Tony Kishon Will Serve As Most Colorful Figure Of Bates-Colby Track Tilt

DeVerber Expected To Provide Competition For Bates Long Distance Runners

KELLER AND KECK, OUTSTANDING IN BOSTON INDOOR MEETS, FORM SPRING COMBINATION

Olympic Prospect Kishon Will Carry On Minus His Former "Weight Twin" Johnson-Colby Champion, Vesey, Injured

By John Leard

All eyes will be on tall Tony Kishon Saturday afternoon as Bates' potential contribution to the United States Olympic track and field team assumes the field events burden in the Colby-Bates dual meet at Waterville and makes his initial appearance of the current season in track.

Though Kishon is the colorful figure in the meet and his rich reputation as a student athlete of Boston origin, competition should be strong among the athletes representing the two teams.

Although Vesey took first place in the mile last year, Kishon still has a chance for a second straight win, though the Colby captain, who will not be able to compete in the mile, will have a contest with his former "weight twin," Franklin Johnson, who joined Kishon in the mile in February of last year. His brother, Fred, also a Bates runner, will be in the two mile which last year's champion, John Dox, will run. The home team will be listed as favored.

Assuming Vesey wins the mile, the Colby captain will add to his personal record of nine victories in track meets this year. Last year Vesey lost to Dox only in the mile.

The Bates Junior will have a chance to equal his own record in the long jump.

In the three-mile run, Fordham's Edgar Carlston will probably be the favorite, but Kishon is expected to take second place.
