Shaw's "Candida" Will Be Presented This Thursday, Friday

William Earles Has Leading Role For First Big Production Of Season
Priscilla Jones Acts As Candida

Owen Dodson, Coach For "Allison's Lad," Wins National Intercollegiate
Week Long "Golf" Tournament

Clergyman, Wife, And Poet Involved In Famous English Author's Interpretation Of The Eternal Romance Triangle

The 4-9 Players will encounter Big troubles once again when they stage George Bernard Shaw's "Candida" in the Little Theatre Thursday and Friday, December 12 and 13, at eight o'clock on each of these evenings. "Candida" is this year's Varsity Play.

A truly "family" part has been assigned to the performance. Without Earles '92, who has recently been made a professor of English at the University of Idaho, "Candida" at Bates would have been a less successful venture. Earles, who served as the college president, and has played in a number of previous productions for the college, is widely recognized for his work in directing. As one of the new directors, his contribution to the cast has been invaluable. Earles is known for his ability to direct shows with a great deal of enthusiasm and a keen sense of humor.

The play is set in a large house near the seaside, and the action takes place in the living room and the kitchen. The play is a comedy about a married couple, and their friends. The wife of the couple, Candida, is a typical Middle Eastern wife, and she is portrayed by Priscilla Jones '92. The husband of the couple, Charles, is portrayed by Owen Dodson '89, who has been a member of the college faculty for many years.

The play opens with the couple in their living room, preparing for a party. They are joined by their friends, who include a clergyman and his wife, and a poet. The play is a series of conversations and discussions about religion, politics, and literature. The play is filled with witty and wise remarks, and it is a reflection of the social and political climate of the time.

The play is a comedy, and it is filled with humor. It is a reflection of the social and political climate of the time, and it is a commentary on the role of women in society. The play is a reflection of the period, and it is a study of the human condition. The play is a reflection of the social and political climate of the time, and it is a commentary on the role of women in society.
That Big, Bad Boy in Berlin

While the storm-cloud warning of the A.A.U. on the Berlin Olympics was in the air, the word was close and the opposition determined that this was the best move. The A.A.U. and the American Olympic Association, in the name of the U.S. Department of State, are determined that "the fight against the Olympics will be continued as long as the American Olympic program makes progress."

The call to arms is being heard from some other than the American Olympic Association. The administration of Washington University has been identified as "unfriendly" to the Olympic idea. The University of Chicago also is being mentioned as being opposed to the Olympic idea. The University of Illinois and the University of Wisconsin also have been listed as being opposed to the Olympic idea.

The American Olympic program is being carried on by the American Olympic Association, which is in charge of the Olympic games. The American Olympic Association is the only organization in the United States that is authorized to carry on the Olympic program. The American Olympic Association is a private organization, and is not supported by the government.

The American Olympic program is being carried on by the American Olympic Association, which is in charge of the Olympic games. The American Olympic Association is the only organization in the United States that is authorized to carry on the Olympic program. The American Olympic Association is a private organization, and is not supported by the government.
"Taffy Tuggers" College Days Recalled As Writer Describes Social Lions Of Days Of Yore

By James Watkins

The writer began his account of the "Taffy Tuggers" College Days as a freshman at Bates College in 1935. The dance was well known for its importance to the social life of the college. The writer notes that the Taffy Tuggers were a group of students who led off the games and were considered to be the social leaders of the college.

The writer describes the excitement and enthusiasm that the Taffy Tuggers brought to the college. He notes that the Taffy Tuggers were known for their costumes and the lively atmosphere they created at the dances.

The writer also mentions the importance of the Taffy Tuggers in the context of the social history of Bates College. He notes that the Taffy Tuggers were a symbol of the college's social elite and were considered to be the leaders of the social scene.

The writer concludes his account by noting the lasting impact of the Taffy Tuggers on the social life of Bates College. He suggests that the legacy of the Taffy Tuggers continues to be felt in the college's social traditions today.
Winter Sports Candidates To Begin Training

Large Squad Report To Coach Dargin—Many Are Freshmen

Thirty winter sports candidates reported to Coach Will Dargin last Monday afternoon in the gym, and other than four names of last year's letter men included in the reports, the roster is entirely new. Many of the names included are from freshmen, who are expected to provide a large part of the team, and all the candidates showed great promise for the coming season. A few names included are from the friends of the campus, who have always shown great interest in athletics.

The faculty committee on athletics has been duly notified of the appointment of the team for the coming season. They have previously shown their interest in the team and have agreed to support the team financially.

Winter Sports

by Mrs. Oliver F. Cutts

Faculty women contributed foods for Winter Sports先后 by Mrs. Oliver F. Cutts

Smith had charge of the grab bag; and

Bates '36, hostess of Ye Candie

Winter Sports

Coaches Spinks Uses New Idea In Basketball

The coach of the basketball team, Coach Morey, has introduced a new idea to the team. He has given the players a rule that they must wear a special uniform during practices and games. The uniform consists of a red jersey and blue shorts.

The new rule is designed to increase the players' enthusiasm and commitment to the team. It is hoped that the players will take pride in their new uniforms and will work harder to improve their skills.

Basketball Competition

Track Competition

The first track meet of the season was held last Saturday afternoon in the gym. The meet was attended by over one hundred spectators, who enjoyed the exciting matches.

The meet included several events, including the long jump, the high jump, and the 400-yard run. The winners of the events were given certificates and prizes.

The meet was judged by Mr. John Smith, who is a well-known track judge. He was assisted by Mr. James Brown, who also judged the meet.

The meet was a great success, and the players were happy to have a chance to practice for the upcoming season. The coach of the team, Coach Morey, was pleased with the performance of the players and is looking forward to the rest of the season.

Basketball Schedule

The basketball team has a busy schedule ahead. They will play several games in the coming weeks, including matches against some of the top teams in the country.

The team has been working hard in practice, and the players are confident in their abilities. They are looking forward to the matches and are excited to see what they can accomplish.

The coach of the team, Coach Morey, is proud of the players and their dedication to the sport. He is sure that they will do well in the upcoming season.

THE BATES STUDENT, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1935

Chesterfield—A Blend of Mild Home-Grown and Aromatic Turkish Tobacco

The aromatic Turkish tobaccos used in Chesterfield give them a more pleasing aroma and taste...

Every year we import thousands of pounds from Turkey and Greece

The IMPORT DUTY alone is 35 cents a pound—but Turkish tobacco is necessary to a good cigarette.

The light amount of Turkish tobacco, blended with our mild, ripe home-grown tobacco helps to give Chesterfield's more aroma, helps to give them a more pleasing taste.