The editors of the Student newspaper, in collaboration with the College of Education, have decided to change the name of the paper to "The Bates Student," as recommended by the Standing Committee on Nomenclature. This change, which will go into effect on October 31, is expected to bring about a greater sense of unity among the faculty, students, and administration of the college.

The Standing Committee on Nomenclature, which has been studying the topic for several months, has made the following statement in support of the change:

"The name of a college should reflect its spirit and tradition. As the College of Education has already changed its name to "Bates College," it is only fitting that the Student newspaper should follow suit. The name "The Bates Student" will better reflect the spirit of the college and its students."

By Barney Marcus

- The "breaks" have not been favorably disposed of the Bobkitten backfield this year. The team has been outscored so far, but there is no reason to believe that they will not come back to the good old campus and make a win streak there.
