The Time Has Come

WE WOULD REPEAT another's words in noting that "the time has come" when many things must change. In two weeks 500 Bates undergraduates will be entering upon the spending of the three months' summer vacation. You may not believe it, but many will truly be "vacation" in that the central consideration will be to pass three months in as gay and enjoyable circumstances as possible. For others it will be a grim and often discouraging struggle to get together the funds which will make a reasonable vacation possible. It is the unhappy sort who will have to pass the months in as gay and enjoyable circumstances as possible. For others it will be grim and often discouraging struggle to get together the funds which will make a reasonable vacation possible. It is the unhappy sort who will have to pass the three months in an atmosphere of gloom or ill will. Many have envied, to the latter group, our sympathetics and encouragements. Some professors will pass the time in deserved relaxation; others in commendable study, as will some undergraduates. Most interesting and deserving of our attention will be the fate of those who in the next two weeks will undergo the rites which make them graduates; those whose four years periods are over.

A few of these will have the good fortune to continue in institutions of learning. Still fewer have the assurance of employments. Don't think you're going to have any picking to do. Take the job-seeking college man is, "Don't think the world owes you anything. Don't think you're going to have any picking to do. Take whatever you can get and consider yourself very lucky".

We could have no argument with the man who tells us that the only reason he doesn't have a job is that he was through and walked out of the office. "Well, good-bye, Mr. Boss. I'm through. I'm not going to be a wage-slave. I'm going to be a master!" We wish this man the best of luck. If this is the sort of thing you are after, we wish you success in it.

The easy and supposed Yankee-horse-sense advice of many to the job-seeking college men is, "Think of the world owes you anything. Don't think you're going to have any picking to do. Take whatever you can get and consider yourself very lucky.'

That is why we would caution against being over-anxious about first opportunities. Of course, we all must live, but by all means remember that the condition of our living our last thirty or forty years might surely be much more important than the immediate present. And it is the direction in which we go in the next very few years that will determine the condition of the latter ones. Few are the streams which change the course of their flowing when once set. This is why we should be careful in the discharge of our duties. We must not neglect the opportunity of advancement today.

In closing let us toast the present graduates who have tried and partially succeeded in making the most out of their college career. Let us thank them for the achievement of the following: "You have brought us in, accurate enjoyment in the affairs of living, we have only ourselves to blame."
Bates Overcomes Northeastern In Baseball By 3-2

Darling On Mound And Cal- nahan’s Baserunning. Arc Features

Sharing the form that they have been able to establish as of late, both teams have been finding runs with ease, as well as running them well. North- eastern, with a 2-2 score, Bob Darling had both a good run and allowed the Bates team only 3 hits. Cap- tain Gilson of Northeastern was almost ineffective, but his wildness got him difficulties.

Bates Scoring:

1 0 0 0 1
Total 1
Northern Scoring:
1st 2nd 3rd 4th 5th
0 1 0 0 0
Total 1

The Bates team began the scoring Tuesday morning with a home run hit by Darling. The Bates team then scored in the 3rd inning with a two-out error by the Northeastern team. The final Bates score was in the 5th inning when Darling hit a single to drive in two runs.

Northern had only 2 runners on base the entire game. The first scoring opportunity for Northern occurred in the 2nd inning when a double by R. Gillis was followed by a fly out. The next scoring opportunity occurred in the 4th inning when Aldrich and Morse were on base with two out. Aldrich attempted to sacrifice, but Gillis was out at second.

No official scores were kept for either team, but both teams played well and the crowd was large and enthusiastic.

Ocean Park Alumni Announce Meeting
Middle Of August

Large Attendance Expected At Annual Summer Get-Together

The twelfth annual meeting of the Ocean Park Bates Alumni Association will be held in Jordan Hall, Ocean Park, the evening of Friday, August 14. There are many Bates graduates and those of more recent years, who are taking advantage of the low prices and many more are within easy dist- ance, as well as a large number of undergraduates. This fact makes the possibility of August a very pleas- ant occasion.

There is always a good program and social hour, with representatives from the College to greet the alumni. The officers for 1934-35 are as follows: presi- dent, Ashburn M. Alexander; 2nd vice- president, Russell P. Hager; 3rd vice- president, Greer C. Thompson; 2nd vice-presi- dent, committee, Paul Swain 22, and Donna Jordan 20.

Week End Party Enjoyed By Group Of Eds And Co-eds

Prof. Howell Lewis Host At Delicious Party In Bristol, N. H.

Visa Mount Camp, situated on beauti- ful Newport Lake in the heart of the White Mountains, leaves nothing to be desired. Swimming, boating, tennis, beautiful walks and rides, mar- velous food, attractive cabins are the main house—this sounds like the introduction to a tourist's guide book, but in reality only par- tially describes the perfection of Prof- essor "Pet" Lewis' summer camp, as seen by the fortunate eds and co-eds who spent last week-end there.

Evening on the Lake

Leaving campus about one o'clock, the crowd arrived at the lake in time for supper which was served on the spacious porch of the main house. The evening was spent in dancing to radio "vix," or piano music, playing cards, "walking along the moonlit lake.

THE BATES STUDENT, WEDNESDAY, MAY 20, 1935
Bates Track Won At Portland
Brings Thompson To Foreground

What Dean Cromwell is to Sanford and Dink Templeton to Penn., Ray Thompson is to Bates. Clinton Ray Thompson is a product of Lewiston and a graduate of Bates with the class of 1913. In his undergraduate days he was an athlete of high worth. He was on a football team which played a gallant game against Harvard, an end on that same team which won from Bowdoin. He was as well a good quarter-miler. He was on the team which won the State Meet. His second in the 440 was enough to give the Bobcats their only victory in this annual meet.

From Bates he went to Graduate School in Columbia, and then he got his first job as teacher-coach at Tilton School in New Hampshire. The following year he was made Coach of Athletics at Moxie Brown in Providence. The next ten years were spent on the team which won the State Meet. His record in the 440 was enough to give the Bobcats their only victory in this annual meet. In 1915 he was assigned to Director of Track Athletics and Winter Sports Coach. His teams have always been very successful. Bates' Record of Championships show that his winter sports team won in 1926, 1927, 1928, and 1929. The Cross Country title came to Bates in 1929 and 1930 when they won both the New England and State Cross Country titles.
