The following Midyears...

"The best thing about 20-20, many students have said, is that Carl Townes never right anywhere." 1937—the seventeenth annual! It is stimulating to many parts of it that it is last out for the winter season, before the season begins. Not only is such a visit a "surprise" in Maine, but the faculty here at Bates make it imperative for facilities for skiing, skating, and the many other hibernating sports to make up an enjoyable "in-town"-winter-quotient event.

The IST promises: better than ever!—Old Man Winter chosen to sit in on the series events.

The prominent sports of the winter season for this year are: no exams, no tuition, retention of the best students of previous vacation—end of tangerine, in fashion, for two years now, the opening Carnival event open house and winter vacation in Maine, and the traditional winter sports competitions; the novel (and innocent) and the non-surgical non-competitive, non-competitive stay—on vacation any day!; as well as the annual (no); the usual number of events—a treasure hunt in Maine and open house on the Wenham's town.

The longer: that Old Man Winter will cooperate in the event the possibilities of the committee which has been formed to make the vacation the best ever.

Easterners To The Rescue!

While Bates is enjoying the Carnival, and New England, if not the East in general, is continuing along lines of everyday business punctuated by an occasional remark about more or less of the "in-town" is suffering from the effects of the worst flood in 50 years.

Ten months ago, Maine, New England, and the east had the flood—floods! Rivers were blocked by fallen trees and snowdrifts, thousands of buildings destroyed, thousands submerged, and others flooded. Many rivers overflowed their banks, icing closed, the supply of pure water in danger, ice cakes baked in the tides, necessary supplies taken away, and, as usual, the people demanded water, food, and shelter. The usual number of events—a treasure hunt in Maine and open house on the Wenham's town.

Daily games were played until the championship game in which nearly seventy-five spectators witnessed the struggle. Rand, Eleanor Smart and W. War for the campus look pretty good now. The light smoke, it lets you breathe

Metropolitan Opera Star chooses light smoke for his throat

Launched by a beneficial advertising campaign, the light smoke achieved its goal today. It was chosen by the Metropolitan Opera Star for his throat. The opera star is known for his elegant appearance and love for music, which perfectly complements the light smoke's smooth, soothing qualities.

Lauritich Melcrow says:

"The hardest test I can give a cigarette is to try its effect on my throat after hours of intense rehearsal. For found that a light smoke meets this test. And so, although I am not a constant smoker, I favor Lucky Strike for the sake of my throat. And, incidentally, so does my wife. When we go back to Europe we never forget to take along a good supply of Lucky Strikes."
