENT fulfill more of the function for which your student body was organized. It is a thought for the future of campus news. Through an understanding of the existent and the potential, the STUDENT has always maintained a consistently high standard and quality as a final expression of all that has been said. And so it continues on.
