Senior Petition For Extra Costs Granted

The freshmen are to be allowed to charge extra for the next fiscal year instead of the customary method of having the student pay for the whole privilege, because the costs have increased. The petition was passed upon and turned down by the College Court Question, which ruled that the principle of the petition was not valid and that the costs of the privilege should be met by the entire student body.

Bates-Yale Amity Saved In 1920 By Famed Prexey

Tucked away in the files of old newspapers is a vivid story concerning the Bates-Yale debate of December, 1930, and no less than Robert Hugh Bradshaw has given us some news of that debate. The Virginia Times newspaper, which was the only one to report the debate, states that the debate was called off after a renewal of the argument by the opponents. The newspaper also states that the debate was called off after a renewal of the argument by the opponents. The newspaper also states that the debate was called off after a renewal of the argument by the opponents.

To Be Used By Any Of You
(From the Wilcox column of the B. U. News)

Dear Dad,

Just a line to tell you I've a swell job and you say it's important to succeed at school. You know, Dad, Einstein once finished high school; it goes without saying that this is not what you would call a high school education. The press selects you and just can't beat him. It doesn't mean you have to work very hard, Dad. I always stood up and objected if anything looked wrong to me. We'll give you a good enough education. Respectfully, your son.

Batesburg Rednecks

Three scores and twenty-three months ago our fathers set forth upon this campus a new student body, educated in ignorance and educated in education. Now we are engaged in a great war to win whether this student body, or any student body, as conceived and dedicated as ours, will go down in history as a fool or as a hero. The draft board is actually asking us to dedicate a portion of that mental scare as the final proof of what we have learned, and it is incumbent upon us to do it in a proper and exceedingly fitting way that we should do this.

By a larger stride we can not fail. We cannot barrow this ground. These boys, firing and dead, and urging the freshly graduated will add to the impersonal and grandiose scale of our world. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, and yet in this world, and in this country, there is no world of which a man will in any way be remembered.

Dear Dad, in every case of confusion, if there is anything you don't understand, be sure to ask me. I have had the most recent and complete information as to what we are going to do. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, and yet in this world, and in this country, there is no world of which a man will in any way be remembered.

We have everything to gain.

A OPEN LETTER IN "THE STUDENT" last week proposed a method of obtaining those sophomores who have been benefitted and welcomed to all concerned with the fee-reducing campaign. This, we think, is a proper viewpoint to have of any field of study. It is this that a proper view of each course which is a prerequisite to any value to be gained from it.

Students would not be able to appreciate the opportunity offered by a management. And for the most part, people intelligent enough to get there are ten others who would welcome and make the most profitable use of it. In that case, there is a proper viewpoint to have of any field of study. It is this that a proper view of each course which is a prerequisite to any value to be gained from it.

Musical Notes

By Gite Freeman

Just a line to tell you that during the past week, I have been unable to keep up with the reviews of new plays coming out in New York. The reason is that I have been having a hard time trying to find a way to get to the shows. However, I will be able to make it next week, and I will be sure to give you a report on the new musicals.

To the Bates Buying Publie

NEWSPAPERS IN GENERAL and your college paper in particular, in order to keep their advertisements as interesting as possible, are publishing advertising that is very much overvalued by subscription agencies. The larger portion comes from those who pay for space in our advertising column. For this reason we would ask that the students be mindful of the fact that our advertising is paid for by the students themselves and not by the university.

No merchant or company is advertising for the fun of it. Running a business, company head means we have to keep the information and release the possibility of return on their advertising investment. For that reason we must continue and provide with our publications, the data of our paper sells product and gives the advertisers an advantage with the Bates buying public.

It is obviously impossible to make any statement about an advertisement, just as obviously only a certain amount of money is spent by Bates students in Lewiston every year. It is with the hope of attracting

Going to town with Luckies

A LIGHT SMOKE of rich, ripe-bodied tobacco

Over a period of years, certain basic advances have been made in the selection and treatment of cigarette tobaccos for Luckies Smoke Cigarettes. They include preliminary analysis of the tobaccos selected; use of center leaves; the higher base ingredient of tobacco ("Toasting"); consideration of alkaline-balance, with consequent definite improvement in flavor; and controlled uniformity in the finished product. All these combine to produce a superior cigarette—a modern cigarette. The99 percent made of rich, ripe-bodied tobacco—A Light Smoke.
By mild ripe tobacco we mean this just this

FIRST—ripened in the sunshine... and picked leaf by leaf from the right part of the stalk when fully ripe.

THEN—each day's picking cured right by the farmer... at the right height and in the right way... no "splotching" orbrittleness, but every leaf of good color and flavor.

FINALLY—bought in the open market... dr-ecord for storage... then packed in wooden hogsheads to age and mellow for two years or more until free from harshness and bitterness.

That's what we mean by mild, ripe tobacco. And that's the kind of tobacco we use to give Chesterfields their milder, better taste.
